PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 25, 1852.

CUBA.

The Boston Transcript takes nearly the same view of the late reports from Cuba, that we did, as it regards the designs of the Spanish government. That is to say, it has no idea that Spain will free its slaves, or invite a negro government.

Old Spain is a weak and tyrannical power greatly misgoverns Cuba, which is now by far its most valuable colonial possession.—No doubt a portion of its white inhabitants would rather be independent or annexed to this country than to remain as they are. And it is true beyond question that thousands of men in the United States would gladly band together according to law or against law, for the purpose of conquering Cuba and annexing it to our Union. We need spend no words to prove this. The late news, that some arrests have been made, and seditious letters seized, has roused up again the spirit of conquest, and fired many bosoms with visions of wealth and power and greatness in the new State of Cuba. We have no doubt expeditions against Cuba are planning in our midst, and will continue to be planned, and ultimately we think they may be successful, notwithstanding the obstacles in the way are so formidable. This statement from the Transcript shows what these obstacles were: "The white population of Cuba is abont half a million; and it may be regarded as a certainty that the malcontents could not raise an army of ten thousand. Spain has in the island a force of thirty thousand trained troops, and could easily raise among the young Spaniards of the island fifty thousand effective men, accustomed to the use of arms."

This relates to the absolute strength of the island; but if a portion of this strength was inclined to insurrection, and received foreign aid, a revolution might go forward. The Transcript reasons out this part of the case thus:—"That there is discontent among many of the planters and proprietors of the island at the taxation without representation to which they are subjected is no doubt true; but, however dissatisfied, they know that their safety and hopes of amelioration do not lie in violent measures; that their crops, machinery, buildings and negroes would be in jeopardy in case of an outbreak. Therefore it is, that however they may disapprove of the acts of the government, the proprietors are opposed to violent measures, and all the wealth of the island could be rallied in support of Spanish authority. * * The report in regard to the transportation of the black army of Soulouque to Cuba to starve off American rapacity is such a palpable quiz, that it is astonishing that the American papers have been taken in by it. How very probable that Spain should prefer giving up Cuba to Solouque to selling it for a hundred millions or more to the United States!"

This last intimation is worthy of more extended remark. Spain though a very proud power, is not very rich nor very strong. It is true, that "Spain has nothing to apprehend except from the United States, as to the stability of her power in Cuba; and so long as the two governments act in good faith toward each other, no insurrection, of a character likely to result in a revolution, need be expected."

It is also true that we are a restless, warlike and covetous people; and that we are the government. When therefore the etaire people or the majority of them, desire a change of rulers or measures, we have it; and the masses of the people coincide, acquiesce, or submit. The government of Spain may become wearied with repeated insurrections, which cost large sums of money to put them down; and our government may become willing to buy the island from its European owners, and to incorporate its real owners and inhabitants into our Union as an integral part thereof. We have got a taste of extension, and the appetite grows by what it feeds on. The conquest or purchase of Cuba may be nearer at hand than we commonly view it—and may prove to be less of a calamity than we deem it. We do not think it desirable—but we cannot deem it improbable.

WEBSTER MOVEMENT IN BOSTON.—The Boston Courier of yesterday says, there are now subscribed to a call for a public meeting, to nominate a Webster Electoral Ticket, the names of three thousand legal voters, of all classes and professions, and "the persons who are actively engaged in this movement are still employed in canvassing the public sentiment. This is wise. We should be sorry to see a public meeting called for the purpose of nominating Mr. Webster, until there has been accumulated a decided weight of evidence in favor of such a course of action, which cannot be withstood."

The number of signatures, and this friendly caution of the Courier, show that the movement goes hard and slow.

From the State Capital Reporter, 24th.

PORTSMOUTH AND CONCORD.

"DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE.—We have already briefly mentioned the starting of this paper at Portsmouth. It is a spirited and well conducted little paper, and appears to be well patronized with advertisements. It is urging upon the people of Portsmouth to wake up and be somebody—to avail themselves of their natural advantages—of their beautiful and always open harbor, and of their railroad facilities opening into the country.

The Portsmouth and Concord railroad, which is now finished, opens a new avenue of trade, which may be turned to great advantage by the people of both Portsmouth and Concord. A large business firm, with a partner in Concord and another in Portsmouth is what is wanted, with ample storehouses in both places. They could import all heavy goods into Portsmouth and send such as was not needed at Portsmouth directly to the storehouses here, to be sold to the country above.

Nothing is wanted but a little enterprise to make Portsmouth a place of business, to double the trade of Concord, and render the Portsmouth and Concord railroad as good as any other road in the State. Brad up the laggards at your end of the line, Mr. Chronicle, and we will stir them up with a long pole here."

We are doing our best to make a stir here, and circulate all the documents we can along the road.

PORTSMO. & CONCORD RAILROAD.

We are glad to learn, as we do from an owner in the road and a merchant, that some trade begins to come over the road; he having made sales of some heavy goods to pass over the whole line to Concord. And we learn that a quantity of flour, fifteen hundred barrels, has already come over the Ogdensburg road via Concord for this place. We offered a suggestion on Monday on the subject of three trains a day, rather than the present arrengement. The Daily Patriot, printed at Concord for Monday evening, at an hour too early to see our paper, expresses some of our ideas, and states some more facts, which go to show that some changes would benefit the road by benefitting the public. The Patriot says:—

The trains as now run may be well enough for those who wish to go no farther north than Concord; but for those who are going farther, they are very far from convenient. The first train from Portsmouth arrives here at about one o'clock, two hours and a half after the first trains for the north have left here. The second train arrives here in the evening. There is no reason why both trains should not connect here with the trains for the north; and this can easily be done with the first train, by letting the morning train to New Market come through. Then passengers can go from Portsmouth to Burlington and Montreal in the same time that it requires from Boston.

We suppose this road must have some "through travel," in order to pay any thing; but it cannot get it unless arrangements are made to "put it through" without unnecessary delay. There ought also to be an agent here, where the northern roads intersect, to afford information and render assistance required by travellers, and thus secure business for the road. A new route cannot be expected to take business from an old one, without proper efforts to make known its advantages. We hope no proper means will be spared to promote the success of this road. With careful and efficient management we believe it can be made to pay; but not otherwise.

A DIFFERENCE.—On Monday morning we published a despatch from Harrisburg to New York, which said the Mass Convention of Whigs at that place was "A total failure. Not over 500 strangers were present, nor more than 1500 persons were assembled altogether."

Now we learn from a despatch to the Philadelphia Inquirer, that "The Mass Meeting of the friends of Gen. Scott realized the most sanguine expectations. It was, indeed, a gathering of thousands. Nearly every county in the State had its representatives. The speaking was able and eloquent, and the enthusiasm beyond all bounds. The best of feeling prevailed.

In the evening the meeting re-assembled, but it was soon ascertained that the capacity of the Court House was wholly inadequate to hold the mass of people who desired to hear the speeches, and a crowd soon assembled in the Market Square before the Washington House."

We give both the articles as we find them, and wait further reports.

IMPROVEMENTS.—The wealthy and munificent owner of the property on the east side of Pleasant street, shows his good taste and public spirit by his preparations for exchanging a pretty good sidewalk for another much better.

The mention of this circumstance affords us a good opportunity to speak of our sidewalks generally. The plan pursued by the city, and for several years by the town, is good as far as it goes. In a case like the one above referred to, the city pays a certain part of the expense, and gets a good walk for a small sum of money. Under this rule, we have excellent walks in many parts of the city. But the walks in some other localities are very poor, and must remain so, if no walks are to be paved, except where the adjoining house-holder pays one half or more. The west side of Vaughan street, and one side of Bridge street belong to this class—and both are greatly travelled.

WHAT WE DO AND MEAN TO DO.—We print ONE THOUSAND copies of the Chronicle daily, and have done so every day since we reduced our price to one cent per copy. And we circulate them, too, about half in this city and the rest "all over the lot"—thus giving advertisers a chance to spread at least six thousand impressions of their notices per week—which unequalled opportunity we will grant they are not slow in improving.

BATTLE OF BENNINGTON.—The anniversary of this battle was celebrated on the 16th inst., at the battle-ground, by a concourse of from four to five thousand people. It was a glorious summer's day, and the old battle field has probably never before seen so large a collection—not even on that great day which opened the gateway to American freedom.

Among the descendants of the old warriors, Wm. Stark, Esq., of New York, known as the White Mountain poet, was the most prominent. Mr. Stark is a grandson of General Stark, and is now becoming rapidly distinguished as an orator and a poet. He is a young man, and a late graduate of one of our New England colleges. He made a speech which was greeted with great applause.

Many other very excellent speeches were made by distinguished gentlemen present, among whom were Hon. Abram Olin, son of Gideon Olin, of the old Vermont Committee of Safety; Gov. Sargent of Vermont; Gov. Williams of Vermont; Gov. Hunt of New York; Gen. Lloyd of New York; and Gen. Wool, U. S. A.

MR. SPENCER'S EXPERIMENTS.—A large audience were in attendance at the Temple last evening to hear Mr. Spencer's introductory Lecture, which was listened to with much interest and attention. To-night he will commence his wonderful demonstrations. Let all attend, as admission is only 12 1-2 cents.

BIGAMY.—The Charle stown Advertiser tells a story of a Mr. Melcher of Boston, who lately married a Miss Wiley of Charlestown, and was living with her in apparent comfort. All at once, however, the door opened, and another Mrs. Melcher appeared, claiming to be as she really was, the wife of the bridegroom, and the mother of his five children. They had separated by consent, without divorce;—and one of their daughters read the marriage of her father in a newspaper, and told her mother, who has told the second wife, and thus set a ball in motion which will probably roll him into the State Prison.

STEAMER RAJAH WALLIE.—The new steam propeller Rajah Wallie, arrived from Boston at Batavia last May, in one hundred and fourteen days' passage. The voyage was performed entirely under sail, her propeller having been detached before she started. Her arrival caused some sensation at Batavia, and she was the subject of general admiration.—The Rajah Wallie was built at Medford by Mr. Lapham, after a model furnished by Cassius Dading, Esq., of Java, and her machinery was constructed by Mr. Otis Tufts. Her propeller was to be replaced immediately, and we shall probably hear a good account of her performances in the Java Sea.—Daily Adv.

PORTRAITS OF GEN. PIERCE.—A. J. Roberts, agent for the sale of Fetridge & Co.'s likenesses of Gen. Pierce, will be in Portsmouth, on Friday. Mr. R. will also be supplied with copies of the Life of Gen. Pierce and Wm. R. King: articles of interest at the present time.

The Homestead Bill has been rejected in U. S. Senate, by a vote of thirty-eight to sixteen.

POPULATION OF LOUISIANA.—From a table compiled for the information of the convention lately assembled to revise the constitution of Louisiana, we gather the following statistics of the population of that State in 1850:—

The whole white population of the State,	255,416
Slave population,	244,786
Free persons of color,	17,537

Making about 6000 more blacks than whites in that State.

CAPT. MARCY ALIVE.—A Louisville despatch says:—

Letters were received at Memphis on the 23d inst., from Capt. Marcy and others, from Fort Washita, Aug. 1st, officially announcing his arrival at that post with all under his command.

BUFFALO, Aug. 23.—About fifteen bodies, with clothes or marks by which to be identified, have been recovered. An investigation has been entered upon, by a committee, into the cause of the disaster, and an examination of the officers of the Atlantic is going on.—The investigation, however, seems to be without definite objects, and up to this hour nothing important has been elicited.

Mr. Langdon, a cadet at West Point is safe. He was supposed to be lost, and was so reported.

REMARKABLE WHEAT.—The Bangor Whig speaks of a beautiful specimen of winter wheat, of the Banner variety, raised by Mr. Rufus Gilmore, of Holden, in that vicinity. The seed was sown upon four acres of burnt land in the town of Brewer, and the crop was reaped in the town of Holden, Mr. Gilmore's farm having been, while the crop was growing, set off to the town of Holden. The four acres will yield 100 bushels of superior wheat.

CONGRESS.

Monday, 23d.—The proceedings were unimportant,—except a vote of the House to investigate by a committee certain claims of Gardner and others. This vote passed 142 to 28. Tuck of N. H. voted in the negative.

In the House the Senate bill for the better protection of the lives of passengers in steam vessels, was resumed.

In committee of the whole the Light House Appropriation bill was taken up.

MASS CONVENTION.—A mass convention of the democracy of Vermont will be held at Chelsea, Vt. to-morrow, to arouse an interest in behalf of Pierce and King.

REAL ESTATE.—A reference to our Auction column will show to capitalists a fair chance for investment of a small fund in real estate, at the several sales this day. The property is worthy of attention.

There is also another piece of real estate, or rather two pieces, advertised to-day at private sale, which were productive property in the hands of the former owner, (Wm. Gibbs deceased,) and must be more so than ever hereafter, as business in that part of the city has greatly increased.

THE NEW JUDGE.—Edmund Anthony Bradford of New Orleans, whom the President has nominated to the Senate for the vacancy on the bench of the Supreme Court, is a New England man, less than forty years of age, and one of the very ablest of the Louisiana bar. He was born in Plainfield, Ct., graduated at Yale College in 1838, and soon after removed to New Orleans, where he has ever since resided. He was generally considered the best scholar in the class, though on graduating he was assigned the second honor. He was recommended for the Judgeship by his associates of the New Orleans bar. He must be the youngest Judge on the bench—younger than Judge Curtis of Boston.—Lowell Courier.

DROWNED.—Maria McAlvin, formerly of Canada, was seen near Canal Bridge, in East Cambridge, on Wednesday evening, intoxicated. On Thursday morning, her dead body was discovered in the water at Soughton & Co.'s wharf, near where she was seen the evening before. Coroner Sumner, of this city, was called, an inquest held, and the jury returned the following verdict:—"That she came to her death by accidentally falling from the head of Houghton & Co.'s wharf, and so was drowned."—Charlestown Advertiser.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.—In a speech made on Saturday, at the dinner table on board the Atlantic, by Mr. Livingston, special bearer of despatches from England, the speaker said, I have the pleasure of saying, which I do upon the authority of our Minister at the Court of St. James, that unless so unfortunate a thing as an actual collision shall have occurred previous to the arrival at Washington of the despatches now on board of this steamer, and those to follow by the Asia, no further trouble can grow out of the matter.

The English ministry may have been wrong, but the English people are right.—They justly condemn the conduct of Malmesbury and Lord Derby, and we have been assured by the best authority that the Government having, though at the eleventh hour, discovered their blunder, will now leave nothing undone to repair it.—Boston Chronicle.

LOVE—A SONG.

NEW WORDS TO AN OLD TUNE.—AIR: "Uncle Ned."

There was a little archer, and his name was Love,
And he died long ago, long ago;
He had a little palace in the bright clouds above,
And he had a little quiver and a bow;
Then lay down the sonnet and the rose,
Pick up the arrows and the bow;

A pleasing little fellow was this blind boy, Love—
For he lost both his eyes long ago—
Then lay down, &c.

He hanted in the hamlet, and he hunted in the crowd,
For he wanted but a certain kind of game;
Not the great, or the rich, or the haughty, or the proud,
Not the cronies, or the pets of fame.
Then lay down, &c.

He drew his bow at random, yet he always hit his mark,
And it was, I shall surely never know:)
Through the eye, or the ear, or the lips, to the heart,
Truly sped the tiny arrow from his bow.
Then lay down, &c.

He sported till he had taken all the hearts that could be found,
And the tears, with a vigor ever new;
Then he laid himself nervously down upon the ground,
Where he shortly died of "nothing more to do."
Then lay down the wounded and the rose,
Pick up the arrows and the tears;
He's gone where the true lovers go.

There, ye musical geniuses, who perambulate our streets o' nights, singing the mournful requiem of "Uncle Ned," learn the above words, and sing 'em instead; they're much prettier, and the girls will like them much better.—Charlestown Adv.

NOTICE TO BUILDERS AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of our finest buildings are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and narrow contracted, leaden goose-necks, or what is still worse a skewangle continuation of the upright conductor with which the cornice is adorned—all of which may be remedied by application to

J. E. CHAPMAN,
PRACTICAL TIN PLATE WORKER,

who will give his personal attention to the adjustment of all such defects. Specimens of Ornamental Goose-necks and Conductor Caps, on the most approved plan of modern architecture may be seen at his Tin Ware Factory, where he manufactures to order

CONDUCTORS, GOOSE NECKS & GUTTERS of all sizes, in the most thorough and substantial manner. All orders left with him will receive immediate attention.

FLAT ROOFS FOR HOUSES.—The following suggestions in regard to the advantage of flat roofs for buildings, we take from the Scientific American :—

"All new houses which have been built in New York recently, have what are termed flat roofs; that is, the roof is nearly level, and slants but slightly from one side to the other. The old huge peaked roofs are fast disappearing; we wonder how they ever came in use. The inventor of them must have been a man of conical ideas. The flat roofs are covered with tin and well painted. If a fire takes place in a building, it is easy to walk and work on the flat roof, so as to command the fire, if it be in the adjacent buildings; this cannot be done on peaked roofs. Flat roofs are cheaper and more convenient in every respect. We advise all those who intend to build new houses to have flat roofs on them. It is better to have a flush story at the top of a building than a peaked cramped-up garret, which is only comfortable for travelling on the hands and knees.

Several houses in Europe have been built with their roofs as reservoirs for water. It is a valuable thing in case of fire, or for domestic purposes; a large quantity of rain water being generally ready for use."

BARNUM AND TOM THUMB.—Barnum's chief sources of income out of Connecticut, are his Museum, said to be very profitable, and his famous menagerie, now in Michigan. Sixty thousand dollars were the profits of the menagerie the last year, and among its incidental expenses are $200 a week, or $10,400 a year for Tom Thumb. Barnum made Tom Thumb's fortune, and Tom contributed not a little to Barnum's. Tom is about 16 years of age now, though passing for more, and it is his money which built for his father the largest house in Bridgeport. Tom has made all his family rich, and when at home he is of course the elephant of the town, Barnum being then but a simple lion.

Tom has his bijou of a room in his great house, with a rosewood bedstead, chairs, tables, and a tea set, &c., all made to match his own diminutive proportions. His quarters contain all the presents he received in Europe, and pistols, bowie-knives, jack-knives, &c., have been among his favorite playthings; but he is amiable, intelligent, and very much esteemed.

Barnum took him as an experiment about ten years ago. His pay at the start was $3 a week, soon it was raised to $25, then to $37. At this price Barnum took him to England, where his great success prompted Mr. B. to share the receipts with him. Now, for showing himself merely, he earns an income equal to the official salaries of Daniel Webster and John J. Crittenden combined.

AN ANCIENT LADY.—There is at present residing in the town of Hollis, N. H., the relict of the late Elder Locke, who has reached the advanced age of one hundred years and eight months. She is quite active and has a good appetite, &c. Her sight, however is so far gone that she can see but little, if at all.—Boston Chronicle.

Politeness is the outward garment of good will; but many are the nut-shells in which, if you crack them, nothing like a kernel is to be found.

INFLUX OF STRANGERS.—The city of New York, according to the Tribune, is overflowing with strangers from all quarters. Returning summer tourists are coming in hundreds from northern and eastern watering places; the southern merchants are coming to make their fall purchases, and a great number of politicians are there arranging the details of the campaign. The hotels have never before been so full at this period of the year; a stranger to the facts might reasonably suppose that there was a perpetual mass meeting at any of the chief houses. The prospect now is that all the new hotels soon to be opened will be easily filled by strangers alone, at least during the season of fall trade.

TRAVEL IN CHARLESTOWN, MASS.—There are at the present time forty omnibuses, of both lines, running from Boston to Charlestown, and this number is exclusive of four Chelsea coaches, four East Cambridge, one to Somerville, and one to Malden. Not less than ten thousand people ride over this route daily.

The Rev. Samuel L. Southard, of Newark, N. J., has been elected rector of Trinity Church in San Francisco, with a salary of $6000 per annum, and an ample outfit. The Newark Advertiser says his friends will "contribute what persuasions they can command" to prevent his going.

GRAND BALL.—We understand that arrangements are making for a splendid ball at the White Mountain Station House, to come off on Friday, the third day of September. From the high reputation of the house, and the numbers we hear of, who expect to attend, a brilliant affair may be anticipated.—Portland Adv.

Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:

THURSDAY, AUGUST 26, 1852.

NOBODY TO BLAME.

Generally some one is to blame, for the terrible steamboat collisions, fires, &c. And sometimes a number are to blame. In the late case of the Atlantic, we think one difficulty was the want of a good lookout on her part. But in many respects, her arrangements were better than common. The Boston Journal, whose editor was a first rate sailor and shipmaster, says of her, she was one of the most magnificent boats that ever floated upon the blue waters of that inland sea. Her engines were of the most perfect and powerful kind.

There were provisions made on board the Atlantic for the preservation of passengers, but perhaps not to the extent necessary for the immense crowd which she was in the habit of carrying in her daily trips. Everything about her which human foresight could devise to insure the safety of the passengers has been kept in requisition. There were placed in each state-room and distributed about the decks, stools with air-tight tin floats fixed beneath the seats, one of which was amply sufficient to buoy up a human body. Other means of preservation were at hand, which only needed a little coolness in the trying hour to have put in requisition, but the misfortune was in this, as in all similar calamities, that overmastering terror put an end to all discipline; confusion reigned where the only hope of safety was in preserving order, and the struggling and drowning wretch dragged down the hero whose unclogged exertions would have saved them both. We do not speak these words reproachfully, but in sorrow; the near approach of the dread king, causes the stoutest heart to quail and the steadiest nerve to tremble; but it proves none the less the necessity of coolness in the hour of peril.

The Atlantic floated a sufficient time after the collision to have allowed the propeller to come alongside and take off every passenger on board; but instead of that, she ran away, and with a speed compared to which, the slow progress of a freight propeller was like that of a gentle zephyr pursuing a whirlwind. She ran away from the chances of safety, and, as a consequence, the deep waters of Lake Erie have again become the winding sheet of two hundred human beings; many of them poor pilgrims from a far off shore, who left the land of their fathers with high hopes to seek a new home under brighter skies, and have found instead, a grave in the deep waters of an inland sea.

It is easy for us, after a calamity has happened, to calculate coolly upon the ways and means by which it might have been avoided; and to think if this or that course had been adopted, such sad results would not have followed; but if we ask ourselves how we would have acted at the time, without the light of consequences to instruct us, what would have been a better course, we will be obliged to confess that we might possibly have done the same thing, or even worse. The expedient which suggested itself to the officers of the boat was to run her on shore with all speed; and in this case they made a natural but fatal mistake. The splendid steamer went down with two hecatombs of victims, adding one more to the fearful catalogue of calamities for the year 1852.

THE WEBSTER MEETING, which was announced by our telegraphic correspondent to be held in Boston last night, was postponed to wait for some movement from the interior of Massachusetts, so as not to be a mere Boston Meeting. The Boston Daily Advertiser of yesterday presents a strong plea against the whole affair, and advises the committee, as the wisest course, "to dispense with the meeting altogether."

THE CONGRESSIONAL RESTAURANT.—In the House of Representatives, on Tuesday, "Mr. Stanly said he understood one of the committee rooms was used as a restaurant by persons having claims before Congress. He mentioned this, knowing that the Speaker, as he remarked, would take great pleasure in having this evil corrected."

We should think he would, if he wished to keep order in the House. The restaurant has doubtless had something to do with the waste of time during the past session; and perhaps with the angry debate of Tuesday.

But somebody must be responsible for bringing the striped pig inside the walls of the Capitol. Who is it?

THE OGDENSBURG.—A despatch, from Fremont, Ohio, Aug. 24, states that the Committee of Inquiry into the disaster of the steamer Atlantic, met last night. The evidence, so far as it went, strongly inculpates the officers of the Ogdensburg, but was of course entirely ex parte. There appears to be little doubt but the officers of the O. attempted to pass the bows of the Atlantic, when the rules of navigation required her to drop astern. The Committee ascertain that the Atlantic was well supplied with life preservers, but want of presence of mind prevented the passengers from availing themselves of this means of escape.

A lady, one day last week, travelled from the summit of Mount Washington to the city of Boston, between sunrise and sunset.

THE OLD SERPENT.

Not many days ago, we gave a brief notice of the Sea Serpent, amusing himself with a summer excursion off Cape Ann. A gentleman who reads the Daily Chronicle, and who is also a general reader of things old as well as new, has handed us an extract from the Massachusetts Magazine for August, 1793, describing a Sea Serpent, which was probably the great-grandfather of the present race of reptiles. The family likeness is very striking.

"MARINE SERPENT.—On the 20th of June, Captain Crabtree having just made Mount Desart Island, distant nearly two leagues, suddenly got sight of a Serpent of an enormous size, swimming on the surface of the ocean; its head was elevated about six or eight feet out of water. That part of the body which was discernible appeared to be the size of a barrel in circumference, but the head larger, having some resemblance of a horse's. It was supposed to be from 55 to 60 feet in length."

ERRORS.—The telegraph makes some errors; but not all of them. Compositors make some, and proof-readers leave them, to the astonishment of the natives.

Thus we read, yesterday morning, in three or four papers, in Mr. Polk's speech:

"I say, when my colleague made the assertion at the City Hall, in this city, that Franklin Pierce on his horse fainted—he lied."

This sounded very odd, indeed; as we never heard of his horse's fainting, or of any other. At last we opened the Boston Times, and there we read, "When my colleague made the assertion—that Franklin Pierce on his horse fainted—he lied." And this was all plain enough.

THE LAST WEEK.—Congress has gone through half the last week of its session. The proper business of the session is greatly behindhand. As much of it as can be huddled up in three days and nights of noise and confusion, will be despatched—and the remainder laid over to the next session, to be treated in the same way again.

LATEST FROM THE LAKE.—A gentleman who has just returned from Lake Winnepiseogee, remarks that every man, woman and child he saw there, had the Portsmouth Morning Chronicle.

LIBERTY AND EQUALITY.

The Massachusetts Magazine for January, 1793, under the head of New Hampshire, has the following item.

"Mr. Toscan, the vice consul of France, at Portsmouth, has given to his infant the surname of Liberty and Equality."

Consul Toscan became one of our own people by marriage and permanent residence,—and his descendants are yet with us in a neighboring town. The peculiar name, Liberty and Equality, was an offering to the spirit of the times.

GIVE IT UP.—The Wilmington, N. C., Herald, of the 21st, a Whig paper, says:

"There seems to be no longer a doubt of the final complexion of the Legislature. The Democrats have a majority of two on joint ballot."

SUICIDES.—A German, by the name of Lucas, in the employ of Wm. Patten, goldsmith, in Springfield, committed suicide by taking poison, on Sunday night. He had been in low spirits for some time, and had often expressed the wish that his life might be terminated, as he had no friends, or any one that cared for him.

Two young girls at Henderson, Ky., committed suicide by tying their hands together and walking out into the Ohio river, where they laid down and drowned themselves. The girls were sisters, aged 16 and 18. When found they were locked in each other's arms. Cause, family difficulties.

LOWELL POLICE.—The Lowell Daily News has been furnished with the following items concerning the working of the "new law" in that city. For the month ending July 22, the whole number of committals to the Watch House for drunkenness was 84; reported drunk but not arrested, 160; total, 244. For the month ending Aug. 22, the number of committals was 20; reported but not arrested, 40; total, 60. This shows a falling off of 75 per cent, "on the old prices."

A LONG TRAIN.—The Ithica (N. Y.) Journal says the new eight-wheeled locomotive, "Cayuga," one day last week drew a train of one hundred and fifty-seven coal cars from Ithica to Oswego. The engine is a six-driver with but four feet diameter of wheels, but draws at a rate which would astonish one unacquainted with the power of an "iron horse."

GREAT SPEED.—On Saturday morning last the express train on the Hudson River Railroad went through from New York to Albany in two hours and fifty-seven minutes, running time, being considerably the quickest time ever made on any road in this country and seldom equalled in any other.

L-A-W—LAW.—In Burlington, Iowa, a case which has been long pending in the courts, originating in a dispute about a calf, valued at about three dollars, has just terminated. The costs amounted to five hundred dollars, independent of counsel fees.

A little daughter of Mr. Lewis, at Defiance, Ohio, died a few days ago from the effects of poison, by eating colored candy.

EXCITING DEBATE.

In the United States Senate, on Wednesday, the River and Harbor Bill was ordered to be engrossed, which was the principal business.

On the same day in the House of Representatives, a resolution was passed for the purpose of continuing the business which shall remain unacted upon from this to the next session.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the bill making appropriations for the support of lighthouses, the general debate having been previously limited to one hour.

An angry personal and political debate then sprung up, which we abridge from the Times:—

Mr. Polk said it was not his purpose to discuss the bill before them, but to show among other things that the whig party had gone into liquidation, and cannot pay ten cents on the dollar. He was at Baltimore when the whigs nominated Gen. Scott, and it was understood for three or four days that men from Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee had agreed to come to Seward, and the fact that he was nominated showed that the bargain had been made.

Mr. Cullum—My colleague in the Senate can answer for himself. I proclaim here that I have entered into no collusion, public or private, and I pronounce the insinuation gratuitous, unfounded, untruthful and utterly false.

The Chairman, Mr. Venable, knocked to order, and Mr. Polk resumed, saying there was but one way to come at the fact, and that was a straightforward course. I repeat, Senator Jones betrayed the whig party of Tennessee. And I will make another charge; I will not allow this thing to go into an indefinite kind of responsibility. I will make it fixed. One thing I say: When my colleague made the assertion at the City Hall in this city, that Franklin Pierce on his horse fainted, he lied.

Mr. Cullum replied: When my colleague insinuates that I have made a false representation, he is a liar. (Sensation.)

Mr. Edgerton—I ask that the finality resolutions be read.

Mr. Polk resumed, saying: That after all the illiberal, unfair and shameful attack on Pierce, it was necessary to review Scott's history. I deny that Scott is all that his friends claim for him, and history would show this. He then spoke of Scott's prosecution of Genl's Worth, Duncan, Dickinson, Pillow, and others, being envious of their fame, and not wishing them to share the honors of the campaign. These soldiers were the victims of his ambition, and Scott was unworthy of a civilian's post, but as a magnificent humbug.—Facts prove these things. After mentioning many things told him by the late General Worth, he said that Scott was sitting in proud state, when Lieut. Ames' commissioner came to inquire whether Scott would fight at Chapultepec or not. Scott played the grander, and submitted to it, and thus sacrificed 750 lives at Molino del Rey.

Mr. White. The gentleman says he understood that I was selected to be pitted with him. I say that it is false, and when ever my honor is assailed, I know what to resort to.

The excitement was at fever point all over the house.

The excitement soon subsided.

Mr. Polk continued his speech in favor of Pierce and in detraction of Scott, representing the latter in anything but a becoming light, and wound up by making reference to a certain document distributed by the whigs to injure Gen. Pierce in the North, having reprinted an article in the National Era, showing Pierce as a friend of slavery, while documents of a contrary character, based on the New Boston speech, are flooding the South.

Mr. Polk explained, saying, that he alluded to what Mr. Cullum said at the City Hall when he charged Pierce with cowardice.

Mr. Cullum said the gentleman had qualified his expression. I heard no man denounce Pierce as a coward at the meeting alluded to. I merely referred to a historical fact, namely: That Pierce's horse stumbled and Pierce fainted. I advise my colleague to get some glue, stick himself to his seat, and maintain his dignity. I think it unfortunate that my colleague alluded to the Mexican war, and that his reference to Santa Anna was wrong, considering the gentleman's relation to the administration under which it was conducted.

DOINGS AT THE NAVY YARD NEW YORK.—The greatest activity in fitting out vessels of war now prevails at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Razee Raleigh, the old Macedonian, has now got her masts, and is fast getting ready for sea. The Constitution has nearly completed her repairs. The Independence still remains in the dry dock repairing. The North Carolina is receiving recruits, and has now on board between two and three hundred; a large number of the new seamen, however, have deserted within the past week.

One of the U. S. coast surveying Steamers, which sailed from this port a short time ago, took fire from the furnaces while at sea, and had to return for repairs.

NAVAL.—The United States sloop-of-war St. Louis sailed from Portsmouth, Virginia, August 21st, it is said for the Mediterranean station, to join the squadron of Commodore Stringham. The steamer Powhattan had got all her stores on board, and is only waiting for a Purser to go in commission.

Orders were received at the same Navy Yard on Wednesday to hurry up the frigate Columbia with all possible despatch. She was nearly rigged and would soon take in her stores.

Orders were also received to expedite the steamer Alleghany. She is intended for a survey of the China seas. It is reported she is to be under the command of Commodore Ringold.

THE NINTH REGIMENT.—We learn that there was a meeting of the officers of the New England Regiment at Gass' on Friday, and that most of the survivors of that gallant band were present. Gen. Pierce presided. Speeches were made, and sentiments offered, and it was agreed to form an association to meet every year on the 19th and 20th of August.—Concord Reporter.

IRISH MOB AT LYNN.—On Saturday night, at about 12 o'clock, Constable A. S. Chase was called from his bed by two Irishmen, to quell a disturbance at an Irish hall in the neighborhood. Mr. Chase dressed himself, and, on leaving his house, found a dozen or fifteen Irishmen in the street, apparently awaiting his appearance.

Mr. Chase was immediately assailed with stones, one of which hit him on the temple and another behind the ear, which laid him senseless.

A party of men returning to their homes, found him on the sidewalk, and took him to his house. Drs. Perley and Gould were immediately sent for, who, after examining his wounds, pronounced him in a critical situation. Bleeding from the ears, and vomiting, continued through the night. The City Marshal was called, and succeeded in arresting some four or five of the villians. It seems they had provided themselves with rum from Boston, and having some spite against Chase, took the above method to assail him. Chase still lays in a critical state.

The physician attending upon Mr. Chase stated that the recovery of his patient still remained doubtful, and he could not then determine the result; whereupon the prisoners were committed without bail to the Salem jail, there to await examination next Saturday, at 9 o'clock A. M.

The prisoners appeared totally indifferent in regard to the accusation. The features of one of them wore a contemptuous smile when leaving the court-room in the custody of the City Marshal. One of the witnesses asserts that liquor was not the incentive which provoked the outrage.

The court-room was crowded by the sympathizing countrymen of the accused.

At the royal iron foundry of Berlin, a tent of sheet iron, 120 feet long and 20 wide, has been constructed as a mess-room for the officers in the camp. It can be transported in a single cart, and put up in half an hour.

RAILROADS.

The following table, from the Boston Herald, shows the receipts and running expenses of eight Massachusetts railroads, during the last six years, and is quite valuable for the purpose of comparison with other roads, or with the same roads at a different time:

	Receipts.	Running Expenses.
Eastern	$2,894,397	$1,014,452 or about	36 pr. ct.
Fitchburg	2,724,328	1,376,169 "	50 "
Worcester	4,198,397	2,224,058 "	53 "
	$26,592,248	$13,061,165

Arrest of Murderers.

Four person had arrived at St. Louis, where they were identified as the murderers of two Indians. They are deserters from the U. S. Army, named John Holland, John Schamin, Anson Vinnart and John Fulmon. They were committed for trial before the U. S. District Court.

Indian Murdered, &c.

A man named Elijah Terry murdered a Sioux Indian near Pembina, Minesota. The inhabitants are much alarmed in consequence, and are constructing defences for their protection.

Mr. Fillmore, brother of the President, who visited St. Pauls, Minesota, in the capacity of Timber Agent, last fall, has returned to Detroit.

Steamer Atlantic.

BUFFALO, Aug. 25.

Wells' express agents state that they have not succeeded in finding the wreck of the steamer Atlantic. More dredges were to be sent to Long Point.

Railroad Opening.

CHARLESTON, Aug. 24.

A circular was published on Monday evening, signed by the Executive Committee of the Union party, withdrawing the electoral ticket nominated by the party at Milledgeville, and calling for a meeting of Union Whigs and Democrats of Georgia at Atlanta, on the 18th of September, to determine the course to be pursued.

Providence Flying Artillery.

BOSTON, Aug. 25.

The Providence Flying Artillery arrived in this city this afternoon. They will be reviewed by Maj. Gen. Edmands and staff, on the common, to-morrow afternoon at 5 o'clock.

☞ 11 o'cloak, P. M.—The long wished for and much needed rain has come, and at the present moment there is every appearance of a copious supply.

NEW YORK, August 25.

FRIGHTFUL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A frightful accident occurred yesterday morning on the Ramapo and Patterson Branch of the Erie Railroad. While the express train for New York was passing a sudden curve at a rapid rate, the flange of a wheel on the forward truck of the engine broke, and the engine, tender and two passenger cars were rolled down an embankment of twenty feet into a rocky meadow. Wm. Jeffrey, fireman, was killed, and two or three other firemen and brakemen severely injured. Many of the passengers were badly bruised and mangled, and some bones broken, though it is hoped no individual was fatally wounded.

MATTERS AT THE CAPITAL.—Washington, 25th.—Mr. Goodrich, U. S. Consul at Paris, has arrived in this city.

A duel between Polk and Cullon is deemed positive. Polk's speech was one of the most abusive ever uttered in the national legislature.

There is no longer reason for the slightest apprehension of a rupture with Great Britain on account of the fisheries.

Mr. Webster expects to leave for Marshfield in a few days, and return in a month or six weeks. He has relinquished the idea of retiring from the Cabinet, so also it is believed of Mr. Hull. Another member of the Cabinet may possibly retire in the course of a month, but for private considerations only.

IOWA.—It is now settled that the Whigs have one member of Congress in Iowa, a gain, and the Democrats the other. The Democrats have carried the State ticket by a greatly reduced majority, probably not over 1200. The Legislature will show a small Democratic majority, owing to the Democratic Senators who hold over.

HUMBUG TELEGRAM.—Our telegraphic reporter from New York was misinformed when he sent us and the associated press yesterday, the despatch relative to the loss of Adams & Co.'s Express on the steamer Atlantic of $50,000. The fact is, this firm have no express running in that quarter, and consequently they lost no money. As to Mr. Adams having gone to see about raising the boat, he was in our office as smiling as usual soon after our paper went to press.—Boston Transcript.

NO REST BUT IN HEAVEN.

BY CHARLES MACKAY.

Tell me, ye winged winds
That round my pathway roar,
Do ye not know some spot
Where mortals weep no more?
Some lone and pleasant dell,
Some valley in the west,
Where free from toil and pain,
The weary soul may rest?
The loud winds softened to a whisper low,
And sighed for pity as it answered—"No!"

Tell me, thou mighty deep,
Whose billows round me play,
Know'st thou some favored spot,
Some island far away,
Where the weary man may find
The bliss for which he sighs,
Where sorrow never lives,
And friendship never dies?
The loud waves rolling in perpetual flow,
Stopped for awhile and sighed to answer—"No!"

And thou, serenest moon,
That with such holy face,
Dost look upon the earth,
Asleep in night's embrace,—
Tell me, in thy round
Hast thou not seen some spot
Where miserable man
Might find a happier lot?
Behind the cloud the moon withdrew in woe,
And a voice, sweet but sad, responded—"No!"

Tell me, my secret soul,
Oh, tell me, Hope and Faith,
Is there no resting place
From sorrow, sin and death?
Is there no happier spot,
Where mortals may be blessed,
Where grief may find a balm,
And weariness a rest?
Faith, Hope and Love, best boons to mortals given,
Waved their bright wings and whispered—"Yes,
IN HEAVEN!"

He is greatly learned who has learned how little he knows.

A MUSICAL PRODIGY.

In the Massachusetts Magazine for February, 1793, is the following account of a precocious singer of that day.

"At the elegant chateau of Mr. Wentworth, in Portsmouth, New Hampshire, there resides a female child, who, though only three years of age, possesses such surprizing musical genius, that she can modulate her voice with equal propriety to any grown person. After hearing a person play upon the harpsichord any particular song once, she will chant it with so sweet and innocent a melody, as captivates every hearer."

The chateau where she resided, was probably at Little Harbor, now known as the Cushing place.

TAUNTON ACADEMY.—The celebration of the Academy at Taunton, Mass., took place yesterday. There were public literary exercises, consisting of a historical sketch of the Academy by Rev. Mr. Brigham, Secretary of the Trustees, and a discourse by Professor Felton of Harvard University. An original hymn was sung by a select choir, and the "Ode on Science," composed by Deacon Sumner, and sung at the opening of the first Academy building, 56 years ago, was repeated. After the literary exercises a collation was served. A large number of guests were present.

A WINDFALL FOR THE NANTUCKETERS.—Among the sums awarded and recently paid under the Brazilian treaty, was that of $53,902 to the owners of the ship Tarquin of Nantucket. This sum was distributed among thirty claimants, of whom seven received $4,418 or upwards each, seven received various sums each, from $1123 to $2209; and the remaining sixteen received various sums from $449 to $980 each.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

VESSEL STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—A telegraphic despatch from Mobile, dated 20th inst., states that the barque Matagorda, from Boston, arrived at that port in distress, having been struck by lightning, (no date) and that Capt. Purchase and wife were both killed.—The mate was injured at the time. The vessel's cabin, &c., was also somewhat damaged.

TEN THOUSAND MEN WANTED.—The Superintendent of the Illinois Central Railroad has advertised for ten thousand men to work on that road. As there are over 700 miles to be completed, and as the company has ample cash funds in hand, an excellent opportunity is offered for employment for two or three years.

A new threshing machine is said to have been invented by a Mr. Palmer of North Carolina, which, with four men to feed it, will take a hundred cart loads of wheat in the morning, lying in the sheaf, pass it through the thresher, separate every kernel from the straw, winnow, clean and put into bags 1500 bushels before sunset.

The milkmen of Albany have got up a "strike." They held a meeting a few evenings since and resolved, in consequence of the long continued drought, and the scarcity of hay and pasture, to raise the price of milk from four to five cents.

The Clarksburg (Va) Register states, that there is a man living in that town named Stephen Dicks, who heard the original Declaration of Independence read from the State House steps, in Philadelphia, in 1776. He was then 14 years old, and is 90 now.

Platina was first discovered in the gold mines of Choca; the Spaniards called it "juan blanca" (white gold,) and "platino del Pinto" (little silver of Pinto). It is first mentioned by Scaliger in 1601, but did not become known in Europe till after Ulloa's voyage.

A Mrs. Eliot, of Jersey City, a few days since, gave birth to her twenty-third child!—Mother and child are doing well. The age of Mr. Eliot is 55, and that of Mrs. E. 50. They have been married about thirty years. They will have something of a family one of these days.

The Biddeford Journal says that a Mr. Plummer, of Boston, shot a seal, a few days since, near "Seal Rocks," which on being brought to the shore, was found to weigh six hundred pounds! It has been stuffed for a museum.

A fire has been raging in the woods in Londonderry, N. H., for the last ten or twelve days, which has caused great loss. The principal sufferers are Messrs. Titcomb and Pinnock, on whose lands sixty or seventy acres of a fine oak growth, are burnt over.

Eggs, from China, put up in pickle, in large sized jars, are now retailed in San Francisco at one dollar per dozen.

A German paper states that 76,680 political prisoners are now in confinement in Europe, and that over 200,000 have fled to avoid like incarceration.

Hawthorne's House of Seven Gables has been interdicted by the Austrian government.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, AUGUST 27, 1852.

GREAT INVENTION.

We have long been looking for the invention of steam carriages for running on common roads. The Paris correspondent of the New York Herald, in a recent letter, represents this want as being supplied. He says, "A wonderful discovery has been made by a young engineer from the city of Montdidier, who arrived a few days ago in Paris, driving himself a steam carriage, of elegance and solidity, which will, no doubt, create much excitement in our city. This new discovery, which I visited yesterday, offers the most striking effect to the eye, and will be of much use to the messageries and roulages, for I am told that the expenses of the engine are less than those of horses. In a few days a public experiment will be given, which I will attend, in order to know more about the speed of the new steam carriage."

If the speed is any thing like what we suppose it may be, the new iron horse must be a dangerous roadster, almost as frightful to other carriages as the jackass was when he danced among the chickens, and cried out "who's afraid?"

PORTSMOUTH & DOVER RAILROAD.

To-morrow morning at 11 o'clock, at the Franklin House, will be held the meeting of the grantees, associates and friends of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad. It is to be hoped that a large attendance of business men and monied men will be witnessed, and the corner stone of the enterprise laid strong and square. No one can doubt the desirableness of a direct railroad communication between Dover and Portsmouth. Two surveys have been made, one to run over Piscataqua Bridge; the other over Dover Neck and across Knight's Ferry to Bloody Point in Newington. This last named route is said to be the most direct, and is supposed to be less costly than any other. Gentlemen on both routes, and those at both ends of them, would do well to attend the meeting.

NEW MAP OF THE RAILROADS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—The name of the author of this map, Mr. J. N. Conant, is reliable authority for its accuracy. He has been at much pains to be able to guarantee the correctness of the position of every road laid down. It shows at a glance all the roads passing through the State, or any part of it, and is invaluable at the present time to convey a clear idea of the immense importance to this city of filling up the gap between us and Dover with a substantial Railroad.

Looking upon this map we find that the laying down of simply ten miles of road will put us in direct communication with the whole of that rich tract of country surrounding our great State Lake Winnipiseogee, and cannot but result in making our city the grand "SEA DEPOT" of the Traders, Farmers, and pleasure travellers of our State.

NEW POWER LOOM FOR RIBBED SHIRTS AND DRAWERS.

Many of our readers are aware that Mr. John Pepper of this city invented and brought out a power loom for weaving plain hosiery about five years ago,—which has been eminently successful, and is highly approved.

He has now, just completed and set in operation a new power-loom for weaving ribbed work. This machine was exhibited to us yesterday at the Portsmouth Stocking Factory. It is a beautiful and compact piece of workmanship, about 2 1-2 feet high, and 18 inches square; and within this small compass is included all the machinery for weaving the body of a ribbed shirt without seams.

A hand loom for ribbed work will turn from 4 to 6 shirts or drawers in a day; while this new loom will produce 2 dozen in a day; and one man will attend 3 or 4 looms.

One hand-loom for ribbed work costs $200; whereas one of these new looms will cost but $100.

Mr. Pepper has spent much time and devoted much thought to the invention of this machine, for five years past, but has only just now come to its completion.

This new loom is worthy the attention of mechanics, for its ingenuity; and some enterprising man of adequate capital, who would know how to make this invention a source of profit to himself.

The inventor is ready to show it to any gentlemen who take an interest in such matters.

A NEW CANDIDATE.—We have some idea of nominating Capt. Marcy for President. If he should run as well at the polls, as he has through the telegraph lines and newspapers, he would be the most available candidate there is out. He passed through Memphis on the 24th inst.

ADVERTISING—DOES IT "PAY?"

The business men of Portsmouth generally think it does, as our columns show; but some are disposed to doubt that it pays anybody—except the printer, evidence to the contrary abounding notwithstanding.

One dealer in our city advertised an article in the first number of the Chronicle, a large stock of which he wished to "turn." In a week or two he requested to have the advertisement discontinued, as he had sold all out, and still had frequent calls.

Another tells us that by advertising an article which had lain on his hands without any call, till he was tired of it—he cleared out quite a large stock in a very few days.

And one of our dry goods dealers says that he always believed in liberal advertising, but was never so well satisfied of its utility as when customers repeatedly inquired for "those goods advertised in the Chronicle!"

ADVERTISING.—It is sometimes supposed by those not acquainted with facts, that newspaper readers do not generally notice advertisements. Now and then some mistake occurring shows the fact to be different. The other day, by a typographical blunder, we made a merchant offer silks for 12 1-2 cents a yard, when it should have been 62 1-2; and no less than thirty-four persons called on the succeeding day, to examine and purchase those silks. If a man wants custom, let him advertise, and he will have it. If he has money enough, and don't want trade—keeps a store merely to have a place for himself and other loafers—let him keep out of the newspapers, and he'll not have his repose disturbed. —Newburyport Union.

CONCORD REBUILT.—The ruins of the fire there a single year ago, are now scarcely seen. Phœnix-like, new buildings rise from the ashes of the old. The Patriot says the hotel erected upon the site of the Old Eagle Coffee House, will be opened about the 1st of November by Maj. Gibson, and will be the most spacious and elegant public house in the State.

COMMITTEES OF INVESTIGATION.—If any person objects to an investigation of a case such objection is prima facie evidence against him, that he fears the light. We wondered, therefore, to see so many as 28 members of the House of Representatives voting against raising an investigating committee on the Gardner and other claims, in the House of Representatives on Monday.

The New York Herald however, pronounces "these investigations mere shams," which will never reveal much iniquity, but keep back the facts and slur over the frauds.

CALORIC SHIP.—Capt. Ericsson of New York is building a ship to be propelled by valoric instead of steam. She is of 2200 tons burden, costs 300,000 dollars, and is to be afloat about the middle of September. She is intended to be worked by an air-engine, instead of a steam engine,—a new experiment entirely.

POTATOES FROM SPOUTS.

The Worcester Daily Spy gives an account of a good crop of potatoes raised from sprouts:—

"A remarkable large and fine crop of potatoes were raised the present season on about four acres of reclaimed meadow land, by Mr. C. W. Forbush, of Grafton. The potatoes are of remarkably fine quality for cooking, and all of good size, there being no small ones amongst them. This peculiarity is supposed to be owing to the fact that they were raised from "sets," or sprouts taken from potatoes, and not from planting the potatoes themselves. Four sets of sprouts were successively taken from the potatoes, so that those taken from only ten bushels, seeded the four acres, after which the potatoes themselves were planted, and produced as good a crop, apparently, as if no sprouts were taken from them. This is a very profitable operation for Mr. F., as the potatoes, owing to their superior qualities, sell readily in Boston at $3 per barrel.

The Weather, yesterday, was decidedly pleasant, being refreshingly rainy and wet, after a long and distressing drought.

AS COOL AS A CUCUMBER.—A man on 'Change, yesterday, called another "a puppy." That's no disgrace in dog days," was the very cool reply.—Boston Post.

CITY COUNCIL—Aug. 26.

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN, on Thursday evening, the Committee on Burying Grounds reported in favor of adopting the recommendation of the Mayor, to change the location of the burial place on the City Farm. The Committee was instructed to select a suitable spot for the purpose, and make report at the next meeting of the Board.

The joint select Committee to whom was referred the communication from the City Marshal, in relation to the treatment of himself and Assistants by the Police Justice, in cases of violation of the laws which occurred on the 5th July—made report that on investigation, they find the allegations of the Marshal to be correct and supported by affidavits. (The Marshal's letter has before been published.) The Committee recommended that the City Council petition the General Court for the removal of the Police Justice.

The report was unanimously adopted.

The committee appointed to ascertain the terms on which the gas company would supply the city with street-lights, reported that the company will furnish gas at the rate of one and a half cents per hour for each light. The self-adjusting burners must be used, and the gas taken from the main pipes.

The Common Council was not in session.

SIGNS IN FRANCE.—A straw, thrown up by a correspondent of the Times:—

"The monument erected to the duke d'Enghien in the chapel of Vincennes has been recently removed from that place, dismembered and totally destroyed. The marbles have been brought to the magazine in the Isle aux Cygnes. The coffin has been removed to a small room adjoining the vestry, and left there without any inscription. This cowardly profanation took place by night, but in the presence of the commanding officer and by the hands of soldiers, after a visit from some of the president's orderlies, and of Lucien Murat. The accusing epitaph has been broken in pieces, and all traces of the crime, and of the reparation, have as much as possible disappeared. I have this from credible and ocular witnesses."

SAD AFFAIR—CAUTION TO SCHOOL BOYS.—On Tuesday last, shortly after the District School at Whitlockville was dismissed and the children had started home, three boys and a little girl were going along in company, when the boys found and killed a small snake.—About this time a disturbance arose in the little party, during which one of the boys struck the little girl, pushed her down, threw dust, in her face, and placed the snake upon her.—After the girl had partially recovered from the assault and affright, she ran home and complained of a violent headache, was thrown into convulsions and became delirious. In this condition she lingered until Friday afternoon, when death came to the relief of the poor little sufferer.—Westchester Herald.

At Lewiston Falls the foundation for a factory of 20,000 spindles has just been laid, and ground is soon to be broken for another of 14,500 spindles.

ASTROLOGY.—SPIRITUAL RAPPINGS AND TIPPINGS.—To test the merits of Astrology and Spiritualism, as mediums of truth, I have consulted the disciples of both, concerning the ship Staffordshire. Professor Lister is well known in this community as a devoted student of Astrology; a gentleman intimately acquainted with the language of the heavenly bodies, and whose predictions, I understand, invariably "toe the mark." I consultlng him about the Staffordshire, and received the following answer:

"The Moon separating from the opposition of Saturn, is indicative of false reports having been made through prejudice or malice. The position of Venus, however, indicates the safety of the vessel. The position of Mars would indicate sickness on board, and the death of two or three persons. In six days, the false reports concerning her will be exposed, and the ship herself will be heard from about the 18th or 19th of September. She has experienced heavy weather and has lost some of her bulwarks, but has sustained no material damage."

The Professor was very minute in his calculations, and felt so assured of their correctness, that he declared himself willing to risk a thousand dollars on the result.

Raysings and Tippings.—A lady—I have not permission to mention her—put me in communication with the spirit of Capt. Sturgis, who stated that the Staffordshire arrived at San Francisco Aug. 9th, all well. She experienced excellent weather and had not carried away anything worth reporting. The questions which elicited this statement were put no less than three times, and the answers ware uniformly the same.

"Now, Captain," said I, at the close, "this statement, after repeating it, will be published in the papers, and your reputation will be responsible for its truth, therefore if it is incorrect, tip the table towards me three times, or rap out by the alphabet, any alteration you wish to have made in it?" I paused a minute, but there was neither rap nor tip. I then requested him, if it were correct in every particular, to tip the table three times toward me, and the words were hardly uttered before the table responded thrice. This request was also thrice repeated, and as often answered in the same style. To clinch all, I again asked when the Staffordshire arrived at San Francisco, and was again answered on the 9th of August.

I am perfectly satisfied that the lady through whom this communication was made, is incapable of imposing upon any one. The responses of what purported to be the spirit of Capt. Sturgis, were loud and distinct. A few weeks will prove their truth, or—something else. —"SEER," in Boston Atlas.

London, Aug. 13.—The stormy and unsettled weather since our last has greatly impeded harvest operations, and with continued complaints of blight and mildew in the Wheat crop there has been an active speculative demand for Wheat and Flour at an advance of 2 a 3s on the former, and 1 a 2s per bbl on Flour. The weather appears changing to fair.

Colonial and foreign produce markets dull thro' the week and prices of most articles supported with difficulty. Cotton, however, steady. Money has been in more demand without change in rates of discount. The funds have declined. Consols leave off at 99¼ a 99½ for money.

Liverpool, Aug. 13.—Fine Beef saleable; dealers well stocked. Pork droops under increasing supplies. Fine Cheese would sell readily if here.—Flour 21s 6d to 22s for good brands, and white wheat 6s 6d to 6s 9d per 70 lbs; Red one-third less. Indian Corn shows no alteration.

Liquor Seizure in Boston.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.

The first seizure of liquor in Boston under the new law was made to-day, and Patrick Keenan and John McLaughlan were arrested for selling it. Keenan was fined twenty dollars and costs. McLaughlan's case was postponed by order of the Court. The liquor, embracing various kinds of not much value, was then emptied into the sewer in Court Square, a large crowd quietly looking on.

Moses Williams, one of the wealthiest wholesale Liquor Dealers in the city, has been complained of and will be examined to-morrow.

FROM HAVANA.—Despatches from New Orleans, give Havana dates to tha 18th. More seizures of arms had been made; many Spaniards were implicated.

PERRY DAVIS, who has made a fortune by his Pain Killer, is building a Baptist Church, voting $25,200, which he gives to the society during his life, and agrees to make up any deficiency in the minister's salary during the same period. The society ought to say, as they do in Spain, "May you live a thousand years!"

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.

SENATE.—A private bill was taken up, as matter of charity, and passed, owing apparently to good tactics on the part of Mr. Atchison.

After some discussion the bill appointing a public printer was taken up.

HOUSE.—After refusing leave (at the suggestion of Mr. Duncan) to Mr. Ingersoll to make a personal explanation, the House took up the bill for the better security of steamboats. It was amended in various points, at the recommendation of the committee. A substitute offered by Mr. Brown was rejected, and the bill was passed.

ARRIVAL OF THE ASIA.

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

The steamer Asia arrived at New York between 6 and 7 o'clock on Thursday evening, bringing Liverpool dates to the 14th.

The London Sun says:—"It is reported in American circles, that Mr. Thomas Baring, of Baring Bro's & Co., is about to proceed to the United States, charged with a special mission from our Government to endeavor to arrange the fishery dispute." It is certain that this gentleman has recently had several interviews with Mr. Lawrence. The Standard mentions the same rumor. Seven or eight steamers and sloops of war are fitting out in England, conjectured to be bound for the American coast.

A special meeting of the Leeds Chamber of Commerce is called to-day, to take into consideration the present state of the British relations with the United States. It is understood that the meeting has been summoned at the request of 8 members who are dissatisfied with the proceedings of the British Government in the fishery affair.

A public meeting of Merchants, Bankers, and others was held in London, on Wednesday, to take measures for relief of the sufferers by the great fire at Montreal. The Mayor presided.

The Paris Moniteur gives a contradiction to rumors which it says have prevailed, that the government intend to make further changes in the Ministry. Louis Napoleon's marriage with the Princess de Vasa is deferred, but the public was not acquanted with the reason.—The Sun and other papers say it will never take place.

Considerable uneasiness is felt by the French Government from the circumstance that large numbers of French refugees are assembling in Jersey and the other Channel Islands. The Univers says that the organization of secret societies in France is again extensive, and that this is known to the government.

PORTUGAL.—Correspondence from Lisbon of the 8th, says that Saldanguas and his colleagues arerusing their dictatorial power wisely. By one of their measures, the tea trade hitherto virtually monopolized by a few wealthy merchants, is thrown open to vessels of all nations, provided the tea be brought direct from the country where it is purchased. The duty will be the same in foreign as in Portuguese vessels.

Another decree destroys the long existing monopoly of salt at St. Ubes. No distinction will be made henceforth between the natives and foreigners. Permission has also been granted to issue wines of all the first and second quality without any distinction at Porto and Villa Nova. Several other liberal measures are reported to be on the tapis, especially the abolition of the soap monopoly. This season, which promised to be one of plenty, will, it is feared, be one of scarcity.

EMIGRATION FROM EUROPE.—The emigrants for the United States are pouring down like rain at Havre and other cities. In this city during the last week, more than 4350 men and women embarked for America. In Norway, at Christiana, 938 emigrants were to sail on the 2d inst., part for New York, part for Galveston, Texas, and part for New South Wales.—Letter from Paris, Aug. 5.

The Maine Farmer says a young hen will lay the first year about 150 eggs, the second 120, the third 100—diminishing every year as she grows older; and she should "go to pot" after the fourth.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT
From Portsmouth to the Isles of Shoals.
STEAMER C. B. STEVENS,
CAPT. VARINA.

THE new and superior Steamer C. B. STEVENS, Capt. VARINA, will leave SHEAFE'S WHARF Daily (until further notice,) at 10 o'clock, or on the arrival of the first morning Trains on the Portsmouth & Concord and Eastern Railroads, and return from the Shoals in season for Passengers to take the last Trains for Concord, Boston and intermediate places.

This arrangement affords a fine opportunity for persons from abroad to visit one of the most desirable Summer Resorts for the INVALID, and all others who are fond of Fishing, Bathing and other amusements conducive to HEALTH and Pleasure. These Islands (eight in number) are about an hour's sail from Portsmouth, by Steamer, where all the advantages from a sea voyage can be secured, subject to none of its perils. The temperature is never more than 80 degrees in the shade, and seldom varies more than 10 degrees in twenty-four hours. Hon. Tros. Laighton's Hotel on Appledore Island, designed and kept particularly for the Invalid, and also for the pleasure seeker, is one of the first class, where every convenience both for luxury and comfort can be found. The passage out is truly delightful—the scenery unsurpassed. As you pass down the River, view after view presents itself:—The Navy Yard, Dry Dock, Forts Washington, Sullivan, M'Clary, and Constitution; the settlements of Kittery Point, Newcastle, Rye, and many Islands and Beaches along shore, present attractions that are beautiful to behold, and render the trip one of the most beautiful and pleasing nature.

PASSAGE ON BOARD STEAMER, 50 CTS.

TICKETS can be obtained on Board or at the Ticket Office of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

PARTIES from the neighboring towns can be accommodated on reasonable terms, by application to Capt. VARINA on board, or to SAMUEL R. CLEAVES, Agent, a10 At Portsm. & Concord Railroad Station.

THE BURIAL OF EUCLID.—The farce of the "Burial of Euclid," was performed by the Sophomores of Williams College on Tuesday, with more pomp than usual. The correspondent of the Springfield Republic says of it—"the actors were disguised, and with an oration, poem, dirge, songs, sermons, a torchlight procession, and every other circumstance of appropriateness, was the volume of hard propositions and puzzling theories committed to positions and the hills, and the Sophomores its grave among the hills, and the Sophomores rejoiced that the end of their year brought emancipation from its head racking pages.—The proceedings, though not approved by the Faculty, were winked at, and scandal whispered that grave Doctors of Divinity and stern Trustees were around, half hid in ponderous coat collars and by the midnight darkness, to enjoy the fun.

WONDERFUL ESCAPE.—Lathrop Smith of New Orleans, a few days since, while on a visit to the White Mountains, made a misstep over the precipice near the Flume House into the abyss below. He fell into the pool, from which by great presence of mind, though the water was icy cold, and he was encumbered with his clothes, he made his escape by swimming to a crag of the rock on a level with the water. Here, we are told, he was lodged about forty feet beneath the distance from which he fell. Here was no means of ascent except by ropes, which were procured by friends who were with him at the time of the fall. He fastened a rope around his body and was raised aloft, drenched and bruised, but the only human thing, we presume, that ever came from the pool alive, after such a fall.—New York Express.

NOTICE TO BUILDERS AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of our finest buildings are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and narrow contracted, leaden goose-necks, or what is still worse a skewangie continuation of the upright conductor with which the cornice is adorned—all of which may be remedied by application to

E. CHAPMAN,

PRACTICAL TIN PLATE WORKER,

who will give his personal attention to the adjustment of all such defects. Specimens of Ornamental Goose-necks and Conductor Caps, on the most approved plan of modern architecture may be seen at his Tin Ware Factory, where he manufactures to order

CONDUCTORS, GOOSE NECKS & GUTTERS of all sizes, in the most thorough and substantial manner. All orders left with him will receive immediate attention.

DOCTOR CHALMERS.

Thomas Chalmers was a Gteat Man. All the characteristics of genuine greatness marked him as he stood among others. It was not that he surpassed all men around him in pure intelligence, or in any single element of moral excitement; but, taken all together, mind and heart, and visible bearing. You gave him involuntarily, and he naturally took, the foremost position in almost any assemblage of notable persons with whom he had to do. The unassumingness of a child did not avail to screen him from that homage of which he was the object. The admitted merits and talents of others, on the right hand or the left, did not render that homage ambiguous—did not abate it. There might often be men near him who surpassed him in talent, but they did not dislodge him, in the view of others, from his place.

All was harmony in CHALMERS' conformation. His figure and attitude very nearly accorded with the IDEAL of such a man, after Michael Angelo; and if it showed a rusticity to which that great artist would have applied his chisel, there was beneath the rugged surface a refinement, an intellectuality to which only the hand of Raphaelle could have given expression. On an occasion dating not many days before his death, he stood in the midst of a company—urging an argument—with hands uplifted, just as a Michael Angelo, or a Raphaelle, might have wished to catch him when in search of a study.

With his broad built and square massive contour,— shoulders, cranium, chevelure and all, he seemed to take immovable possession of the ground that sustained his weight—in elegant anthesis of limb to limb—not in easy mobile equipoise of the person, as if floating in air; but solidly, and as if really he had a muscular consciousness of the round world beneath him, and stood statue-like, surmounting its great curvature.

Yet this man of mass and weight was flexible toward every human sympathy. He remembered you, even as to the items of your individual and domestic weal; he felt with you; and in a moment he was on your level; he was courteous as the most polished; genuine and sincere as the most home-bred. He was firm as man should be, loving as woman, transparent as a child.—North British Re.

"SUN-SHINY NIGHTS."—Lieut. Osborne, commanding officer of the Pioneer, one of the vessels sent out to the Polar regions in search of Sir John Franklin, relates very simply and agreeably the adventures of these hardy men during their eighteen months' residence in the polar regions. Speaking of that period of the year when the sun does not set at all, he says:

"Nothing strikes the traveller in the north more strongly than the perceptible repose of nature, although the sun is still illumining the heavens, during those hours termed night, we, of course, who were unaccustomed to the constant light, were restless and unable to sleep; but the inhabitants of these regions, as well as the animals, retire to rest with as much regularity as is done in more southern climes; and the subdued tints of the heavens, as well as the heavy banking of clouds in the neighborhood of the sun, gives to the Arctic summer night a quietude as marked as it is pleasant."

TREASURES OF THE DEEP.—Within a few weeks a new effort has been made to explore the wreck of the British frigate Plumper, which sunk near Dipper Harbor, about half way between Eastport and St. John, New Brunswick, with seventy-five lives and from $500,000 to $100,000 in specie, in 1815.—The wreck lies forty-two feet below the surface of the water; is of course much decayed, and the adventurous explorers had to overturn the washings of sand, &c., which cover her, six feet below the bottom.

They have brought up about $220 in Spanish silver, mostly wholes and halves, the action of the sea having made them lighter than the original weight, and they were blackened as if by powder, having evidently been taken from the magazine. Remnants of pistols, grape shot, &c., were also brought up, and as a sad accompaniment, many human skulls. The party will continue its explorations for the present.—Boston Courier.

TELEGLAPH IN DANGER.—The wires on the magnetic telegraph between England and France, ran great danger, a few days ago, of being cut in two, by the imbecility of a Norwegian captain, who, having had one of the anchors of his ship entangled in the wires, was about to cut them with an axe, when he was prevented by a French pilot named Lefebre. Much eulogy is deserved by that man for the energy with which he prevented the Norwegian committing such an act of vandalism.

BOSTON LIQUOR CASES.

The Boston Courier represents the liquor seizures there as producing much excitement in some circles. A Mr. Gates is one of the most active complainants. In one case, says the Courier, "on examination, Mr. Gates said that he went to East Boston at the request of "a Mr. Tracy, a clothing dealer." "I started," said he, "with a determination of breaking up these places. I paid my own ferryage and bought the brandy with my own money. Under the old law I may have made three hundred complaints, and I may have made more. I visited five shops in all at East Boston, and tasted of the liquor which I bought in each place. It is ten years since I drank liquor as a beverage; though I have tasted it fifty times since the first of August. I have visited many other places with a view of getting evidence. I went into the Revere House on the 18th inst., got a glass of brandy, and paid ninepence for it; I got another glass at the American House, and another at the Tremont House, and paid ninepence each. I also got a glass of brandy in a shop in Sewall place, and another at a drinking house in Theatre alley." The witness admitted, with great frankness, that he was concerned in some ten or twenty more prosecutions, and declared his "motive to be to get rid of these filthy rum shops."

Two cases were decided against Kenan and M'Laughlin. But "the most important case —that of testing the validity of the licenses issued by the Mayor and Alderman—was to come up yesterday afternoon. It is embraced in a complaint made by Joseph Shaw, of Boston, a painter, who informs "that Moses H. Williams of West Roxbury, doing business in Boston, under the name and style of J. D. & M. Williams, on the 26th day of August, 1852, with force and arms, did sell to Calvin S. Mixter, a quantity of spirituous liquors, to wit—one pint of brandy, in violation of the provisions of the act passed on the 2nd day of May, 1852. In this case Mr. Edward D. Sohier has been engaged as counsel for the defence, and a very strong contest may be expected."

It seems to our view that this case must be dismissed. The Mayor and Aldermen had as good a right, by law, to license this year as last. And the legislature have no right to pass an ex. post facto law. If no liquor law had been passed, the license would not have been questioned. It cannot be broken now.

BUENOS AYREAN COUP D'ETAT.—By the ship Louisa, Capt. Dodge, which arrived at Boston on Thursday, from Buenos Ayres, which port she left July 4, the Boston Advertiser has private advices to the 3d, and the British Packet to the 2d. The accounts before reported of a sort of conp d' etat by Gen. Urquiza are confirmed, but we do not find the cause or the precise object of the movement very clearly defined. The manifesto of Urquiza deals in generalities that are unintelligible. It seems that the proceedings of the Chamber of Deputies were unsatisfactory to Gen. Urquiza, who was regularly invested with the authority of Provisional Director of the Argentine Confederation, together with the command of the army, and also to the Governor of the Province, Don Vincents Lopez.

On the 23d of June Lopez resigned, assigning in his letter to the Chamber of Deputies as the reason therefor, that "an opposition had burst out within and without this Chamber, that is now incompatible with his continuation in the command of this Province."

On the same day Gen. Urquiza issued his proclamation as dictator, declaring it his highest duty to keep the State from anarchy—dissolving the Chamber of Representatives, &c.

PAYING OFF.—The crew of the Decatur were paid off and discharged at the Navy Yard in Charlestown, on Thursday afternoon. A police force is on the lookout for land sharks, who on such occasions follow in the wake of poor Jack, till they swallow him entire, or what to them is more, his hard earned money.

☞ Hon. FRANKLIN PIERCE visited the Navy Yard yesterday, and was greeted with a Federal Salute. He came from Rye Beach to this city with his lady yesterday morning.

☞ The Whig Vigilance Committees of the several Wards in this city, will meet at the Mechanics' Reading Room, Exchange Buildings, this evening, at half-past seven o'clock, to make preparations for the election.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Courier thinks that Mr. Hall will remain in the Post Office Department, and adds:

"Mr. Hall's nomination for U. S. District Judge is still before the Senate, but he will be confirmed without difficulty whenever the case is reached. In that event, he might still retain his present position without incompatibility, as there are plenty of precedents to warrant such a course. Judge Marshall held the appointments of Secretary of State and Chief Justice for nearly a year at the same time. Mr. Jay was on the Supreme Bench when selected for the English mission. There are other cases, though none of recent date, equally in point."

The trouble is that it would be difficult if not impossible to fill the place of Mr. Hall, during the short remainder of Mr. Fillmore's term.

JAPAN AND THE JAPANESE.—A new work on a subject of interest at this time. To be had at Foster's. Will notice more fully as soon as read.

SUNDAY SERVICES.—Preachers for To-morrow.—Rev. Rufus W. Clark of Boston is expected to preach in the Middle Street Baptist Church.

Rev. David Root at the North Church.

Rev. D. C. Tomlinson, of Newark, N. Y., at the Universalist Church.

PERSONAL.—Under this head, the other day, we announced a visit of Capt. Eben Knight, to this city. He was not here, however, though we were quite positive we saw him; but it proved to be Capt. Hale Knight, his nephew, quite as much like him in appearance, as Louis Napoleon is like his uncle Napoleon in government.

GRAND LODGE, I. O. OF O. F.—At the annual meeting of this body, held in Concord, August 17, 1852, the following officers were chosen for the current year:

Stephen Brown, Concord, G. M.
Henry Steele, Peterborough, D. G. M.
George C. Williams, Lancaster, G. W.
T. G. Senter, Portsmouth, G. Chaplain.
G. H. H. Silsbee, Concord, G. Scribe.
J. E. Lang, Concord, G. Treasurer.
Stephen H. Simes, Portsmouth, J. C. Lyford, Manchester, Reps. to G. L. of U. S.

The next meeting of the Grand Lodge will be holden in this city.

MATTERS AT THE CAPITOL.—Washington, 27th.—The special committee to investigate the charges against Mr. Corwin are prepared to report to the House to-day, that they cannot do anything at this session for want of time. All the important witnesses are absent.

Many members of both Houses are leaving for home.

The fate of the River and Harbor Bill is now doubtful, as it lies on the Speaker's table, whence it cannot be taken except by a two-thirds vote.

LATEST FROM BOSTON.—Our friend Capt. Clark, under the Chronicle office presented our boys, last evening, with some fine large peaches, specimens of a large lot received by express. We advise our readers to try them; the looked nice and were luscious.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 24.—The Clarksville Texas Northern Standard learns on what it calls reliable authority from Porter's Bluff, that Captain Stevens, with his officers, and 156 men, have been killed by the Camanches about 40 miles from Fort Belknap; and an express had been sent into Texas for reinforcements.

"SELLING" CASE.—A young lady in Lowell a few days since, purchased a bonnet, with the privilege reserved of returning it for another, or the money if it did not suit, next morning. Instead of returning the bonnet in the morning she waited till evening, and the consequences were that the shop-keeper refused to take it back, and she as obstinately refused to leave the store till an exchange was made.—Assistance was called in from a neighboring store; but an interference was made by some man who was passing, and she was not got out till a police officer came and did up the job.—News.

MR. BARING'S MISSION.—It is stated on good authority that Mr. Baring's primary object in visiting America is to arrange with the Nicaragua Transit Company the terms of cooperation upon which English capital may be invested in that enterprise.

BARS ABOLISHED.—The St. Louis Intelligencer states that several steamboats running from that city have abolished the bars usually kept on board of packet boats. Much good is said to have resulted from this, in the additional safety of passengers, owing to the fact that no opportunity is afforded either to them or the officers of the boat to indulge in the spirit of recklessness resulting from the excitement produced by drinking.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, Aug. 25.

SENATE.—Mr. Hamlin, from the committee on printing, reported favorably on the motion to print 8000 extra copies of the report of the Regents of the Smithsonian Institution, which was concurred in.

The Chair laid before the Senate a communication from the Treasury department, in reply to a resolution of March, '51, calling for information respecting the trade and commerce of the British N. A., possessions. Ordered to be printed.

The post route bill was passed.

The P. O. appropriation bill was referred to the committee on Finance.

The Senate refused to concur in the House amendment to the bill granting a pension to the widow of Gen. Worth.

HOUSE.—Mr. Penn reported the Senate bill providing for a tri-weekly mail from New Orleans to Vera Cruz and back, in steam vessels, and authorizing the Postmaster General to make a contract for the same for five years at a cost not exceeding $100,000 per annum, which was passed.

Mr. Penn also reported a bill to the Senate, for the relief of the Wilmington and Manchester railroad company, by extending for 4 years the payment of the duty on $100,000 worth of railroad iron.

Mr. Queene explained that this road would make complete the chain of railroad from Portland, Me., to New Orleans, with the exception of 30 miles of road in Georgia, which is in course of construction, thus the sea carriage of mails would be avoided, and failures between the north and south consequently prevented.

It was passed, yeas 102, nays 65.

The light house appropriation was also passed.

The civ. and dip. appropriation bill was taken up, and an amendment offered to give it an opportunity for Mr. Sumner to move a further amendment, with the statement that no such allowance shall be made for the expenses under the act of Sept. 1850, known as the fugitive slave act, which act is hereby repealed. Mr. Sumner advocated this motion in a long speech.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, on the Senate's amendments to the Indian Appropriation Bill. A debate took place on some of the amendments. That appropriating $690,000 to carry into effect the removal of the Sioux, was concurred in, together with some others.

Mr. Houston asked the House to have an evening session, for if the business continued to be transacted in this way, some of the appropriation bills might be lost. Mr. Carter objected, and moved an adjournment.

TERRITORIAL COURT OF UTAH.

A difficulty which seems to be insuperable, has delayed the organization of the Court established by Act of Congress in the Territory of Utah. The following letter from a correspondent of the New York Courier states some important facts in regard to the state of that Territory. It has been long apparent that it is the intention of that strange people, who are rapidly increasing in numbers, by recruits from England as well as from the United States, to become independent. The following is from Washington, under date of the 22d.

The President yesterday withdrew the nomination of Orson Hyde as one of the Judges of the Territorial Court of Utah. The nomination of Mr. H. has been before the Senate since the 17th of May last, and would have been rejected if submitted to a vote. Hyde is a Mormon and a polygamist, and is not a lawyer. Judge Stokely, of Ohio, who was nominated and confirmed as a member of this court, Chief Justice, I believe, is reported to have declined the appointment. Mr. Snow, who is now the only acting Judge, is a Mormon, and as such, acceptable to the people of the territory. It is no longer denied that the Mormon people are polygamists. They have admitted the act in official communications through their elders.

Our relations with these fanatics are likely to occasion much trouble. Early in May the Secretary of State informed the two judges and the Secretary of the Territory, who had returned to Washington, that unless they forthwith repaired to Utah and entered upon the discharge of their official duties, successors would be appointed. They all declined except upon the condition that Brigham Young should be removed, and new nominations were made accordingly.

Judge Brocchus has issued a well written statement giving his reasons for the course pursued by him, and very clearly showing that no officer of the United States can execute the laws and fulfil his duties in Utah, while the place of chief magistrate is filled by a person of Young's character. He proves, also, that the design of the Mormons is to build up an independent State, and that they only delay to throw off the authority of the United States until such a time as they shall feel better assured of impunity than they now do.

INDIANA.—The "black law" of Indiana was repealed at the late session of the Legislature of that State. It was done unintentionally, by the passage of a general repealing law, repealing all laws of the State not enacted in the same session, with certain exceptions. The blacks are now on the same footing with the whites, as to giving testimony, and in certain other respects. Some of the Indiana papers think the old law will be reenacted at the next session.

This is a great specimen of donkeyism in legislation—to repeal laws in a lump, without knowing of what the lump consisted.

MONTGOMERY, (Alabama,) Aug. 25.—The Southern Rights Committee have called another State Convention to meet on the 2d Monday of September, to make a nomination for the Presidency, Mr. Pierce having failed to answer the letter addressed to him by a committee of the former Convention.

☞ A Grand Democratic Mass Meeting is to be held in Augusta, Me., on Friday, September 3d.

A FACT FOR TEMPERANCE MEN.—There were 1400 persons in this city who petitioned to our City Government to enforce the liquor law in Lowell. The other day Marshal Shed wishing to get out a search warrant for liquors, could find only one man ready with him to swear out the warrant. This fact speaks volumes. Where are those men so anxious that the City Government shall enforce the law?—Let every temperance man that is not afraid to assist in swearing out a search warrant report himself at the Marshal's office, that this difficulty may be obviated, and show themselves true friends of the law.—Lowell News.

BREAKING UP OF AN ICEBERG.—The iceberg had been observed by our squadron, and remarked for its huge size and massiveness, giving good promise of resisting a century of sun and thaw. All on board the "Lady Franklin" described as a most wonderful spectacle this iceberg, without any warning, falling as it were, to pieces; the sea around it resembled a seething cauldron from the violent plunging of the masses, as they broke and rebroke in a thousand pieces. The floes torn up for a distance of ten miles by the violent action of the rollers, threatened, by the manner the ice was agitated, to destroy any vessel that had been amongst it; and they congratulaied themselves on being sufficiently removed from the scene of danger, to see without incurring any immediate risk.—Arctic Journal, by Lieut. Osborne.

ARMING THE SAILORS.—The United Service Journal reports that workmen are busily engaged in furnishing a body belt, with a frog for a sabre and bayonet belt attached, for the sailors, who are to be exercised occasionally with small arms; every ship is to have muskets enough for each sailor. There will be sharp work, if war ensues, on boarding; and our sailors are to be prepared to act as infantry when landed; hence every naval officer will be instructed in infantry tactics—or certainly should be.

Recruits for the naval service are to be had in great abundance, since there is a "smart" sign of war with England.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.

A STATUE AT AUCTION.—Immortality, in the statue line, is a precarious matter. A few months ago, says the New York Herald, the colossal bronze statue of the King of Sweden, Gustavus Adolphus, by the famed artist Vogelbjerg, which had been cast at Munich, from a model made at Rome, was wrecked on board a ship bound from Hamburg to Gottenburg. The inhabitants of the city of Heligoland, who were lucky enough to recover it from the bottom of the sea, claimed a sum of money for their services, which was considered so much exaggerated, that the government would not pay it, and left the statue in their hands. Consequently the statue was sold at auction, and awarded to a person who gave a bid of only 7270 francs, which was not even the third of the value of the bronze. As it may be seen, kings offered for sale in Europe do not produce much.

BOUNTIES TO FISHERMEN.—It is stated that the enormous bounties lately granted by the French Government on fish taken by Frenchmen, is such that they can go into all the markets of the world—that of the United States inclusive—and undersell all other persons. This policy entails a heavy drain upon the French Treasury, but the policy is an ambitious one, and avowedly done to raise seamen for the Navy. And yet at a time when our Navy is notoriously deteriorating in the character of its crews and the facility of obtaining them, an illiberal construction is put, by the Secretary of the Treasury, upon the Bounty Laws of 1792, by which our fishermen are driven from their vocation to more remunerative and less precarious pursuits! If a poor fellow allows a halibut instead of a cod to get hold of his hook, he must not sell the halibut, unless he would vitiate his whole claim to a bounty. What an absurd and narrow construction to put upon the law! Mr. Corwin would never have been guilty of it, had he been from the seaboard instead of the interior.—Boston Transcript.

MACKEREL of the largest size have of late been caught at the mouths of the rivers and harbors along the shore. One day this week a fisherman caught fifty, near our bar, that averaged two pounds weight. In Boston harbor they are caught by men and boys from the wharves and bridges.—Newburyport Union.

AN ITEM ABOUT HOGS.—The Cincinnati Price Current says:

"One or two of our packers have just returned from a tour through Kentucky and Indiana, who report hogs in every region they have travelled through, of a much better quality and a considerable increase in number, as compared with last season. The farmers generally are now feeding on corn, which is unusual. Throughout Indiana, there is certainly a large increase this season, and the hogs are ten per cent. better than they ever were before.

The Madison Co. Ky., Commissioner, reports 26,000 hogs, over six months old, in that country on the 10th Jan. last. Garrard co. has 17,000; Lincoln, Jassamine, Fayette, and other large hog raising counties in Kentucky, show the same proportionate increase.

We hear but little from Illinois, Iowa and Missouri, but considering the scarcity of last season, it is more than probable there will be an increase rather than a falling off, as we seldom have two seasons of scarcity together.

Throughout Ohio we learn that young hogs are fed more than usual, and in many sections an increase of one-third is anticipated. The high price of pork has caused the farmers throughout the West to bestow as much care and attention upon their pigs as they do upon their children. Throughout many sections of the South the planters are making strong endeavors to "grow their own meat."

We hear of contracts, by the packers, for the future delivery of some 20,000 hogs, to be fattened in Indiana, at 3 a 3 1-2c gross."

From all of which the writer infers that pork will be more plentiful and cheaper the next season than the last.

THE SICK RESTORED TO HEALTH.

DR. FITCH'S MEDICINES.

Pulmonary Balsam, Pectoral Expectorant, Depurative Syrup, Cough and Dyspeptic Drops, Specific Mixture, Pills for Diarrhœa or Bleeding Lungs, and several other medicines; for which the reader is referred to Dr. Fitch's Health Almanac, which is free, and to his Lectures, which will give more instruction in regard to consumption, its causes, its symptoms, its treatment, than any other book. Price 37 cents.

Since the subscriber has been agent, he has received the following letter:

HAMPTON, July 17.

Mr. Joseph P. Morse, Dear Sir—Please send me one more bottle of Balsam, and one bottle of Pectoral Expectorant. My daughter took a violent cold last winter, which settled on her lungs, followed by severe night sweats and general decline till spring, when bleeding at the lungs commenced, and great prostration followed. Her doctor told her she was too far gone to be cured. At this time, when in Portsmouth, I received a Health Almanac describing Dr. Fitch Medicines.—As a last resort, I resolved to try it. The result is the restoration of my daughter to health. One of my neighbors is now using it with every prospect of success.

I make this statement freely, to induce others to try it. I fully believe it saved my daughter's life.

Respectfully yours, ELIZA GILMAN.

While so many are dying with consumption, I think Dr. Fitch's system of practice, merits an examination. His mechanical Remedies, Book and all his medicines, are for sale by J. P. MORSE, authorised Agent, No. 29 Congress street. a23

THE PRAIRIE FIRE.

BY REV. JOHN PIERPONT.

The prairie fire! at midnight's hour
The traveller hears it roaring by,
A form of terror and of power,
That walks the earth and licks the sky.

The wild deer on his grassy bed,
Wakes from his dream of breaking day,
Listens, and lifts his antler'd head,
Snuffs the hot blast, and bounds away.

Where that destroying angel goes,
Borne on the wings of autumn's wind,
He leaves no grass, no prairie-rose,
But all is scorched and black behind.

But when spring comes, a flowery belt
Across the prairie's bosom thrown,
Shows us that where his foot was felt,
The angel dropped a jewel'd zone.

But there's a fire, along whose track
Spring never scatters flowers in bloom;
No spring e'er follows—all is black
As midnight in a hopeless tomb.

Alike upon the low and high
Falls this strange fire; it feeds and plays
On beauty's cheek, in wisdom's eye,
And melts down manhood in its blaze.

And Youth, and Age—its power is such—
Blossoms and fruit alike are burned;
And every virtue by its touch
Is shrivelled, and to ashes turned.

Quench, Holy Father, by thy power,
By love and law, with spring and well,
With stream and cistern, flood and shower,

—Massachusetts Life Boat.

Looking over other people's affairs and over-looking our own, may be said to be one of the curiosities of the present age.

THE HUNT OF THE LION.

From "Sparmann's Voyages."

[Sparmann, the author of this sketch, was a Surgeon, Physician and Naturalist, who spent a year or two at the Cape of Good Hope, and was there taken on board Capt. Clarke's ship, which formed one of Capt. Cook's fleet in one of his voyages round the world. Sparmann gave a most interesting account of what he saw and heard, under the title of Sparmann's voyages.]

It is only on the plains, that the hunters venture to go out on horseback after the lion. If it keeps in some coppice, or wood, on a rising ground, they endeavor to teaze it with dogs till it comes out; they likewise prefer going together two or more in number, in order to be able to assist and rescue each other, in case the first should not take place.

When the lion sees the hunters at a great distance, it is universally allowed, that he takes to his heels as fast as ever he can, in order to get out of their sight; but if they chance to discover him at a small distance from them, he is then said to walk off in a surly manner, but without putting himself in the least hurry, as though he was above showing any fear, when he finds himself discovered or hunted. He is therefore reported likewise, when he finds himself pursued with vigour, to be soon provoked to resistence, or at least he distains any longer to fly. Consequently he slackens his pace, and at length only sidles slowly off step by step, all the while eyeing his pursuers askaunt; and finally makes a full stop, and turning round upon them, and at the same time giving himself a shake, roars with a short and sharp tone, in order to show his indignation, being ready to seize on them and tear them in pieces. This is now precisely the time for the hunters to be upon the spot, or else to get as soon as possible within a certain distance of him, yet so at the same time as to keep at a proper distance from each other; and he that is nearest, or is most advantageously posted, and has the best mark of that part of the lion's body which contains his heart and lungs, must be the first to jump off his horse, and, securing the bridle by putting it round his arm, discharge his piece; then in an instant recovering his seat, must ride oblique athwart his companions; and, in fine, giving his horse the reins, must trust entirely to the speed and fear of the latter, to convey him out of the reach of the fury of the wild beast, in case he has only wounded him, or has absolutely missed him. In either of these cases, a fair opportunity presents itself for some of the other hunters to jump off their horses directly, as they may then take their aim and discharge their pieces with greater coolness and certainty. Should this shot likewise miss, (which, however, seldom happens) the third sportsman rides after the lion, who at that instant is in pursuit of the first or the second, and, springing off his horse, fires his piece, as soon as he has got within a proper distance, and finds a sufficiently convenient part of the animal present itself, especially obliquely from behind. If now the lion turns upon him too, the other hunters turn again, in order to come to his rescue with the charge, which they loaded with on horseback, while they were flying from the wild beast.

A HUNGARIAN TURN-OUT.

"The wagon is of wicker, and the seats a huge bundle of hay, covered with cloaks and blankets. The traces and something of the tackle are of ropes, the driver, wrapped in a shaggy sheep-skin, sits forward upon another bundle of hay. In fact the whole has rather a rough and "seedy" appearance. But if the vehicle seems somewhat neglected, the horses still more help out the picture. There are four harnessed abreast, mostly with ropes or light leather thongs—and not one looks as though a curry-comb had ever touched him. They are all shaggy with long manes and hair hanging about their ears in a peculiarly wild manner. Yet if you look closer you will see, that, despite their unkempt looks, they all have exceeding spirited, intelligent eyes; and you will observe that, though they are small bodied, they are very well built. The legs fine, but the joints firmly knit; the chest broad and all the lines of the animal fine and good. And if you are seated in a wagon behind them as I was with a crack Hungarian driver, you will find that you would not sweep over the prairies faster if you were behind the best thorough-bred of an English stud.

And the wagon, for all its appearance, is the most comfortable you could possibly have. I have tried these wagons for long day's rides in Hungary, over rough districts, and really I never found stage coach or carriage half so pleasant for long distances. The springs are usually good, and hay is decidedly the best cushion yet invented. They have too a sort of awning of wicker-work for rain, when it is needed."—Brace's Hungary.

PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, AUGUST 30, 1852.

CIVIL AND DIPLOMATIC APPROPRIATION BILLS.

On Thursday last, some interesting and exciting proceedings took place in the Senate of the United States, on the civil and diplomatic appropriation bill.

Mr. Bright moved an amendment, that hereafter the Assistant Postmaster General shall be appointed by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and the salary to be $5000.

The amendment to compensate the Spanish Consul and Spanish subjects at New Orleans and Key West, was agreed to.

The committee reported the following amendment:—That when the ministerial officers of the United States shall have, or shall incur, extraordinary expense in executing the laws thereof, the payment of which is not specifically provided for, the President of the United States is authorized to allow the payment thereof under special taxation of the district in which the said services have been, or shall be, rendered, to be paid from the appropriations for defraying the expenses of the Judiciary.

Mr. Sumner moved to add, provided that no such allowance shall be made for expense under the act of Sept., 1850, known as the Fugitive Slave Act, which act is hereby repealed.

He spoke three hours and three quarters.

Mr. Sumner said that the Stamp Act was welcomed in the Colonies by the tories of that day precisely as this Slave Act has been welcomed by large and imperious majorities of this present day. The judges of that day charged grand juries to notice all resistance to it and likewise the marshals. The custom house officers called in the soldiers to aid in its execution. Mr. Sumner concluded by saying that he considered the slave act as opposed by divine law, and he would prefer to be the humblest restored fugitive than to aid in its enforcement. He could not obey any law which his conscience told him was unconstitutional and opposed to divine law. He was for the immediate repeal of the law.

Mr. Badger replied, and rebuked Mr. Sumner for an unseasonable and improper speech, consuming the precious time of the Senate at the heel of the session. He defended the fugitive slave laws of '93 and '50—and upheld the guarantees of the constitution.

He said Washington made no war on slavery. He did not oppose the laws which enabled others to recover their property. He liberated his slaves—but the Senator from Kentucky did the same, and none regarded Mr. Clay as an abolitionist.

Mr. Dodge, of Iowa, said he voted for the fugitive slave act, and if necessary would vote for more stringent measures.

Mr. Hale and Mr. Chase sustained Mr. Sumner, and Messrs. Douglass, Weller, Rusk, Toucy, Bradbury, Bright, Cooper and Pratt, opposed.

Mr. Sumner's proviso was rejected, by yeas 4, nays 47. The Committee's amendment was agreed to.

[We are not quite sure that we understand what is meant by the special taxation of a district,—nor how such a tax is to be collected. Neither are we quite sure that the object of the obscure language in the amendment was to smuggle in something that would sound badly in plain English: but it looks very like it. Whatever it means, Mr. Sumner procured a heavy vote in its favor, by coupling a repeal of the law with the proviso that no extras should be allowed. His tactics are not remarkably good, if this is a specimen of them.]

PORTSMOUTH & DOVER RAILROAD.

At the adjourned meeting of the Grantees of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, at the Franklin House, on Saturday, Hon. Ichabod Bartlett in the chair, a committee consisting of the Portsmouth members present, was appointed to nominate some person as Director in the place of Richard Jenness, Esq., declined.

The committee nominated Albert R. Hatch, Esq., who was unanimously elected.

The Directors were requested to obtain subscriptions for the immediate completion of the survey of the road, and to report at a future meeting called at such time and place as they may direct.

We earnestly hope that the capitalists, real estate owners and business men of this city, who are most interested in the speedy completion of this section of road, will come forward handsomely, and "down with the dust." No man of these classes, who gives a dollar toward this enterprise, can fail to reap a good recompense for his outlay, in increased business, rents, &c., aside from the direct revenue or profit from the stock.

POST OFFICE ROBBERY.—On Friday night last, the Post Office in Greenland was broken into by two boys, and about thirty dollars in money, and a silver watch stolen therefrom. Two boys resident in Greenland are supposed to be the guilty parties—one of whom, about fourteen years old, we learn was arrested in this city on Saturday.

Recollections of Old Acquaintance.

POMP SPRING.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

Right opposite the spot where this article is penned, is a narrow street, out of which used to emerge, morning, noon, and afternoon near tea-time, a well fed and well curried horse, with a heavy string of bells, drawing a baker's cart, and driven by one of the most genteel, respectable and highly finished "gentlemen from Africa" ever seen among us in the Northern States. The driver was Pomp Spring, the baker; not Pompey, dear reader, though his master might have called him by that name, and baptised him by it, too, for aught I know, as Parson Spring, his master, was minister of that parish in Kittery which is now the town of Eliot. But the people in Portsmouth all called him Pomp—and poor indeed was the urchin who could not raise a copper to buy a cake of Pomp Spring's gingerbread. None were so ignorant as not to call him by name. Why,

—"Not to know him
Were to confess one's self unknown."

Uncle Toby knew him right well, and well remembers he the gusto of the best flavored and even-browned gingerbread of that era, dispensed from the blackest of hands outside, but clean and of mahogany polish within.—The cent or ninepence on the dingy palm would shine beside the gold ring which adorned the black finger; and Pomp's fine watch chain and seals would glisten in the sun as he handed down the bread basket.—Then, pulling up the reins, he would draw himself up at the same time to an erect posture, or rather, like Granny Hicks's tree, become so very upright as to lean backward. The most fastidious of mortals might eat his bread; for cleanliness, neatness and nicety were written on him from head to foot. His face shone with a Japan lustre, contrasting with and setting off the snowiest shirt collar, and the most finely crimped ruffle to be seen on a summer's day. His nicely brushed shoes almost rivalled the gloss of his face, and his flesh colored black silk stockings were without spot or wrinkle. A fashionable hat, coat and small clothes completed the toggery; and an elegant bow as he left you, with his fore finger touching his hat, finished the gentleman of color. No, I forget, there was another thing; he wore a vest; and in those days vests were extremely short. Now Pomp, as we have hinted, was an ultra fashionable man. He was also a man of business; and being "the chief baker," he had occasion sometimes to go to Boston to buy flour, his credit there being "A, number one," as the merchants say about ships. One of our first merchants also had occasion to go to Boston; and on his return was asked, as the custom then was, "What's the news? and what are the fashions?" His answer was, "There is no news in Boston—but the most fashionable man I saw there was Pomp Spring; he had only two buttons and a half on his waistcoat."

Pomp was a little vain. Why should he not be? He was as handsome as Dandy Jim, and as dressy as the veriest fop in Portsmouth. He had a town full of friends, black and white, and no enemies that he or anybody else ever knew of. He was a constant and devout church-goer, and with his immense wife, used to shine from the upper gallery of the old North Meeting House, like stars of the first magnitude.

Nor were the church and baker's cart the only places where they shone. They shone at home, where the housewifery of Candace was fully equal to the gentility of Pomp. If he was the baker of bread, she was the maker of cake for great occasions grave and gay among our most genteel people. Overgrown and overfat as she was, yet she was neatness itself; and as a cook and washer and ironer, she was a work woman that had no need to be ashamed. Her house, and all within it, shone and glowed with rubbing and dusting and cleaning; and it was visited and admired by everybody here "who was anybody." The house now stands, a few rods from me, in Church street; but its glory has departed. Pomp, as he stood in his white linen jacket at his door, when Uncle Toby went there to get his profile taken; and Candace as she in her silk gown showed him across her carpets to the profile man,—are not there. No children had they—but after a life of successful industry, not long but well spent, they died; and left their property "to heirs they knew not whom," to be spent they knew not how—"and straight are seen no more." But Pomp Spring is not forgotten—and will not be, till this generation passes off the stage. He is remembered as a domestic servant, gradually emerging from a state of semi-slavery, through poverty and toil, into competence, comfort, wealth and consequence; and then, like greater and whiter men, giving place to the younger generation who step up to take our places and act over again our wisdom or our folly as the case may be.

A RARE CHANCE TO MAKE MONEY.—Such a chance is advertised in our columns to-day. Read the advertisement, and then judge.

CONGRESS.

FRIDAY, Aug. 27.

As the session draws to a close, the indolence and carelessness which have wasted so much time and money, give place to a hasty scramble for business, and a general crowding of bills through the congressional grist-mill.

In the Senate on Friday, they read no journal, postponed the private calendar and took up the Florida election case, when Mr. Yulee spoke three hours in his own favor—but the decision went against him, and in favor of Mr. Mallory, as entitled to the seat, forty-one to nine.

Next they took up the Civil and Diplomatic Appropriation Bill, and amended it so as to allow Mr. Ritchie a sum not exceeding $50,000 in addition to the sum named in his contract. This amendment was adopted thirty-three to sixteen. A strenuous effort was made to give him about $200,000;—but it failed.

In the House, Mr. Olds from the committee on Post Offices and Post Roads, reported back the bill amendatory of the act modifying the rates of postage. The Senate amendments were concurred in, with a slight change of phraseology in the first section of the bill. Of course this bill will pass, and become a law.

A bill making a donation of lands to Arkansas and Missouri for railroad purposes.—It was read a third time by its title, and then, under the operation of the previous question, without being read except by its title, and without one word of debate, it was passed.

This is another proof of the establishment of a system of internal improvements by states, to be paid for by the gift of the public lands.

Public Printer.—Mr. Stanton, of Kentucky, after saying the President had approved of the act repealing the contract system for the execution of the public printing, offered a resolution that the House now proceed to the election of a public printer for the House, to serve during the remainder of the Congressional term:—adopted.

Mr. Armstrong, (of the Union) was then chosen Government Printer, having 107 votes, out of 187 in the whole

Mr. Johnson, of Tennessee, from a special committee appointed to investigate the connection of Thomas Corwin, with the Gardner claim, asked leave to make a report, but objection was interposed. The report is in substance that the committee had not time to complete the investigation, or procure the attendance of witnesses which are named on both sides, whose testimony is required as necessary to a full investigation of the case. The reporter understands that perhaps tomorrow, action will be had by the House, with a view to issue subpœnas for witnesses to appear before the Committee next Dec'r. House adjourned.

MAINE STATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.

The proceedings of this Convention as reported in the Bangor Daily Courier, are of great interest, politically, as well as morally, though the length of the debates and the number of the speakers render it impracticable for us to copy or abridge their report in a readable shape. Clergymen of various sects, and politicians of all parties mingled in the discussions—and all pledged themselves to go to the polls for the Maine law.

The agitation of this question adds a fourth party to the general melee called an election. Each of the three political parties have a candidate for Governor; those opposed to the liquor law set up a fourth candidate—choosing for that purpose a man who is said to be a total abstinent.

Mrs. Stowe, the accomplished author of Uncle Tom's Cabin, has engaged to write a popular Tale on the effect of the Maine Liquor Law, which it is proposed to circulate widely over the State.—Bangor Whig.

The Worcester Spy says that during the past fortnight the average sales of liquor by the City Agent have amounted to about $80 a day, and the average number of customers to from 75 to 100. A portion of these customers buy for mechanical purposes, but by far the greater amount is sold for medicinal purposes, in quarts, pints, and even gills.

The pasturage is all destroyed in this region. Dairymen and others are foddering their cows and live stock generally; and still the drouth continues unabated.—Albany Register, 23d.

NAVAL.—The brig of war Dolphin, now at the Navy Yard Brooklyn, will shortly sail on a voyage to England, and thence to the Brazils.

GOOD FOR THE SAILORS.—Seamen of the Independence, now at the Navy Yard, Brooklyn, have received information from Washington that they will be allowed by the Government $120 each, instead of bounty land, for their services in the late war with Mexico.

Peaches are becoming very abundant, and by next week will be in their glory. A large business this year is not anticipated; the crop being generally tight. Ordinary peaches sell from fifty cents to a dollar a basket of towards three pecks. In a few days they will be a trifle lower. Choice lots command very high prices.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

At East Boston, Friday, an Irishman just arrived in this country, who came over the Eastern road, fell from the platform of a car, and was run over by the train and killed instantly.

Four hundred and sixty-seven dollars were collected and pledged to the cause of temperance at the State Temperance Convention last Friday afternoon.—Bangor Whig.

PERRY DAVIS'S NEW CHURCH.—We noticed briefly, the other day, the fact that Mr. Davis was building, at the cost of $25,000, a church which he agrees to loan to the Baptist Church in his own place, Providence, during his lifetime. The house is thus described:

It is of brick, 91 feet in length, 59 in width, with two towers, 16 feet square and 85 high. In one of them will be placed a bell weighing 2200 lbs, in the other a clock with three faces. The basement will contain a lecture room with 100 cushioned slips, and three smaller rooms for the church library, &c. The body of the house will contain 140 pews. It will be lighted with gas, and will contain an organ of the value of $5000, in a case of black walnut.

ATROCIOUS CRUELTY.—Augustus Stowes has been arrested in New York, charged with the perpetration of one of the most atrocious barbarities we ever heard of. It is alleged that he was driving a refractory horse, which so infuriated him by its obstinacy that he "attached a rope to its lower jaw, and after pulling its tongue out some length, cut it off with a knife and threw it away!"—Boston Post.

[The man had probably been drinking some exciting liquid. No sober man would do such a thing.]

CAPT. JOSEPH R. AKERMAN.—The Cincinnati papers publish his name erroneously, viz: Richard F. Ackerman. It was published correctly in the Chronicle of Saturday. A Cincinnati paper says of him:—

We knew Capt. A. well, and, in common with all who knew him, we deeply and sincerely mourn the ultimely severing of the tie that bound him to us in life. He was of a noble and most generous nature; benevolent to an extreme that had no check even in personal privation, and upon the record he leaves to memory. Malice itself, with its most enviously searching eye, will find but few stains. He will be remembered as commander of several steamers on our waters, and particularly in connection with his misfortune while in charge of the ill-fated "Melodeon." The boats at the wharf yesterday wore their flags at half-mast.

BEQUESTS OF THE LATE HERVEY LYON.—The following very liberal bequests are contained in the will of Hervey Lyon, deceased:

IMPORTANT DECISION!

License Law Sustained.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.

Saturday afternoon, Justice Russell, of the Police Court gave a decision on the complaint against Moses Williams for selling liquor contrary to the new Liquor Law. His decision was that the license held by the defendant from the City was granted before the passage of the Liquor Law, and was in the nature of a contract, such as the Constitution of the State protected as a grant from the State—an irrevocably vested right.

This decision acquits the defendant, and sustains the licenses granted by the City, as agents of the State.

FUGITIVES.—RICHMOND, Va. Aug. 27.—Two runaway slaves named George Goode and Samuel Smith had been caught at Petersburgh. They had travelled from Alabama by means of forged papers and were on their way north.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 26.—Seven negroes of T. & J. Arterburn ran away on Tuesday.

The Intelligencer says that Gen. Scott replied to the letter of the Alabama Southern Central Committee, declining giving a specific answer to their interrogatories.

SUDDEN DEATH.—PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—Jno. C. Waples, Superintendent of the Sailors' Home in this city, last evening was at a prayer meeting in the Home, and had just concluded a prayer, when he fell down and died in ten minutes.

GEORGIA POLITICS.—Charleston, August 26th.—The Union Convention called in Georgia is to endeavor to unite with the Democratic party upon one electoral ticket.

The Union Committee declare the Union party dissolved, but it is supposed the Union Whigs will support Webster.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 26.

The steam ship Falcon has arrived at this port with San Francisco dates to Aug. 1. The Oregon had arrived at Panama from San Francisco bringing down $2,000,000 of gold dust on freight. Steam ship Ohio left Aspinwall for New York on the 19th having on freight upwards of $2,000,000 gold dust. Capt. Snow of the U. S. Navy is amongst her passengers.

The sickness on the Isthmus has abated.

San Francisco markets generally slightly depressed.

Intelligence from Australia seems to indicate that the tendency to republicanism is progressing rapidly and a declaration of independence is looked for ere long. The yield from the mines was increasing—emigration from California to Australia was taking place.

Mr. Rice had been in further trouble at Acapulco; he was again arrested and his property seized—he left in steamer Oregon for Panama.

FROM HALIFAX.—Halifax papers to Aug. 24th, state that the American steamer Mississippi sailed from Halifax on the 19th, on a cruise to the various fishing grounds. The English Admiral Seymour had sailed for Prince Edward's Island. The crops throughout Nova Scotia were excellent. No rot had been discovered in the potatoes, and even the hay crop promised better than it did in the first part of the season.

THE CHOLERA IN ILLINOIS.—Private letters gave a very bad account of the ravages of the cholera on the Illinois river. Where intermittent and bilious fevers prevail in summer, the cases are frequent and fatal; and the alluvial country, the bottom lands as they are called, are now in some instances deserted for the villages on the upland prairies. At Peru and La Salle, situated at the southern termination of the Illinois canal, the distemper prevails to a greater extent than ever before; and Princeton and its vicinity, seated in a higher and more salubrious region, are crowded with fugitives. The greater number of the cases, it is said, end in death.—N. Y. Evening Post.

THE SICK RESTORED TO HEALTH.

DR. FITCH'S MEDICINES.

Pulmonary Balsam, Pectoral Expectorant, Depurative Syrup, Cough and Dyspeptic Drops, Specific Mixture, Pills for Diarrhœa or Bleeding Lungs, and several other medicines; for which the reader is referred to Dr. Fitch's Health Almanac, which is free, and to his Lectures, which will give more instruction in regard to consumption, its causes, its symptoms, its treatment, than any other book. Price 37 cents.
Since the subscriber has been agent, he has received the following letter:

HAMPTON, July 17.

Mr. Joseph P. Morse, Dear Sir—Please send me one more bottle of Balsam, and one bottle of Pectoral Expectorant. My daughter took a violent cold last winter, which settled on her lungs, followed by severe night sweats and general decline till spring, when bleeding at the lungs commenced, and great prostration followed. Her doctor told her she was too far gone to be cured. At this time, when in Portsmouth, I received a Health Almanac describing Dr. Fitch's Medicines. As a last resort, I resolved to try it. The result is the restoration of my daughter to health. One of my neighbors is now using it with every prospect of success.
I make this statement freely, to induce others to try it. I fully believe it saved my daughter's life.
Respectfully yours, ELIZA GILMAN.

While so many are dying with consumption, I think Dr. Fitch's system of practice, merits an examination. His mechanical Remedies, Book and all his medicines, are for sale by J. P. MORSE, authorised Agent, No. 29 Congress street. a23

THE POPULAR CREED.

BY CHARLES P. SHIRAS.

Dimes and dollars! dollars and dimes!
If a man is down, give him a thrust—
Trample the beggar into the dust!
Presumptuous poverty's quite appalling—
Knock him over, if he kick him for falling!
If a man is up, oh, lift him higher!
Your soul's for sale, and he's a buyer!
Dimes and dollars—dollars and dimes!
An empty pocket 's the worst of crimes.

I know a poor but a worthy youth,
For a weer cometh whose claims are these—
A hollow heart and an empty head,
His face well tinged with brandy red,
A soul well schooled in villany's school—
And cash, sweet cash! he knoweth the rule:
Dimes and dollars—dollars and dimes!

I know a bold and an honest man,
Who strives to live on the christian plan,
But poor he is and poor will be,
A scorned and hated wretch is he;
At home he meeteth a starving wife,
Abroad he leadeth the leper's life—
They struggle against a fearful odds
Who will not bow to the people's gods,
Dimes and dollars—dollars and dimes!

So get ye wealth—no matter how!
"No questions asked" of the rich, I trow;
Steal by night and steal by day,
(Doing it all in the legal way,)
Join the church and never forsake her,
Learn to cant and insult your Maker,
Be hypocrite, liar, knave and fool,
But don't be poor: remember the rule:
Dimes and dollars—dollars and dimes!

CLIMBING THE WHITE HILLS.

From a series of letters in the Lowell Journal, we take this interesting account of an ascent of Mount Washington. The writer's remarks respecting ladies' costume and side saddles, are sensible and worthy more than a passing glance.

The party of which we were members, made the ascent on Monday, Aug. 16th, 1852. At half past seven, A. M., a troop of fifty-two horses filed round to the door of the hotel, and as many equestrians vaulted into the saddle and commenced their winding way towards the climax of their highest anticipations. About thirty of our number were ladies, ten of whom had never sat in saddle before. This, however discouraging in prospect, seems to make little difference in fact, as the horses walk the entire distance, and no experience is requisite to keep one's seat under such circumstances, although those who have been accustomed to the exercise feel less fatigue at the end of the journey. On and up we rode through mud, over rocks and corduroy bridges, till we reached the summit of Mt. Pleasant, where a fierce nothwest wind assailed us, such as is felt in the dead of winter.

Then it was that overcoats and mittens were duly appreciated, and ladies, losing all regard for personal appearance, began in earnest to regret that they had not studied comfort more and comeliness less, before leaving the sunny yard in front of the house. As it was, however, many wore pea jackets "all buttoned down before," and Kossuth hats all tied down under their chins. This was right, and doubtless was the result of sage advice given by some one who had learned a sad lesson on the same spot, from that severe old school master, experience. But others and by far too many, had on broad palm leaf hats and shawls, which required both hands of the owner and guide beside, to keep within gun shot. Everything loose, like veils, ribbons, &c., were flying in the wind or stripped and carried—nobody knows where. Now and then a silk dress was to be seen—nothing could be more out of place.

Ladies should go warmly clothed, and over all wear their common travelling habits, which the guides have a peculiar faculty of tucking under the foot in the stirrup, so as to make all snug in that region. On the head, both sexes should wear Kossuth hats with strings, or better still close fitting caps with straps under the chin. Scarfs, veils, &c., should be left at home.

Gentlemen need thick riding pants, with straps, thick coats, and warm gloves. In the absence of suitable garments, they may be had at the hotel. Had more of these things been known, much annoyance would have been avoided—the whole party wouldn't have been compelled to wait for a lady to dismount and arrange her hair, so that she could see her pony's head.

At the northern extremity of Mt. Pleasant, one lady and two gentlemen turned their horses homeward, thinking if the cold increased in proportion to the height they had yet to climb, it would be beyond their powers of endurance. The remainder of the journey, however, tho' often steep and dangerous, was attended with much less wind, and was bravely accomplished by the remaining forty-nine, in four and one half hours from the base. Six of the party—three of each sex—rode to the summit.—The majority left their horses in a group about a quarter of a mile below and walked up.—All horses should be left at this point, for no merciful man would be so unmerciful to his beast, as to wish a second time to drive so noble an animal where not a grain of mother earth nor a particle of vegetation greets the eye—nought but one vast pile of rugged rocks.

It is worthy of mention that in this region, where is not a tree or shrub to which to tie a horse, he may be left standing, with an absolute certainty of being on return, as he will not move in his tracks among these rocks, unless driven.

On the summit, a large and commodious house has lately been built of stone, with a wooden roof, every timber, rafter, and shingle of which was carried up on the backs of men or beasts. It will shelter one hundred and fifty persons, and has a range of berths like those of a steamboat, for the accommodation of any that are weary, or wish to remain over night and see the sun rise. Hempen ropes extend over the roof, and are fastened to rocks on either side, lest some windy night the occupants should wake and find nought but a damp, cloud sheet or the canopy of Heaven for their covering. The two stoves with good fires in them, were peculiarly agreeable to our numbed feet and hands; and the tables were loaded with catables for which is charged but the trifling sum of one dollar.

Our thoughtful landlord, however, was careful to see that the knapsacks of the party were stuffed with provisions, from each of which, as Willis says, "a little wicker flask looked defiance at the State of Maine," whose contents could be had for the asking. A heavy cloud enveloped the summit when we first reached it, so that one could scarcely see his companion; although when it had passed away, our vision extended fifty miles in every direction. One mile from the house on the northern slope, snow may be seen ten feet deep. After satisfying the demands of body and soul, and remaining among the clouds upwards of an hour, we began the descent, which is much more fatiguing and dangerous, especially to the ladies, than the ascent.

The unnatural, cramped, one-sided, crook-necked position which etiquette or something else compels ladies to take, makes it needlessly hard for the rider and the ridden. In the course of conversation with a sensible lady from New York, on the way, she remarked that the bloomer dress and the hornless saddle should alone be used on these excursions, and that she would have adopted them could she have found any one to join her, but did not like to make herself conspicuous. This lady looked at the matter in its real, not artificial light. If it is not unbecoming for a woman to aspire to the top of Mt. Washington and enjoy its unrivalled view, then is it not unbecoming for her to reach it in the easiest and most convenient way.

It is a well known fact that the ponies used by females are much sooner worn out than others; whereas women being lighter than men, it should be otherwise. Speed the day when they shall overcome all false modesty, and when side-saddles among the mountains shall be among the things that were and are not.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1852.

EMIGRANT CHURCH.

We are happy to learn, as we do from the Boston Daily Advertiser, that a liberal subscription has been made in England, towards the erection of a Church and Hospital for British Emigrants at New York; and that Mr. Bunch, the British Vice Consul at New York, has lately returned from England, where he made a visit for the purpose of raising these funds, in which mission he seems to have been eminently successful. Among the subscriptions reported are the sum of £500 by the Society for propagating the Gospel; a like sum by Messrs. Baring Brothers & Co.; £100 each by Messrs. Geo. Peobody; Brown, Shipley & Co.; Overend, Gurney & Co.; the Cunard Steam Packet Co; and the same sum by various other firms.

Of course the Church will be Episcopal—and we suppose also of course that it will be free. What more beautiful idea could be conceived of church building, than a free church for emigrants, open for them when they land, like their own churches at home, not poverty striken and mean, but substantial and well-appointed. At the hazard of being thought formal, we suggest the propriety of daily worship in that house, making the English Churchman feel at home on the day of his landing; and introducing him on the first day of his residence in this country, to his own friends and brethren.

And then a Hospital for Englishmen in in New York, raised by English money; Fit accompaniment to the church—the love of man connected with the worship of God.

SALARIES OF FOREIGN MINISTERS.

Efforts made to raise the pay of our Foreign Ministers are often met with opposition, because the increase is considered as unnecessary, anti-republican and extravagant. Perhaps it may be so; but facts in such cases, as in all others, are worthy of consideration; even if they work against our theory. Some facts in point, relating to our embassy to China, are found in the Washington correspondence of the New York Journal of Commerce, under date of August 26:—

As the Senate have rejected the item in the diplomatic bill for increasing the salary of the minister to China from $6000 a year to $9000 with an outfit of $9000, it is not at all probable that Mr. Humphrey Marshall will accept the mission.

The term for which Mr. Marshall was elected does not expire till the 4th of March next. After that time he could receive the salary, if it should be provided for by law, at the next session; and in the mean time, he may accept the office of commissioner at a salary of $6000 a year.

But the President has repeatedly offered the office to different individuals,—the last I believe, was Mr. Blunt, and no one would take it at the present salary. Dr. Davis of Ind. who held it for a while, states that the amount of the salary is much below the expense incurred.

THE WILLIAMS CASE.

Our telegraph despatch in yesterday morning's Chronicle informed our readers that Judge Russell of Boston had decided, as we supposed he should and would, that the new liquor law of Massachusetts is not an ex post facto law, but respects all the licenses that were granted before it began to operate.

No property and no rights would be safe were it otherwise; and we greatly marvel that any legal adviser of the friends of temperance should have given a moment's countenance to such a prosecution as that against Williams. This is by no means a decision against the liquor law; it amounts only to this, that vested rights are not to be lightly or heedlessly disturbed.

THE SEASON AND HEALTH.

This is the closing day of the third Summer month; the drouth has been succeeded by a copious rain, refreshing the grass-grounds and reviving a few of the later crops—but in regard to our staple articles, hay, corn and potatoes, the season must be set down as unfavorable. In regard to health, our neighborhood is as healthy as ever, and probably as much so as any other place that can be named. We copy here, an editorial on the same subjects, from the Oracle of the Day, dated Portsmouth, August 31, 1799, then edited by Charles Peirce.

THE SEASON, HEALTH, &c.—Summer ends this day. It has been a truly remarkable season. Cool mornings and evenings have generally tempered the fervors of meridian heat, and continual refreshing showers added greatly to a confirmed state of health. The town has been and now is free from any prevalent sickness. We have been highly favored of Heaven, and ought to be devoutly thankful.

TO-DAY, being the last day of August and the last day of Summer, is also the last day of the four per cent. discount on town taxes. A word to the wise, &c.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 27, 1852.

DEAR EDITORS:—Having recently returned from a wandering tour, and being once more comfortably at my desk, "I am yours most truly."

But I was so much excited by an incident that occurred on board the boat that brought me here, that I feel I cannot easily proceed to other topics, till this is off from my mind.—As we came into Portland harbor, the steward commenced a careful search in the gentlemen's cabin for "a small boy," Conde something, he called him, which something had a fierce Irish twang. Twice the curtains of my berth were drawn aside in pursuit of that "small boy," whose mother, it was said, "was going into fits" at the idea of his having fallen overboard. But by and by, the steward returned with a most demoniac laugh. It had occurred to him finally to ask the anxious parent how large Conde was. "Och! an sure the boy is as big as ennybuddy—he ought to be, for he is twinty-one year ould!" Guided by this information, the steward had no difficulty in extricating from his sleepy berth a great lubberly fellow, six feet high, who ran the gauntlet of the cabin between passengers who suspended their dressing at every possible stage, to give an uproarious shout.

I have found, wherever out of the State I have been, a general curiosity to learn the present condition and future prospects of our Maine Law. Perhaps your readers may have the same desire. Well, I should be extremely gratified to minister to these "inquiring minds." But did you ever find that a mere visitor of a foreign country would give you a very lively idea of its manners and customs and appearance, while a regular native was a regular "stupid" on these very points? And there is reason enough for the difference. The first sees just what we are naturally most curious about, with all the interest of novelty—but the latter sees everything else as well, and all together under the old sober light of familiarity and indifference. I have always felt this disadvantage in endeavoring to convey to strangers the information in question. We have got fully used to the operation of our Liquor Law—cases arising under it draw no more attention than other cases—its effects are so gradual that they make but little impression upon common observers—and whatever changes of public sentiment are in progress, are either of so feeble a nature or so intermingled with political questions of expediency, that it is nearly impossible to estimate their general drift or ultimate effect. Facts only can be treated with certainty.

The Law here is still carried out with respectable efficiency. But the large number—compared with that of last year—who are weekly fined for drunkenness, shows that the article is not pursued with sufficient severity, or else the men would be more exempt from punishment. The fact is, there is much more drinking now going on than there was under Mr. Dow's administration—whether, though, the balance of evils is greater, your impartial correspondent does not wish so far to obtrude his personal opinions as to make an explicit statement. This laxity of execution has been attributed not so much to the want of good intentions on the part of the Mayor, as to opposition from the Aldermen and Council.

Still intemperance is not visible in our streets. In most places where the Law was executed last year, (that is, in the places most needed) it is still administered with about the same degree of thoroughness, as far as I have had an opportunity of judging. As to the prospects of the cause and its political bearings, I will speak more fully hereafter. It is sufficient to say at present, that a more involved and uncertain state of things never yet puzzled an honest citizen who is much troubled to do all the good he can with his vote, and much more troubled as to the way he should adopt.

The two old political parties—as far as they are detached from these local questions—seem to have but very little life. I do not know that they have yet tried to get up any enthusiasm; if they have, they have certainly failed. But "wait till September," they say—and so we will.

The rain which commenced with us Wednesday evening has been of incalculable benefit. I had never seen it so dry in this region. Many of the farmer had begun to cut up their corn for fodder. But now things already look much improved, notwithstanding the lateness of the season.

Yours truly, CASCO.

BANKERS TORN.—The Scott & Graham Banner, which hung across Market street, was blown in pieces by the storm on Sunday night; and the Pierce and King Banner in Daniel street, was "slightly rent." Both were down yesterday afternoon; gone to be repaired.

"Does Greeley chew?" asks the Cleveland Plaindealer. We cannot answer; he is, however, attached to the Weed (Thurlow) and spile on the Baltimore Platform.

CONGRESS.

On Saturday, the House took up the river and harbor bill, and concurred in all the Senate's amendments, upwards of forty.

Mr. Johnson, of Tennessee, from the committee on Gardiner's claim and Secretary Corwin's connection therewith, reported inability to do anything in the matter this session, and asked leave to sit during the recess, which the Secretary wished. Two letters received from Mr. Corwin, requesting immediate investigation, were debated, and the subject laid over.

The civil and diplomatic appropriation bill, as returned from the Senate, was taken up.

THE REPORTED MURDER OF CAPT. STEVENS.—The National Intelligencer thinks it not improbable that the rumor of the murder of Captain Stevens and two other officers, and 46 men of the United States army, is merely a new version of the late fabrication in regard to the command of Captain Marcy. It would be too provoking if this story should be revamped in such a shape. The press and public at the North might dispense with all the news from Texas which is sent over the wires, for what is reliable is of no interest, and what is important is not reliable.

EFFECTS OF LIGHTNING.—The barn, full of hay, of Mr. Asa Todd, of Rockport, was recently struck by lightning about the centre of the building and actually split in two, thereby commencing its work of destruction at once upon its combustible contents, which were entirely destroyed. It is said that it took one of the windows from its place and threw it five or six rods into the field beyond.

A MAN MISSING.—Mr. T. Rogers, shoe and leather dealer of Fulton street, left his store on Saturday afternoon, as he said, for his residence at Lynn. As he did not reach home on Saturday night, and as he had some nineteen hundred dollars in his possession, his friends are quite anxious lest some accident has befallen him.—Boston Courier.

A NEGRO SHOT.—We find the following in the Richmond Times;

"A gentleman named Ball, overseer for Edward T. Tayloe, finding it necessary to chastise a field hand for insolence and idleness, attempted to do so, in the field, when the negro resisted, made fight, and being the strongest of the two, gave the overseer a very severe beating, and then betook himself to the woods. Mr. Ball, as soon as he could do so, mounted his horse, and proceeding to Mr. Tayloe's residence, informed him of what had occurred. Mr. T., in company with Ball, repaired to the corn-field, to which the negro had returned, and demanded to know the cause of his conduct. The negro replied that Mr. Ball had attempted to whip him, but that he would not submit to it. Mr. T. said he should, and ordering him to cross his hands, directed Mr. Ball to take hold of him. Mr. B. did so, but perceiving that the negro had drawn a knife, told Mr. Tayloe of it, who immediately sprang from his horse, and drawing a pistol from his pocket, shot the negro dead at his feet."

At the late commencement at Williams College, the complimentary degree of Master of Arts was conferred on John C. Hoadley, Superintendent of the Machine Shop in Lawrence. The Courier says the college has done itself honor, and has shown a highly commendable appreciation of self-made men.

COMMODORE STEWART.—We are gratified to learn from Dr. Fahnestock, that Commodore Stewart has so far recovered, as to be considered entirely out of danger from his recent attack.—Phil. Inquirer.

GOOD FISHING.—A letter from Rockport, Cape Ann, states that on the 24th, the harbor from Halibut Point to Straitsmouth Island was literally full of mackerel. There were between three and four hundred barrels taken by seine in the town, which, together with what were caught with the hook, will not fall far short of a thousand barrels.

MASTEB JAMES ROBINSON.

We copy from the Boston Daily Mail the following particulars of the history of Master James Robinson (one of the performers in the great Southern Circus, advertises in our columns) the successor and competitor, for the honors of the circus arena, with young Hernandez, who is now astonishing all the equestrians and public of Europe.

The subject of this sketch was born at St. John, in the Province of New Brunswick, and commenced his professional career when only four years of age, under the apt tuition of John Gossin, the celebrated clown, at the time of the abduction of Hernandez from the Southern circus, and from the charge of Mr. Robinson, who trained him in his masterly feats of horsemanship. Mr. Gossin confided master James to Mr. John Robinson, who adopted him as his son and took him to the South, where he soon displayed an uncommon genius in the equestrian art, which has since distinguished him as one of the most dashing and accomplished riders of his years. In the ordinary course of riding he soon became an immense favorite with the public, and his principal act was pronounced the best ever seen in the equestrian arena in this country.

His accomplished master, Mr. Robinson, now determined that Master James shall do all on the bare back of a horse that any other rider can achieve on a pad or saddle; the pupil was quick to learn and has even surpassed the most sanguine expectation of his master; and the public who have witnessed his daring accomplishments have bestowed upon him the most enthusiastic applause. He is now but ten years of age, well proportioned, his form combining grace and strength to an unusual degree. In addition to his rare merit as an equestrian, he is foremost in the exercises of the arena, where his suppleness and agility alike distinguish him as a brilliant star among his older competitors.

The functionaries of our National Government number not less than one hundred thousand, with as many more probably of the several States.

☞ We understand that on Saturday evening, as a Mr. Ames was returning from Canterbury to Concord, in a chaise with another man, the horse stumbled, threw them both out, and killed Mr. Ames instantly, by breaking his neck.

☞ The 6 1-2 o'clock train from Portland last evening was detained two hours and a half, by the breaking of an axle, near Kennebunk.

MR. SUMNER'S AMENDMENT.—The following is the vote in the Senate upon the amendment of Mr. Sumner, which was virtually to repeal the fugitive slave law:—

NAYS—Messrs. Adams, Badger, Bayard, Bell, Borland, Bradbury, Bright, Brodhead, Brooks, Butler, Cass, Charlton, Clarke, Clemens, Cooper, Dawson, DeSaussure, Dodge of Iowa, Douglass, Felch, Fish, Geyer, Gwin, Hamlin, Houston, Hunter, James, Jones of Iowa, King, Mallory, Mangum, Mason, Merriweather, Miller, Morton, Pearce, Pratt, Rusk, Shields, Smith, Soule, Spruance, Towey, Underwood, Upham, Walker, and Weller—47.

The names of the New England members are printed in italics. Messrs. Norris of New Hampshire, Davis of Massachusetts, and Foote of Vermont, were not present.—Boston Courier.

THE TORNADO IN MAINE.—A correspondent of the Congregationalist, writing from Brooks, Me., furnishes the following account of the severe tornado which occurred in that region on the 19th inst.:

"The northern part of this (Waldo) county was visited by a tornado on Thursday last.—Its general course was to the south-east; but where it commenced, or how far it extended, I have not yet learned. Its width seems to have been from three to five miles, though as a shower of rain it was much more than this. It was the most terrible storm ever witnessed here. It was dark, almost as night, with vivid lightning, and heavy thunder, rain and hail, which has wrought fearful destruction to the crops and windows. In a ride of some six miles I passed in sight of six barns blown down, several others unroofed, and two dwelling houses nearly destroyed. On many farms the fences were nearly all laid prostrate, and fruit trees, and large trees of the forest, are uprooted. One man estimates the damage to his orchard and pine timber lot at $2000.

The destruction was not uniform in the track of the destroyer; sometimes you may see a field of grain or potatoes to all appearance totally destroyed; near by, another is only partially damaged. Some farms and neighborhoods sustained but little injury, while on either side the crops were nearly destroyed, some lines of fence were blown partly in one direction and partly in another. It would seem as though a stiff gale from the N. N. W. was riding on half a dozen whirlwinds, and that now and then a spot escaped the fury of the latter. The towns, so far as I know, which have suffered most, are Troy, Thorndike, Jackson, North Castine, and Brooks."

STRONG CURRENT.—A correspondent of the New Orleans Bulletin, dating at Key West, Aug. 4, says:—

"The trade winds have now to-day commenced, and the calm weather will send along the great number of New Orleans and Mobile wind and current bound ships in the gulf.—The current is running with fearful rapidity to the eastward, and cannot be less than five miles per hour; it is impossible to stem it save with a good stiff breeze. Great numbers of vessels bound West, have been seen drifting Eastward."

THE STORM.

Fruit trees round Boston much damaged; banners in the city blown down.

An earthquake occurred at Augusta on Wednesday, which lasted for six seconds.—The people were much frightened. No serious damage was done.

FROM CALIFORNIA!

Arrival of the Steamer Prometheus.

NEW YORK, August 30.

The steamship Prometheus has arrived, with San Francisco dates to July 31. Her news is mostly anticipated by the Falcon's accounts.

The steamer Oregon, at Panama, had two and a quarter millions of gold and the largest mail ever sent to the States.

THE BANK OF ENGLAND.—We see it stated that in the Bank of England sixty folio volumes of ledgers are daily filled with writing, in keeping the accounts! To produce these sixty volumes, the paper having been previously manufactured elsewhere, eight men, three steam presses and two hand presses, are continually kept going within the bank! In the copper plate printing department, twenty eight thousand bank notes are thrown off daily; and so accurately is the number indicated by machinery, that to purloin a single note, without detection, is an impossibility.

The sign that decorated the grocery store of Arnold, the traitor, before the Revolution, is still preserved at New Haven, where the store was kept.

PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1852.

RAILROADS, BRIDGES AND LAW.

The Exeter News-Letter, speaking of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, says:

"We care not how many railroads our neighbors in Portsmouth and Dover sink their money in,—they are wealthy, and perfectly able to build the road, even though when completed, its stock should not be worth a dollar a share,—but we feel that the bridges which obstruct the navigation of the Piscataqua are already sufficiently numerous, and trust that another will not be constructed until it is ascertained whether those now existing stand upon a legal foundation."

We believe the bridges are not much frightened; and are pretty sure those who own them need not be. The famous, (and rather ludicrous) decision in regard to the Wheeling Bridge, is nullified by an act of Congress laying out a post-road over it—and this will doubtless be followed by similar laws in regard to all the bridges in a similar predicament.

But if, as the old law maxim used to run, all bridges, and all wharves are nuisances, then let us have them all down. No making fish of one and flesh of another.

Of this, however, there is no sort of danger. A decision that would throw down all the bridges round our great cities, Boston for example, is like an argument that proves too much—good for nothing at all.

THE STORM.

The finale of our Summer was a long and somewhat severe rainstorm. In Portsmouth and vicinity it did no harm, that we know of.

In Boston the storm of Saturday night and Sunday continued throughout Monday; a deluge of rain poured down, which may occasion some injury to the potato roots. We hear of little damage in this section except to fruit trees. In New York city, some unfinished buildings were injured.

At the eastward there was a great rain for three days, which finished at Bangor on Saturday. This second storm will have given the people there an extra supply, which was hardly looked for. The steamer Eastern City, Capt. Flowers, which sailed from Boston Monday for Bangor, put back on account of the severity of the storm and the heavy sea in the bay.

The storm on Long Island Sound, on Saturday night, was very severe. The steamer Knickerbocker, due at Boston on Monday morning at 7 o'clock, did not arrive till 3 P. M., having anchored in Thames river, awaiting the abatement of the storm. On Saturday evening the schooner Daniel Webster of New London, while passing through Hurlgate, came in collision with the Albany and Hartford propeller, and both vessels received considerable damage. Capt. Folkerts of the Daniel Webster fell overboard during the confusion, and was drowned.

A Mobile despatch of August 28 says:

A very destructive storm occurred in this city on Wednesday and Thursday, continuing without any cessation. The property destroyed is estimated to be upwards of $100,000. The water overflowed the wharves and extended up to Dauphin street. Many steamboats were seriously injured, and houses unroofed and blown down. Reports from various points show a great loss of life. The dwelling of the light-keeper at the point was floated off, and its inmates, consisting of five persons, were lost. The storm was also very destructive at Belixi. The Georgia House was demolished, and much other property greatly damaged. The ship Abelino and the British schooner Mercer were driven ashore at Cedar Point, and both dismasted. At last accounts the lower parts of the city were still submerged, and many ships and smaller craft under water. One report estimates the loss from one and a half to two millions of dollars, and another still higher.

A despatch from New Orleans of the same date says:

A heavy storm has been prevailing here, in consequence of which no mail has been sent or received for the past two days. The Southern telegraph is down.

PRINTERS' BOSOM PIN.—We have been shown a sample pin, which B. F. Edmunds, jeweller, of this city, is getting up for the printers. It is in form a "composing stick," made of gold 18 carats fine, and makes an appropriate and very handsome appearance. He has already received orders for nineteen of them.—Manchester Mirror.

The above emblem will make a neat appearance, but is no new thing. Any Concord printer who was acquainted with Sergeant Stowell of the 9th Regiment in Mexico, will remember one that he used to wear, some five years ago; and one of the Chronicle trio has had one in his possession for nearly the same length of time.

DEAD BODY IDENTIFIED.—The examination at Chesapeake City, on Monday of last week, led to the identification of the body found in the bushes near that place, two weeks since, and which proved to be that of Dennis Gaffery, one of the four Irishmen who were flogged a few days previous, by two citizens. An inquiry into the cause of his death, before Justice Newland, resulted in holding to bail, in the sum of $2,000 each, Capt. Perry W. Cropper, and Nathaniel A. Colmary, the two citizens aforesaid.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE.

MISSOURI.—St. Louis, August 30.—The extra session of the Missouri Legislature, convened to-day, at Jefferson city. Nearly all the members have arrived. The Senate stands, 12 Whigs, 12 Benton, and 11 anti-Benton. The House is 40 Whigs, 48 anti-Benton, and 42 Benton. There will be a small contest for the Speakership.

IOWA.—Nearly full and authentic returns from this State, show that in the 1st district, Cook, Whig, is elected to Congress by more than 700 majority over Clark, the present Democratic member. In the 2d district, the Democratic candidate, Henn, is re-elected by a small majority. For members of the Legislature, all the counties but three have been heard from; they return 15 Whig Senators to 14 Democrats, 28 Whig representatives to 32 Democrats. The three counties not heard from, choose 2 Senators and 3 Representatives. The last Legislature contained 4 Whig Senators and 27 Democrats, and 5 Whig and 58 Democratic Representatives. This shows a great Whig gain, numbering Iowa probably among Whig States.

NORTH CAROLINA.—Full returns of the recent election have been received, and the result is the election of David S. Reid, the Democratic candidate, by 6,000 majority. In the Legislature, the Democrats have 27 Senators, and the Whigs 23. In the House, the Democrats 58, and the Whigs 62, making a tie on joint ballot.

In Congress, June 14, 1777, Resolved, That the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternately red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation.

As new States were added to the Union, from time to time, new stripes were added to the flag, till the number had increased to fifteen or twenty. At length, about thirty years ago, the stripes were reduced by an act of Congress to the original number of thirteen.

ELLEN CRAFT, THE FUGITIVE SLAVE.—The Macon Messenger, says:—We understand that the celebrated Ellen Craft, the fugitive slave, belonging to Dr. Collins, of this city, who excited so much interest in Boston, two years ago, and who had the honor to be conducted through the Crystal Palace at London, during the great fair, upon the arm of the Chairman of the Executive Committee, who slighted many fair representatives of the Caucasian race to pay his devoirs to this interesting chambermaid, has voluntorily gone into the service of an American gentleman and lody, on condition that they will bring her back to her owner here.

The paragraph which we gave about her yesterday, looked like humbug: this looks like romance: time will show what it is.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.—At Norwich, on Thursday evening, an accident of a distressing nature occurred. A party of ladies met at a house for the purpose of passing a few hours in a neighborly manner, and during the evening four of them had occasion to visit the privy. While there, the floor gave way, and they were precipitated into the vault, a distance of sixteen feet. Another lady, hearing their outcries, rushed into the building to ascertain the trouble, and she too fell in. The matron, at whose house the party had assembled—the fifth lady not having returned, and the exclamations for help not ceasing—went also into the privy, and she likewise shared the fate of her friends. In this pitiable condition they remained for some time, until ladders were procured and they were rescued by the neighbors. Our informant adds that one of the ladies, who was before in feeble health, is not expected to recover, and the others are quite sick.—Boston Courier.

MONKEY TROUPE.—The monkeys, goats and dogs are performing at the Melodeon in Boston, with great applause. They had a full house on Monday night.

The father of young Orcutt, the murderer, whose sentence of death was lately commuted to imprisonment for life by Gov. Hunt, of New York, died on Sunday week at Utica, it is said from melancholy and dejection, caused by the apprehended sad end of his son.

SONTAG, THE SONGSTRESS.—New York, August 30.—At the Musical Convention this forenoon, a letter was read from Madame Sontag's Secretary, declining the public reception it was proposed to offer her. It was therefore decided to give her instead a brilliant serenade, in which some six or eight hundred performers will take part.

DEGRADATION AND FOLLY.—The Boston Courier informs us, that in the police court of that city on Monday, "an aged colored man named Robert Roberts, who resides at No. 8 Second street, South Boston, was charged with bigamy, having, as it is alleged, married a young white woman, named Ellen Ward.—He waived an examination and gave bonds in the sum of $1000 for trial at the upper court. He is a retired clothes dealer,and is said to be a man of considerable wealth. Ellen Ward was charged with fornication. In defence she produced her marriage certificate; but the validity of that instrument, the Judge informed her, depended upon the innocence of her colored "lord." She was held to bail in the sum of $300 for trial by a jury.

Roberts is said to be 80 years old.

Now it seems to us that the woman, though guilty of great folly in such a match,is chargeable with no crime in the premises, unless she knew or might have known of the husband's undissolved marriage.

The Slave Trade does not appear to have been suppressed. Late African advices, received in England, state that two steamers, with 1000 slaves, had lately got away from the Gallinas. The Governor of Sierra Leone has received information of 2000 Slaves being ready for embarkation within ten miles of Lightbourne's factory in the Rio Pongas, with every preparation made for resistance until the "stock" leave the barracoons.

CONGRESS.

Business is rushing through both Houses of Congress, and from one of them to the other as rapidly as the mighty tide rushes through the narrows of the Piscataqua.

On Saturday afternoon and on Monday, a vast deal of business was done, much of it after a strange fashion.

On Saturday, the Civil and Diplomatic Appropriation Bill came back from the Senate to the House, with 50 or 60 pages of amendments: there was no time to look at them. It was moved and agreed to non-concur, and appoint a committee of conference: the Senate refused to recede and appointed its committee also. On Monday this committee's report was agreed to in the House 70 to 69, the Speaker's casting vote giving a majority of 1.

The Post Office Appropriation Bill was amended in both houses, by adopting the clause which declares the Wheeling and Bridgeport Bridges to be legal structures and Post Roads. This measure passed the Senate 30 to 10, and the House 92 to 42: decisive majorities in both.

The Senate on Saturday, passed the Army Appropriation Bill, the General Appropriation and Post Office Bills. On Monday, the Naval and Light House Bills.

But most of these bills are still pending between the two houses.

JAPAN.

A New work just published is entitled: Japan and the Japanese: from the most authentic and reliable sources; with Illustrations of their Manners, Costumes, Religious Ceremonies, &c. By Talbot Watts, M. D., late of the Hon. East India Company's service, 17th Lt. Dragoons, &c. 8vo. pp. 180. New York: J. P. Neagle, 18 Ann and 102 Nassau streets. Price 50 cents. For sale in Portsmouth by J. H. Foster.

This pamphlet is well worth 50 cents for the amount of information it contains; but if any one expects in it a digested and compact treatise on Japan, he will be greatly disappointed. It is a mere compilation or collection of extracts from several books and papers; it contains many repetitions and not a few contradictions; and it is, in short, rather the materials out of which a book might be made, than the book itself, finished as it might have been, with a single week's additional labor. It is dedicated to President Fillmore, and "through his sanction" to whom we cannot tell; and it has a preface which may be in the Japanese idiom for aught we know—but it is certainly not in any dialect of the English language with which we have the pleasure to be acquainted. Nevertheless we are greatly obliged to Dr. Watts for bringing together such a bundle of tracts about Japan at this moment, and to the publisher for a copy.

NEW MAP—We have just received from Wm. Hale, Esq., of Dover, a copy of A Map of the Mountain and Lake Regions of New Hampshire: with Rail-Road Routes, by M. Conant, Engineer Cocheco Rail-Road.

It is just published, on a large scale, and well executed; with a special reference, perhaps, to the construction of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

Mr. John B. Clarke, editor of the Manchester Daily Mirror, has retired from that office. Reason, he could not "spare time" to edit a daily paper.

SURGICAL OPERATION.—Dr. Hitchcock of Fitchburg, Mass., opened the chest of George G. Parker, Esq., of Ashburaham, between the ribs, and drew off five pints of matter from an abscess, through a silver tube. The patient was relieved.

☞ The Concord Daily Patriot gives Albert Ames, as the name of the man who was killed in his ride from Canterbury to Concord on Saturday evening. His age is 42.

☞ The Real Ethiopian Serenaders are here with a first rate programme. Go and hear them. See advertisement.

Mrs. Forrest, that was, is about to marry an early love, an English soldier of fortune attached to one of her Majesty's regiments now in Scotland.

BOSTON & MAINE RAILROAD.—In consequence of the resignation of John Howe, Esq., President of the Boston & Me. Railroad Corporation, many of the stockholders, after consultation, have agreed to vote at the approaching annual meeting for James Hayward, Esq., to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Geo. T. Sage, a resident of Marion, Livingston Co., Mich., went into a well on the 25th inst. to clean it out; after nearly reaching the bottom, he felt the effect of bad air and endeavored to return, but was unable; whereupon Mr. Wesley P. Fitch, a young man about 23 years of age, descended in order to help him out, when the stone work of the well caved in and buried them.

A man by the name of Russell Spencer, residing in East Hartford, went into a lot a few days since, to catch his horse, when he received a severe kick in the stomach, and lived but eighteen hours.

A TERRIFIC HAIL STORM occurred at Ogdensburg, N. Y., on Thursday afternoon. The hailstones fell in quick succession in all directions, some of them the size of a robin's egg. Much damage was done to fruit and trees, and buildings. The course of the storm was from northeast to southwest, and the lightning and thunder intense.

GENEROUS FIRE SOCIETY.—The Franklin Fire Society dined at Spy Pond House, last Friday. The dinner was furnished to about forty, and was got up in Cutter's best style. One of the regular toasts brought forward the name of Estee, the wounded fireman, and was responded to in the shape of material aid.—When the hat had performed the circuit of the table, it was found to contain thirty-seven dollars. There are many who would do likewise did the opportunity offer itself.—Charlestown Advertiser.

DROP GAME IN NEW YORK.—Enoch L. Nutter, of New Hampshire, was a victim of the drop game operation in New York on Saturday. Two men, who saw him pick up a pocket book, forced him to give them $50, pretending that, as policemen, they could convict him of stealing it. The men were, however, required to give up the $50, on a threat of prosecution.

OVERBOARD!—On Saturday, a horse which was employed on Maine Wharf, hoisting coal from a vessel, fell overboard, with a lad who was driving him, and the two were with some difficulty rescued. Each time the tubs were hoisted from the vessel's hold, the horse had to travel to the opposite side of the wharf, and just as the stevedore was about to sing out "high," the fall parted, and horse and boy pitched forward over the sill of the wharf.—Fortunately, the tide was nearly out.—Portland Advertiser.

DESPATCHES

TO THE MORNING CHRONICLE.

BOSTON, August 31.

Thirty-three persons were fined in the Police Court this afternoon, for doing business on Sunday.

A rumor is current in town that an extensive riot took place in New Bedford to-day, caused by the execution of the new Liquor Law. Justice Prescott of the Police Court of that city, adjudged Deputy Sheriff J. D. Hathaway to be guilty of having liquors in his possesion with intent to sell, and fined him twenty dollars and costs. Mr. Hathaway appealed.

The liquors were seized by the City Marshall, and are of considerable value. The riot is supposed to have grown out of an attempt to gain possession of them.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.

The Senate met at half psst 9. The committee of conference on the army bill reported. The River and Harbor Bill—Postage and Steamboat Bills have passed. All the appropriation bills will probably pass. Congress will adjourn to-day,

NEW-YORK, Aug. 31.

The Steamship Ohio arrived this forenoon, with the California mails, and $2,230,000 in gold.

Partial returns from Arkansas bid fair to elect Smith, governor; over his rival Conway, both democrats. Democratic majorities in both Houses.

In Memphis, recent rain storms destroyed property to the amount of $21,000. The corn and cotton fields of the adjacent country were washed down.

FIRE IN CINCINNATI.—Aug. 30th.—A fire broke out this afternoon in a row of frame cottages on the corner of Smith and Webb streets, and they were totally destroyed. The sparks communicated to the German Catholic Church on Fifth street. It was also destroyed, together with the large school-house adjoining. The river is risen and the weather improving.

On Saturday night last, says the Barre Patriot, a man named Ordway broke into the house of Dr. Adams in Oakham, and stole a jug of paregoric, supposing it to be rum.—The next morning he was found in the Doctor's barn, and died in a few minutes after his removal.

MISFORTUNES OF A NIGHT.—On the New-Haven and New-London Railroad, on Saturday night, about 10 o'clock, the engine and tender were thrown off the track, when within seven miles of New-London, by a large stone and a portion of an embankment which had been washed on to the track by the torrents of rain which had descended during the afternoon and evening. It was raining at the time, and the passengers were advised to keep in the cars, and that relief would soon come. The engineer started on foot for New-London, which place he reached about twelve o'clock.

He succeeded in collecting a party of Irish laborers, with a view of having them proceed to the scene of the accident and remove the obstacles. The men had gathered at the depot but refuse to move until a price was fixed upon. The engineer said he would give them ten cents an hour; but this they would not accept. He then offered them twelve cents, but this sum was also declared insufficient compensation by the laborers, and they returned to their homes. The result was, that the poor passengers were obliged to pass the night in the cars, and it was not until ten o'clock on Sunday morning that they were relieved.—Boston Courier.

This engineer must have been a fourpence-ha'penny man to offer men such wages for night work in a storm, and deserves a discharge, unless he is employed by a very mean company.

SEPTEMBER.

BY MARY HOWITT.

There are twelve months throughout the year,
From January to December,
And the primest month of all the twelve,
Is the merry month of September!
Then apples so red
Hang over head,
And nuts ripe-brown
Come showering down
In the beautiful days of September!

There are flowers enough in the summer time,
More flowers than I can remember,—
But none with the purple, gold, and red,
That dyes the flowers of September!
The gorgeous flowers of September!
And the sun looks through
A clearer blue,
And the moon at night
Sheds clearer light
On the beautiful flowers of September!

The poor too often go scant and bare,
But it gladdens my soul to remember
That 'tis harvest-time throughout the land
In the bountiful month of September!
Oh! the good, kind month of September!
It giveth the poor
The growth of the moor;
And young and old,
Mong sheaves of gold,
Go gleaning in rich September!

A GOOD PLACE FOR HUNTING.—"Well you told us your place was a good place for hunting; now, we've tramped it for three hours or more, and havn't found any game yet!"

"Just so—I calculate, as a general thing, the less game there is, the more huntiug there will be."

MILK is to be sold in Worcester in sealed measures, after the first of September.

DESCENDING MT. WASHINGTON.

We give below a description of the descent of the White Hills, as furnished by an interesting correspondent of the Lowell Journal. It will repay perusal,

To one who rides in the rear of the cavalcade, is occasionally presented a novel and interesting sight. As the company emerges from some deep ravine upon the brow of an opposite hill, they may be seen stretching away in the distance and clinging to its precipitous sides, like so many flies crawling on the slope of an inverted bowl. The horses are seen to hesitate on the verge of some fearful declivity, and nervous ladies, who have more confidence in these sagacious animals than in their own ability to guide them, close their eyes and put an unfaltering trust in Providence and ponies, to land them safely at its base. So much sagacity do these mountain climbers exhibit, that long before their riders dismount, all, especially the ladies, fall desperately in love with them, and are inclined to attribute their patient devotion and faithfulness to something more than a mere animal instinct.

Our party at length reached terra firma again after an absence of ten hours, and riding from fifteen to twenty miles over a road which, upon calm reflection, often makes the timid shudder. But as yet, no serious accident has ever occurred, although thousands annually make the same trip; and considering the sure footedness of the trained ponies now in use, but little real danger is attendant upon the journey. Only give the horse his rein, let him pick his own way, and he will carry one safely over the otherwise unsafe paths. There is some choice, however, in the horses, —the "Pilot," the "Doctor," the "Lady Washington," and the "Little Paddy," being among the best.

It has been proposed to expend fifteen thousand dollars in cutting a carriage road to the top of Mt. Washington which once done will make it one of the most popular places of resort in America.

If not too tired and stiff after the day's jaunt and a night's sleep, a ride to the top of Mt. Willard, in a stout wagon built for the purpose, will amply repay the necessary expenditure of time and money. We are now ready to continue our homeward journey; and bidding adieu to the gentlemanly landlord, J. L. Gibb, who is sure to be on the steps to see his guests off, we ride through that wonderful passage, the "Gate of the Mountains" which is but a few rods from the Crawford House.

This is the only place for twelve miles in either direction, where the mountains could be passed; and although the towering cliffs are but twenty feet apart at their narrowest point, they allow the passage of a level, though somewhat crooked road. This Notch is said to be the place where pegged boots were invented, the hills coming so near together as to forbid the drawing out of a waxed end! How good an illustration of the old adage,—"Necessity is the mother of invention" this is; none are competent to judge but those who have passed through the "Gate of the Mountains."

Just below we cross "Nancy's Bridge," famous in tradition for being the death scene of a devoted girl, who, in attempting to follow her faithless lover to a distant town, was overtaken by a terrible storm and was found sitting erect in the drifted snow, a stiffened corpse. Two miles from this bridge is the far-famed Willey House, which, though new clapboarded, shingled and painted, like the boy's jack-knife which had received a new blade and handle, is still the same house. The slide covered an area of half a mile in either direction, and about forty rods from the house on the left, may be seen a pile of stones where the unfortunate family of nine persons were overtaken in their flight to the opposite mountain and buried beneath the overwhelming mass. A few steps more and they could have looked with defiance upon the resistless destroyer from the adjacent mountain.

A hotel which does not and ought not to prosper, has been erected within two feet of the house, and doubtless would have been burned long ere this, were it not for fear of destroying the latter with it. How soothing to the senses must be the train of associations connected with a night's lodging on the spot so tragically eventful in history! Surely none but an ignoramus or a man devoid of the common feelings of humanity, would open a hotel in such a place, and he deserves to fail.

In the rear of the house is to be seen what visitors have spared of the rock that turned aside the avalanche, and thus saved the deserted building from the inevitable destruction that seemed to await it. Having broken off a specimen with the hammer that is there for the use of visitors, we will drive on towards Conway, as we have seen everything worthy of notice and shall soon emerge from the narrow confines of the mountains into the open and cultivated valley of the Saco. Passing through the towns of Conway, Eaton and Moultenborough, we arrive at Centre Harbor in season for the last boat on the Lake.

And having driven our horse one hundred and thirteen miles over a fine stage road, we get the accommodating landlord of the "Senter House" to send him back to Plymouth, while we go on board that beautiful little steamer, the "Lady of the Lake," and in forty-five minutes find ourselves at Wier's Landing, after passing through ten miles of delightful scenery among the thousand islets and narrow channels of Lake Winnepissiogee.

No sooner are we on shore than the shrill whistle of the last express train to Boston is heard echoing among the hills; and in four hours we find ourselves again in Spindledom, having spent a week 'midst some of the wildest scenery of nature, whose tendency is to expand and elevate the mind, and raise one's thoughts from "Nature up to Nature's God."

THE RELIGIOUS TEST.

Great use has been made, by public speakers abroad, of the religious test in the Constitution of New Hampshire. Both parties have devoted to it a larger space than its importance seems to demand. Both seem to be rather in the dark about it, or to talk and write as if they were. And both parties generally seem afraid to discuss the subject thoroughly. We have now before us one noble exception to the last statement, in the Boston Post of Monday, which devotes twelve of its ample columns to a history of the whole matter, with arguments and pleas in favor of the Democratic party in general and Gen. Pierce in particular, as the friends of religious freedom. The article is somewhat one-sided, of course, yet it is really valuable, containing many facts and tables. We have no room to go over all the ground covered by this great article; but deem it advisable to state two or three particulars in which its conclusions are correct; point out one or two errors; and state some additional facts, which we believe neither party has mentioned.

And first, as to Gen. Pierce himself, there is no question here, in the mind of any one, that he favored the abolition of the test, by his word, vote and influence—nor is there any doubt that some other leading men of the Democratic party did the same—nor that a considerable part of the few votes which have been given against the test came from the same party. It is even probable that a majority of them came from that quarter.

But then it is equally well known that numbers of their political opponents voted for its repeal. The question has not recently, if ever, been a party question;—and we have never seen any evidence that there was much earnestness about the whole matter in any party or set of men in New Hampshire, either way. The very small vote finally given upon its abolition last Spring, proves this.

It is true that some Whigs and some Democrats, not a very few of either, opposed its repeal and voted against it on the final question. But it was not done in any case, so far as we understand it, on political grounds, nor to help this party or that,—but on religious considerations,—from fear, or jealousy of Roman Catholics, especially of their priests, one of whom did more (not designedly but really) to preserve this test, than any politician in the State did or could do. By exhibiting an exclusive spirit, he doubtless changed some hundreds of votes from one side to the other.

The spirit of jealousy and fear of Catholics exists in most Protestant sects, especially in those called evangelical—and every one knows that these are the sects that abound in New Hampshire.

There was one political consideration, and but one, as hinted at in the Post, and in the Patriot whence it quotes, which had some weight in defeating the abolition of the test at the first trial. This was the fact that the Convention had compiled a Constitution so unpopular that the people rejected the whole of it by a large majority, and this among the rest. But the second time there were only three points presented, viz.: this test, the property test, and a provision for future amendments. The voters abolished the property test by a two-thirds vote—failed to provide for future amendments by falling short of two thirds, though they gave the amendment a majority—but refused to abolish the Protestant test, by voting down the article by a large majority.

Call it bigotry or what you please; there it stands, and cannot be rubbed out.

On this subject the Post quotes the N. H. Patriot as saying, "No man of candor and intelligence will contend that this was a deliberate expression of the sentiments of the people of the State upon this question of religious toleration. Those sentiments were expressed thirty years ago, when the Toleration Act was passed—an act whose spirit is in direct opposition to this test."

The first sentence in this question is matter of opinion—the second purports to be history. But the statement of a few facts will show how far either the opinion or the history is correct.

The Toleration Act, here mentioned, was brought about by men who were struggling for their own rights or privileges; and was not a benevolent act, by which such favors were to be bestowed on others. It was the victory, gained by the coalition of many small sects to break down the exclusive monopoly enjoyed by the "old standing order" of Congregationalists. It differed as widely from the late movement which preserved the religious test,—as the Declaration of Independence differs from the Federal Constitution.

Thirty years ago, or thereabouts, the Baptists, Freewill Baptists, Christians, Universalists, Methodists, and other sects in New Hampshire, were enabled by a combination with the Republican party, to out-vote the "standing order" and the Federalists; and they changed the State Law so that no man is now obliged to pay a ministerial tax to any society; whereas formerly, all must pay to the standing order who did not pay elsewhere.

Now we think the new way is the right way; but we do not see that it was very liberal in the weaker sects to vote themselves free.

We are also decidedly in favor of abolishing the religious test—but we believe a majority of the active people in New Hampshire are against us,—and that a vast majority of the whole are totally indifferent.

If they themselves were shut out from office, they would struggle for the right—but when the Catholics, or others, are excluded, that alters the case.

We fully agree with the Patriot in pronouncing the Post's article, "a very able, elaborate and conclusive vindication of Gen. Pierce and the [eminent men of the] Democracy of New Hampshire from the charge of having opposed the removal of the religious test from our Constitution."

But we must think, after all, that our people of both and of all parties, are jealous and fearful of Roman Catholic influence, and that this jealousy and fear, infused by their fathers and their preachers, are stronger than the influence of political leaders. They have decided to keep the test; and after this Presidential election is over, the whole subject will rest for a long season.

THE LOBOS EXPEDITION.

From late official letters it appears that all our supposed right to get guano from Lobos, without the consent of Peru, is founded in a mistake. Mr. Webster, in his letter of Aug. 21, informed Capt. Jewett that some of his previous statements had misled the Department, and were likely to do so.

Our vessels are now forbidden to use their arms—and our armed vessel which was ordered thither has had the order countermanded.

LAUNCH OF THE GREAT SHIP.

This day at about half-past one o'clock, the large ship at Mr. George Raynes's Yard is to be launched. Her extreme length is 201 feet, 1 inch; extreme breadth 41 ft. 8 in.; breadth at plank shear 38 ft. 3 1-2 in.; whole depth 29 ft. 6 in.; length of keel 191 ft. 3 in. Her tonnage is 1500 tons, custom house measurement; and she is built in Mr. Raynes's best manner.

CORRECTION.

A Southern gentleman visiting in this neighborhood, who reads the Chronicle, wishes us to correct an erroneous report which we copied from the Richmond, Va., Republican, by publishing the following editorial from the Alexandria Gazette:

"We learn that the article from the Richmond Republican, which we copied, a few days ago, stating that Col. Ed. T. Tayloe, of King George county, had been compelled, recently, to shoot down an insubordinate servant, who had drawn a knife upon the overseer, is incorrect. Some weeks ago, the overseer had a difficulty with the servant, and did shoot him—but the wound was not mortal.—Col. Tayloe, at the time, was in Baltimore, and knew nothing of the affair when it took place."

WEBSTER MOVEMENT.—The Boston Courier of yesterday morning says:

"The Union Whigs had another meeting on Monday night. The hall was not crowded, although over one hundred and fifty persons were present. Charles A. Wells, Esq., presided. Encouraging speeches were made by several gentlemen, and it was stated that the accounts from the country were of a very gratifying character. It was voted that the executive committee have power to summon the Webster State Convention at Faneuil Hall, any time between this and the 9th inst. The most important business of the evening was the appointment of a "Webster Minute-men Club," consisting of one thousand men."

The Courier publishes their names.

ARRIVAL OF STEAMSHIP WASHINGTON.

The Liverpool Cotton market on the day of the Asia's departure, was very active, the sales reaching 18,000 bales; on the Monday following they were 12,000 at 1-2 advance; on Tuesday, however, the market became dull, and the sales barely exceeded 8000 bales.

The Grain trade has suffered a check, owing to the very favorable weather and the promising appearance of the harvest. Wheat and Flour were both slightly easier, while Corn was neglected, and floating cargoes easier to buy.

The excitement regarding the fishery difficulty had greatly subsided, and excited no further uneasiness.

The Paris fetes on the 15th of August passed off tranquilly. The President was respectfully but not enthusiastically received by the populace.

	Males.	Females.	Total.
Under 1 year old	5	8	13

Brick are now manufactured from dry and powdered clay, by machinery at Portland.

CONGRESS.
Close of the Session.

Both Houses of Congress adjourned sine die on Tuesday at 12 o'clock. An extra session of the Senate has been called by the President, to act upon nominations.

In the Senate on Tuesday morning the resolution offered by Mr. James, for the appointment of a select committee to set during the recess, to examine witnesses on oath as to the general business of importations, to ascertain whether and what frauds have been committed upon the customs, and to report at next session, was taken up.

The resolution was adopted as follows:—Yeas, Messrs. Badger. Bayard, Bell, Borland, Brodhead, Brooke, Clarke, Clemens, Cooper, Davis, Geyer, Houston, James, Jones of Iowa, Mallory, Mangum, Merriweather, Miller, Norris, Smith, Spruance, Stockton, Wade, Walker, Weller, 26.

The 17th joint rule was suspended so as to allow all appropriation bills to be sent to the President.

It was now 11 1-4 o'clock, and the Senate proceeded to ballot for a select committee under Mr. James' resolution: the committee consists of Messrs. James, Shields, Bright, Dawson, and Bell.

Thus Mr. James has good employment in recess time, and the Senate commits itself to an examination of the revenue laws and their speculation. In speaking on this resolution

Mr. James said he was not in favor of increasing duties. He was for carrying out the spirit of the act of 1846. It was a well known fact that the mechanics, artisans and agriculturists paid their full amount of the duties imposed on articles consumed by them, while it was also well known that they who used Broadcloths, finer Cassimeres and Laces, did not pay more than 2-3 of the duties imposed upon those articles.

Mr. Houston made his report on the subject of supposed frauds upon the Government, stating that the committee had not had time to complete any case but would do so by the next session. He moved that the report be taken and printed.

Mr. Badger objected because nothing was completed.

Mr. Houston then withdrew his report.

At two minutes before 12 a committee reported that the President had no further communication to make to the Senate, and offered his congratulations on the close of their labors.

A resolution of thanks to Hon. Wm. R. King, President of the Senate, was passed unanimously—to which he responded, and then pronounced the Senate of the United States adjourned sine die.

In the House, on motion of Mr. Jones, of Tenn., the 17th joint rule, which prohibits a bill from being presented to the President for his signature on the last day of the session, was suspended.

On motion of Mr. Carter, 20,000 copies of the entire report of the Commissioner of Patents were ordered to be printed.

Several messages were received from the President, informing the House that he had signed the civil and diplomatic, post-office, army and navy, and other appropriation bills.

Mr. Polk said, I will appeal to the House to recede from their amendment to the bill for the relief Mrs. of Margaret Worth.

The Speaker said it can only be done by the unanimous consent of the House.

The Speaker said the hour for the adjournment of the present session having arrived, the Chair accordingly announced that the House stands adjourned, sine die.

GEN. CASS AT BALTIMORE.—A Baltimore despatch of the 31st says:

A large democratic mass meeting is being held in Monumental square to-night, Col. G. W. Davis presiding. The Empire Club presented Gen. Cass with a handsome boquet which he acknowledged in appropriate terms. He then commenced a speech, in which he said if any one expected him to abuse Scott, or the Whig party, they were much mistaken. Gen. Scott was a gallant soldier, whose name was inscribed on the highest page of American history. He eulogized Pierce as a man who would make a sound Constitutional President. Much enthusiasm prevails.

A SLAVE STEALER ARRESTED.—Reuben Johnson, a free negro, that had been for a long time past a wagon driver for Mr. Lintner, has been committed before the police court to answer the charge of abducting the slaves of C. Q. Armstrong. One Douglass, mayhap a brother of Fred's, a trifling free negro of Jeffersonville, stands charged with aiding the negro to run off.—Louisville Courier.

BLOODY RETRIBUTION.—Mark Sullivan, who murdered Mr. Jordan, in Washington county, Alabama, a few years ago for which he was sentenced to the penitentiary, returned home a short time since, and was shot one day last week by a son of Jordan, a lad 12 or 15 years of age. Sullivan died the next day. Before he was buried, one of his sons was thrown from his horse and instantly killed.—We understand that Sullivan attempted to shoot young Jordan first, but his gun missed fire.

The Hamilton (Canada) Spectator regrets to hear many complaints of failure in the potato crop in that vicinity. The disease has made its appearance.

The Antigonish Casket of the 19th ult., reports that the potatoe blight has made its appearance in several districts of the county of Sydney, Cape Breton.

DEATH FROM A CORN.—A son of Mr. Robert Pye, of Cincinnati, died a few days ago, from the effects of lockjaw. Some time ago a troublesome and painful corn on one of his toes was pared down, but not sufficiently to draw the blood. A short time afterwards inflamation set in, extending upwards, in a tetter form, to his shoulder, and thence to his head. Chloroform and other soothing appliances were administered, and every attention bestowed upon him by physicians and the family, but the system at length yielded to the disease, and he expired in the utmost agony.

A little son of Asa Hatch, of Stratford, N. H., was suddenly killed a few days since in a haying field. He was playing in a loaded cart, and accidentally falling, the wheels passed over his head.

We are enabled to record the gratifying intelligence that of twenty-seven vessels fitted out from ports in Lunenburg county for the Labrador fishery, twenty-six have returned well fished, one vessel bringing home the handsome fare of 1100 quintals.—St. John Courier.

Some miscreants who deserve girdling themselves, last Thursday entered the premises of Lewis Thayer of Worcester, and destroyed several valuable fruit trees by girdling them. The Spy says no reason can be assigned for this detestable act, beyond the fact that Mr. Thayer is an active friend of temperance.

Werner's extensive foundry at Charleston, S. C., was destroyed by fire on the 25th inst. Loss, three thousand dollars. Insured.

Whig Convention.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.

The Whig Convention of this State nominated at Worcester to-day Wm. H. Clifford of New Bedford, now Attorney General, for Governor, and Elisha Huntington of Lowell, for Lieut. Governor. The Boston delegation returned in high glee. Many went to the Tremont House, where they expected to see Mr. Clifford, but he had left for home. They gave three cheers for Scott & Graham, three more for Clifford, and adjourned to State street, where speeches were made by Col. Page of New Bedford, snd S. Brinley, Marshall of the Boston delegation. The Webster Whigs are holding another meeting to-night at Art Union Hall, but they are in a sad plight, the movement of Webster's friends having been denounced at Worcester to-day.

MISSOURI LEGISLATURE.—Louisville, Aug. 31.—The Missouri Senate met and was organized yesterday. Several ballotings were had for Secretary, and on the final vote Irwin, Bentonian, was elected.

Jefferson City, Aug. 30.—The Democratic members of the Legislature are now in caucus with open doors. Resolutions are pending declaring that during the present session the old schism between the Bentonians and the anti-Bentonians shall not be renewed. The Bentonians opposed them. After Mr. Stephenson of Franklin, declared the democratic union in the State to be rotten, there appears to be no prospect of a restoration of harmony in the party. The resolution finally passed, not limited to the present session. The Benton men, however, stood aloof, declaring they would not abide with them. The caucus then adjourned.

In the House the 11th ballot for Speaker stood as follows: Simms 46, Woodson 37. Acoke 32, Hunter 10, Jackson 2.

FAILURES IN MERCANTILE BUSINESS.—The late Gen. H. A. S. Dearborn, some years ago, made very extensive enquiries as to the number of merchants in this city and vicinity who had followed their avocation from the commencement to the close of their mercantile lives without having been overwhelmed, at some period thereof, by bankruptcy. The General was eminently fitted to make this enquiry. His official relations with the merchants of this city, as Collector of the Port of Boston, his very extensive acquaintance with the industrial classes, and his long and minute habits of observation, all qualified him to investigate the subject to which his attention was directed; and after full examination he declared and published that of every hundred men who had entered mercantile pursuits within the city of Boston during the fifty years preceding his declaration, that three reached their graves without having become insolvent.—Boston Herald.

AN ANCIENT COIN AND A CURIOUS FACT.—Mr. Thomas Singleton, of Boston, has in his possession an old Massachusetts Pine Tree sixpence, bearing date 1652. The curious fact connected with the sixpence is this: A member of Mr. Singleton's family was engaged on Gray's wharf, picking over and assorting a cargo of gum, from Africa, and this coin was found embedded in the gum.—Boston Herald.

The Boston Traveller says the cabs in that city have nearly disappeared, and have been superseded by carryalls, or small hackney coaches, drawn by one horse, and capable of holding four persons.

NOTICE TO BUILDERS AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of our finest buildings are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and narrow contracted, leaden goose-necks, or what is still worse a skewangle continuation of the upright conductor with which the cornice is adorned—all of which may be remedied by application to

J. E. CHAPMAN,
PRACTICAL TIN PLATE WORKER,
who will give his personal attention to the adjustment of all such defects. Specimens of Ornamental Goose-necks and Conductor Caps, on the most approved plan of modern architecture may be seen at his Tin Ware Factory, where he manufactures to order

A LOVELY WIFE.—Notwithstanding Wesley had written a treatise in favor of celibacy, he married a widow named Vizelle, with four children and an independent fortune. She proved, however, a complete termigant, was jealous, ill-natured and overbearing. It is said, says Southey, that she frequently traveled a hundred miles, for the purpose of watching from a window who was in the carriage with him when he entered a town. She searched his pocket, opened his letters, put his letters and papers in the hands of his enemies, in hopes that they might be made use of to blast his character; and sometimes laid violent hands upon him and tore his hair. She frequently left his house, and upon his earnest entreaties, returned again; till after having thus disquieted twenty years of his life as far as possible for any domestic vexations to disquiet a man whose life was passed in locomotion, she seized on part of his journals and many other papers, which were never restored, and departed, leaving word that she never intended to return.

A STARTLING PREDICAMENT.—On Saturday one of our citizens was on a visit to Canada, and about the time the storm of that evening was coming on, started in a carriage to return to the American side. When about mid-way of the "suspension bridge" the storm struck them with appalling fury. The wind blew a perfect tornado, while the air was densely filled with driving hail and rain, and so potent was the wind that the bridge swayed laterally to and fro ten or a dozen feet, making one giddy with its vibrations. So appalling was the commotion that the horses stopped, and finally fell on their sides on the bridge, while the driver, in the extremity of his terror, seemed incapable of making the least effort to move from the perilous spot.—The inmates of the carriage could with difficulty keep their seats, and for a short time expected nothing else but to be precipitated into the surging waters below.—Rochester Advertiser.

NEW SYNONYME FOR CONSUMPTION.—A gentleman recently inquired of a spirit, through a "medium," of what disease it died, when in the flesh. The word "consumption" was rapped out as the reply. The questioner looked a little dissatisfied, and a physician in the company, who was zealous in the faith, hastened immediately to explain that there are a variety of forms of disease, either of which may well enough come under the general name of consumption. "That's all very well," said the questioner, "but it hardly applies in this case, for the man he professes to be was blown up in a steamboat!" The rapper was too indignant to make any further revelations to that "medium." It is just possible that he was offended that the questioner should be ignorant of the fact that death by steamboat disasters, of which there have been so many instances of late, is only another phrase for death by rapid consumption."—Lowell Journal.

ROCK SPRING.— His spring is a curiosity. It is in the town of Ossian, about five miles distant, upon a very high point of land that overlooks the valley of the Canasaraga. Upon this high point, in the centre of a large clear field, is a rock rising some four or five feet above the surface, about four feet in diameter, hollow and in form of an egg shell: and in its centre bubbles up a spring of as pure water as ever came from mountain top, and fills this rock to a constant overflow.—Around it no other rocks are to be seen, and one can hardly believe that it is not a work of art. Close examination proves it to be the work of the Great Artist, and none of man's handiwork.—Dansville (Pa) Democrat.

DREADFUL MORTALITY.—The brig Sarah, of Prospect, Me., L. S. Griffin, master, arrived at Surinam on the 28th ult. from Demarara, the captain, both mates and one man sick with the yellow fever, having been attacked on the passage up, and on the 30th the whole four died, within a short time of each other, and were buried at the quarantine ground.—On the 4th inst. there was but one man sick, and he was recovering. There were several passengers on board, among whom were three ladies, one in a very delicate situation. It was expected that the vessel would be relieved from quarantine shortly, when probably the U. S. consul would take charge of her. It will be gratifying to the friends of the deceased to learn that every thing was done by the authorities, after their arrival, that could be done to make them comfortable.

ANOTHER CALIFORNIAN GONE.—Mr. Lovcman Buel, who left this city three years ago last May, for California, arrived home again last Sabbath, and died on Tuesday, at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Watson.—Nothing had been heard of him for the last three years, and he was thought dead by his friends, till his appearance among them on Sunday, when their surprise was mingled with emotions of joy and grief. He came home to die; and ere his friends had time to extend their welcomes, his wearied frame sank into the long rest of eternity. He left San Francisco in good health, but contracted a fever on the passage; it terminated as above, spreading sorrow instead of gladness among a large circle of relatives and friends.—Charlestown Advertiser.

FOREIGN NEWS.

BY THE ARCTICA.

In the Liverpool Corn Market under date August 20, we observe the Market quiet at a decline in Flour of 6d a 1s per bbl., and in Wheat 1 a 2d per 70 lbs,—in consequence of the improvement of the weather, which has again become favorable for harvesting. Ind. Corn a shade easier. Yellow Corn 29s 6d, mixed 29 and white 28s 6d per qr. W C Balt and Philad Flour 21 to 21s 6d, Canadian 20s 6d to 21s 6d, Ohio 22s, sour 19s per bbl.

In the provision market, Aug. 20, a further reduction of 1 a 2s is submitted to. Dealers in Beef and Pork all very well stocked and refuse to buy any more at any reasonable reduction. The quotations must be reduced 5 to 10s pr tierce, and are then quite nominal.—Fine Cheese wanted.—Lard very dull and drooping. Quotations—Mess beef, tce 100 a 120s, India per 304 lbs 115 a 130; prime mess pork, bbl 65 a 80; lard, fair 56 a 58.

ENGLAND.—The ministerial journals per Washington announce with perfect confidence the satisfactory termination of the dispute on the N. A. fisheries, which is likely,—indeed, certain to be adjusted on terms of absolute reciprocity, so far as the right of fishing is concerned;—the Americans to be at liberty to fish in all British waters, and the British in all American waters, subject on both sides to restrictions to three miles from the shore of the country to which each party does not belong; the three miles to be measured to the nearest land, without distinction of Bay or open sea.

Parliament is prorogued to the 21st of October, but as the order of Council does not state that it will then meet for despatch of business, it is certain to be further adjourned, the Globe says, to the 3d week in November.

The Sun mentions the appointment of G. P. R. James (the novelist) as British Consul at Norfolk, Va.

The Duke of Hamilton, Premier Peer of Scotland is dead. He was 85 years of age.—He is succeeded in his title, &c., by his son the Marquis of Douglass.

The Leeds Chamber of Commerce has adjourned sine die, without taking any steps as an association in reference to the dispute with the United States.

The harvesting is proceeding favorably both in England and Scotland.

IRELAND.—In the case of the inquest on the bodies of those shot in the elections riot at Six Mile Bridge, Ireland, the coroner's jury have returned a verdict that the deceased were willfully murdered by John C. Delmadge, Justice of the Peace, and eight soldiers of the 31st Regiment. Five jurors dissented from the verdict.

All country accounts respecting the potato crop are more satisfactory. The last favorable statements estimate that in the infected districts, at least one half of the crop will be saved.

FRANCE.—The Princess Vasa and her mother are to leave Manheim in a few days and will pass the winter on their family estate in Austria. From this it is inferred that her marriage with Louis Napoleon is broken off. Gossip says that nothing, not even the promise of a pension would overcome the opposition of the young lady's father to the match.

If "Gossip" tells the truth, her father is a wise man, not to give her to a husband of base morals, however exalted he may be in station.

The latest news from France is, that Louis Napoleon is seriously ill of nervous irritation.

Hon. Franklin Pierce visited the Navy Yard yesterday and was greeted with a federal salute.—Portsmouth Chronicle.

The Chronicle probably means a "democratic" salute—some of the General's political friends blazing away on the occasion. Of course he is no more entitled to a formal salute from the officers of the yard, than any other citizen—no more than John P. Hale the abolition candidate for the Presidency—if indeed as much as the latter, whose official position as a member of the Senate, might possibly in an extreme dearth of distinguished official visitors, render the compliment not entirely unsuitable.—Lowell Courier.

It was a Federal salute of 13 guns, by order of the Commandant of the Navy Yard. A similar salute is commonly fired when members of Congress visit there; but Gen. Pierce's salute might be fired in honor of his position as a candidate for the Presidency,—or on account of his being an ex-General in the army.

SEASON AND CROPS.

We bade farewell to Summer not many days ago; but she came back yesterday with a blush on her cheek and an apron full of fruits.

The rain has refreshed every thing, and revived many things which were apparently dead. Among the rest, it is said that our potato crop in this region will be better than we have had for some years.

The Racine Advertiser says:—"The old complaint of poor crops need not be heard in Wisconsin this autumn. It seems as if nature had been making her best effort to compensate the farmer in one year for his lost labor of the past three years. Corn, wheat, oats and potatoes, all give joyous promise of an abundant yield."

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

KENNEBUNK, Me., August 28, 1852.

DEAR CHRONICLE:—Would you like to hear a word about the Methodist Camp Meeting here? Be quiet then, and listen. Last Tuesday I rode over, through the villages of Kittery, York, Cape Neddick, Ogunquit and Wells, to this place, which is distant about three miles from the camp ground, and the next morning went over to the camp. As we approached, we heard singing, and soon could distinguish the white tents through the trees. These tents are shaped like our houses, and are made of cotton cloth drawn over light frames. They are arranged in a circle containing one or two acres of land, at one end of which is built a cottage pulpit for the preachers. Within this circle are placed seats for three or four thousand persons.

Let me describe a day's proceedings. In the morning every church holds a prayer meeting in its own tent, and another after breakfast. At about ten o'clock a small bell is rung, and the presiding elder commanded all persons to come forward and be seated, or to leave the circle of tents, and then adds to the police office in attendance, "Brother Pope, see that my order is obeyed." Five minutes after that, every person within the circle is seated. Then the services proceed in the same order as in a church. I have seldom heard anything so beautiful as is their singing. Think of it—more than a thousand voices at once, joined in the lively, quaint old Methodist tunes, and rising from among the forest trees, in wild, sweet, musical strains of praise and thanksgiving to the great Lord of life.

At the close of the services, those who wish for the prayers of the churches, are invited to go forward and seat themselves in the little altar beneath the pulpit. Numbers of curious eyes are watching to see who will be the first to start. Many hesitate, and a few, yielding to the voice of conscience or perhaps to the excitement of the moment, rise and walk slowly forward to the altar. During all this time a low, soft chant is rising from the audience. All the ministers and their churches now kneel and join in solemn prayer. As the speaker becomes more interested in his subject, his voice grows louder and clearer, while all the ministers present are loud and fervent in their responses. At length the prayers are concluded and the mourners rise; some with glad, light hearts, others yet in doubt, but with a consciousness that they have commenced a new journey, and a most un-Pliable-like determination not to go back, and all with a strange, wondering, confused crowd of emotions. Another hymn is sung and the audience disperse to their tents.

The ham of sundry teakettles, as they sing cheerily on their wooden cranes, just in the rear of the tents, and the busy hurry of the ladies, now call our attention to dinner. A right merry time they have at their meals in the tents. They seat themselves on wooden benches around long tables, and all bow their heads while one of the oldest persons present asks a blessing. Then all proceed to satisfy the calls of the inner man; while harmless pleasantries and innocent jests pass round among the younger persons present. After dinner there is a prayer meeting held in each tent—then all assemble in the grove and the services proceed as in the morning. At about five o'clock tea is announced. A prayer meeting follows, and then all repair to the grove, which is now brilliantly lighted by lanterns suspended between the trees, and join in public worship.

The novelty attending these meetings held in the vast temple of nature, at once attracts the attention of the observer, and the general tendency is to impress one with a deep solemnity; but there were some striking illustrations of the fact that "there is but a step from the sublime, &c." For instance, sometimes while all were engaged in earnest prayer, one or two would jump up and run to see if the teakettle boiled yet. At another time, two or three in one tent would be at once engaged in unintelligible, incoherent exhortations, while twenty or more would shout the responses. Sometimes some of the old men would shout until they burst into fits of pious laughter and clap their hands, then shout again. Once in a while some would fall down and scream, and strike and roll on the ground. These instances were, however, rare, and, aside from them, everything was conducted with the greatest decorum. I have no doubt but that many become sincere, devoted christians from impressions received here.

By a most judicious law of this State, no goods or merchandise of any kind is allowed to be sold within one mile of the camp ground, except by persons authorised by the directors; so everything in the vicinity was quiet and pleasant. One more fact: thanks to the famous Maine Liquor Law, no poison was to be had anywhere near the camp, nor have I, during my stay here, seen the slightest indication of its presence. God speed the time when New Hampshire shall follow the noble example set by her sister State. But I am wandering from my story.

At the close of the evening services, all the spectators drive off in their carriages, and the Methodists return to their tents. A heavy curtain is now hung "fore and aft" in each tent, dividing it into two sleeping rooms, for the men and women. Lights, for a while, gleam out from the corners of the tents, but soon all are asleep and still except two or three watchmen, who walk lazily about, rubbing their eyes. The camp is very beautiful at night. The bright moon and brighter stars look down from among the soft, fleecy clouds which are sailing dreamily about in the blue heavens, upon more than fifty white tents in the wild woods; and over all rests the still, deep hush of night.

The rain of Thursday and yesterday was a serious inconvenience. The tents kept off the water from above, pretty well, but little streams would occasionally run across the floors, which were made of straw spread on the ground. It without doubt prevented many from attending, who would otherwise have been here; but yet the number present has been estimated at from five to six thousand. The people have given each other the parting hand, said good bye, and returned to their homes; many of them not to meet again until another year has passed away, and many never. I am going too, and have only time to subscribe myself, Yours, truly, A.

The N. H. Conference Seminary has commenced its fall term with over two hundred students.

CITY COUNCIL—Sept. 2.

In the Board of Aldermen a petition was presented by Daniel P. Drown, stating that Kittredge Sheldon had encroached on McDonough street, and offered deeds to substantiate the same. Referred to Committee.

In the Common Council the subject of the removal of the Police Justice was taken up and unanimously passed as it came from the Board of Aldermen, and a committee was appointed to prepare a petition to the Legislature for his removal.

A committee was appointed to regulate porters, cartmen and cartage, also hackney coaches, cabs and carriages and their drivers.

☞ The Whig nominee for Governor is James instead of Joseph Bell, as we stated yesterday.

HORRIBLE AFFAIR—A HUSBAND KILLED BY HIS WIFE.—Baltimore Sept. 2.—A man named James Male was murdered last week, in Alleghany Co., Md., by his wife. Just previous to the occurrence of the dreadful tragedy he was in pursuit of his children with a gun, and his wife interfering, he turned upon her. She, to defend herself, seized an axe and with it knocked him down and succeeded in cutting his throat. She was arrested at the time and has since been tried and acquitted on the ground of justifiable homicide.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.—Syracuse Sept. 1.—At 12 o'clock, the signal gun being fired, Mr. Rice of Brooklyn rose and nominated Mr. Bristol, of Tioga, (Hunker) for temporary Chairman, and at the same moment Mr. Lapham (Barnburner) of Ontario, was nominated by Mr. Stetson. A scene of confusion ensued. The nominations were put to vote, and both parties claimed the victory. In order to decide the matter it was proposed to appoint two Secretaries which should call the roll in order to ascertain which of the nominees for the chair received the votes of the majority of the convention, and Messrs. Suffern and Helant were chssen Secretaries, and proceeded to call the names.—Much time was consumed in altercations about contested seats, after which the vote was declared in favor of Mr. Bristol.

2d. DESPATCH.—At 2 o'clock Mr. Bristol took the chair as temporary President. In the afternoon session a committee of one was appointed from each district to nominate permanent officers by the temporary chairman.

Considerable discussion ensued about the contested seats, pending which the Convention adjourned till to-morrow morning.—Telegraph to the Boston Times.

MASSACHUSETTS WHIG CONVENTION.—The nomination of Clifford and Huntington, for Gov. and Lt. Gov. was noticed in our telegraphic despatch yesterday morning. The Boston Courier (one of whose editors was a delegate) says:

"The Whig Convention at Worcester was one of the largest assemblages of the party that we have witnessed for a long time. The great leaders of other days where not there; but nevertheless there was a full representation of talent and intelligence in the Convention. The proceedings were characterized by unusual harmony—especially so in the matter of selecting a candidate for the office of Governor. This, however, was generally anticipated. The purity of Mr. Clifford's character, his large patriotism, his rare accomplishments and his unostentatious manners, all conspired to render him acceptable to all branches of the great Whig party. To us, the nomination is most acceptable; and it will receive our hearty, cordial and earnest support."

At the first ballot, 910 votes were cast, of which Mr. Clifford received 900, Myron Lawrence 8, Abbott Lawrence 1, Seth Sprague 1. Myron Lawrence we believe was the Webster candidate. This looks like a union or reunion of the Whig party in that state.

The convention fully endorsed the nominations of Scott and Graham, and selected a ticket of electors.

☞ A novel for the whole Union will be published soon, entitled "Northwood—Or Life North and South," showing the true character of both, by Mrs. Sarah J. Hale. It is to be published by Long & Brother, New York, and Redding & Co., Boston.

GREAT EMIGRATION.—During the month of July, the emigration by sea to San Francisco was nearly 9000! among which about 5000 are Chinese.

A GRAND BALL is to take place at the White Mountain Station House, Gorham, N. H., on Friday evening, Sept. 3. Among the managers we observe the names of J. S. Little and A. W. H. Clapp of Portland; A. M. Roberts and W. A. Blake of Bangor; Ichabod Goodwin of Portsmouth, &c., &c. We warrant to the fair participants, their partners and friends, who are present, a happy time.—Boston Courier.

CHOLERA IN RUSSIA.—Cholera is raging malignantly in Russia and Poland. All the schools in Warsaw, Scradz, and Kalish are closed. A panic has taken possession of the people. The crowding to the churches and places of pilgrimage has spread the disease. Four hundred and seventy-seven persons were attacked at Warsaw on the 9th of August, and one hundred and three died.

FOR AUSTRALIA.—The steamer Great Britain sailed from Halifax on Tuesday, for Australia, with a full complement of passengers and goods and treasure on board, to the value of nearly one million sterling.

The London Quarterly Review states, that during the last ten years the Roman Catholic church has lost two million converts.

COAL IN CALIFORNIA.—Several veins of coal have been discovered in this country, near the sea coast. The experiments which have been made, justify the belief that it will be esteemed above any imported coal. It is bituminous, is easily kindled, and blazes and burns briskly; gives little or no cinder, and leaves a fine ash. An experienced blacksmith having made several tests of the coal referred to, informs us that it is fully equal to the best coal he has ever used, for welding iron or fusing metals. We are unable to speak of the extent of the discovery, further than that there are four or five distinct seams or veins. Preparations are making by some of our citizens for a thorough exploration.—Los Angelos Star.

THE LAKE ERIE CATASTROPHE.—The following is the verdict of the jury in the case of the dead of the Atlantic:

"The Jurors aforesaid, find that De Grass McNeil the first mate of the propeller Ogdensburg, was on duty, and was on deck. That the night was calm and clear. That from his own evidence he saw the lights of the Atlantic when she was from three to four miles off and until the collision; that he saw the two boats approach each other, yet gave no orders to the wheelsman until within three or four rods of the Atlantic. Without determining whether there was carelessness or not on the part of those on duty on the Atlantic, the Jury would not faithfully discharge their duty, did they not find McNeil guilty of gross carelessness and a wicked disregard of human life. The Jurors aforesaid find that the diseased came to her death by means of such carelessness."

PROFITABLE MINING.—A letter from a miner to his brother in New York, dated Port Philip N. S. W., March 14, states that in five weeks time he had himself dug gold to the value of £3000 stg.

MARKETS.

Pork lower and very unsettled, closing at 19 50 a 19 75 for mess, and 17 50 a 17 62½ and even lower for prime—other kinds nominal. Beef in fair request. THE GOBLET OF LIFE.

BY LONGFELLOW.

Filled to the brim.
Filled to Life's Goblet to the brim;
And though my eyes with tears are dim,
I see its sparkling bubbles swim,
And catch a melancholy hymn
With a solemn voice and slow.

No purple flowers—no garlands green,
Conceal the goblet's shade or sheen,
Nor maddening draughts of Hippocrene,
Like gleams of sunshine, flash between
Thick leaves of mistletoe.

This goblet, wrought with curious art,
Is filled with waters, strong and apart—
Where the deep fountains of the heart,
By strong convulsions rent apart,
Are running all to waste.

And as it mantling passes round,
With fennel it is wreathed and crowned,
Whose seed and foliage sun embrowned,
Are in its waters steeped and drowned,
And give a bitter taste.

Above the lowly plant it towers,
The fennel with its yellow flowers,
And in an earlier age than ours
Was gifted with the wondrous powers,
Lost vision to restore.

It gave new strength and fearless mood;
And gladiators, fierce and rude,
Mingled it in their daily food;
And he who battled and subdued,
A wreath of fennel wore.

Then in Life's goblet freely press
The lees that give it bitterness;
Nor prize the colored waters less,
For in the darkness and distress,
New light and strength they give.

And he who has not learned to know
How false its sparkling bubbles show,
How bitter are the drops of woe,
Which from its brim may overflow—
He has not learned to live.

The prayer of Ajax was for light;
Through all that dark and desperate fight,
The blackness of that noonday night,
He asked but the return of sight,
To see his foeman face!

Let our unceasing earnest prayer
Be, too, for light—for strength to bear
Our portion of the weight of care,
That crushes into dumb despair
One half the human race.

O sufferer, sad humanity!
Oh ye afflicted ones, who lie
Steeped to the lips in misery,
Longing, and yet afraid to die,
Patient, though sorely tried!

I pledge you in this cup of grief,
Where floats the fennel's bitter leaf!
The battle of our Life is brief,
The alarm—the struggle—the relief—
Then sleep we side by side.

HEAVEN.

Heaven is in truth a glorious reality. Its attraction should be felt perpetually. It should overcome the force with which this world draws us to itself. Were there a country on earth uniting all that is beautiful in nature, all that is great in virtue, genius and the liberal acts, and numbering among its citizens the most illustrious patriots, poets, philanthropist of our age, how eagerly should we cross the ocean to visit it.

And how immeasurably greater are the attractions of Heaven! There live the elder brethren of creation, the sons of the morning, who sang for joy at the creation of our race; there the great and good of all ages and climes; the friends, benefactors, deliverers and ornaments of the race: the patriarch, prophet, apostle and martyr; the true heroes of public and still more of private life; the father, mother, wife, husband, child, who, unrecorded by man, have walked before God in the beauty of love and self-sacrificing virtue. There are all who have built up in our hearts the power of goodness and truth; the writers from whose pages we have received the inspiration of pure and lofty sentiments; the friends whose countenances have shed light through our hearts.

There they are gathered together, safe from every storm, triumphant over evil; and they say to us, "Come join us in our everlasting blessedness; come and bear a part in our song of praise; share our adoration, friendship, progress and works of love." They say to us, "Cherish now in your earthly life that spirit and virtue of Christ which is the beginning and dawn of Heaven, and we shall soon welcome you with more than human friendship, to our own immortality."—Channing.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY AT SEA.—By the arrival of the brig Dazzler, on Monday, a letter was received in this city, giving a brief description of a murder and its summary punishment, on board the British ship Siamenta, a passenger craft, now on her way from this port. The story is, in brief—One of the passengers requested another to pass him a cup or jug, and on his refusing to comply, presented a revolver and shot him dead. The murderer was at once seized by a number of the passengers, and in less than five minutes was dangling by the neck from the fore yard arm. —San Francisco Herald, July 22.

The Savannah Republican says there is an unusual degree of sickness in the interior of the State of Georgia. The seaboard is comparatively exempt, but in the up-country there is much fever of a typhoid type. With abundant crops in the South, says the Republican, there is sure to be a proportionate amount of sickness. The meteorological conditions which produce the most abundant harvests, are precisely those which are accompanied with extraordinary exhibitions of disease.

They are now beginning to make steamboats abroad without chimneys. This, it is said, can be done in all boats using hard coal under the furnace.

There are, in the United States, eighty-one women holding the office of Postmaster; thirty-one of whom are in the state of Pennsylvania. Some of these are important offices.

A STREET SCENE.

The other day, as I came down Broome street, I saw a street musician, playing near the window of a genteel dwelling. The organ was uncommonly sweet and mellow, and its tunes, were slow and plaintive, and I fancied that I saw in the woman's Italian face an expression that indicated sufficient refinement to prefer the tender and melancholy, to the lively "trainer tunes," in vogue with the populace. She looked like one who had suffered much, and the sorrowful music seemed her own appropriate voice. A little girl clung to her scanty garments, as if afraid of all things but her mother. As I looked at them, a young lady of pleasing countenance opened the window, and began to sing like a bird in keeping with the organ. Two other young girls came and leaned on her shoulder; and still she sang on. Blessings on her gentle heart. It was evidently the spontaneous gush of human love and sympathy.

The beauty of the incident attracted attention. A group of gentlemen gradually gathered round the organist: and over as the tune ended, they bowed respectfully towards the window, waved their hats and called out, "More if you please!" One whom I knew well for the kindest and truest soul, passed round his hat; hearts were kindled and silver fell in freely. In a minute, four or five dollars were collected for the poor woman. She spoke no words of gratitude, but she gave such a look!—"Will you go to the next street and play to a friend of mine?" said my kind friend. She answered in tones expressing the deepest emotion, "No sir, God bless you all, God bless you all," (she stept back and stood sheltered by the curtain of the window) "I will go home now." The tears trickled down her cheeks, and as she walked away, she ever and anon wiped her eyes with the corner of her shawl.

The group of gentleman lingered a moment to look after her, then turning to the now closed window, they gave three enthusiastic cheers and departed better than they came. The pavement on which they stood had been a church to them; and for the next hour at least, their hearts were more than usually prepared for deeds of gentleness and mercy. Why are such scenes so uncommon? why do we thus repress our sympathies, and chill the gentle current of nature, by formal observances and restraints?—Mrs. Child.

PORTSMOUTH:

POSTAGE.

"Newspapers, periodicals, and all printed matter not exceeding three ounces in weight, shall be sent to any part of the United States for one cent, and for every additional ounce or fraction of an ounce one cent; and where the postage is paid quarterly or regularly in advance, either at the office where the said newspaper or periodical is ma led or delivered, one-half of said rates only shall be charged.—Newspapers not weighing over one ounce and a half, when circulated in the State where published, shall be charged one-half of the rates before named: Provided, That small newspapers, published monthly or oftener, when sent in packages to one address, and prepared by affixing stamps thereto, shall be chargeable at half a cent for each ounce or fraction of an ounce. The postage on all transient matter shall be prepaid, or shall be charged double the foregoing rates."

Newspapers, papers and pamphlets of not more than 16 pages, 8vo., in packages of not less than eight ounces to one address, to be charged half a cent an ounce, though calculated by separate pieces the postage may amount to more.

Books, bound or unbound of not more than four pounds each, one cent per ounce, under three thousand miles, and two cents over that distance. Fifty per cent, to be added where not prepaid.

Bills for newspapers, and receipts for payments of moneys therefor, may be inclosed in subscribers' papers.

Exchanges between newspaper publishers free.

Newspapers, &c., to be so enclosed that the character can be determined without removing the wrapper—to have nothing written or printed on the paper or wrapper beyond the direction, and to contain no enclosure other than the bills or receipts mentioned.

Some of these provisions are real improvements. But several of the restrictions are useless; for example that about the weight of a book. If a four pound book may go by mail, why not a forty pounder? at the same rate of one cent per ounce. Again, a small paper may go to the State line, for half the price of a great one, which is right:—but if it goes over the line it pays the same price, which is absurd. The words "when circulated in the State where published," should have been struck out. Perhaps they will be, at the next session.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The "Revue des Deux Mondes," for July and August, (say the papers, for we do not receive the Review,) contains some curious articles comparing the religious condition of our country with that of Europe, and also comparing our sects at home, one with another.—Some of these matters will raise a smile on the gravest faces among our churchmen and clergymen.

Here is one of them:—"The United States in 1852" is the title of an ingenious but somewhat fanciful article by Emile Montegut. In his speculation upon the religious tendencies of our people, he says that "the Unitarians have absorbed other sects in the United States, and the Universalists are now absorbing the Unitarians."

Let the reader keep his countenance if he can, at this great case of historical accuracy.

There is another item not a whit inferior to it, either in importance or accuracy. We quote from memory, not having the extract before us, but we are sure of the import of it. The writer says in substance, "The Unitarians are the principal and most numerous sect;" and again, "The Unitarian belief is established and uniform only on one point, viz: that they all believe fully in the Deity of Jesus Christ, but consider all other doctrins of christianity as mere myths."

We give these items, not as mere matters of curiosity, though they are sufficiently curious to merit insertion on that account. But we introduce them chiefly as suggestive of this thought: If an intelligent and educated Frenchman can so grossly mistake and mistake our religious affairs, as in these specimens, then it is quite possible that we shoot wide of the mark when we aim to be very accurate and learned in European political and religious systems.

SABBATH SERVICES.—Rev. Mr. Barber will preach at the Universalist Church to-morrow.

Rev. Lyman Beecher, D. D., is to preach at the North Church to-morrow. Also for the nine Sabbaths following.

The 'oldest inhabitant' of Monmouth, England, died recently, at the patriarchal age of 104. Just before her death she was very anxious to see a new life boat, just invented. She certainly had no reason to complain of her own.

POLITICAL CONVENTIONS.

These are now of daily occurrence in one quarter or another.

Yesterday there was to be, and we presume there actually was, a great Democratic Convention for Maine, at Augusta.

A despatch from Trenton, New Jersey, dated on Thursday, speaks thus of the New Jersey, Whig Convention, "The Whig State Convention which met here this morning, is unusually large—much larger than was anticipated by the most sanguine. Judge Hornblower is president. The resolutions were adopted unanimously."

In Philadelphia, on Thursday, we learn, that "Great preparations were made by the Democracy of the city, for attending the Reading Democratic mass meeting, on Saturday. Governors Lowe of Maryland, and Bigler of Pennsylvania, and Senators Douglass and Cass are to be present."

By a Washington dispatch of Thursday we have the conclusion of the doings at the Whig meeting on Wednesday. It was addressed by Hon. Charles F. Morehead of Kentucky, Andrew Stewart of Pennsylvania, Samuel Chelton of Virginia, and Col. Seaver of Louisiana. The latter gentleman was very enthusiastic, and was applauded by the immense assemblage.

WEATHER, CROPS AND FRESHET.

Wet.—Farmers around Norfolk, Va., are sadly depressed in spirits in consequence of the loss they will necessarily sustain from the past wet weather, their corn crop being very much injured.

Hogs and Corn.—The Brownston (Indiana) Democrat of the 22d ult. says:—"Stock hogs are selling at $4 per hundred for light, and as high as $5 for heavy. Corn crops in this vicinity are good, and many fields will produce 80 bushels to the acre, but throughout the state there will be a falling off of one-fourth the usual yield. Some fields have been sold for $14 per acre."

Freshet.—Accounts from Atalanta, Ga., represent the late freshet as being quite disastrous. Both bridges across the Savannah river were carried off, as were also the coast bridges, with but one exception. The water was four feet deep in Broad street, and two dwellings were swept away, causing the loss of several lives. The cars could not approach Atalanta to within the distance of one mile, and the mails had to be transported to the post office in boats. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000. The accounts from Upper Georgia are not so bad as was at first anticipated. At Augusta the water was falling. The bridge is nearly gone.

BONBONS.

When Saul and Jonathan marched through the wooded wilderness of Beth-aven with the armies of Israel, the honey dropped as the people marched along under the trees; but Saul had foolishly bound the people by a curse to fast all that day. Jonathan, however, did not hear the curse, and so he reached forth his rod or spear, dipped it in an honeycomb and tasted the honey; by which his eyes were enlightened.

We don't believe the nice bonbons that now enlighten our eyes and set our pen in motion, dropped from the trees, but must have fallen from some paradise of delights—and for aught we know they may be the fabled ambrosia on which the fabled divinities used to feel.

Jonathan by his honey was so enlightened and invigorated as to gain a great victory—and he was justly indignant that a foolish edict kept back all the people from a feast of the same honey, which seemed to him a gift of heaven—and the people in their turn saved his life when Saul would have killed him for this disobedience.

Now we know all the children, and all those "children of a larger growth" who have a sweet tooth, will join together on our side to keep us from danger, when we have told them that Mr. J. Haven Thatcher dispenses bonbons as much better than honey, as a house is better than a pine tree, or a broadcloth coat better than a sheep skin.

We have written thus far with one hand while we have been gathering up with the other Apricot Glacee, Creme de Chocolat, Chocolate Drops, Trucadoros, and more of other names than we care about writing in a summer afternoon. And were it not that Mr. Thacher's advertisement assures the public he has "more left" of all these sorts, and scores beside, we might doubt whether the generosity of the trader had not transferred his stock to our premises.

ANDOVER THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.—The anniversary occurred on Wednesday. There were fifteen of the graduating class. The decease of Professors Stuart and Edwards, was properly considered. Professor Stowe, late of Bowdoin College, was inducted into his office, Professor of Biblical and Sacred Literature.

NEW YORK.—In the New York Democratic State Convention, at Syracuse, Mr. Horatio Seymour, of the "Hunker" party, has been nominated for Governor, after two ballots.

The Boston Mail says that Tom Corwin chews a pound of tobacco per day. Wonder if he spits upon the platform?—Lowell Advertiser.

MORE PARIS GOSSIP.

Yesterday we gave an article on Louis Napoleon's disappointment and defeat in regard to his marriage, and supposed the well known baseness of his character might be the reason why the lady's "papa" inte pos d his veto between the parties. Now we perceive that a letter from Paris says, "I am assured, rom a good source, that the marriage of the President is positively broken off, and that the rupture is owing to the intervention of Austria. The arrangements for the marriage were so far advanced that Miss Howard had actua ly left the apartments that she occupied in the house of the President's Private Secretary, M. Mocquart, and was about to start for England. The marriage being countermanded, the lady has returned to her former home."

This, if true, is much more like a reason of State, a European, Court-like reason; but far less creditable than the one which we assigned in the excess of our charity. We are sorry to take it back; but absolute truth, ever so unpleasant, is better than fanciful theory without a basis of fact.

LOPEZ'S FUNERAL.—At New Orleans on Thursday, there was a grand funeral procession in honor of Gen. Lopez and the Cuban victims. The design of this honorable funeral is not only to honor those who have died already in efforts to revolutionize Cuba,—but also to induce fresh victims to come forward and make provision for more honors of the same kind, at the close of another expedition.

A SERMON AGAINST A LAW.—The Boston Morning Chronicle informs us, "that on the morning of the first Sabbath in August, Dr. Blagden preached a sermon to his congregation upon the "Maine Law of Masanachusetts." It was in opposition to the Law, on the ground that its spirit is not the gospel—its principles are dangerous—it makes Jesus Christ unrighteous—and will make men worse and not better."

Rev. Dr. Blagden is pastor of the Old South Church in Boston. The Chronicle promices a review of the Sermon, to-day.

The first bale of new cotton received at Boston arrived on Thursday, in the brig Wahsega, from Galveston, consigned to Pierce & Bacon. The quality is good middling.

GREAT TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.—Pittsburg, (Pa.) Aug. 2.—A most enthusiastic demonstration was made to-day by the Sons of Temperance. About 1500 persons from all parts of the Country marched in procession to Masonic Hall. A platform was adopted, disclaiming all intentions of mingling in the strife of political parties, but expressing a determination in the coming election, to vote for no State Senator or Representative who does not pledge himself in favor of the enactment of a law for the prohibition of intoxicatting drinks. The city presented quite a gala day appearance, the procession being one of the most tasteful and effective ever got up in this city. The ceremonies ended to-night by a grand banquet, attended by the beauty and fashion of the city.

MAN MISSING.—Charles M. Stevens, of this city, about 19 years of age, is reported as having been missing from his boarding house since about 6 o'clock Monday evening, and it is feared that he has made way with himself. We learn that Stevens was a victim of love. He had been expecting to get married, and had gone so far as to procure the license, when the lady changed her mind and refused him. On Sunday he was found suffering under the effects of a narcotic, but by the aid of a physician he was relieved, saying however, that the next dose should be large enough.—On Monday morning, however, he surprised his friends by regular deportment which continued throughout the day. At tea he settled his board bill and went out, since which time no trace can be had of him. His family resides in New Hamshire, and a messenger has been dispatched thence to ascertain if he has not gone there; but it is generally believed he has committad suicide.—Lowell News.

A SURVIVOR OF THE WRECK.— here is in Detroit, a young English lady, who was a passenger on the ill-fated Atlantic, in company with a twin broth r, a brother-in-law, and two nieces. All but she were lost! She escaped but with her night clothes, and is destitute, with not even an acquaintance on this side of the Atlantic. Her immediate wants have been supplied, and she is the guest of a hospitable resident of Detroit. Her name is Ida Williams.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.—The Springfield, Mass., Republican, says that on Saturday last, William Spring, aged 19 years, son of Milo Spring of Southwick, was accidentally shot through the heart with a pistol in the hands of his brother, and died instantly.

CAPTURE OF A WILD GIRL.—The Cincinnati Commercial states that a wild girl was captured last week in the woods back of Columbia. She was first observ ed climbing trees with a rapidity only equalled by a monkey.—Capt. McCullough, with a large party went out to capture the singular being, and after great trouble succeeded in doing so; when they learned from her incoherent expressions that she had been a lunatic in the Asylum at Columbus, whence she escaped some months since, and had lived in the woods, subsisting upon nuts and roots.

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC in this city appears to be pretty effectually stopped; even the licensed apothecaries hesitate to sell it as a medicine to their best friends, nd refer them to the "City Store." As yet the business of the agent is not absolutely overwhelming, still there ar calls enough there, for liquor "as a medicine," to lead one to suppose that Cholera morbus and dysentery are assuming an epidemic form into the good city of Worcester.—Worcester Spy.

GOLD FROM AUSTRALIA.—The ship Prince of Wales, has arrived at Plymouth, Eng. with 35,000 ounces of gold, and dates from Sydney to the 9th of May.

From tables published by the Sydney Morning Herald, the total produce of the Australian Colonies in the twelve months since the first discovery, amounts to 1,124,415 ounces, worth over $20,000,000.

The last quotation of gold at Sydney was 64 shillings per ounce. Flour, tea, coffee, rice, spirit and beer, were in request. The scarcity of laborers was increasing.

MINERS BURIED.—On the 20th inst., two men, named Canty and Maher, while at work in a coal mine at Plaun Pitt, on the Portage railroad, in Pennsylvania, were completely imprisoned by the caving in of the chamber over their heads. Their perilous condition soon became known to their fellow workmen, who went immediately to work in removing a large mass of slate and earth that closed the passage. By assiduous exertion, from Friday evening at seven o'clock to 2 o'clock on Saturday, working vigorously, two at a time, in the narrow passage, they succeeded in extricating their companions from their confinement. The earth was not so compact as to prevent the circulation of air, and the men were apprized during their confinement of the efforts of their deliverers.

LUNATICS AT WASHINGTON.—To enable the Secretary of the Interior, under the direction of the President of the United States, to purchase a site containing not less than ten nor more than fifteen acres of land, in the neighborhood of Washington, and for the erection, furnishing, and fitting up an Asylum for the Insane of the District of Columbia and of the Army and Navy of the United States, an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars has been inserted by the Senate in the civil appropriation bill, without a dissenting voice, we believe—an act most honorable to the humanity and liberality of that elevated body.—National Intelligencer.

MORTALITY AMONG SOLDIERS.

Serious complaints are made in the Panama Herald, against the officers of the U. S. Army, who were attached to the troops which lately crossed the Isthmus. We have not room for all the article, but give a few extracts.

"The troops reached Navy Bay in good health and without the loss of a single man! Before leaving the steamer Falcon, at Navy Bay, four days provisions were prepared for each soldier by the officers of the steamer, and these rations were served out for their sustenance on the Isthmus.

On their way over the Isthmus the hardships and troubles of these poor soldiers commenced. Deserted, as we believe, by every commissioned officer, and left alone in command of the non-commissioned officers, it is no wonder that they gave way to every species of indulgence. The rations which had been prepared at Navy Bay were either thrown or given away, or sold for liquor,by those who were too lazy or too feeble to carry them on the road.

Captain Patterson, of the Golden Gate, and his officers and the surgeon of the ship, were assiduous in their attention to the sick on board and at the Island, while the soldiers were almost wholly deserted by their officers. The acknowledged mortality was fearful in the extreme. One hundred are said to have died out of the seven hundred enlisted in New York! Only one of the commissioned officers died. While seven per cent. of the poor soldiers lost their lives—only one per cent. among the officers laid their bones in this place.

The officers and their wives came over in the usual time on mules, in good health and condition. Even the regimental quartermaster, Capt. Grant, could not tarry to attend to his duty, but must come through and await the arrival of the troops on this side! Many of these troops came in, three days or more after leaving Cruces, wet and almost famished, having had nothing to eat for twenty-four hours, but probably plenty to drink. It may be said it was their own fault; so it was; still had the officers remained at their posts they could have kept them in order and prevented their running into such excesses, but this the sequel will show they had no desire to do."

There must be another side to this story.

NOTICE TO BUILDERS AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of our finest buildings are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and narrow contracted, leaden goose-necks, or what is still worse a skewangle continuation of the upright conductor with which the cornice is adorned—all of which may be remedied by application to

J. E. CHAPMAN,

EMBARRASING, VERY.—The exclamation of Dick Swiveller when he discovered that the "Marchioness" had disposed of his clothes during his illness, and that he was left without even an umbrella in case of a fire, is familiar to our readers. Not less awkward was the predicament in which Mr. Jones was placed, the morning after his marriage, when on his way to Niagara, with his blooming bride. That gentleman was exceedingly cautious, and ever evinced the greatest dread both of fires and robbers. Having stopped for the night at one of the principal hotels in Washington, he charged his wife before she retired, to "leave nothing about," and carefully deposited his own inexpressibles, the pockets of which contained his valuables, (including the door key, which he had prudently withdrawn,) in his new trunk with a patent lock. As he intended to take the early train at six o'clock, he awoke betimes, but to his dismay discovered that he had neglected to remove the keys from his pockets, and that they were within the trunk, which closed with a spring. This was sufficiently provoking, but to add to his perplexity, Mrs. J., in her anxiety to "obey" literally the injunctions of her husband, had placed her own garments in her trunk, and given him the keys for safe keeping, which he had secured with his own.

It was not until after repeated knocks at the door, and when the cars were far on their way, that Jones could summon resolution to reveal the cause of his tardiness. The chambermaid, with an extra key, relieved him from his imprisonment, but the attendance of a locksmith was necessary to procure the pair presentable suits.

The recollection of that day's involuntary detention never fails to elict from Jones a hearty anathema against all new fangled notions in the way of trunk locks, which he classes with man traps and other devices of the enemy.—Journal of Commerce.

DEATHS IN THE GRANITE STATE.—We learn that six coffins came down in one train over the Lowell and Nashua Railroad, directed to different persons in different places—two of which were left in this city. From the manner in which they were put up it was apparent that they all came from one place—being covered with sacking. It is supposed some sad and fatal accident must have occurred to some party having gone up there—so far from anywhere that the accounts have never reached the newspapers. We have heard it hinted that although these coffins might have contained dead bodies, yet appearances indicated that the spirits still remained.—Lowell News.

Among the Fall River baggage which arrived at the Camp Meeting grounds on Martha's Vineyard, was a box marked "Agawam." No one happening to call for it, and the baggage master smelling something, opened it, and found the "critter" ensconed in two demijohns. Shortly afterwards two gentlemen were observed in anxious search for a box, which they said contained surveying instruments, but upon hearing of the demijohns, they appeared rather taken, and vamoosed.—The demijohns were accordingly seized, and destroyed amid the shouts of the people.

LITERARY EXCHANGE—The Faculty 'Sold.' A short time since a large and heavy box was received at Brunswick by railroad from Augusta directed to President Woods of Bowdoin College. The latter rejoicing in the anticipation of a large and splendid donation of the fruits of the midnight oil to the alcoves of the already beautiful college library, caused the box to be opened, when there was disclosed the chapel bell of Waterville College with a polite note to President Woods from the quasi Faculty of Waterville, stating that highly approving of the system of International Exchanges, projected by Mons. Vattemare, they thought the scheme might be productive of genial results if brought into exercise between sister colleges, and acting upon this suggestion they had sent their chapel bell which they hoped President Woods would accept as a token of their regard, and in return, trusted he would send them the chapel bell of Bowdoin.

The joke was decidedly too heavy to take, and the box was headed up with its contents to be returned to Waterville. But as it remained at the depot awaiting transportation, the Bowdoin boys, as is easily supposed, spirited it away, and perhaps ere this it has safely arrived at Harvard, Yale, or some other University. Meantime the "passing bell" wrings sad moisture from the eyes of Waterville's grave Faculty, who, to supply the loss of the accustomed signal, and to console their own spirits, are no doubt obliged to "take a horn."—Bangor Mercury.

PROFESSIONAL COURTESIES.—Happening to be in a Justice Court, this morning, we heard the following interchange of civilities between contending counsel. Says Mr. H., "Now Mr. U. if you are a gentleman, you will agree to my proposition." Mr. U. replied. "I am no gentleman; I forfeited all claim to that title when I consented to try a case with you!" The prevailing impression among the spectators was that Mr. U. had the best of the joke, any way!—Burlington (Vt.) Free Press, 29th.

The spirits are getting very mischievous in Willoughby. Last week they tipped over a table which a medium was ironing on, some two or three times, and finally broke it. Tables and chairs follow her all about the house. A table was moved from one room into another while two men were sitting upon it!—Strange things are yet to happen. So say the spirits.—Painesville Telegraph.

GRADES.

Grades in society exist—the high and the low, the rich and the poor, the noble and the ignoble, the bond and the free. Some of these distinctions are natural, and some artificial.—Some may be said to be necessary, and others unnecessary or even criminally wrong. But they exist, and cannot be winked out of sight or safely disregarded in practical life.

So there are grades in intellect. Somebody has brought out the idea that Genius is nothing but Industry;—but it is doubtful whether Laurie Todd or Wm. Cobbett could ever have written the Sketch Book or Knickerbocker's New York; though Todd and Cobbett are both able writers in their way, and quite as industrious as Irving. Not to settle this point too nicely however, but rather to turn it, as our army did the Mexican forts, we will remark that whether genius and thought be natural or acquired, it is quite certain that all men's intellects are not exactly on one level. And if we disregard this fact, we shall incessantly run into error, whether we try to learn or teach.

So also there are grades on the ground.—Some spots of earth are mud holes; others rocks and hills—plains, prairies, savannas, and intervales. The rules that would apply finely in building a city on a hill, might be most absurd in their operation on a city like St. Petersburg, built in a marsh. But there are some general rules that will apply to all cities, all places where one man builds his house near the house of another. One of these is, that every man may build his house and lay out his ground as he pleases, provided always that in seeking his own pleasure he does not destroy that of his neighbor. On this plain principle almost all city rules of building are founded—and as a general principle nothing can be safer than this extract from the spirit of the golden rule.

Another general rule relates to drainage.—This general rule, is that water will run down hill; and consequent upon this is a minor rule, that we ought not to stop its progress. But the application of these rules to particular places must vary, according to the differences of soil and locality.

For example, in such cities as New York and Salem, where the land is graded by nature, drainage is comparatively a simple affair; and a little attention will place the buildings as they ought to be in regard to relative elevation. But in Boston and Portsmouth, both of which are built on spots of earth roughhewn but not smoothed off by nature, it is needful to take more care how we get the water into our houses or grounds, and how we get it out again.

Portsmouth is built on a piece of ground which was partly composed of little ledgy hills, and most of the remainder was a collection of little alder swamps. The early settlers built as they pleased; and we have been cutting and filling, (as the railroad men say) these two hundred years. Very much of this labor, especially in the streets, might have been saved, if we had enjoyed some good engineering long ago, aided by the powers of a city government. Now we have the latter; and are in a condition to profit by the former. We believe our Street Commissioner and City Councils have done as well as possible with moderate means and a limited plan, during the time they have borne sway in these matters; but the purpose of this article is to suggest the propriety of a system of grading and drainage which shall embrace all the ground between the two mill ponds, and all the compact parts of the city. By proper engineering, beginning with a base line at the level of the tide, and ending on our highest lands, we may regulate the proper level of every new cellar, drain, door-way and side walk, so that the sills of the old houses shall not be buried in the earth, nor the beautiful gardens and fine trees drowned out by floods of water stagnated by filling up improperly, and at the same time neglecting seasonable drainage.

THE HOMESTEAD LAW.

By a despatch which we published on Saturday morning, it appears that Gen. Cass avowed himself in favor of the Homestead Law.—From previous accounts it appears that John P. Hale was also in favor of the measure, Senator Atchison also expressed his willingness to help get up the bill on certain conditions. Mr. Webster gave the principle of the Homestead Bill his decided approval, in a speech made just before he left the Senate.

We make mention of these men's names in this connection to show that no one party is responsible for it, and that it ought not to fall under the ban of any party; and we deem this a fit occasion to say that our own opinion is favorable to the general principle of the Homestead Bill in Congress,—and of the bills by the same name proposed in many of the States, and adopted in several of them.

We hope to see the Homestead Bill revived in the next session at Wasington, and passed through Congress into a Law before next March.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—On Saturday forenoon, as the train for Concord was about starting from the depot in Portsmouth, a little boy of five years, named Joseph Gadeas, son of William Gadeas, who had clambered on the engine unseen by the engineer, fell off and was run over, having both thighs cut off, and being otherwise so mangled, that he lived only three hours after the accident.

We hope this sad case will operate as it should for a warning to children and youths to keep away from the imminent danders of railroad trains and tracks. The little deceased boy was one of a pair of twin boys. The other was at play with him round the engine when the accident occurred.

A GREAT DAY FOR SHIP NEWS.—The southerly winds for two or three successive days, brought many vessels into Boston. On Friday, says the Daily Advertiser, there arrived 4 steamers, 2 ships, 18 barks, 62 brigs, and upwards of 60 schooners, exclusive of vessels with wood, lime, &c. and many small craft, making in all upwards of 145 vessels, of which 82 were square rigged. Of that number 1 steamer, 8 barks, 16 brigs and 3 schooners were from foreign ports. At sunset, a bark and nine brigs were below, inward bound. It is thought to be the largest number of arrivals at that port in one day.

TOO CHEAP.—The Philadelphians complain of the reduction of omnibus fare to three cents, which has had the effect, they say, of reducing the comfort and the respectability of the passengers in the same ratio with the price.—Boston Courier.

If that is all, there is a very plain remedy. Get up a respectable line of omnibuses at six cents—have it labelled with the price, and there will be room enough for "comfort."

The milkmen of Worcester have combined to sell milk by beer measure, in consequence of the scarcity of hay. There is considerable excitement about the matter.—Boston Chronicle.

What can this mean? Milk has always been sold by beer measure hereabouts; and if it had been sold by wine measure, the change to the beer quart would make the measure larger, not smaller.

A New Englander, writing from Michigan to the Hampshire (Mass.) Gazette, says:

"Will you please to inquire of our good old Father, New England, what he says to giving all his boys and girls, throughout the land, but in these Western States in particular, an invitation to come home some time next year, and have a great family meeting? A good many of us, who left the old homestead some ten, fifteen or twenty years ago, would like to go back and see how things go on."

CHINESE THIEVES.—The expertness o thieves in China is well known: but occasionally they give the outside barbarians some touches of their quality, more astonishing than agreeable. The ship Reliance, of Boston, while lying in the river at Whampoa, had sixty-eight sheets of copper stolen from her bottom below the water line, at such a distance that the theft would not be easily noticed.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The express train South, on Thursday forenoon, while passing from single to double track, near Windsor, between Springfield and Hartford was thrown from the rails by the giving away of the switch. The cars were at a high rate of speed, and the consequence was a very sad wreck.—The engine was buried in the sand and broken, and the two baggage cars were broken to pieces. The passenger cars proceeded under the lead of another engine. The baggage master, Sumner Clark, had a leg broken, but is doing well. An employee of the company named Collins, was also considerably hurt.—A news boy is said to have been hurt.

On Thursday evening, an Irishman named Daniel Cox, while drinking a glass of the "ardent," in a grog shop, in the vicinity of South Boston bridge, was robbed of his pocket-book containing $18 in money; the theif cutting the pocket which contained the money, entirely out.

FROM WASHINGTON.—The Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce says no serious effort was made to take up the French Spoliation Bill in the House. There was much bad management in that matter.—Perhaps the claimants will do better next session. It is their expectation that it will pass before the third of March.

Mr. Webster was at the Capitol with the President yesterday morning, while the nominations were pending. His autumnal catarrh came upon him yesterday. He will soon go home, but not to resign.

NAVAL.—U. S. sloop of war Portsmouth, comm'r. T. A. Dornin, last from Guayoquil, remained at Panama on the 17th ult.

U. S. frigate Congress was at Montevedio July 4. The sloop of war Jamestown arrived on the 4th.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH AND BURIAL.—New York Sept. 3.—The death of Miss Laura Addison, a young and beautiful actress, recently from England, was chronicled in the morning papers. As there seemed to be some mystery connected with the affair, her friends insisted on having a post mortem examination, but when the coroner arrived at the house this morning, he was informed that the body had been interred last evening, against the earnest remonstrance of the sister of the deceased.—The object of the parties being evidently to prevent an examination, the body will be exhumed to-morrow.

WHIG CONVENTION IN NEW JERSEY.—Trenton N. J., Sept. 2.—After the adjournment of the Whig State Convention, the Whigs held a large and enthusiastic Mass Meeting in Moses' Woods, in the suburbs of this city.—The meeting was organized by appointing Ex-Governor Pennington Chairman, and selecting the requisite number of Vice Presidents. There were nearly 5000 persons present,—some estimate the number higher; and the best of feeling prevailed.

PHILADELPHIA—Sept. 2.—The foreign news has unsettled our markets. Plenty of Flour and Grain is offering, but buyers stand alof.

WEBSTER MEETING.—Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—A Webster meeting was held in Wilmington, N. C., on the 1st inst. There were not over one hundred and fifty persons present, and a number of them were attracted through mere curiosity.

MACKEREL AND MACKEREL SHARKS.—Our harbor has been swarming with mackerel for some days past, and large quantities have been taken at the wharves and bridges. Following in the trail of the mackerel are a voracious and troublesome fish, called the mackerel shark. Several of these little sharks have been taken within a few days at or near the wharves; and bathers should be on the look out for them, as their bite, though not as dangerous as the common shark's, would by no means be a pleasant affair.—Boston Journal.

COLLISION ON THE SOUND. We learn that the steamer Bay State on her passage from New York, on Friday evening, was run into by an unknown vessel which stove in her bulwarks near the wheel house. The shock caused much consternation among her passengers, but the damage was not very serious. The vessel which run into the Bay State lost her bow-sprit and jib-boon.

GET OUT OF THE WAY!—A worshipper of Bacchus, passing over the Common, found the malls quite too narrow, and after several literal movements, brought up suddenly against one of the pumps. "You blackhead!" said he, shaking his fist pugnaciously at the pump, "can't you go along the walk, without running again a body?"—Journal.

Hudson, the celebrated railroad king, who was disgraced a few years ago, in England, for his bad railroad practices, is up and on his feet again. He is in full blast, once more exercising a powerful railroad influence, and is elected a member of Parliament for Sunderand.

Ossian E. Dodge, editor of the Literary Museum, offers a prize of $300 for the best story, to be sent to him by the 15th of October; the story is to occupy about 100 pages of manuscript.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE.—The prospects fa the College for the ensuing year, are very promising, so far as numbers are concerned. There were sixty freshmen on the ground on Monday to commence the term, and several others were expected, having been examined and admitted. Thirteen have entered the first class of the Chandler School of Science nd Useful Arts.

DUEL.—A duel was fought yesterday morning, at the Toll-House, New Jersey, between Capt. Stowe, of Santa Fe, and Mr. Townley, of New Bedford. Two shots were exchanged and both parties slightly wounded.

Jonathan Starr, Esq., one of the oldest citizens of New London, and President of the Union Bank, died on Tuesday.

The Gen. Wilson who was rejected by the Senate as California Land Commissioner, was a Connecticut man, and not Gen. James Wilson of New Hampshire.

Mr. H. F. Talbot, inventor of photography on paper, has made his invention a free present to the public, although thirteen years of his patent yet remain unexpired.

One night last week, some rogue by the introduction of gunpowder, blew in pieces the iron safe of the Saco Depot—and got three hundred coppers for his pains.

Rev. George P. Smith, pastor of the old South church and Society, in Worcester, Mass., died in Salem on Friday afternoon. He had been sick some days with typhoid fever. Mr. Smith was universally esteemed in Worcester, and his death will be a sad loss to his Church and society.

DEATHS ON SHIPBOARD.—We learn by an arrival here from Jamaica that the bark George Henry, from Navy Bay, was at Savannah le Mar about the middle of August, with captain, mate, and part of the crew dead. The American Consul had obtained a mate and crew at Kingston, and the G. H. would sail soon for New York.

IMPORTANCE OF A SINGLE VOTE.—The Whig Senator from Beaufort and Hyde is elected to the Legislature by one vote. The Democratic Senator from Camden and Currituck, if elected at all, received the same majority.—Raleigh N. C., Star.

A MAMMOTH CUNARD STEAMER.—A late letter from Liverpool says that Messrs. Burns have contracted with Wm. Denny & Brothers, of Dumbarton, to build the new steamship for the Cunard Company. The steamship is to be of iron—upwards of 3000 tons burthen, and 50 feet longer than the Great Britain. The engines (paddle wheel) are to be constructed by Napier, equal for ordinary duty to 1000 horse power. She will cost upwards of £100,000.

SHIPWRECK AND LOSS OF LIFE.—Bark Ho lander, Capt. Collegan, arrived at Boston on Friday from Calcutta, reports that on the 15th of May he fell in with a dismasted brig, which proved to be the Shain Shaw, belonging to and manned by natives from Madras, laden with salt and bound to Chittagon, in a leaky condition. The sea was running heavy and the gale was strong. The Hollander laid by the wreck three hours, when a boat put off and came alongside with six natives; two remained on board; the remainder proceeded back to the brig for the balance of the crew, and returned again with eleven natives in the boat, and a few articles of clothing. Eight remained on board the bark from the last boat, and three started for the balance of the crew. After proceeding a short distance, midway between the bark and brig, the boat shipped a sea and filled. Capt. Collegan bent on a life buoy to the deep sea line and other small lines to reach them All exertion was without effect. Night coming on, he hoisted a light and laid by the brig, which also displayed a light. The brig's light disappeared at 11 P. M., and in the morning nothing was to be seen of her, nor any signs of drift stuff. There were seven men left on the brig. The ten who were rescued were landed at Mauritius.

MARRIAGE IN A CAVE.—The Schoharie Patriot says that on the 18th inst., Mr. Peter House and Miss Jerusha C. Flint were married by Rev. Mr. Wells, in Washington Hall, in Howe's Cave, at 10 o'clock at night.—Rather a romantic wedding. Those who have visited Howe's Cave will remember that Washington Hall is about 300 feet from the entrance—a splendid room about 100 feet in length, 30 in width and 50 in height. From the entrance the floor rises on each side in the form of an amphitheatre, On the north side is a spacious recess with two lofty gothic arches, in one of which is a statue of Gen. Washington, a magnificient stalactite, standing out in bold relief. The passage to the Hall is ample, the path smooth and dry.

It is announced that the Ohio River, which has been so low as to be confined to its bed, has got up again and is now running about as usual, with no immediate danger of a relapse.

Steamboat Explosion—Great Loss of Life!

BOSTON, Sept. 5.

The steamer Reindeer left New York at 8 P. M. on Saturday, and arrived at Malden, Saugerties landing, at 1-4 past one o'clock.—She had landed the passengers, and was having her gang-plank drawn in, when the pipe which connects the flues burst.

The steam rushed out between decks, tearing out a temporary bulk-head, and passed through into the lower cabin. Every person there was either killed or badly injured.

The steam also rushed up the chimney, carrying away the smoke-pipe, which fell across the hurricane deck, breaking it down. The engineer and cook were badly injured. There were seven killed, and between thirty and forty more or less scalded, some of whom are not expected to recover.

Later From California!

ARRIVAL OF THE DAN'L WEBSTER.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 4th.

The steamship Daniel Webster arrived here to-day from San Juan, with eleven days later intelligence from San Francisco.

The Ship Staffordshire Safe!

The most cheering intelligence by this arrival is the announcement of the safety of the clipper ship Staffordshire, which had arrived at San Francisco after a passage of one hundred days from Boston.

Respect to Henry Clay!

Magnificent Funeral Obsequies in honor of Henry Clay had taken place at San Francisco. Five hundred Chinese were in the procession.

Fatal Duel.

The Hon. Edward Gilbert was killed in a duel with General Deaver, at San Francisco.

Arrival of Frigate St. Lawrence.

THE MONK OF LA TRAPPE A MURDERER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—A correspondent of the Milwaukie Sentinel states that Father Leahey, the Monk of La Trappe, well known as a lecturer against the Catholic religion, killed a man named Manley, at Pardeeville, Wisconsin, in court, where he had just been acquitted on the charge of seducing Leahey's wife. Leahey also fired twice at Squire Morton, the second ball lodging in Morton's arm. Leahey has been committed to jail, to await his trial for murder.

Father Leahey will be remembered by many persons here, as speaking at the North Church a year or two since, and also in Jefferson Hall.

LATE FROM HAVANA AND THE ISTHMUS.—New Orleans, Sept. 2.—We have Vera Cruz dates to the 21st of August, by which we learn that the adjudication of the Tehuantepec route was not made at the time appointed, and no other day had been fixed.

Havana dates to the 29th state that it was said the nine persons arrested on the charge of being concerned in the publication of a revolutionary paper, would be garrotted on the 1st of September.

LIGHT AND ANCHORAGE DUES IN THE BRITISH PROVINCES.—The Gloucester Telegraph complains that our fishing vessels are heavily taxed in the British Provinces for light and anchorage dues. Our vessels have for years been obliged to pay a light duty at the Gut of Canso, which is a tax upon the town of Gloucester alone of $1000 a year.—This year every vessel which visits the harbor of Prince Edward's Island is obliged to pay another tax, which is called anchorage duty. As almost all of our fishing vessels visit the Island, this new duty about doubles the tax upon them. And again, if any of our vessels are driven by stress of weather into Miramichi, and some of the other ports on the main land, the anchorage duty, light duty, port charges, &c., are put upon them to the amount of $20 or more. This is another grievance which our government should look after. The port charges on British vessels of the size of our fishermen, which enter the harbors of the United States, amount to less than $5.

ANCIENT GRAIN REVIVED IN AFRICA.—Letters received in Paris, from Cheschelli, in Africa, have announced that the ancient seed of flour, grain, and corn, which was used during the time of the kings of ancient Egypt, the Pharaohs, have been sown in the garden of a farmer and produced several ears, which offered a new species entirely unknown to modern agriculture. It appears that these grains of corn, which have been taken out of a coffin from the Pyramids, offer the appearance of a large ear in the centre, around which are six or seven smaller ears, like the branches of a tree.

The length of the ear is ten or fifteen centimetres, and its size near the root three or four centimetres. The leaves are bearded and larger, as well as more rough than those of the ordinary corn. Each ear contains from seventy to ninety grains. No doubt this new corn will soon be adopted all over Europe, for it produces three times the number of grains of the other kinds of corn. Every grain is nearly as big as two of the other.

Grace Greenwood is having a delightful time in London. The Earl of Carlisle procured her admission to the House of Lords, to witness the prorogation by the Queen, who she says, is more remarkable for "rosy plumptitude than regal altitude."

PERILS OF THE SEA.

These are numerous, and not all removable. But some of them may be avoided; at all events we need not rush into them recklessly, or without adequate cause. We do not profess to know enough about the coast to decide on the relative advantages of two routes; but we have readers who are judges;—and every passenger who goes to sea has an interest in the matter.

Some of the perils alluded to, are described in the following article, written by a correspondent of the Boston Transcript.

"The steamship Pacific, Capt. Nye, left Liverpool on the 28th July last, bound for New York, with about one hundred passengers, besides engineers, sailors and servants, about 120 more. On the outward passage, to Liverpool, Capt. Nye discovered a difference in his compasses—the one in the binnacle differing from the one on deck. On leaving Liverpool, an allowance was made for this difference, and which proved correct; as the ship passed the Tuskar Light and Cape Clear at about the distance intended. The first 26 hours' run was very favorable, being 327 miles—the second equally so, being 300 miles. On Friday, the 3d day out, being then entirely clear of Ireland and on the broad Atlantic, a thick fog set in, which lasted until Monday, when we were enabled to get a good observation, and found the ship nine miles north of the great circle or latitude intended. The ship's course was then altered so as to place her on that circle line, and which would carry her about five or ten miles south of Cape Race.

On Wednesday morning, at 6 o'clock, it was supposed we were about abreast of the Cape, and the officers and men forward were told to keep a good look-out for land. At half-past 8 the same morning, the sea being very smooth, the fog thick, a sudden call was made of "a boat alongside."

The engines were ordered to be stopped, but before this could be done, the boat, in which were two men, was swept under our paddle wheels, and the two men instantly killed, fragments of the boat only being seen floating on the surface. By this time, the engine was stopped and the ship's headway deadened; when, about the length of the ship ahead, a rock rose up, as it were, out of the ocean, the top of which could not be seen.—The helm was ordered to the starboard, the ship rounded to, almost as it were on a pivot, our paddle boxes coming within about twenty feet of an immense rock, supposed to be from three to five hundred feet high, and about as long. Another boat, in which were five men, was soon seen around the projecting rock, which soon came down to us and told Capt. Nye our position—which was, Cape Broyle on the western end of Newfoundland, and twenty miles north of Cape Race.

Our ship's head was then put to the southward, and, after running on that course about thirty miles, it was changed to the westward. The imminent danger that we thus so providentially escaped, caused many a heart to beat with gratitude to the great Disposer of events; so many lives, together with that noble ship, having been saved by the sacrifice offered by the two men so suddenly called to eternity.—It was the opinion of the passengers that they heard, through the fog, the noise of our paddle wheels, and put off from land to warn us of our danger.

The object of the writer in making thi statement is with the hopes of eliciting from experienced nautical men, their opinion as to the propriety of the Atlantic steamers following, in all cases, whether the atmosphere is clear or foggy, what is called sailing on the great circle. It is, without doubt, desirable to make Cape Race,, but the question is often asked, is it of so much importance that great hazard should be taken to accomplish it?—Almost all our Atlantic steamers have been in great danger at that place. Last year the Humboldt, it was said, came within twenty feet of Cape Race Rock. In April last the Niagara came very near being lost there—in fact it is rare for any steamer to pass that point in thick weather, that they do not run great hazard. The difference in taking this course, in preference of takinga direct line, is but about seventy miles—and this course it is said, is always taken by Capt. West of the Atlantic.

At certain seasons of the year, if not at all seasons, the more southern course the vessel takes, the pleasanter weather she experiences. Is it not then for the safety as well as for the comfort of the thousands who are now journeying across the Atlantic either to or from Europe, that that course should be taken which furnishes the greatest degree of safety?

If some philanthropic nautical men will take this subject up, and discuss it, and if it shall prove, as I think it will, that the desire to save seventy miles in the distance between here and Europe costs more than it really is worth, will not public opinion call for that route which ensures us the most comfort as well as the least danger."

The opening dinner at the Metropolitan Hotel, N. Y., on Wednesday, was a great affair. Among the toasts was the following:

"The Constitution, political and physical—Its preservation is every man's duty, and the especial concern of statesmen and hotel keepers."

The building was erected by Mr. P. S. Van Rensselaer, at an expense of $600,000. The ground on which it stands is valued at $200,000, and the furniture cost $120,000—making a total of $920,000.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1852.

LEADERS.

What shall we have for a leader? is the daily question of a printer to an editor. And the reader may ask, what is a Leader? It is the first piece of editorial writing inserted under the head of the paper, generally placed in the Chronicle, and in many other papers, at the top of the first column of the second page. It ought to be in its character, substantial and solid; perhaps profound, if the editor happens to be so deep as that, which is not always the case—and if every reader of the newspapers could comprehend such a thing. It ought not to be a trifle; for every reader expects something grave, if not wise, at the outset;—and custom, aiming to be sober, has often succeeded in being prosy and dull. The leader in a newspaper is nearly the same as the opening speech made by the host or hostess of a party, or by whoever breaks the ice which prevents the flow of conversation. It is not of much consequence what it is about, or whether it is about any thing; but it must be uttered with dignity and propriety, otherwise it is not fit for a leader. It must act like the minister's address at the Sunday School Pic-Nic,—not being sportive itself, but the sure precursor of the sportive and miscellaneous doings which are to rush on the moment it is closed. A paper then, must have a leader, in order to be respectable; but a paper filled with leader-like articles would put all hands to sleep.

While our room is so limited, and our advertisements so numerous as they now are, we cannot tell any very long stories ourselves, nor let any one else tell them; but endeavor to make up by the good quality of the articles, for any supposed deficiency in their length.

POST MASTER GENERAL.

The New York Mirror thus speaks of the new Post Master General:

"Mr. Hubbard is from Middletown, Connecticut. He was a member of the twenty-ninth and thirtieth Congresses, and generally regarded as one of the most clear-headed, energetic business men in the House. Mr. Hubbard's appointment is said to be satisfactory to the friends of Scott and Graham, and will prove acceptable to the country."

It is of small importance whose friends are satisfied with a Postmaster General's appointment. If he is a practical business man, the Post-office is benefitted—if not, the office and the country must suffer. We do not say that the Postmaster General ought not to be a politician; for every man in this country ought to be that. But he ought to understand the duties of his office,—and no man can master the whole of them in one year. We have never had so good a Postmaster General as John McLean, since he was made a Judge by Gen. Jackson. Some of the men may have been as good as he, every way: but for the most part they have staid in office but a short time, and then just as they began to know the ropes, given place to another green hand, who had everything to learn. While our officers of this kind are shifted at least once in four years, and usually oftener, the true policy is to keep the assistants and clerks without change.

The old Bradleys, two brothers who had grown gray in the service as assistants in the General Post-office, went out when McLean did;—and great confusion followed, which did not cease until the new assistants had learned their trade. There has been no general disturbance of assistants and clerks from that day to this; though they have been gradually changed, as must be the case, and no party has put an opponent into an important place. This we ought not to expect—but every man who writes a letter has a right to complain if the Post-office is not as prompt and correct as possible.

We hope for the best in regard to the new man—but the Postmaster should be as permanent as a judge or a City Clerk.

MAINE ELECTION comes off on the 13th. Parties are wonderfully chopped up. There are no less than fifteen candidates for Senators in Cumberland County: four only can be elected. Combinations and coalitions of all sorts are resorted to:—and if an election insurance company were possible there, it would have a great run.

PENNSYLVANIA.—The Democrats of Pittsburgh had a great gathering on Friday evening, at which, speeches were made by Generals Houston and Shields.

Major Gen. Scott and family are at Cozzen's Hotel, West Point.

Gen. Pierce and family have been in this vicinity for some time past.

THE FISHERIES.

Late advices from Halifax, N. S. say that the rumored concession to the American fishermen reported by the last steamer from Liverpool has caused much excitement there, and an influential meeting of all classes interested has been held. Strong resolutions for an address to the Governor and a petition to the Queen, praying for a suspension of negotiations, were passed and forwarded to England by the Canada.

"If this report is correct, the Americans are to be allowed to fish at a distance of three miles from our shores, and can enter any bay more than six miles wide. This would allow them to fish in the Bay Chaleur and other indentations of the sea where our finest and most valuable fish are taken; while, if once admitted within those narrow inlets, all the cruisers which could be employed would be insufficient to prevent them from fishing wherever they choose. This concession would, therefore, lead to continual disputes between the two Governments, and end in hostilities greatly to be deplored. According to the treaty of 1818, the Americans relinquished all claims to the right of fishing in the seas and waters which could be considered as belonging to Great Britain, and which, as a matter of course, included all bays and recesses of the ocean. But what do we now get in exchange for the privilege of allowing the Americans to fish in our bays? Why, the right to fish in theirs?—which amounts to nothing—absolutely nothing! We have better hopes, however, of the present Ministry, and do not believe that Colonial interests will be thus sacrificed. At all events, we think that in this matter the Colonies will be consulted, before any sanction to the arrangement will be given by England."

It appears, says the Boston Daily Advertiser, that in both Provinces the report of an adjustment of the Fishery question by a modification of the convention of 1818, has caused dissatisfaction, as the privilege of fishing in the bays of the United States by colonial vessels, which is said to have been granted as an equivalent for the permission to our vessels to fish in the bays of the Provinces, is declared to be of no value.

It does not appear on what authority this report rests. It comes to us through the late English papers. We are not aware that it appears there accompanied with any proof of its authenticity, nor have we been informed from any official source that any authority has been granted to our Minister in London to make such a modification of the convention. It appears to us therefore very doubtful whether any such adjustment has been made.

An equivalent in another form, for a concession of the privilege of fishing in the Bays, has been suggested in some of the colonial papers, as likely to be satisfactory to a portion at least, of the people of the Provinces, viz: the admission of fish caught by colonial fishermen into the ports of the United States, free of duty. This concession, we conceive, would be liable to as little objection, as the grant of the privilege of fishing within the Bays of the United States.

A LIQUOR CASE IN CHARLESTOWN, MASS.—About eight o'clock on Saturday evening, James Mahoney, of Charlestown, in a fit of delirium tremens, jumped out of bed, clad in his red shirt only, and with beard unshaven, seized a sharp pruning knife and attacked and almost killed John Calner, who lived in the house with him. He then dashed out at a window and ran through the streets, cutting away right and left, at men, women and children, till he had severely wounded eight or ten; and then throwing away his knife, ran into the City Marshal's office; whence the police conveyed him to East Cambridge jail. He is represented as naturally a peaceable man; but recently maddened by strong drink. The city is greatly excited by the event; and it may lead to wiser counsels on the temperance question.

CAPT. MARCY.—This officer, about whom so many false reports were raised, and so much anxiety felt, has been engaged for years in exploring and surveying what used to be a frontier country, viz. round the head waters of the Red River. The St. Louis Republican says that, so far from the command having suffered from the attacks of the Indians, they encountered no hostility whatever. They did not even lose a horse or a mule, and the men suffered very little from sickness. Many Indians of the Camanche and Kiowa, and other tribes, were met at various points in the expedition, but they interposed no obstacles to the execution of the orders of the government.

DEATH AT WASHINGTON.—The papers contain the information of the death at Washington of Rev. Orin Fowler of Fall River, Representative in Congress from the late Bristol and Plymouth district, in Massachusetts. The Boston Courier characterizes him as "an excellent and popular man, and an honest and conscientious politician."

PIC-NIC.—We understand the Free-Will Baptist Society who worship in Hanover St., Chapel, are to have a pic-nic at Kittery this afternoon, if fair weather—if not, the first fair day.

THE REINDEER.—The loss of life on board steamboat Reindeer, whose loss on the Hudson we gave among our telegraphic items yesterday, amounted to 27 deaths, as far as they were known at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening. The only New England death which we observe in the list, is that of Augustus W. Whipple, of Cambridge, Mass.

FIRE.—We understand that the repair shop at Bradford, on the Claremont Railroad, was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning, and two locomotives were destroyed with it. A third was injured, but not destroyed.

Loss $40,000, upon which there is an insurance of $10,000.

Now that that the ship Staffordshire is safe and heard from, we would like to know who made up the falsehood about her loss.

ALL RIGHT.—We mentioned yesterday the death of Miss Laura Addison at New York,—with suspicions of foul play. Her body has been exhumed and examined—the result is that no room exists for suspicions of any foul play.

THREE TRAINS A DAY.—We understand that it is the purpose of the Portsmouth and Concord Railroad Company to run three trains a day over their whole road, as soon as other engines and furniture can be built for the purpose. It will probably take place in three or four weeks.

POLITICAL ITEMS.

WEBSTER MEETING IN NORTH CAROLINA. At Wilmington, 28th ult., a Webster meeting passed the following resolution:

Resolved, 1st, That we will absolve ourselves from all political connection whatever, with the two parties which now exist in the country; and that we will seek to establish and maintain a party organization entirely separate and distinct from either of them.

The Boston Daily Advertiser remarks that "their proceedings do not seem to indicate the prospect that any electoral ticket will be appointed under the organization here attempted."

WEBSTER MOVEMENT IN BOSTON.—The Union Whigs of Boston held another meeting on Saturday night. The Committee having in charge the matter of a State Convention to nominate a Webster electoral ticket, submitted a report in favor of holding it in Faneuil Hall, on Wednesday, the 15th instant, and the report was accepted.

READING—Sept. 4.—The democratic gathering here was the largest ever witnessed in Berks county. One train from Philadelphia brought 1900 persons, including the Pierce and King Democratic Club and the Granite Glee Club. The whole number present was about 9000. The meeting was organized at noon, Hon. James Buchanan, President.

A spirited address was made by Mr. Buchanan on taking the chair. A series of resolutions were adopted, endorsing the National and State nominations, after which the meeting adjourned until 2 o'clock. During the afternoon, speeches were delivered by Hon. S. A. Douglass, Gov. Lowe, Barnabas Bates, Judge LeGrand, and others.

NORFOLK—Sept. 4.—About 2000 whigs from this neighborhood attended the whig mass meeting at Suffolk yesterday, where speeches were delivered and a banquet served up.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 4.—The Missouri legislature have had 43 ballotings for Speaker, without coming to a choice. On the last ballot the vote stood—For Kelly, (Bentonite) 44; Ocock, 42; Woodson, 37; Hunter, 2.

THE CIVIL AND DIPLOMATIC APPROPRIATION BILL.—The salary and outfit of the Commissioner to China (Humphrey Marshall) has been increased to $18,000. The Secretary and Interpreter, (D. Parker,) gets $2500; he is also allowed $4000 extra. The Consuls at the five ports in China, viz., Kwang, Chow, Amoy, Fuchow, Ningbo, and Shanghai, receive $5000. The salary of the Commissioner to the Sandwich Islands (Mr. Severance) is raised to $5000. Increased back pay refused.

A telegraphic despatch from New Orleans, of September the 1st, says that the light house at Chandelier Island was destroyed during the recent storm. The waters made a channel three quarters of a mile wide through Ship Island.

On Sunday morning last, as Mr. Jeremiah Coas, Jr., was passing over Long Beach at the Farms, he found the body of a female infant lying among the seaweed at high water mark. It was dressed in a white frock, with a wrought belt, flannel petticoat, black morocco boes and white cotton stockings. The color of the hair was auburn, and the child supposed to be between six and nine months old. It is supposed the body was washed ashore, and was either the body of the child of Mr. Fenno, drowned in Boston harbor a week previous, or was lost overboard by some passing vessel. An inquest was held on the body by Coroner Ferson. It has since been placed in a tomb.—Gloucester Telegraph.

Thursday morning, Mrs. Rebecca Emerson threw herself into the river at Worcester, and was drowned. The act was committed while in a state of temporary aberration of mind, induced by the accidental drowning of her son a few weeks since.

THE CUBAN CONSPIRACY.

About 150 men have been surprised and taken prisoners in the mountains to the westward of Havana. Some 1500 muskets and ammunition were also captured. It is said that one of the prisoners is worth $400,000.—Many suspected persons have fled to the United States.

The prisons are overflowing, as are also the dungeons in the fortifications, with prisoners. Two hundred prisoners have been captu ed at Nuelta Abijo, and brought to Havana. They were engaged at the time in the manufacture of ball cartridges. A small cannon was also captured from them, which was supposed to have been landed from a small schooner which was seen on the coast. Nine women, concerned in the conspiracy, have been arrested.

A council of war was held at the Palace, but nothing definite was allowed to transpire. The conspiracy was discovered by a thief employed in a chain-gang at Havana, who, while in his confinement, overheard some of the State prisoners disclose to each other the revolutionary proceedings of their confederates.

On the night of the 23d instant, the police of the city discovered and captured the press of the "Voice of the People," with all the materials and form for No. 4, of which only the proof had been taken for correction. The government have been aware, for some days, of the location, and only deferred the seizure until their agent should so advise, that the parties might be apprehended in the act of offence, in preparing and altering the paper, which was accomplished in the lithographic establishment of Don Eduard Facciolo, situated upon Obispo street, a few steps from the palace. The proprietor and his employees are prisoners, to be tried by the Military Commission, and the establishment and the effects seized are to be disposed of by the Tribunals —confiscated probably to the Crown. The "Voice of the People" is stifled, if an organ so insignificant (al ridiculo papelucho) in preparation and influence, can be entitled to so dignified an appellation; in consequences to the publishers, however, no matter how vapid and windy their productions, the close may be serious enough, involving life, with all social and political relations forfeited to the garrotte-vil, or Ceuta, unless saved by the intervening clemency of Canedo.

It is probable that three of the persons implicated in publishing the "Voice of the People" will pay the penalty of their temerity to-morrow morning at the punta—three lives, for idle words, that could not by possibility have influence upon the destiny of Cuba, as admitted by the organs of the government; but subversion was the intention, and the measure, of more or less, will not change the color of the crime.

OPENING THE GATE.

The following article rom the Madison, Geo., Family Visitor contains a hint which many boys may profit by. There are too many youths who sit down and wait for others to "open the gate" for them when they meet any difficulty, instead of using their own hands and strength to remove the obstacle:

"I wish you would send a servant to open the gate for me," said a well grown boy of ten, to his mother, as he passed with his satchel upon his back, and surveyed its clasped fastening.

"Why, John, can't you open the gate for yourself?" said Mrs. Easy. "A boy of your age and strength, ought certainly to be able to do that."

"I could do it, I suppose," said the child, "but it's heavy, and I don't like the trouble. The servant can open it for me just as well. Pray what is the use of having servants, if they are not to wait upon us?"

The servant was sent to open the gate. The boy passed out, and went whistling on his way to school. When he reached his seat in the Academy, he drew from his satchel his arithmetic and began to inspect his sums.

"I cannot do these," he whispered to his seat-mate, "they are too hard."

"But you can try," replied his companion.

"I know that I can," said John, "but it's too much trouble. Pray what are teachers for, if not to help us out of difficulties? I shall carry my slate to Professor Helpwell."

Alas! poor John. He had come to another closed gate—a gate leading into a beautiful and boundless science, "the laws of which are the modes in which God acts, in sustaining all the works of his hands"—the science of mathematics. He could have opened the gate, and entered in alone, and explored the riches of the realm, but his mother had injudiciously let him rest with the idea that it is as well to have the gates opened for us, as to exert our own strength. The result was, that her son, like the young hopeful sent to Mr. Wiseman, soon concluded that he had no "genius" for mathematics, and threw up the study.

The same was true of Latin. He could have learned the declensions of the nouns and the conjugation of the verbs as well as other boys of his age; but his seat-mate very kindly volunteered to "tell him in class," and what was the use in opening the gate into the Latin language when another would do it for him? Oh, no! John Easy had no idea of taxing mental or physical strength when he could avoid it, and the consequence was that numerous gates re ained closed to him all of his life—gates to honor—gates to riches—gates to happiness. Children ought to be early taught hat it is always best to help themselves.

"RETURNED TO DIE."

Under this caption we referred a week or two since, to the circumstance attending the death at the railroad depot, of Mr. Isaac Lewis, a returned Californian of this place. Mr. Lewis was accompanied on his journey home by Mr. George Bartlett, a resident of this place, who had been to California some three years. Bartlett being mentally as well as physicially incapaciated by a paralytic stroke, was kindly cared for by Mr. Lewis, on the return voyage, and arrived safe at Bridgeport. Being deprived of his protector by the sudden demise of Mr. Lewis, greatly debilitated in body and mind, in the darkness of the night he set out for the residence of his father, near Berkshire bridge.

The family were near the point of retiring, when Mr. Bartlett the elder was called to the door by some one endeavoring to gain admittance. The signs and broken words of the stranger—for such disease and suffering had rendered him—were understood to express a desire to remain in the house all night. Mr. Bartlett having at home a daughter seriously ill, was compelled to refuse the applicant, and directed him to a neighbor's house. After his departure, the invalid daughter and sister of the returned son, who had overhead the interview, remarked to her father that the voice of the stranger reminded her of her absent brother, and requested that he might be recalled.

In compliance with her request, the father stepped to the door, and called to him by his christian name. This was instantly replied to; hope was kindled; the wanderer was brought back. A closer scrutiny confirmed the suspicion of the sister, and the unhappy son and brother, testifying his joy by signs and looks, laid himself down to die. The love of home amounting in this case, to hardly more than instinct—had sustained the sufferer to the threshhold of the parental roof, when exhausted nature gave way, and after a short illness, death closed the scene. Verily, "Truth is more strange than fiction."—Bridgeport (Conn.) Standard.

MORRELL'S VOYAGES.—This is the book from which Mr. Webster quoted in his letters about Lobos. The N. Y. Tribune says of the book—

"We supposed it was generally understood that "Morrell's Voyages" was mainly written by Samuel Woodworth, the poet. Morrell was a very good sea captain, but made no pretensions to literature, and furnished little more than his log-book as material for the volume to which his name is attached as author. A good many stories have been current in literary circles about changes in Woodworth's manuscript, which were made in order to preserve an appearance of probability in ascribing the authorship to Capt. Morrell.—Woodworth, with a poet's impulse, had garnished the narrative with copious quotations from Shakspeare—which were afterwards omitted as not being strictly in the line of the Captain's usual reading. The passages about the Lobos Islands were probably left in, because it did not seem so impossible that Morrell might have seen what Delano evidently did see before him. Delano's authority, however, is not at all weakened by the transfer of his statements to Morrell's book."

PREVARICATION OF WITNESSES.—A Lee (Mass.) correspondent of the Troy Post, alluding to the difficulty that exists in obtaining evidence to convict a person of selling liquor—the drinker feeling bound in honor not to expose the seller—thus daguerreotypes the evidence given by a colored person in a recent trial in that town:

"A man was brought up on an indictment for selling liquor. A coal black negro was witness in behalf of the Commonwealth. He appeared a little 'blue' as he entered the court room. The lawyer commenced—"Sir, did you ever drink anything strong at the house of Mr. B?"

"Yis sah, I had a strong cup o'tea ther many and many a time."

"But did you ever drink anything intoxicating?"

"Yis sah! I drunk sometin' 'toxicatin'. Oh yis!"

"At what time?"

"Wall, I couldn't zackly identify the time, but when I war thar, my wife war thar with me."

"Did you pay for what you drank?"

The court here interfered—"Henry, we want a definite answer. Did you, or did you not pay for what you drank?"

"I'se told you a dozen times, sah, not to my knowledge!"

"Sir, if you don't answer this question we shall commit you to Lenox jail for contempt of court.'

"Wall, Judge, I shall be very happy to be so near whar my wife am gwine to work nuzzun." And the court had the satisfaction of sending him up for thirty days."

POLYGAMY AMONG THE MORMONS.—It is undenied by those high in authority in the Mormon church, that polygamy is not only tolerated, but advocated, within its jurisdiction. Brother Pratt, "Apostle of the Latter Day Saints," has replied in a printed handbill, to an inquiry made a short time since by the San Francisco Herald, as to the extent it is practiced in the church and by its leader, Brigham Young.

Respecting the latter, he says, "his morality is above all suspicion;" and he presumes "the number of his family does not exceed the estimates which have been going the rounds of the American press." As it was reported that Mr. Young had sixteen wives, more or less, (a majority of them rearing young prophets,) it is thus tacitly admitted this is the correct number.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1852.

THE PEOPLE'S RIGHTS.

Great excitement was visible in Boston for several days previous to yesterday, on account of a rumor that the Mayor was plotting with the Chief of Police, to abolish the good old custom of having baked beans for Sunday's breakfast or dinner, and brown bread or pudding to match. It was reported, too, that they were not coming up in a bold and warrior-like manner to storm the bean-pots; but were going round about to take the names of all bakers who kept open their shops on Sunday morning, and so close them in some underhand and cowardly manner. This proceeding was justly viewed with suspicion by the friends of freedom and the lovers of beans, not only in Boston but elsewhere. Our indignation was rising rapidly;—and we were actually sitting, pen in hand, about to launch a phillippic against the invaders of our Sunday dinner, and to warn our city government against trenching on our vested rights, when we opened that valuable paper, the Boston Courier, of yesterday, containing what we take to be a semi-official contradiction, of half a dozen reports invented by the gossips, to torment the "solid men of Boston," and vex their worthy Mayor. We have no doubt, now, that the bean-pot difficulty will all blow over, like other panics. We do our best to keep everything quiet on Sundays,by copying the article, and getting our pot of beans home an hour or two before the first bell rings.

FALSE REPORTS.—We are requested to state that there is no truth in the report that the Mayor and Aldermen have prohibited the delivery of "baked beans" from bake houses on the Sabbath. Some weeks since, instructions were issued to the Chief of Police to make return of all places found open on the Sabbath, in violation of the Sunday laws.

The Chief in his report, included groggeries, grocers, barbers, bakers, &., found open. This is, we suppose, the foundation of the rumor that the Mayor and Aldermen had prohibited the delivery of beans. We are also requested to state that no person has ever been discharged from the watch department on account of the non-residence of his wife; nor have the Board enlisted in the enterprise of placing special watchers on the brothels, with a view of making returns of the names of visitors.

PORTSMOUTH AND CONCORD.—The railroad is now opened and the cars running between Concord and Portsmouth. If Concord will now send one half of its go-a-head, business men down to the old seaport and root away some of the hibernating fogies, who have suffered their almost unparalleled advantages to remain for nearly half a century unimproved, then their railroad will do something. Portsmouth has but a few men who know how to do business, and it takes business to support railroads.—Keene Republican.

The Keene Republican probably does not see the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, overflowing with the advertisements of men who know how to do business and mean to do it. And its editor does not know how many fortunes have been made here in fifty years: nor how many thrifty mechanics here live as independently as any men in the world.

HIGH TAX.—It is stated that every town in the State of Massachusetts must yield the palm for high taxes to Stoneham,for this year, at least. The rate is thirty dollars on $1000. It seems that the town voted to build a Town house, which measure was opposed by some of the citizens, who, finding themselves outvoted, moved the money for this object be raised the present year. The result is that many are actually compelled to sell their property to pay their taxes.—Lowell Journal.

This is a good illustration, (because an extreme case) of the principle that no town or city should create a debt, but pay for all things as they go. There ought to be some remedy in law or equity, against such an act of oppression—but we believe there is none.

A severe fight concluded a meeting of Rising Star Division of the Sons of Temperance at their hall of meeting 64 1-2 Hanover street, Boston, on Monday evening. Several of the members received bloody noses and black eyes. The watch were called and the fight ended.—Boston Post.

These sons of Temperance must be a degenerate race, unworthy of their father. Sober men don't commonly fight after this fashion.

MORTALITY AMONG CHILDREN.—In the neighboring town of York, Maine, on Sunday last, there were two funerals of children; each of them was the last of its family; one of the families had lost two children and another three, within ten days;—and there were a number of other deaths of children within the same time.

COM. JOSEPH SMITH, Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, visited the Navy Yard at this place, yesterday; and was received with the customary salute.

SOUTHERN CIRCUS.—This popular and splendid Circus is to exhibit various feats of horsemanship and agility in this city tomorrow. See Advertisement for particulars.

JEWELRY—HINT FOR THE LADIES.

"Of late years the wearing of jewelry, in season and out of season, both by matrons and unmarried females, has increased vastly in the United States. It is an indication that the growing wealth of the people is not accompanied by a corresponding refinement; but the love of vulgar show, the low pride of ostentation takes the place of a pure and elevated taste.

Young girls rarely improve their appearance by the use of these dazzling jewels; and as a general rule, the simpler the costume of a woman in her teens the better. American females are usually pretty, up to the age of twenty, when they mostly begin to fade. Consequently, at this period of life, there are but few whom elaborate attire does not injure; a simple white dress, or a rose-bud in the hair, is frequently all that is required; and more only spoils that combination of youthfulness, grace and modesty, which it should be the highest ambition of the girl to attain, because, if she did but know it, it is her highest charm."

There is a little truth here—but some other truths must be told, or else we do not get near the whole truth on this important subject. The females of all nations, vulgar and refined, civilized and savage, Jewish, Christian, Mahomedan and Pagan—all love ornament, and ninety-nine in every hundred, love something that will glitter, i. e. jewelry.

Twenty or twenty-five years ago, little jewelry was worn hereabouts, because fashion so ordained—but our grand-mothers piled it on plentifully. Much of theirs was made of silver. We have often handled a suit of wedding jewelry, consisting of a silver neck-lace and bracelets,enclosing stones, and silver ear-rings and finger-rings to match, for the bride, —and silver sleeve buttons, neck-buttons and bosom-pin for the bridegroom. These were word at a wedding about 90 years ago. About 40 or 45 years ago, large articles of gold and gilt jewelry, enclosing stones and hair, were fashionable,—and this fashion gradually waned till the articles became quite small, only a few were worn, and the jeweller'sbusiness for a season was small indeed, at a time above mentioned. For several years past, jewelry has been growing in size, and the articles multiplying. Cameo-Pins, containing miniatures large as life almost, and ponderous gold rings; watch-chains, with the links bigger than the "goold beads" of sixty years ago, and hooks of steel and gold and silver; precious stones and some not very precious—all are having their day now.

California pours out her heap;—and Australia shows a larger pile of dust,—the miner, and the captain and the sailor all present their wives and sweethearts, their sisters and daughters, and even mothers, with rings, bracelets, ear-rings and bosom-pins—and they will wear them. The men too, all the nice young men, and many no longer young, wear gold watches—only a few of the elders think of having a silver time-keeper.

It used to be said and it might have been true a long time ago, that all is not gold that glitters,—but almost any one may glitter in gold now. And glitter is the order of the day. Such matters of taste and fashion will and must regulate themselves.

SCANT OF HAY.—Our milkmen are raising the price of milk to five cents per quart—and to-day in our columns the hackmen announce the raising of their fare for a ride,—both in consequence of the scanty crop and high price of hay.

BANNERS.—Standing on Market Square we can see at once, three banners, bright, beautiful and gay, waving in the wind, and bearing the names of "Pierce and King," "Scott and Graham," and "Hale and Julian."

☞ The Court of Common Pleas will commence its fall session in this city, on Tuesday the 21st.

RAILROAD FIRE AT BRADFORD.—It appears from the Daily Patriot, that the engine house, smith's shop, &c., which were burnt, were worth $10,000, on which $5000 were insured at Springfield, Mass. The engines lost, were worth $8000; and they were not insured. Thus the total loss was $18,000, on which $5000 were insured. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been sparks from an engine falling among the wood in a tender.

RUN AWAY.—A Greenland horse, attached to a Greenland wagon, owned by a Greenlander, took fright yesterday afternoon, ran down Congress and Islington streets, now on the sidewalk, frightening the ladies and children, and then in the middle of the street, near coming in contact with other teams. The wagon was injured, the horses legs barked, but thank heaven, nobody was injured.

Moral.—Hitch your horses.

GETTING SPICY.—The political papers.—If it were not for we "neutrals," society would be likely to collapse for want of somebody to tell the truth.

FRANK. PIERCE and family visited the Shoals on Monday.

THE ACCIDENT TO THE REINDEER.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.—The report of the explosion of the Reindeer was heard for several miles up and down the river. The steamer was supposed to be on fire after the fearful explosion, which added to the consternation of the surviving passengers.

Those taken out alive were removed to houses in the vicinity where medical attendance was procured at once.

At the Coroner's inquest on Saturday, the captain of the Reindeer testified that the boat was not racing, and that previous to reaching the wharf she had carried much less steam than was allowed by law. He considers after examining the exploded boiler, that the accident was caused by a defect in the iron.

The machinery had been in use for 10 years. The engine and boilers were repaired this spring, but the exploded part was not, as it was deemed unnnecessary.

The cause of most of the injury to the passengers was the circumstance of the water running down from the connection into the fires, and the furnace doors being open, the steam passed through into the cabin, where they were dining.

John Howlett, the chief engineer, being sworn, said that at the time of the explosion the steamer had on 20 pounds of steam to the square inch. Could not tell the cause of the explosion.

Other testimoney was taken, but it was pretty much all on the side of the officers or employees of the steamer; and upon this testimony, which is looked upon as very vague, the jury returned a verdict acquitting the officers from all blame, and saying that the cause of the death of those on board was purely accidental.

The Boston Journal says:

The steamer Reindeer was comparatively a new boat, having been launched in March, 1850. She is 850 tons burden, 322 feet long, 34 feet wide, and 9 feet deep—and cost nearly $100,000. She was considered to be in excellent order at the time of the accident.

If these things are all true, then a new boat had old machinery.

DEPLORABLE ACCIDENT.—The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser relates under date of Fredonia, a melancholy occurrence which happened on the 2d inst., to a pic nic party of ladies and gentlemen who were crossing Cassadaga Lake from Stockton, in a scow boat and a skiff. There were five persons in the skiff, and nineteen in the scow. In consequence of the breaking of a row-lock in the skiff, the ladies were frightened and upset it. Those in the other boat, in their panic, rushed to the side of the boat and upset it also, both being at a distance of 40 rods from the shore. There were no other boats at hand, and the lake was rough. The five persons in the skiff however, were saved, but of nineteen in the scow, seven young ladies were drowned, with the boatman, who, after rescuing several, perished in endeavoring to save the lives of the others. The ladies were all from sixteen to twenty years of age. But two of the bodies have as yet been recovered. The names of those lost were Miss Emily M. Goodrich of Ithica; Miss Philena Sadler, of Randolph; Lucy and Cecelia La Heell of Delanti; Charlotte Moore, of Stockton; Mary Harrison, of Delanti; Alice Wilkins, of Delanti, and James Wilcox, of Cassadaga, the boatman.

All these lives were lost by means of a panic, when the breaking of the row-lock was a thing of no consequence at all. But the screams and jumps of such frightened men or women as cultivate nervous excitement, are worse on board a boat than a leak as big as a man's fist.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.—About ten days ago, at Alton Bay, three boys, sons of John W. French and Nathan B. Sleeper of Alton, and of Mr. Rollins of Middleton, purchased two pounds of powder to burn for sport.—They went out near the river and began to burn it, a little at a time, the son of Mr. French holding the main quantity of powder in a paper under his arm. By some accident this powder took fire, and a most terrible explosion was the result. The French boy was sadly injured, his clothes set on fire and he was burnt so that he died in a few days. The other boys' clothes were also set on fire and they were badly burnt, and it is thought that neither of them can live. The two first named were about eight years of age and the other about fourteen.—Daily Patriot.

ANTI-RENT OUTRAGE.—Another anti-rent outrage has occurred in Berlin,Rensselaer Co. N. Y. On Saturday night, a party of several persons, dressed in disguise, went to a house and endeavored to entice a man outside, threatening to burn his premises if he did not come out. He refused, and ordered them off, when they attempted to put their threat into execution. Mr. S. fired a revolver among them, killing a man named Joseph Wilbeck, of Nassau, and wounding two others.

THE STABBING CASES IN CHARLESTOWN. On Monday, all the persons who were stabbed by Jas. Mahoney were doing well, and hopes are entertained of the recovery of all but O'Hara, who was wounded in the abdomen. Mahoney was yesterday brought before Justice Warren, of Charlestown, on charge of making an assault with intent to kill, on Joseph Hunnewell, but the examination was postponed till Monday next.

ACCIDENT IN EXETER.—Mr. Allison Owen, of Ohio, came near losing his life, Monday afternoon, at the railroad depot in Exeter, N. H., by accidentally falling between the platform and the train when it was in motion. He escaped with a severe wound in the face, and missed his passage to Boston. His wife who was in the train went on, and Mr. Owen followed three hours after.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—As Mr. Trask, milkman of Quincy, was returning to his home on Saturday, he saw some boys stealing his grapes, and started in pursuit of them. In jumping over a wall he fell and struck upon his head, injuring himself so badly that he survived but a short time.

At Sandwich, Mass. last Saturday, Victoria Marsh, died from the effects of injuries received by the explosion of a camphene lamp.

ENCOUNTER WITH A LOCOMOTIVE.—On Saturday afternoon, as the two and a half o'clock train of cars were going out of the city for Boston, a man was observed walking on the track on the bridge over the canal by the Round House. The engineer warned him off with both bell and whistle, but the fellow paid not the least attention. The brakes were applied, so that when the locomotive struck him it threw him off the track, not however, till it had broken a bottle of rum in his pocket, and run over and cut the great too off one foot, in such a manner as to leave it protruding from his boot. Notwithstanding this, the fellow picked himself up and walked home without even a limp! He was an Englishman and lived near Hale's Mills. We could not learn his name.—Lowell News.

Mr. MUZZY, machinist, of Manchester, N. H., met with an accident, Friday forenoon.—He was engaged on the planer, and by some misstep or stumble, his foot became connected with the machinery, severing it instantly about middle way.

OMNIBUSSES IN BOSTON.—The increase of omnibusses in Boston has been great during the past few months. The lines now extend to all parts of the city, and the patronage is found to be ample to sustain all the lines. Upwards of a hundred omnibusses pass the Old South Church each hour of the day. The long lines are extensively patronised by females with young children as they can take a ride of six miles for eight cents.—Correspondence Newburyport Herald.

SALE OF THE MARYLAND MINING COMPANY'S PROPERTY.—On Wednesday last, the day fixed for the sale of all the property of the Maryland Mining Company, at auction, it was sold for $500,100, to the Cumberland Coal and Iron Company, who thus have added the mines, railroad and other fixtures of the Maryland Mining Company to their other valuable property.

It is their intention to enter at once upon a largely increased business in coal, by means of all the avenues to market.

A SMART BOY.—When the Reindeer was blown up, several incidents occured during the consternation on board of the steamboat. A small boy saved his mother by catching her apron, and winding it around the railing. He kept her from jumping overboad until one of the passengers came up and pulled her back.

The Glendon Rolling Mills, which are at East Boston, upon the deep channel which extends between that part of the city and Chelsea, is a busy place. The works are kept in operation day and night. More than three hundred men are employed upon the premises, in making the famous railroad tires and railway chairs manufactured by the Glendon Company.

POPULATION OF NOVA SCOTIA.—The new census of the Province of Nova Scotia is reported, from which it appears that the total population is 266,117, of whom 4908 are colored, and 1056 Indians. The number of married persons of both sexes is 78,701, widowers 2238, widows 5916, paupers 1072, schools 1006 and scholars 31,351.

U. S. sloop of war St. Marys, commander Magruder, sailed from Hong Kong May 29, for Batavia.

Mr. Swisshelm has entered the political arena, and hoisted in her paper the free soil flag.

THE REINDEER EXPLOSION.

THIRTY-TWO PERSONS KILLED.—Saugerties, Sept. 6.—The number of deaths now reaches thirty two. Several of the scalded remain in a very hopeless state, but none have died since 5 o'clock this morning, at which hour Zilly, a German, expired.

New York. Sept. 7.—No additional deaths have occurred since yesterday, but there are several who cannot survive,—among them Mrs. Williamson, wife of Rev. Geo. Williamson, one of the dead.

ARRIVAL OF THE NORTHERN LIGHT.—New York, Sept. 7.—The steamer Northern Light, of the Nicaragua line, arrived at 11 o'clock this morning, her passengers arriving in 24 days from San Francisco, being the shortest passage ever made from that place. Her news, however, has been mostly anticipated by our full despatches per Daniel Webster, at New Orleans.

The Northern Light brings 300 passengers, who have considerable gold.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.

DIABOLICAL ATTEMPT.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to throw the Hudson River train of cars from the track last evening.

ADDITIONAL FROM CALIFORNIA.—The Dan. Webster at New Orleans reports the Isthmus as being in a perfectly healthy condition, and the navigation of the river Juan, without impediment. The passage was made from ocean to ocean in 43 hours.

Business at San Francisco, good.

Several cases of lynching had occurred at Marysville, but no executions were reported. A man named Henderson, belonging to New York, was so severely whipped that his life was despaired of.

Two or three fires had occurred, but no serious dammage done.

Accounts from San Diego state that a Court Martial had been commenced for the trial of the murderers of Col. Craig.

The gold diggings at San Antonio have proved remarkably rich; many miners were averaging from about thirty to forty dollars per day.

At Short Bar, in the neighborhood of the mountain, the miners were doing remarkably well.

Flour $18 a 20 for Georgetown and Galleo. Mess Pork $30; Mess Beef $17; Boston Hams 28c. Building materials improving. Furniture brisk. Gold dust, $17 50 per oz.

ARRIVAL OF THE CRESCENT CITY.—New Orleans, Sept. 6.—The steamship Crescent City arrived at this port this morning from Havana with dates to the 3d. Her news is unimportant. Some excitement still exists concerning the revolutionary movements, and additional arrests have been made. American passengers have been prohibited from landing.

WE DON'T BELIEVE IT.—The Manchester Mirror intimates that there are more rummies in Portsmouth than in that city. There are too many in either place, but upon the point of sobriety and temperance, we are proud of "Old Strawberry Bank."

A RICH TREAT.—To attend one of Towle's auctions. On such occasions, there is life in Congress street.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—A man at Springfield was recently sentenced to pay a fine of nine dollars, for stealing copies of the Daily Republican, from the door of a subscriber.

The Westminster Review alludes to it as a fixed fact that a woman of genius, handsome too, is apt to be opinionative and dogmatical.

LONDON PORTER constantly for sale by
a2tf No. 5 Exchange Buildings.

THE OLD GERMAN CHARACTER ILLUSTRATED.—Last Friday afternoon, as Peter Pieper, the celebrated plumber, was returning from Brighton to this city, he saw a pocket-book lying in the road. He picked it up. (Who wouldn't pick up a pocket-book?) He examined the contents and found the trifling sum of two thousand seven hundred dollars in bank bills, besides sundry notes, &c. Peter also discovered that the pocket-book belonged to a Mr. Rogers of Quincy. Peter started in search of the owner, found him, gave him the book and contents. Rogers drew out a fifty dollar bill, and insisted upon Peter's taking it, simply to remunerate him for his time and trouble. "No' no," said Peter, "not a cent—but if you will go with me and drink a bottle of hock wine, and allow me to pay for it, I shall call it square; and if you ever find my pocket-book, bring him right to me."—Boston Herald.

A COMPROMISE.—A New York paper says the late Robert G. Sands sued for damages in a case of breach of promise of marriage. He was offered two hundred dollars to heal his broken heart. "Two hundred!" he exclaimed, "two hundred dollars for ruined hopes, a blasted life! two hundred dollars for all this! No, never! Make it three and it's a bargain!"

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—There is a great deal of significancy in some names: the old Hebrew names of persons and places were all significant of qualities, or incidents or hopes. —Now we read in a Salem paper the following advertisement of a Boston Wine dealer, which brings out a most appropriate name:—

BOUZY CHAMPAGNE.—the best wine imported; quarts and pints constantly on hand and for sale by ——— & Co.

FAST MOWING.—The Rochester American says that on the 23d and 24th of August one of Ketchum's Mowing Machines cut thirty acres and a quarter of hay in a day and a half, on the farm of Melvin Powers, Esq. in Farmington, Ontario county. Twenty acres were mowed the first day and the balance on the second.

A Requiem Mass was celebrated on Wednesday, in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, for the repose of the souls of the martyrs of the Atarcs, and the other victims who perished during the late revolutionary struggle in Cuba. It was intended to have a grand High Mass performed, but Bishop Huges forbade the ceremony. One of the Cuban refugees announces in a New York paper, that if a Protestant church can be procured for the purpose, he will yet have the ceremony performed in a manner worthy of the occasion.

FILL NO GLASS FOR ME.

BY STEPHEN C. FOSTER.

O, comrades fill no glass for me,
To drown my soul in liquid flame;
For if I drank, the toast should be—
To blighted fortune, health and fame.
Yet, though I long to quell the strife
That passion holds against my life,
Still boon companions may ye be;
But comrades, fill no glass for me.

I know a breast that once was light,
Whose patient sufferings need my care—
I know a hearth that once was bright;
But drooping hopes have nestled there.
Then, while the tear-drops nightly steal,
From wounded hearts that I should heal,
Though boon companions ye may be,
O, comrades fill no glass for me!

When I was young, I felt the tide
Of aspirations undefi'ed;
But manhood's years have wronged the pride
My parents centered in their child.
Then by a mother's sacred tear,
By all that memory should revere,
Though boon companions ye may be,
O, comrades, fill no glass for me.

BEAUTIFUL INCIDENTS.

An interesting exhibition was given of

"The Faith that saveth, Hope, that every trial braveth," in the case of an aged couple, over seventy, who were drawn on the hurricane deck. The man was frantic with despair, but his wife, in beautiful assurance of a heavenly trust, bro't him to composure and submission.

A young married couple stood together, calculating the chances of the wreck sinking before the propeller reached it. "If it does, James," said the young wife, unconscious of any other car, "be sure to keep fast hold of me, so that we shall go down together."

When the propeller neared the wreck, and deliverance seemed probable, the ascriptions of praise and thanks to God went up in loud shouts from sincere hearts on bended knees and hands raised to Heaven. The propeller came up, and the Captain seeing that they were about to rush, backed off, and said,—'Now, if you do not preserve order and keep calm, I will paddle off and leave you." The effect was instantaneous; silence was obtained; Mr. Osborne, in a loud voice, directed the men to let the women pass off first—to preserve order and silence; the propeller came alongside—the women and children were handed up first, and every one of that large number were taken on board without one falling into the water.

The scenes on the propeller were heart-rending. Danger over, dreadful realities forced themselves on the mind, and the strongest sat down and wept. One young man was inconsolable in his agony of grief. "I have lost my two sisters," said he in the most touching accents, "I could not find them in the dark."

One lady was seen by Mr. Wallbridge to throw her infant into the water, and then to leap after it. When the bow went down the forward cabin broke away from the boat and floated off with those who were on it, and they were rescued. It is possible that some who were struggling in the water, near the wreck might have been helped to it by those who could swim, but there were two considerations to hinder these efforts; the almost certainty of being drawn under by those clutching wildly at everything, and the expectation that they should all go down together, before help arrived.

VIRGINIA SLAVES.—A writer in the Richmond Whig, says it is undeniable that the slaves of Virginia, and especially of those counties adjacent to cities and towns, are progressively becoming more refractory and ungovernable, and that crime is increasing both in frequency and atrocity.

This state of things is attributed to the use of spirituous liquors, sold to the slaves from numerous groggeries.

The evil is daily increasing, for it is now becoming common for slaves to purchase large quantities at a time to retail to others for the sake of profit. And it is no uncommon thing for them to carry it to churches and meeting houses on Sunday and retail it to negroes and even to white men in the adjacent woods. In such cases there is a collusion and agreement between the whites and the blacks, that destroys the sense of subordination in the latter. They are under the temptation of pilfering to obtain the means of procuring the liquors, and the master is plundered and the servants corrupted by the same process."

ENGLISH STEAMERS FOR AUSTRALIA.—The first class fare from Liverpool to Australia, in the steamer which sld. 21st ult., with over 600 passengers, was seventy guineas, and freight six pounds per ton. The crew of the Great Britain consists of 130 persons.—She took from Liverpool 1500 tons of coal, and she is to stop two or three days at the Cape of Good Hope to take in a further supply and also provisions and live stock, whence she will proceed to Melbourne, Port Philip, and Sydney, expecting to accomplish the whole voyage in 26 days.

A new iron screw steamer, built on the Clyde, of 1500 tons and 300 horse power, called the Cleopatra, was to leave London Sept. 1, for Port Philip, and Sydney, the first of a new line by Messrs. McKean, McLarty & Co. of Liverpool. The first class fare by this line is 80 guineas.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

A farmer, in trying to persuade his negro hired man to work in the harvest field on the Sabbath, said:—

"Why, Cæsar, your refusal to work to-day, is unchristian like! You would pull a sheep or an ox out of the mire on the Sabbath would you not?"

"Look a-heah!" says Cæsar, "I wouldn't pull 'em out ob de mud, no how, if I'd been tryin' two or free days to shovel 'em in."

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

PORTLAND, Sept. 6, 1852.

Dear Editors:—I intimated in my last that I would treat a little more fully of the political aspects and prospects of temperance in our State. And I cannot but regret, by the way, that this is the only point of view from which this important subject is now generally considered. Once it was mainly a moral cause, having its primary bearings upon the welfare of individuals. How shall such a one be convinced that he should give up the traffic? how shall neighbor so-and so be entirely reformed? how shall our young men be instructed in the right path?—these were the questions that once occupied every right-minded man. But now—how shall we defeat the rummies, elect "our men" and carry our point? are the animating considerations.

Does this indicate an advance? Perhaps so—at any rate we are in for it, and we (that is, both friends and opposers of the Liquor Law) are determined to see it fairly out.—When the smoke has cleared away and the result becomes a "fixed fact," you of the Granite State will know just how to act without going, shivering, through the dreaded twilight of experiment, which is to lead up the splendid day of certainty.

Our County of Cumberland will furnish, doubtless, a fair specimen of the condition of public feeling throughout the State. Here we have four lists of candidates for the Legislature—Whig, Democratic, Free Soil, and Liberal. These last are openly opposed to the Liquor Law, and pledged to labor for its repeal. In addition to these, the temperance men will make their nominations next Wednesday. It is said they will make up their list from the Whig and Democratic nominees who are pledged to sustain the Law. It is probable they will go for Governor Hubbard in a body. This principle of selection will prevail in nearly all the districts among the temperance men, and to a considerable extent among the Liberals.

It is very evident, therefore, that if politicians over the Union attempt to draw any Presidential inferences from the result of our September election, they will be decidedly "up the stump." If ever an election went entirely upon "local issues," it will be this of ours.

The downright temperance men of every party—the ramrods—as a general thing will go for Governor Hubbard. They say he is identified with the Law—they are "one and inseparable," if not "now and forever." But still many sincere temperance Whigs and supporters of the law will vote for Crosby, as being really as much in favor of the Law as Hubbard, with a more consistent temperance character.

The Liberals go it for Chandler "with a perfect rush." But, strange to say, Judge Chandler has always been considered favorable to the Law. It has, indeed, been hinted that he consented to run only for the sake of intercepting certain Democratic votes that showed a strong proclivity towards Crosby.

The consequence is—the election is a "glorious uncertainty." For my own part, I do not see how there can be any choice of Governor by the people. How the Legislature will stand politically and upon the repeal of the Law, it is impossible to predict. But the probability is that it will be Democratic and in favor of sustaining the Liquor Law. But speculations will soon be dispensed with.

Our city is almost as quiet as a country village. The only occasions of interest are the crowds that occasionally come in from the back counties, and from "away down east," to see Perham's Great Seven Mile Mirror.

There was, however, a pleasant wave of excitement through the town last week by the announcement that Gen. Pierce had arrived, being on his way to the Bowdoin Commencement. Scores of the faithful at once presented themselves—and among them, shrewd judges even pretended to distinguish the future Collector and Post Master of Portland. All were pleased with the manners and bearing of the General.

Whoever wishes to come to Maine on a shooting, fishing, or pleasure excursion, now's the time—weather delightful and comfortable.

Yours, &c., CASCO.

☞ We understand that the "Cowdin Phalanx," of Boston, intend visiting Portland and Portsmouth, in the course of a few days. We understand they are to be received in this city by the City Greys, Capt. Towle.

SCHOONER MOBO.—This vessel, which was towed into this port a few weeks ago, is to be sold at Auction to-day, by Mr. James P. Bartlett. See advertisement.

THE SUNSET FUNERAL.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

Just as the sun was setting we entered the portal of the old burying-ground, a little band of relatives and friends on foot, marshalled after the fashion of our forefathers, with no carriage but the hearse which bore the dead; and as we wound around the hill, following the green grass-path, we looked upon a solid column of tombstones, indicating as plainly as dumb marble could indicate anything, that there was no room for new comers here. But there was room; a grave-stone laid aside, and a grave re-opened, showed us that the youngest of the family, now young no longer, was to repose at once in the bosom of his own mother, and in the bosom of our mother earth who bore us all. He was coming back to be sheltered in the dust with her who had watched his infancy, and whose spirit had hovered round his path in later years. Who was she? and who was he? and when? and where?—No matter for the exact answers, of time and place and persons. The mourners were sincere—they were fraternal—they wept over the death, and over the life which it closed, and which seemed to some of them to be a wasted life. But so it did not seem to all. One at least looked there and walked there with hope—natural tears he shed, for the memory of both the occupants of the grave was dear to him—but the tears were neither bitter nor scalding; to him the re-union of the dust below seemed fit emblem of the re-union of the spirits above, overshadowed by the Father of the Spirits of all flesh—and although the noble Church Burial Service was not read there, in memory the mind repeated it, and the ear seemed to hear the words, I am the Resurrection and the Life, as in boyhood he heard them first, from a chaplain in the navy, who pronounced them as he led a sailor's funeral over the same green pathway.

"A life is closed to-day, and the living mortals mourn;
But death to us is friendly, as we cross its sombre bourn;
And we lay our ashes down in the hope of resurrection—
As the infant sinks to rest in its mother's fond protection."

PORTSMO. & CONCORD EXPRESS.

We have no positive knowledge of such an institution—but understand there is one; and learn besides that it charges the same price for carrying bundles from here to Concord as it does from Boston to Concord,—and more than is charged between Boston and this place. Perhaps it can make money that way, and perhaps not. But a good express, with a moderate tariff of charges, would be vastly better for business and business men here.

It is easy to see that when a trader here sells any article as low as his rival in Boston, it is about as much as can be expected of him.—The saving to the trader or other buyer in Concord must be mostly in the smaller freight on the shorter distance; and we believe the rates of freight in the freight trains on the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, are lower than other and longer roads. But if all small things coming by express, are to be taxed higher than elsewhere, people will be apt to keep up their old connexion.

GOOD LOOKS.—Somebody says that the man who marries a woman for her voice, is like another who eats a lark for her singing. A reporter in the Boston Herald lately saw Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, the authoress of the world-renowned Uncle Tom's Cabin, and thus describes her:

"Mrs. Stowe is about forty years of age, low in stature, having a brilliant, expressive eye, short features, hair thin and dark, with an occasional tint of grey, and her whole demeanor, as the French would say, being expressive of a highly nervous temperament, with quick perceptive powers of reading the minds of all present at a glance. All in all, however, she was not so good looking as her writings had led us to suppose."

The most literary and intellectual ladies do not commonly pass for beauties: nor are all beauties able to write any thing—much less Uncle Tom and Eva.

CHILDREN'S VOICES, clear, sharp, and ringing, accompanied by a good piano, touched by the hand of a master, and moved by the spirit of music itself, rush through our ears and tingle from our finger's ends as we write this paragraph. If the reader should happen to find more poetic fire in our items on Monday and Thursday than on other days, he will please set it down to the account of the children's singing school on Wednesday and Saturday.

Three Englishmen—Mansfield, Compired and Thompson—have undertaken to sail from London to Constantinople in an open skiff 25 feet long by 3 wide. They have arrived at Rendsburg.

Such a boat would do very well to go ashore in from a wreck—and a raft of logs might answer the same purpose: but such a voluntary exposure to danger and hardship for no useful purpose, could only have been devised by idlers who make a business of killing time.

THE SOUTHERN CIRCUS will be in Portsmouth to-day. See Advertisement for particulars.

DEATH OF AN UNKNOWN GIRL.—On Sunday last, a girl of 19 years, known only by the name of Mary, died at a house in Endicott street. Her parents, friends and birthplace, were all unknown.

So says the Boston Atlas.—And what a tale of poverty, or pride, or misery, or crime, may be behind this brief announcement, yet untold. Parents? friends? home? None, alas! none of all these are known—and the dead tell no tales. Already she is buried out of sight by the city, and tide of life rushes on exactly as if she had never formed a part of it. Our own life seems vast,—but what a speck seems the life of another, especially when that other is unknown.

MISSOURI LEGISLATURE.—St. Louis, Sept. 6.—The House succeeded on Saturday in electing a Speaker on the 46th ballot. Mr. Woodson, (Whig) requested that his name should be withdrawn, which was done, and Dr. Shelby, speaker pro tem, was elected speaker for the extra session, by a vote of 93 to 34. The House then elected for first clerk, Mr. Houston, (Bentonian) and for 2d clerk Mr. McCrackett, (anti-Benton.) All the officers were elected for the extra session only.

We do not see Dr. Shelby's politics stated, but believe he is a Bentonian. The whigs seem to have held the balance of power and divided the loaf as to the clerkships.

WANT OF FOOD IN THE UNITED STATES.—The Rev. Mr. Thompson, of New York, now in Europe, in a letter from Liverpool, speaking of his fellow passengers, says:

"Others still were returning to England disappointed with their experience in 'the States'—one because he could not get enough to eat and drink in America; in England he always had good wages, five meals a day and plenty of beer, whereas a farmer in Western New York gave him only pork and water three times a day."

This is truly a rich specimen of a Johnny Bull,—who never should have emigrated from his own county,—certainly not from his own country,—but who now goes back better prepared than ever to be a happy man at home as long as he lives,—and he will be very useful in checking the otherwise too rapid tide of emigration. But eating is as much an English passion, as working is the passion of a Yankee.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY AT MANCHESTER, N. H.—On Monday evening, at Manchester, near Amoskeag, Mr. Wm. Thomas, who had just returned from California, was knocked down by two men, and robbed of $400 in money, and a gold pencil.

CIGARS.—The annual cost of cigars in the United States, is computed at twenty millions of dollars. Who is benefitted thereby?—Manchester Mirror.

We answer—The planter, cigar maker, seller, &c. And a smoker, standing by, adds, the smokers have the benefit of a vast amount of stupidity, brought on by the practice.

POLITICAL.—A rumor is current that Mr. Webster will, in the course of the week, address a letter from Marshfield to his political friends, recommending the disuse of his name as an independent candidate for the Presidency. We know nothing as to the truth of this rumor, and state merely the fact of its currency.—Boston Transcript.

The Bee contradicts it.

ACCIDENTAL DEATHS.—In Boston on Tuesday forenoon, Mr. Jonathan Cash, colored, who resided at No. 103 Chambers street.—had been engaged in trimming grape vines in the back yard of his house, on a ladder about ten feet high. He was found on the pavement below, senseless, with two of his ribs fractured. He had probably lost his hold and fallen from the ladder to the pavement. He was conveyed into the house, and a physician called. He lived about two hours after the occurrence, which happened about 10 1-2 in the forenoon. He was 84 years of age, and leaves a wife and one child.

Henry Cohen, a glazier, engaged in setting glass in the store, No. 6 Brighton street, fell from a fourth story window on Tuesday forenoon, and was instantly killed. His skull was fractured and one of his arms broken.—He lived at 16 Marion street, was a native of Poland, and had a wife and one child.

Orson Bean, a carpenter, was killed on Tuesday afternoon, by a fall from a building in Lexington street, East Boston. Mr. Bean lived in Lexington street, and was about 45 years of age.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.—On Sunday last, George Ide, a son of Mr. Amos Ide, of Pawtucket, was playing in a hay-loft with some other boys, when in jumping from one beam to another, he fell a distance of about ten feet, striking on a stake in a wagon below. He was literally impaled, the stake entering his back and coming out of his abdomen. The accident happened at 11 o'clock, A. M., and the poor sufferer died at 9 in the evening.

DECEASED.—Mr. Dixy Shackford; the engineer on the Atlantic Railroad who had his feet badly crushed by being run over by a locomotive last week, at Bethel, died through the effects of the wounds, on Monday, after having had his legs amputated. He was brought to this city the same day, for burial. Portland Advertiser.

DEATH OF PROF. NORTON.—It becomes our painful duty to announce the death on Sept. 5, of John P. Norton, Professor of Agricultural Chemistry in Yale College. Mr. N. was a young man of high attainments in his profession, and justly esteemed for his moral and social qualities by a large circle of acquaintances.—New Haven Register.

NO "EXTRA SESSION," AND WHY?—It was announced, the moment Congress adjourned on Tuesday, that the President had called an extra session of the Senate. It proved to be a mistake—though it would seem that the Senate had a very narrow escape from being called together again. It appears from a Washington letter that one hour before the time fixed for the adjournment, at noon, on Tuesday, the Senate had not confirmed the nomination of Mr. Hall, there being a disposition on the part of two or three Senators, to talk out the hour till 12 o'clock, when the session would expire and the nomination would fail.

Mr. Hall would not resign as Post Master General, nor did the President wish him to do so, unless he was confirmed as Judge of the United States District Court. The President under these circumstances, prepared a message calling the Senate to meet Tuesday at 12 o'clock, to receive communications from him.—This becoming known to the Senate, and as they did not wish to be detained, they confirmed Mr. Hall's nomination, and Mr. S. D. Hubbard's, as Post Master General,—the President then letting them off with a message that he had no further communication to make.

GAMBLER TURNED PERSECUTOR.—On Tuesday City Marshal Thurston, of Lynn, was sued by Owen Garrity, who was arrested and examined a few days since, on complaint for gambling near the muster field. The suit was brought against the Marshal for damages, in imprisoning him (Gerrity) and retaining his gambling implements and money, (the latter of which was proffered him, but refused unless the instruments by which it was gained accompanied it,) and for the disgrace and insult imposed upon him by searching him prior to his imprisonment for examination. Trial to come off third week in September at Newburyport.

Some villian, on Saturday night, entered the enclosure of J. H. W. Page, Esq., on Hawthorn street, and killed a fine calf there kept. The trespasser then dressed the animal and carried off the flesh. The hide and hoofs were left upon the ground. The calf was of a very superior stock, and one which Mr. Page was raising with much interest.—New Bedford Mercury, 7th.

Hon. George Evans has given an emphatic contradiction to the report that he had refused to appear as a witness in the case of the Gardiner claim.—Portland Advertiser.

Stephen Holt, projector and for some time owner of Holt's Hotel, died in New York, on Sunday morning last, at the advanced age of 70 years.

Lieutenants of the French Navy, who have been two years at sea in the grade of lieutenant, by a recent decree of Louis Napoleon, are declared competent to exercise commands at sea.

LIEUT. LITTLE, of the United States Navy, died very suddenly in Baltimore on Saturday last, of disease of the heart. Deceased was a native of Maryland, and entered the service Jan. 1, 1818. He stood at or near the head of the list of lieutenants at the time of his death.

THE SEASON AT SARATOGA.—The Saratoga Whig says the number of visiters who registered their names in the hotels at that place, from June 28th to August 30th, was 17,570; and thinks that the entire number for the season, including those who put up at private houses, will exceed 30,000.

SARATOGA is now desolate, compared with what it was a few days since. But few families from other parts of the country are remaining. There are some few coming in, but there are twice as many going away. The principal hotels are well nigh desorted.

Democratic State Convention in Massachusetts.

TROUBLE AMONG THE DEMOCRACY.

WORCESTER, Sept. 8.

The Democratic State Nominating Convention met to-day at Worcester, and nominated John W. Bishop, now Judge on the Common Pleas bench and a Free Soil Democrat, for Governor.

The Old Hunkers bolted the nomination and will call a special Convention to put forward a regular Hunker ticket.

BOSTON, Sept. 8.

A forgery of $200 in the name of Lewis & Clapp, merchants on Central wharf, was presented at the Counter of Shawmut Bank today, by a boy who was directed so to do by a man who met him in Charlestown.

MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.—A dispatch from Fitchburg Sept. 8, gives some particulars of the great Democratic State Convention, which assembled there at 10 A. M. The proceedings were excited and stormy—Nath'l Wood, (coalition,) had 805 votes for President; Charles G. Greene, (national) had 127. A resolution was offered, denouncing the coalition, but not acted on fully, when the account closed; it would of course be rejected.

VERMONT ELECTION.—In 25 towns, the vote for Governor is Robinson, dem. 2176; Brainard, f. s. 726; Fairbanks, whig, 4226. House 32 whigs, 14 dem. 3 f. s. so far. The whigs claim all the three members of Congress.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.

Col. James Goodhue, of New Hampshire, editor of the Minnesota Pioneer, is dead.

MORE GOLD COMING.—Letters received per Northern Light, say it is believed the Panama boat will have on freight from $1,500,000 to $1,800,000.

THE FISHERIES.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says the fish difficulty is almost settled, but that Admiral Seymour has received orders through Mr. Crampton, since the adjournment of Congress, to seize every Yankee vessel fishing within three miles of the colonial shores.

ANTI-RENT.—Albany, Sept. 7.—Gov. Hunt has issued a proclamation, offering a reward of $5,000 for the apprehension of any five of the disguised assailants upon the house of Mr. Shaw, in Berlin, Rensselaer co., on Saturday last, and a proportionate sum for a less number, to be paid on conviction.

TELEGRAPH IN NOVA SCOTIA.—Halifax, N. S. Sept. 7.—The Nova Scotia telegraph line, heretofore owned by the Government of this province, has been purchased by a private company, of which the Hon. S. Cunard is President. The line is to be put in the very best repair, and will be worked by gentlemen who are thoroughly acquainted with their business and fully aware of the importance of doing their business promptly and correctly. The tolls between here and Calais, Me., have been reduced to 15 cents on the first 10 words, and 1 cent on each added word.

RETURN OF A FUGITIVE.—The Charleston papers states that a gentleman from Alabama passed through that city on the 21st inst., with a slave of his, who had escaped some time since to Canada. Asking him what he wanted, he stated that he had been residing in Canada, and after having suffered innumerable hardships, he had determined to retrace his steps, and return to the home which he had so abruptly quitted.

A Man in Biddeford, Me., was convicted of selling liquor near the Camp Meeting, in Kennebunk, last week. He was fined fourteen dollars, which was paid. The offender thought this a hard case, as he had sold only about a dollar's worth of the forbidden article.

VENTILATED CARS.—Another invention, called Waterbury's Ventilator, has been applied to railroad cars. The New Haven Courier gives the following account of it:

"The invention is a very simple one, and consists merely in a connection formed between all the cars by enclosing the platforms, so that the external air, with the dust, smoke and cinders, are entirely excluded from the usual ways of ingress. The front of the baggage car is open, but protected from the smoke of the locomotive by a screen. The air rushes in through the front of the car, and circulates freely through the whole length of the train, keeping up at all times a gentle motion of the air, without the possibility of annoyance from dust, &c. The passengers on the train were all delighted with its operation. It has its advantage over Mr. Paine's recently invented ventilator, that when the air is at rest, the passengers have the free use of the ordinary means of ventilation by doors and windows, and thus the intolerable heat is avoided, while there is no fear of the admission of smoke which forces itself into Paine's ventilators, when passing under bridges, or on a wet day, when the wind is dead ahead, and rolls it along the roof."

JAPAN AND HOLLAND.—In the foreign news just received by the Arctic, one of the most interesting articles in the following extract by the London Morning Chronicle, from a Dutch newspaper, referring to Japan, and touching our own essay towards opening a trade with that hitherto exclusive country.

"The Staats Courant publishes an important communication from the Colonial Department, relative to the past and present relations of Holland with Japan. It appears from this official document that the reports of the intervention of Holland to prevent the departure of the American expedition and the abandonment of the project by the United States in consequence of which the authorities of Java had permitted their country to be entered in order to arrange the question, is unfounded. All that the government of Holland proposed to do was to address to that of Japan an amicable despatch with the view of preparing a favorable reception for Commodore Perry, and to point out the advantages that would result to Japan from the opening of its ports to foreign commerce, as the Emperor of China had done in 1842. It is not improbable that the negotiation may be crowned with success, and that Commodore Perry, on arriving within sight of the coast, will find little difficulty in the negotiations he is directly sent to bring about with the Imperial Court. At the same time it is right to declare that the Netherlands government has not ceased since 1844, to induce the Imperial government of Japan to relax its system of exclusion.

EFFECT OF AUSTRALIAN EMIGRATION.—By the Arctic we learn that the tide of emigration to Australia had experienced little diminution. From London alone the departures average a thousand a week, and from Liverpool, Glasgow, and other ports they are still more numerous. One ship from London, a few days since, took out more than 700 passengers, and the Great Britain, which sailed from Liverpool on the 21st, had on board upward of 630. The London correspondent of the New York Commercial writes under date of August 26th:

The effect of all this upon the market is becoming every day more palpable, and in the course of a year or two that miserable degree of dependence and want of self-respect which was formerly to be observed among some of our poorer classes, will be almost unknown. During the present harvest the scarcity of hands is severely felt, and in many branches of manufacture the same thing is noticeable. In the Irish linen trade this has been particularly the case for some time past; and hence, while finished fabrics have been in short supply, yarns have been sold at low prices and exported to the continent, the manufacturers not having men enough to work them up.

Many among both the landlords and the mill owners of course look upon these things with an evil eye, and predict all sorts of consequences; but the fact is that trade and agriculture will rapidly be stimulated by the change, since in all departments of industry the redundancy of labor has long had a tendency more or less to check that extensive introduction of machinery for which our abundant capital would otherwise afford such great facilities. Even at the present time there are many districts where farmers would be afraid to use reaping machines, lest it should expose them to ill will. It will be time enough to complain of the want of men for monotonous and mechanical duties, when we have exhausted all the cheaper methods which science has made known.

WHITE MOUNTAIN BALL.—The Ball at the Gorham Station House, on Friday evening, from the accounts given by those who were present, must have been a very pleasant affair. There were about three hundred visitors at the Station House, some two hundred of whom joined in the dancing, which was confined to the dining hall, that spacious apartment having been fitted up for the occasion. The supper, served up in the ladies large parlor, was arranged in elegant style, and embraced every rarity that heart could wish.—The dancing was kept up with animation till 4 o'clock Saturday morning.—Portland Advertiser.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Three boys, riding in a revolving swing, at the muster ground in West Boylston, on Tuesday, were precipitated from their seats. One of them caught by the arm of the swing, and sustained himself, but the other two fell about twenty feet to the ground. One of them named Holbrook, from Clinton, was so severely injured, that his recovery is not expected. The other was badly bruised, but is not dangerously wounded.

MIGHTY RISKS FOR A TRIFLING GAIN.—The great disproportion of the certain risk with the possible gain, which is incurred by the captains of the Atlantic steamers, in their criminal attempts to approach as near as possible to Cape Race, has been frequently alluded to in this paper in terms of earnest reprobation. But it may be that an exact statement of the possible amount of advantage to be derived from their hazardous adventures will be the most successful eloquence. An accurate computation shows that the whole amount, by which the distance from Cape Clear in Ire and to Nantucket can be shortened from the path in which a ship might sail and not approach nearer than 60 miles to Cape Race, cannot possibly be more than ten miles! These immense risks have then been run only to effect a saving of ten miles! Have the commanders of the steamers known this fact, so easy to be ascertained? or have they been recklessly ignorant of their profession?—Boston Transcript.

HISTORY OF WORDS.—The history of words is the history of trade and commerce. Your very apparel is a dictionary.

"The 'bayonet' tells us that it was first made at Bayonne—'cambrics' that they came from Cambray—'damask' from Damascus—'arras' from the city of the same name—'cordwain' or 'cordova' from Cordova—'currants' from Corinth—the 'guinea,' that it was originally coined of gold brought from the African coast so called—'camlet,' that it was woven at least in part of camel's hair. Such has been the manufacturing of England, that we now send our calicoes and muslins to India and the East, yet the words give standing witness that we once imported them hence, for 'calico' is from Calicut, and 'muslin' from Moussel, a city in Asiatic Turkey."

EXPLOSIVE STORES.—The Ogdensburg News says that at the late fire in that town, one very remarkable fact occurred creating a great deal of alarm; viz., the explosion or bursting, of the flagging in front of the burnt ing buildings. The flags were of Potsdam stone, and the action of the heat caused them to explode, with a noise as loud as the report of a musket, throwing the fragments as high as twenty feet in the air.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.—Cincinnati, Monday, Sept. 6, 1852.—A man named Peter Redding, killed a woman named Christiana Krama, on Saturday evening, by cutting her head open with an axe—he afterward cut his own throat. The cause was disappointment in love.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1852.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The Great Democratic Convention at Fitchburg on Wednesday, nominated Henry W. Bishop for Governor. The vote for Bishop was 835 out of 1132 cast, those not thrown for him being divided between Pliny Merrick and David Henshaw. Resolutions were passed endorsing the Baltimore Platform;—but the resolution disapproving of the Coalition was rejected:—after which, (says the Boston Post,) "Some seventy or eighty delegates withdrew, went to the Town Hall and organised by the election of S. D. Bradford, Esq., as chairman, and then chose a state committee, and a committee to act as its members might think expedient hereafter in relation to nominations."

The Mail states the seceders as numbering three or four hundred—but probably they were not all delegates. It will be seen that there were about 300 votes against Bishop, all of whom are probably "National Democrats,"—but all of this party did not secede.

The "National Democrats," whose proceedings are reported in the Boston Courier, dedounced the convention they left, as "a mob meeting—as "in favor of coalescing," &c. and as refusing "to pass a resolution against such a coalition."

They then passed four strong resolutions, the first endorsing the Baltimore Platform, and the other three condemning all coalitions with Abolitionism and the free soil party.

After this secession, the regular Convention, however, concluded its business by nominating Hon. James D. Thompson, for Lieut. Gov. and Col. Greene of the Post, with James S. Whitney, as Democratic electors at large.

"CROWNER'S QUEST LAW."

The Reindeer.—The New York Commercial Advertiser publishes a corrected list of the killed, scalded and missing by the explosion of the Reindeer. The number of dead is 29—scalded, of whom several cannot recover, 20—missing 13. The evidence adduced before the New York jury tends to show that the explosion was the result of a defect in the iron of which the flue was composed. The engineer testified that "he did not remember blowing off steam from the time he left New York."

The verdict of the jury is in substance,—that the pipe burst, [which every body knew before]—and that they do not know who is responsible or to blame, [which amounts to nothing.]

The maker of the boiler, Mr. John Murphy, gave the following testimony with regard to the boiler of the boat:—

"I think this boiler, if perfect, could carry 50 to 60 pounds of steam to the square inch with perfect safety. But there is a manifest defect in the iron in the exploded part, perfectly visible to the eye. I went inside of the boilers to see the exploded part. I made this boiler. I believed the iron sound or I would not have put it in. The fire burnt away one part of the thickness of the iron. It was not perfectly welded together by the manufacturer of the iron. This defect would in a majority of cases be most likely to be detected in making the boiler and fitting the iron in these flues; but the defect in this iron in the exploded part was not detected, but in a majority of cases it would be detected; when we work the iron we tell by the edge of the iron being solid and sound; but sometimes the iron may be solid on the edge but yet may not all be solid through the centre, and it is not discoverable, and cannot with the utmost skill be detected."

Mr. Woods Baker has died since the last reports, making the whole number of deaths thirty.

THE EDITORIAL CHAIR.

Here it is, new, fresh and bright—convenient and ample—too ample for our dimensions, —but the donor, (Mr. Porter, chair-maker, Ladd street,) doubtless thought there was room enough for us to grow; and so there is. But after all, in a man, especially in an editor, if he have, as he ought to have, a sound mind in a healthy body, it matters little whether that body weighs one hundred weight, two or three.

So taking our seat in the new and comfortable chair, we address ourselves to the business of making new and comfortable editorials, in the same spirit as John Bunyan's Pilgrim addressed himself to his journey.

We hope our readers may perceive as great superiority in the editorials written in the new chair, over those connected in the old, as we do in the new chair itself over its illustrious [?] predecessor.

The New York Herald of Wednesday morning has an editorial of nearly a column, recommending "a national convention" in behalf of Mr. Webster.

Granite Club.—The Portsmouth Granite Club will meet this evening at the Democratic Head Quarters, in the Hall over the N. H. Gazette office.

The wrong Tool.—A Predicament.—A typo who worked in Manchester not long since, was accustomed to keep a tooth-brush in the office. He frequently found it misplaced, but could not learn by whom. Coming into the office rather suddenly one afternoon, he found the "imp" employed in cleaning his teeth with his brush! He sung out to the defiler, "What are you about with that brush? I cleaned my nails with it this morning!"

Cleaning his throat and spitting lustily, the urchin responded, in his consternation and horror, "Ah! Ah! I haven't swallowed a bit!."

One way to get the Chronicle.—Yesterday afternoon, after every paper was sold, we had "some" half score of calls to buy a paper—as has often happened before. This occurrence cannot always be prevented where papers are sold: the first purchaser takes them. But to those who subscribe for a year or for a quarter, we send the papers regularly and warrant their safe and early delivery.

National Row.—Quite a fight took place on Tuesday afternoon, at Pray's wharf, between some American laborers, and some Irishmen who had underbidden them in a job of work. The fray was continued by adjournment in the evening, and finished by piling up the Irishmen in a heap. There were a dozen or fifteen engaged on each side.

One man, who was locked up in jail at the end of the fray on Tuesday night, was present when a crowd collected again on Wednesday, but were dispersed by the Mayor's order.—The man requested to be locked up again for his own safety; and the request was complied with. He was an Irishman.

Important Decision.—Judge Harris, of Albany, has decided the case of the people, vs. Wm. Van Rensselaer, involving the validity of the Manor title, and the decision is adverse to the title. That is, that Mr. Van Rensselaer holds the occupied lands by virtue of possession, but that to the unoccupied lands he has no title.—Boston Post.

This is indeed, very important; as it is well known that most of the wild lands throughout the old States were seized by one great man or other a hundred years ago or more, and are now held under his deeds.

Improved Navigation.—Among the important business transacted by the government last week at the executive session, an agreement was made, to have the snags removed out of the St. John river.

Social Temperance Union.—A day or two since, we published an article on the rowdyism of the Social Temperance Union, Boston. From subsequent reports of the affair in the Boston Courier and other papers, we refer that there was no Temperance at all in the "Union," except in the name; but that it was an association for indulgence in various familiarities and freedoms, with the above name for a cloak. This, if true, removes all the mystery.

Prison Whiskey.—In our Albany prices we notice "prison whiskey,"—a most appropriate name. A glass or two extra very often sends some poor fellow to the lock-up, not to mention delirium tremens and other horribles. Beware of prison whiskey.

Mr. Andrew J. Roberts has furnished our office with likenesses of Gen. Pierce and Col. King. He informs us that he is about to visit Ohio, take the stump, carry that State for Pierce, and then return hither to supply all with the likeness of the fortunate candidates.

Lecture on the Eye.—Dr. C. B. Brainerd lectured in the Temple on Wednesday evening, on the Eye and Eye sight, to a large miscellaneous audience—and at the close, used his optical instruments on about a dozen volunteer patients from the audience. Some of them were sensibly benefitted for the time being; and if any reliance at all can be placed on documentary evidence,—there is reason to hope for their permanent relief from optical disability.

Colored Convention.—A despatch from Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 8, says there was a large attendance to-day at the State Convention of colored people. George Conoperlin was the president. The meeting was ably addressed by Rev. Mr. Pennington of New York city, and others. To-morrow the jubilee in commemoration of the deeds of colored soldiers takes place.

Potato Disease in the British Provinces.—The potato blight has made its appearance at Conception Bay. The Harbor Grace Herald affirms that symptoms of the blight have also appeared in that district, and at Scilly Cove, Heart's Content, and New Perlican. Some of the people were mowing down the stalks to arrest the progress of the disease.

We learn from the Charlestown, S. C. Courier of the 4th, that several terrific whirlwinds passed through Edgefield district on Friday. The roofs were blown from many houses, trees, fences, and outhouses prostrated. The crops were considerably damaged.

Support your own mechanics and they will support you. Support your own merchants and they will support you. Support the home press and it will support you.

ODD RENCOUNTER.

"Misery sometimes makes a man acquainted with strange bed-fellows."

The Concord Daily Patriot contains a letter from Detroit, in which among other things he makes mention of the steamer Atlantic, now sunk in the waters of the lake, and says:—

A singular rencounter took place on the Lake, after the accident. A certain Mr. T. of this city, and his son, had contrived to launch a table, before the boat sunk, and clinging to it were floating about very securely, when they saw a man swimming towards them. As the table was sufficiently large to keep three out of water, the father invited him to "to draw up to the table," which hospitality he of course accepted. He found him to be an acquaintance, and upon introducing him to his son, they immediately recognized one another as old comrades in Col. Stevenson's Regiment, and had parted in California a year since, to meet on Lake Erie floating about in one hundred and fifty feet of water. The ludicrous part of the affair was, that upon being introduced by Mr. T. and before recognizing each other, they each of them, let go one hand and shook hands across the table with as much coolness as they would have done had they been introduced in the street.

A Sad Coincidence.—The New York Courier of the 8th, speaking of the victims of the Reindeer explosion, says:

Prof. McCullough, of Princeton College, went up yesterday morning, charged by the wife of Mr. Woods Baker to receive his last communications, but Mr. B. expired before the train arrived. Prof. McC. and Mr. Baker were intimate friends, and it is a noticeable circumstance that a mutual friend, Mr. Reynolds, while on his way to Philadelphia, to act as groomsman for Mr. Baker, a year ago, lost his life by the explosion of a steam boiler. Prof. McCullough returned to the city with the body of Mr. B.

Women's Rights Convention.—Syracuse, Sept. 8.—The National Woman's Rights Convention met in this city this morning at 10 o'clock, and organized by the choice of the following officers: President—Lucrecia Mott; Vice Presidents—Pauline W. Davis, of Rhode Island; E. Oakes Smith, of N. York; Clementina W. Nichols, Brattleboro'; Gerrit Smith, and Sarah L. Miller, Pa.; Secretaries—Susan B. Anthony, Rochester; M. C. Wright, Auburn; S. J. May and Lydia Fowler.

A business committee reported that inasmuch as many of the institutions handed down to us from the past like heir-looms, are felt to be only time-honored hindrances to human progress, and opposed to that divine truth which gives light to the world; therefore, resolved, that it is our duty to examine these institutions, in order to ascertain which of them are still worthy of honor and support—which we should seek to reform, and which we should set aside; that it is the right of every woman holding property, and as a citizen also of the republic, to resist taxation until such time as she is fully represented at the ballot box. The meeting was then adjourned.

The hall was well filled, and the convention orderly and enthusiastic. The convention was held both afternoon and evening, but adjourned without doing any business.

The "Hen Convention" assembled in Boston on Tuesday, under the great tent in the Public Garden. There was some gabbling during the morning hour, but after that everything went on most harmoniously. The feathered species is fully represented, and there are many elegant specimens in the Convention. The Courier says—"The show, as usual, attracts much attention, and the number of visitors was very large. Sales of birds have already commenced, and some brought very high prices. Mr. Charles Sampson, of the firm of Phillips & Sampson, paid $50 for a pair of grey Chittagong fowls, and for a second pair $25."

A New Book.—Studies on Slavery, in Easy Lessons, Compiled into Eight Studies, and sub-divided into short Lessons for the convenience of readers. By John Fletcher, of Louisiana. Fifth Thousand. Natchez: Jackson Warner. Boston: Little & Brown.

This book is not an apology for slavery, but an argument in its favor. It contains 625 pages, and was printed (says the Boston Post) in Philadelphia, and "may be properly commended to northern readers as embodying nearly or quite all that can be said in favor of slavery, whether by citations from the Jewish Scriptures, or by argument based upon usage, legalities and the fitness of things. It is a very learned production, most certainly; and in style and tone is calm and dignified. Of the result of its reasonings it is unnecessary to speak, since much of it is based upon scriptural premises, the soundness of which, in secular matters, is not universally admitted in these latter days."

Naval.—At the Brooklyn navy yard, the repairs on frigate Independence are not yet completed, and she still remans in the United States naval dry dock. The Constitution, Fredonia, Marion and Dolphin, are ready for sea, but are waiting orders. The latter is to be despatched on a deep sea sounding expedition.

Corn and Flour.—Albany, Sept. 8,—The receipts since our last—flour 6000 bbls. wheat 7000 bushels, corn 23,000 do. barley 3000 do. Flour steady—sales 1800 bbls. Wheat—no sales. Corn lower. 20,000 bushels changed hands at 67 for unsound, 68 1-2 sound mixed. Prison whiskey 24 1-4.

Philadelphia Mint.—The amount of gold coinage at the Mint in Philadelphia during the month of August was $4,285,387, in 492,974 pieces, of which 178,974 were dollars.

The amount of silver coinage in the same period, was $61,498, in 2,078,278 pieces, of which 1,436,000 were three cent pieces.

The amount of gold bullion deposited was $2,675,000, and of silver $28,500. The amount of gold deposited in eight months from the commencement of the year was $32,049,035.

Railroad Movements.—At the meeting of the Boston & Maine Railroad, on Tuesday, in Exeter, the Stockholders were astounded by the following vote, proposed by Mr. Shattuck, of Boston, and seconded by Mr. Crane:

Voted, that the Directors be requested [if they think it expedient] to obtain a controlling influence in the operation and management of the Cocheco railroad, by lease or otherwise, in conformity to law, provided the same can be had at an expense not exceeding six per cent. on the cost thereof, and accompanied with the right and power of using and controlling the charter of the proposed railroad between Dover and Portsmouth.

The words in brackets having been inserted as an amendment.

Mr. Crane spoke in favor—several others against the vote

Mr. Howe proposed the following amendment to the vote adding the following words: Provided, that the final action upon the subject shall be had by the stockholders upon due notice thereof. This amendment was accepted by the mover, and the proposition having became in fact entirely harmless by the amendments, it was adopted.

Obstacles Overcome.—On Tuesday night, Barnard Connelly gave his daughter consent in writing, to her marriage with Patrick Coyle, who was held for trial on charge of enticing the girl from her father's house. Constable Sanborn succeeded in procuring bail for Coyle, and he was liberated and immediately married by Father Dorherty.—Boston Journal.

The Venetian Government, it is said has ordered an alteration to be made in the Lord's Prayer. When the people say "deliver us from evil," the officials think it means them.

Old Bible.—At Worcester, Mass., in the rooms of the Antiquarian Society, there is a copy of the Bible printed in Venice, in 1447, being forty-five years before the discovery of America.

He was taken from the water, immediately commenced vomiting, and died the next day.

BANK ROBBERY.—A bank was broken open in Foster, Rhode Island, on Tuesday night, and robbed of $10,000, in bills.

EXECUTION.—At Newcastle, Del., Sept. 8, Samuel Ward, a colored man, was executed for the murder of George A. Davidson, of Delaware city, on 6th of May.

MONEY FOUND.—A slave, belonging to a gentleman about eight miles from Norfolk, dug up, a few days since, a keg of silver, containing $1000. At first it was supposed to be a portion of the Portsmouth bank plunder; but on examination of the coin it was found to be dated as far back as 1828.—Richmond Despatch.

MILK.—In Worcester, a short time since, the milkmen of that city cut down their milk measures from beer to wine measure. The people are not satisfied, and are "taking measures" to supply themselves with milk at the old rates.—Boston Courier.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.—On Friday last, a little son, 7 or 8 years old, of a Mr. Horton, living about a mile above this village, met with an accident which caused almost instant death. The little fellow was amusing himself by climbing upon a harrow that was leaning against the side of a barn, when his weight causing the harrow to incline the other way, it fell on him, crushing one of its iron teeth into the little fellow's skull, producing almost immediate death.—Poughkeepsie Tel.

BOSTON AND MAINE RAILROAD.—The stockholders of this Road met at Exeter, N. H., on Wednesday, and made choice of the following Directors:—Southworth Shaw, Jas. Howard, George W. Kittredge, John Flint, and George O. Kuhn. Mr. Shaw will probably be elected President of the road.

In giving a recent instance of the expertness of Chinese thieves, the victim was reported to be the ship Reliance, of Boston. It should have been a vessel which was a Whampoa in company with her. Our informant understood the words "one vessel" to be "our vessel."—Daily Advertiser.

THE SICK RESTORED TO HEALTH.

DR. FITCH'S MEDICINES.

Pulmonary Balsam, Pectoral Expectorant, Depurative Syrup, Cough and Dyspeptic Drops, Specific Mixture, Pills for Diarrhœa or Bleeding Lungs, and several other medicines; for which the reader is referred to Dr. Fitch's Health Almanac, which is free, and to his Lectures, which will give more instruction in regard to consumption, its causes, its symptoms, its treatment, than any other book. Price 37 cents.

Since the subscriber has been agent, he has received the following letter:

HAMPTON, July 17.

Mr. Joseph P. Morse, Dear Sir—Please send me one more bottle of Balsam, and one bottle of Pectoral Expectorant. My daughter took a violent cold last winter, which settled on her lungs, followed by severe night sweats and general decline till spring, when bleeding at the lungs commenced, and great prostration followed. Her doctor told her she was too far gone to be cured. At this time, when in Portsmouth, I received a Health Almanac describing Dr. Fitch Medicines.—As a last resort, I resolved to try it. The result is the restoration of my daughter to health. One of my neighbors is now using it with every prospect of success.

I make this statement freely, to induce others to try it. I fully believe it saved my daughter's life.

Respectfully yours, ELIZA GILMAN.

While so many are dying with consumption, I think Dr. Fitch's system of practice, merits an examination. His mechanical Remedies, Book and all his medicines, are for sale by J. P. MORSE, authorised Agent, No. 29 Congress street. a23

CUBA.—The Boston Courier says that well informed persons, masters of vessels, and others recently from the island, are very decidedly of the opinion that there is no revolutionary feeling among the planters and residents on the island.

Application has been made to the Cortes by the people of Madeira, praying them to grant the people of Madeira, praying them to grant permission for the free growth of tobacco in that Island, as the grape crop had entirely failed.

Another duel was fought on Saturday, near New Orleans, between two Spaniards. They fought with broadswords, and it is reported that one of the combatants had his head nearly severed from his body.

AUSTRIA AND HUNGARY.—A letter from Vienna, of the 27th, in the Lloyd, states that preparations have been begun for the entry of the Emperor on his return from Hungary.—Not less than eight triumphal arches are to be erected. The Vienna correspondent of the London Chronicle, in describing the young Emperor's reception in Hungary, says:

"The Elyens are few and far between, "Vivat" being the mot d'ordre for the peasantry. This particularly struck the young monarch at a certain village near Neutra, where the country population, that had been hunted up by the gendarmes to salute the Emperor, had assembled by the roadside for that purpose. "Why "Vivat?" exclaimed the monarch to the Richter; "can they not shout "Elyen?"

"Sire," replied the official, scratching his head, "it is difficult to explain the reason to your Majesty."

"Fear nothing," replied the Sovereign, "and speak out."

"Well, sire, I have done my best with them; but when they cry "Elyen!" they always add the name of Kossuth, from mere habit. I thought it better, therefore, to teach them to cry "Vivat!"

A FAIR HIT.—The London Punch comments as follows upon the habit of detraction so prevalent in the United States during political contests, and which leads the partizans of one candidate to heap denunciation and abuse on the other:

"As usual, the Americans have nominated two of their worst men for the Presidency.—It occasionally happens that some of the model republicans appear to rise high above the level of our ordinary humanity, and are weakly supposed by their admirers to have attained some eminence in the field or the forum; but let them only be named as candidates for some high office, and all the world immediately discovers that they are the meanest and most despicable of men, the very smallest of earth's reptiles."

It is a drawn game at present between the two parties as to which shall abuse the opposite candidate the most. Aspiring politicians should take heed to their steps; for a magnifying glass, to which Lord Rosse's telescope is a trifle, will be applied to their peccadilloes the moment they become candidates for the Presidency. They should especially avoid taking "hasty plates of soup," and falling from their horses.—Boston Transcript.

SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT WITH GUANO.—The New England Farmer says that Mr. Nathaniel Holden, of Shirley, states that he had on his farm some good land, good for nothing as he supposed but to hold the world together, but hearing of the good effects of guano, he determined to try an experiment with the article on it. He added guano and plaster of paris in equal quantities, and put one spoonful in each hill of corn, mixing it well with the loam. The result was 70 bushels of shelled corn to two acres of land. So well encouraged is he with his first experiment, that he will continue to use the article.

AN AWFUL TRAGEDY.—We have seldom heard of a tragedy so truly horrible and revolting, as one which took place a few days since at Brownstown, Pa. It seems that two brothers, Hiram and Warren Francisco, well known as respectable and peaceable citizens, who followed the occupation of clock peddling, had agreed to meet at a public house in the vicinity of Brownstown. One of the brothers reached the tavern about 9 o'clock in the evening, and inquired if his brother had arrived, and was informed that he had not.—The Cincinnati Nonpareil gives us the annexed particulars:

After eating his supper, he called for a light and asked to be shown to bed. The landlord informed him that he had no candles about the house, but if he would follow him, he would take him to bed. Francisco followed the landlord into a dark room, and undressed himself and retired to rest. The bed seemed to be wet, and having some matches about him, he struck a light. Upon examining the bed he found it was wet with blood! Discovering a candle on a table near by, he lit it, and, looking under the bed, saw the body of his brother, with his throat cut from ear to ear, and perfectly lifeless!

Fastening the door immediately, he proceeded to load a revolver which he had, but before he could do so there was an effort made by several men to enter his room. Pretending not to be alarmed, he asked them to wait until he dressed himself. As soon as he had finished loading his pistol he opened the door, and then the landlord and two men rushed on him, when he fired two barrels of his pistol, immediately killing the landlord and one of his accomplices, after which the other man fled.

HEATHENISM.—The Texas agent of the American Sunday School Union, in the course of his travels in that extensive field of labor, conversed with a mother, a lady of twenty-five years of age, born and raised within thirty miles of Houston, who had never heard a sermon preached. She, as might have been expected, manifested the utmost indifference on the whole subject of religion. In reply to the question, "Would you like to hear a sermon?" she said, "Yes, she would like to see how the preacher acted."

From the recently published minutes of the southern division of the Methodist church, we find that the number of white members is 387,954; colored, 138,113; Indians, 3327, making a total of 529,394. Travelling preachers, 1659; local preachers, 4036, making a grand total of 535,089, being an increase of 18,793 during the last ecclesiastical year.

PORTSMOUTH:

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1852.

SCOTT AND PIERCE.

We see these names often placed in opposition, as if they were or might be foes, as well as rival or opposite candidates for the presidency. Now we give a view of them on the field together, as friends and fellow soldiers, taken by Gen. Pierce himself, and communicated to Mr. Hawthorne, who has written a new life of Gen. Pierce.

One of the most interesting portions of this volume, (says the Transcript,) is in the extracts from the journal kept by General Pierce during his Mexican campaign, and intended only for the perusal of his family and friends. Mr. Hawthorne gives a lively description of the scene at the battle of Contreras, where the celebrated "fall from his horse" occurred. After addressing his men, General Pierce was pressing forward to the head of the column, and had nearly reached the practicable ground that lay beyond, when his horse slipped among the rocks, thrust his foot into a crevice, and fell, breaking his own leg, and crushing his rider heavily beneath him. The following account of his interview, after the accident, with Gen. Scott at Coyacan is new to us:

"The commander-in-chief had already heard of the accident that befell Pierce the day before; and as the latter approached, General Scott could not but notice the marks of pain and physical exhaustion, against which only the sturdiest constancy of will could have enabled him to bear up. "Pierce, my dear fellow," said he,—and that epithet of familiar kindness and friendship, upon the battle field, was the highest of military commendation from such a man,—"you are badly injured; you are not fit to be on the saddle." "Yes, general, I am," replied Pierce, "in a case like this." "You cannot touch your foot to the stirrup," said Scott. "One of them I can," answered Pierce. The general looked again at Pierce's almost disabled figure, and seemed on the point of taking his irrevocable resolution. "You are rash, General Pierce," said he; "we shall lose you, and we cannot spare you. It is my duty to order you back to St. Augustine." "For God's sake, general," exclaimed Pierce, "don't say that! This is the last great battle, and I must lead my brigade!" The commander-in-chief made no further remonstrance, but gave the order for Pierce to advance with his brigade."

FILE MACHINE.

We were invited yesterday to look at a file-cutting machine in the machine-shop of Jefferson McIntire, Esq.—on the very spot where Toppin Maxwell's bark-mill used to stand, and the building itself was some of Toppin's patchwork. The file machine, however, did not look much like Toppin's mill, nor act much like it. When he wished it to go, it went,—when bid to stop, it was stopped with a touch.

Mr. McIntire has been busy for years on machinery, and has labored to improve and perfect a file-cutter.

The machine now exhibited, is all of iron, compact and beautiful in appearance, exact and almost noiseless in its operation. We saw it cross-cut a 12 inch bastard file in 4 minutes,—and the operator said it could turn out from 12 to 15 dozen such files in one day.

The cutting is exact, and uniform, as to the size, depth, and shape of the teeth. The difficulty hitherto has been, that as the file varied in breadth and thickness, gradually from the swell in the middle towards the handle and the point, machines would not cut the teeth of uniform depth.

A self-adjusting apparatus in the new machine, obviates this difficulty, and cuts the teeth alike from end to end.

Exact and scientific observers might describe the machine in other terms,—but we believe these are plain enough to induce those who take an interest in such improvements, to look at the operation of this machine—and some perhaps, to take hold of it as a matter of profit.

A man in cutting files by hand, might cut about 1 1-2 dozen per day.

N. H. GARDENER.—The New Hampshire Kitchen, Fruit and Floral Gardener. By E. M. Tubbs. With Numerous Illustrations. Peterboro: E. C. Scott. Pamphlet, 103 pages, 3 vo.

This is a very good book, plain, simple, well written and arranged—printed on new pica type;—but badly printed as to the press-work, and on poor paper.

It is worthy of a good sale in New Hampshire; and of a better printed edition hereafter.

NEW BRUNSWICK.—The St. John Freeman of the 7th has the following paragraph:

"At the meeting of the executive, we are told, besides the fishery question, which was fully considered, the scarcity of copper coin and the super-abundance of snags in the St. John, engaged attention; and it was resolved that the one should be supplied and the other removed. This was perhaps a somewhat useful, if not a very brilliant or extraordinary result of the meeting."

SPIRIT OF THE BOSTON PRESS.

The Courier, (Webster whig) says Mr. Webster's health is improving, and that he "has written no letter upon the subject of the Presidential election, nor will he do so in a "few days." His friends have not solicited his advice as to how they should vote in November next, and as they have not, he will hardly volunteer it. All speculation and threats on the part of Mr. Webster's enemies are useless; they cannot break this silence."

From this we are to understand that he did not invite the "Webster movement," and will not discountenance it.

The Courier also says that the "National Democrats" will vote for the officers nominated by the regular convention—and deems their session a mere sham to get offices in case of Gen. Pierce's election.

The Post (Democratic) says:

"A crisis has come in the party which requires the exercise of forbearance, calm and judicious councils, and a determination to yield much in minor points, in order not to have it sounded over our Union that the democracy of Massachusetts are spending those blows on themselves which ought to be levelled against a common enemy."

Of the Coalition, the Post says:

"No democratic state convention has ever recommended it, or favored it, while the whole political sentiment of these conventions has been by inference against it."

On the election:—

"While there are things—of a local, state, and personal character, however—which we might comment on with a just severity, we invoke our friends to dwell on other matters—to rather dwell on the bright prospect which, everywhere out of Massachusetts the political horizon presents. Union among democrats everywhere marks the progress of the struggle, and things are fast tending to their legitimate results. The Ides of November will show these. Every political calculation worth a straw, prognosticates that then an overwhelming defeat awaits the imbecile, discreditable, sectional, whig national nominees."

The Transcript (moderate whig, almost independent) favorably notices Hawthorne's Life of Pierce, "and commends the volume itself to its Democratic friends as well worthy their extensive circulation."

The Daily Advertiser speaks of the Bill for payment of French Spoliations, and intimates that it was unfairly crowded off the course.

The Herald says:

"We hope the three parties into which our Commonwealth is divided will have a good time in the present campaign. They are pretty well mixed up, but November will straighten them out. Probably somebody will be elected President by the people, and we should not be surprised to see either of the prominent candidates placed in the Presidential chair by an overwhelming majority. The battle has not fairly begun, but the forces on both sides are rallying, and the indifference which they now apparently manifest is but the precursor of a brilliant campaign. Let neither party rely too much upon the apparent supineness of the other, for it may be like the calm which preceded the attack upon the castle of San Juan de Ulloa.

The Times (democratic) says:

"There has always been a large reserved democratic vote in Massachusetts, since 1844; and that vote can be got out if proper measures be taken to effect an end so desirable. Judge Bishop and General Pierce ought to receive 60,000 votes in Massachusetts."

CLERICAL POVERTY.—"We are most sorry to hear that the clergymen of Connecticut, whose calling would naturally lead one to expect different things, are about resolving to strike. The strike, though, is for higher salaries; the present salaries being so low that they do not afford them sufficient strength to creep up the pulpit stairs."—Manchester Mirror.

This is a humorous version of a serious complaint made by the clergy of the Episcopal Church in Connecticut, and echoed by those of other denominations in other States—that their average salaries are inadequate for comfortable living. There is some truth in it. The Boston Chronicle intimates that this scantiness of salary is the reason why so many clergymen sustain the liquor law.

HAWTHORNE ON THE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES.—In the new life of Gen. Pierce, by Hawthorne, he says of the two great parties in this country:—

"The two great parties of the nation appear—at least to an observer somewhat removed from both—to have nearly merged into one another; for they preserve the attitude of political antagonism rather through the effect of their old organizations, than because any great and radical principles are at present in dispute between them."

Then turning to the candidates, he draws the following contrast between Scott and Pierce:—

"It remains for the citizens of this great country to decide, within the next few weeks, whether they will retard the steps of human progress by placing at its head an illustrious soldier, indeed, a patriot, and one indelibly stamped into the history of the past, but who has already done his work, and has not in him the spirit of the present or of the coming time,—or whether they will put their trust in a new man, whom a life of energy and various activity has tested, but not worn out, and advance with him into the auspicious epoch upon which we are about to enter."

IMPORTANT ARRIVAL, Sept. 9th: the schr. Albany, from Portsmouth, N. H., via Hog Island, in charge of Deputy Marshal Hall, with a cargo of "white eye"—crew all well.

The cargo was deposited in the government store house, to be disposed of by Hon. Judge Fitch.—Portland Ade.

EUROPEAN ITEMS.

HAYNAU, the Austrian butcher and woman-whipper, has lately been insulted at a concert in Brussels, and though the insulters were arrested, yet the parties all being persons of character and position, were released immediately. After this, Haynau remained some little time at the concert, guarded by a knot of Belgian officers, and followed by the spectators in all his movements. As he returned from the concert to the hotel, he was again hissed, and a number of uncomplimentary cries were heard, but no violence was practised.

A few days ago, at the baths of Dagneres, in the Pyrennes, a party of gentlemen, making an excursion in the mountains, came upon the body of a man lying at the foot of a precipice, and partially covered with snow. On searching further, nine other bodies were discovered, in a position that indicated they had fallen from the heights and rolled from rock to rock. They were conveyed to the valley and buried.

On the night of the 23d, a collision, causing accident more or less severe to 20 persons, took place on the Lancaster and Yorkshire Railway through the carelessness of a signal man, who, on witnessing the smash, rushed to his cabin and hung himself.

The Vienna Gazette, of the 17th ult., has the following; "The Court Martial sitting in Vienna, has sentenced Maria Swabada, milliner, to 15 blows with rods and 14 days confinement in irons for verbal and actual injury to the officers of public security."

SONTAG, THE SINGER.

We have already announced the arrival of this distinguished songstress in New York.—The following is a brief sketch of her career as a songstress:

Henriette Sontag was born in Coblentz on the 13th of May, 1805. Her parents were actors, and her father was considered, in Southern Germany, as a thoughtful and excellent representative of comic characters—characters which often require for their levity more really true gravity than the highest walks of tragedy. A recent German publication of high authority says:

The effect of Sontag's first appearance upon the European stage, especially in Paris, was most wonderful. Besides the extraordinary purity, clearness and attractiveness of her voice, and its rare flexibility, she possessed a lightness, neatness and elegance of utterance quite unparalleled. If Pasta surpassed her in strength and fullness of expression, and Malibran in universality; if Catalani was her superior in facility and greatness of style, yet Sontag stands far above them in that refined delicacy of art which springs only from perfect cultivation. She does not astonish as much by the imposing strength of her tones, but she magically enchants us by their flute-like passages, which she for the most part produces with most perfect articulation, moving her hearers chiefly by the delicious quality of simple singing.

During 1848-9, Count Rossi lost all his property, and since that period, as our readers well know, his wife, with that devotion which is always characteristic of the true woman, has returned to the public practice of her noble art, (in concerts only,) in order to retrieve the disasters of revolution.

LARCENY.—On Tuesday afternoon, at Welch's Circus, near Bunker Hill, a number of persons were relieved of their watches and pocket-books. A man named Farr, who had just taken a watch worth $25 on trial, was relieved of the responsibility. He declares the watch did not go to suit him.

One poor fellow who had there lost a silver watch, waited patiently till the crowd had dispersed, and then searched every inch of the ground, innocently supposing that it had fallen from his pocket by accident. That man knows not the ways of this "sad, sad world." The pickpockets probably drove a profitable business.

Henry Kirkham was arrested in the act of robbing S. D. Madden of a pocket book containing $8. He was examined before Justice Warren, and sentenced to six months in the House of Correction.

SUICIDE.—A man named Patrick Bartlett recently committed suicide in Pike Co., Ala., by hanging himself soon after his marriage. He had been in love with a young lady, but was prevented, by some means, from marrying her, and wedded another. Soon after his marriage he carried his wife to see his parents, and there met the young lady, his former love, to whom he appeared to have been devotedly attached.

Their feelings upon meeting overcame their sense of propriety, and they rushed into each others' arms, embraced and were melted into tears. This seems to have revived, in a tenfold degree, his love for her; and after carrying his wife back to her parents, said he would go to Troy and mail a letter which he had written; but it appears he came to the determination on the way to destroy himself, which he did in the manner above described.

FROM THE BAY OF ST. LAWRENCE.—Capt. Harty of the schooner Iowa, which arrived at Gloucester on Friday, gives the same account that others have of there being plenty of mackerel in any part of that bay. He also speaks of the attempt made by some of the British cutters to decoy the Americans in shore by disguising their vessels like fishermen and appearing to have plenty of fish around them. Capt. Harty on going through the Gut was ordered off before he had obtained his water, notwithstanding he had been in port less than twenty-four hour. He says that the people of Prince Edward's Island complain bitterly of the restrictions placed on American vessels, as it interrupts their trade in wood, vegetables, &c., from which they formerly received quite a little income.—Boston Journal.

The New York Herald advises the discontinuance of the representation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the National Theatre. The Troy Post thinks, too, the occasion loudly calls for a Presidential Proclamation.

☞ The Free Soilers of New Market have procured a splendid U. S. Flag, which was spread to the breeze yesterday, bearing the inscription—"Liberty and Union. Free Soil, Free Speech and Free Men. Hale and Julian."

GREAT FIRE AT POINT LEVI, CANADA.—On Saturday last a destructive fire occurred at Point Levi, directly opposite Quebec, which destroyed thirty dwellings and six out buildings.

GENUINE FRENCH.—On the night of the 15th of August, the Prefect of La Dendogne caused to be placed in front of the Hotel de Ville of Periqueux a transparency, bearing the following words in lance work: Dieu fit Napoleon et se reposa; God made Napoleon and then rested himself!—N. Y. Mirror.

KILLING IN A PASSION.—David Gorman, living near Cincinnati, threw a chair at his wife, one day last week, and one of its rounds penetrated her body. Finding she was hurt, he picked her up, laid her on a bed, then went to the city for a surgeon, and was very attentive to her until she died, which occurred the next day. On her death bed, Mrs. Gorman requested that her husband should not be prosecuted, but he was taken and committed, charged with murder in the second degree.

INFORMATION WANTED.—A communication has been received by Mr. Gamble, Post Master of this city, from Dublin, Ireland, asking information of one Herbert Baldwin, who was in this city in 1841, since which time no tidings have been received from him. The communication states that by the death of his father he has fallen heir to an estate worth twenty thousand pounds.—St. Louis Intelligencer.

CHINESE EMIGRATION.—The San Francisco Herald of August 14th, says that the number of Chinese who have arrived at that port since the first day of January, 1852, from China and other ports on the Pacific, is 18,040. The number that have sailed since May 1st, 1852, is 71—thus leaving the number of 17,969 remaining in the country. Strange to say, of the above immense emigration, there are only 14 women, the majority of whom are in this city at the present time.

Messrs. Smith and Chapin of Auburn, N. Y., are about to commence the manufacture of Vulcanized Cloth, which is used for carriage tops, traveling bags, etc., and they expect to make an article which will take the place, in many cases, of patent leather, as for instance, in summer shoes—an article that will not be unfavorably affected by the weather.

INDIAN ROBBERIES.—Reports have been received from El Passo which state that Capt. White's California train lost all their animals by the Indians about thirty miles above that place.

ARRIVAL OF THE EUROPA.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.

Cotton closed at unchanged prices. Sales of this week 47,000 bales, of which 900 were to speculators, and 3000 for export.

Breadstuffs the same as per Arctic, though sales could not be made to any extent except at a further reduction.

Consols closed firm at 100. Railway shares flat. English funds steady. Money increased demand. The financial news is very favorable.

The agricultural accounts from Scotland are highly satisfactory, and are no less so from most parts of England.

ENGLAND.—The emigration to Australia continues unabated. The tonnage likely to sail by the end of September, from English and Scotch ports, is estimated at a little under 80,000.

London, Aug. 27.—We have had fine weather with but little interruption during the week. The Harvest is proceeding rapidly. The corn trade has consequently been dull, and wheat and flour are both rather cheaper.

IRELAND.—The Irish flax crop this season promises to be very abundant. Emigration, however, is telling very disadvantageously upon the Ulster linen manufacturers.

The potato disease appears to have stayed its progress—notwithstanding, there are still some complaints from particular localities.—The grain and green crops are generally abundant, and are rapidly being harvested, in good order. Oats are above an average crop.

There has been great diminution of paupers in the workhouses, owing to the demand for harvest laborers.

SWEDEN.—The town of Wasa, in Finland, was destroyed by fire on the 11th, only the court house and four buildings being left standing. The town was founded in 1606, and contained about 3200 inhabitants.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—A fire broke out on Central Wharf, Norwich, Ct., Sept. 8 at 10 o'clock A. M. Loss $150,000; insurance $50,000; heaviest losers, Reed & Meech, J. H. Huntington,- E. Chappell, O. G. Baker and C. B. Rogers. Both telegraph wires burnt down.

GEN. SCOTT'S PAY.—From the official returns published in the Washington Union it appears that Gen. Scott has received from the United States for forty years arduous and distinguished services in the cause of this country, the sum of $290,579 18, or about $5,000 a year.

THE FIRE IN NORWICH.—The loss by the great fire in Norwich, on Wednesday morning, is estimated at $110,000. The insurance is $54,600, a large portion of which is at New England offices.

THE WRECK OF THE REINDEER BURNT. Saugerties, Sept. 10.—The steamer Reindeer, which exploded her boiler on Saturday last, was entirely destroyed by fire at Bristol landing about 4 o'clock this morning. She is supposed to have been set on fire.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.

The Freeman's Journal, a Catholic journal in New York, states that "less than five years ago, in July, 1847, his Holiness Pope Pius IX., granted to the prayers of Council of Baltimore that the blessed Virgin ary, of Immaculate Conception, should be Special Patroness of the United States."

Hon. Joseph R. Ingersoll leaves New York for Europe in the Arctic on Saturday.

Hon. Abbott Lawrence is expected home in the Atlantic.

Employment! Employment!
O that is enjoyment!
There's nothing like "something to do;"
Good heart occupation,
Is health and relaxation
A secret that's known to but few.

Ye listless and lazy!
Ye heavy and hazy!
Give hearth, hands and feet full employment,
Your spirits 'twill cheer up,
Your foggy brains clear up,
And teach you the real enjoyment.

The lilies they toil not,
They draggle not, moil not,
And yet they are cared for, 'tis true:
But the lilly, it knows
Fulfills its whole duty—
E'en lilies have something to do.

"They sew not, they spin not,"
'Tis true—but they sin not;
They work, uncomplaining, God's will—
Their work never hasting,
Their time never wasting,
The laws of their nature fulfil.

Ye hands, white as lilies,
Remember God's will is,
Whose will not work shall not eat;
'Tis heart occupation
Prevents heart-starvation;
Would'st thou the great Lawgiver cheat?

Then up, man and woman!
Be godlike—be human!
To self and to nature be true!
Employment! Employment!
O that is enjoyment!
—The Beach Bird.

N. H. BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The Board of Education for the State of New Hampshire, met at Concord, August 18, and spent two days in discussing topics and maturing plans for the increased efficiency of our School System.

From the published proceedings of the Board we extract the following, which is important to all connected with our Schools.

Albert H. Hoyt, Portsmouth, Rockingham,
Thomas J. Greenwood, Dover, Strafford,
Sanborn B. Carter, Ossipee, Carroll,
Giles Leach, Meredith, Belknap,
Hall Roberts, Concord, Merrimack,
Lewis C. Browne, Nashua, Hillsboro',
Asahel H. Bennett, Winchester, Cheshire,
William M. Ladd, Claremont, Sullivan,
John S. Woodman, Hanover, Grafton, and George H. Pinkham, Jackson, Coos.

Hon. Asahel H. Bennett, was appointed President for the ensuing year, and Hall Roberts Secretary.

No topic came up for the consideration of the Board of greater importance than the proper form of School Blanks and Registers. The mistakes detected in the Tables of the Secretary's Report, are attributable to the blunders of Superintending and Prudential School Committees; and it is believed that the Committees, with the aid furnished by the new Blanks and Registers, will find but little trouble in making full and accurate returns of the Schools. Prudential Committees are reminded that the laws of the State forbid their paying a teacher before he has made a Report of his School to the Superintending School Committee.

In regard to placing an authoritative standard of Orthography and Etymology in each School, it was

Resolved, That this Board are deeply impressed with the importance and necessity of a more general use of Dictionaries in our schools, both by teachers and pupils; and for the purpose of placing at least one Dictionary in each of the schools of the State, they recommend to the several towns to appropriate a sufficient amount of the Literary Fund, belonging to them, to purchase for each District one copy of WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED, or Worcester's Comprehensive Dictionary.

The following is the entire list of Text Books recommended by the Board after a critical examination by committees during the past two years.

The Bible.
Leonard's North American Spelling Book.
Town's Series of Reading Books, from 1 to 4 inclusive.
Adams' Arithmetic (Revised Editon,)
Adams' Primary Arithmetic.
Colburn's Mental Arithmetic.
Child's First Book in Arithmetic by Holbrook.
Holbrook's Geometry.
Tower's Intellectual Algebra.
A. H. Weld's New Grammar, and Dyer H. Sanborn's Grammar.
Mitchell's Series of Geographies.
Mitchell's Geographical Question Book.
Pelton's, Bliss' and Fowle's Outline Maps.
Monk's Map of North America.
The History of the United States, by C. A. Goodrich, with Emerson's Questions.
The Child's History of the United States, by C. A. Goodrich.
Peter Parley's First, Second and Third Books of History.
Ackerman's Natural History.
Comstock's Primary Lessons in Natural Philosophy.
Johnston's Natural Philosophy.
Smith's Illustrated Astronomy.
"The Family and School Monitor;" and the "Family and School Monitor and Educational Catechism," each work by Prof. James Henry.
Fulton and Eastman's System of Book-Keeping, (last edition.)
Toundrow's and A. H. Strong's Systems of Penmanship.
Worcester's Primary and Comprehensive Dictionaries.
Webster's Unabridged Dictionary.

The above works are recommended with the earnest hope that their use may become general in all our schools.

The history of the Board will show that it has uniformly acted with care and discrimination in this matter. Its object is to bring about a uniformity of SUITABLE Books in the schools, and thus to relieve parents of the burdens to which they are too frequently subjected.

CLOCK MAKING IN CONNECTICUT.—Some idea of the extent to which clock making is carried on in Connecticut, may be formed from the fact, that in the town of Bristol alone, a capital of three hundred thousand dollars is invested in the manufacture of clocks. The number of this description of time pieces annually finished is one hundred and fifty thousand.

CHOLERA AT SAN BLAS.—Capt. Frazer, of schooner Meridian, at Baltimore, from San Blas, reports that, on the arrival of the schr. at San Blas, the Cholera was so prevalent that the Indians forbid his landing, and compelled him to leave without a supply of water.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.
PORTSMOUTH:
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1852.

MAINE ELECTION.

In regard to the Governor, the question at issue is the Liquor law—its permanence or its repeal. The Democratic candidate proper is the present Executive, Hubbard. He signed the "Maine Law" bill, and is understood to be its friend. He will, therefore, be very certain to receive the votes of the temperance Democrats, and of those who care very little about it, in comparison with sustaining regular nominations. Governor Hubbard, it is believed, will also receive the votes of a great many temperance Whigs, and nearly the whole of the Free Soil vote.

The candidate of the whigs is Mr. Crosby, whose exact position in regard to the Maine law we do not know with precision. He is very popular with his party, and will poll a good vote. Judge Chandler is the candidate of the anti-Maine law men. He is a Democrat and a teetotaller, but goes for a repeal of the statute. The votes for Chandler will be almost exclusively of those men who are in favor of repealing the prohibitory law.

State Senators and Representatives are also mixed up with the liquor question.

Members of Congress are not supposed to be so—but the Boston Atlas, whig, says of them, "If we should come within three or four thousand of having a majority of the popular vote on Congressmen, we shall have strong faith of carrying the State in November, because we are well assured that there are thousands in that State who will vote for General Scott who have never voted for a Whig."

This assumes a great deal—but we give it as we find it. On the other hand, the democratic papers all claim Maine as "sure for Pierce," though they are doubtful of the State election, and caution the public not to be deceived by the cries of a whig victory there.

We hazard no predictions,—but will give as early returns as we can.

VERMONT ELECTION.

In 169 towns, the votes for Governor are

	Fairbanks. Whig.	Brainard. Free Soil.	Robinson. Democrat.
1852—	18,820	7,269	11,513
1851—	18,272	11,729	6,021

These figures indicate that the former Democrats of the Free Soil party have goneback to their first love, while the former Whigs remain Free Soilers still.

Two Whigs are elected to Congress: in the third district there is no choice, but the Whig candidate, Sabin, has a large plurality—which will probably elect him next time.

Fairbanks, the Whig candidate,for Govérnor, is supposed to be elected by the people.

LIQUOR CONVENTION.

A great Convention was held last week, at Porter's, Cambridge, Mass., composed chiefly of distillers, dealers and tavern-keepers of Middlesex County. The proceedings were piquant and spirited.

Daniel Lawrence, Esq., the great manufacturer of Medford rum, said that "the Constitution of the State, in its justice and sound policy, forbids the fostering of one branch of industry to the detriment of another, and declared that the liquor law "was conceived in sin, and brought forth in iniquity, by one of the most corrupt and imbecile Legislatures that ever attempted to make laws for a free people."

Mr. Edward G. Abbott, editor of the Cambridge Mercury, was Secretary of the Convention. In his next paper he says,

"After a careful consideration of the matter—legally, politically, and socially—we are now, honestly and consistently, prepared to say that the New Liquor Law is not a law, in any way, shape, or manner. We now advocate the doctrine that it is not a crime to resist the enactment of 1852. Resistance to tyranny is the least of crimes, and the greatest step in virtue.

We advocate open resistance to what is called the New Liquor Law! This may be a startling idea to some—but the Supreme Court and the next Legislature will bear us out.

We advise defiance to the enactment of 1852, because we know that it is a spurious enactment, and not worthy to be ranked in the category of laws."

LITTLE GREAT MEN.—A correspondent of the Gloucester Telegraph, writing from Prince Edward's Island, says "the people on this Island are not opposed to our fishing on their shores, and you will not hear of fishermen being taken by English steamers or large vessels. Some of their little cutters, with a petty officer on board, with great authority, or feeling that he had great authority, will contrive, by disguising his vessel, to take a fisherman occasionally."

Gen. Scott has returned to Washington from West Point.

THE LOBOS EXPEDITION.

The Lobos business is quite a serious matter to one man at least, viz:—Capt. Jewett, whose letter, Mr. Webster says misled him and his department. The New York papers publish a letter of Capt. Jewett's, in reply to that of Mr. Webster, relative to the Lobos guano matter. Capt. Jewett states that in behalf of himself and others, he had already despatched to the islands fifteen ships and sixteen barques; one of them carried fifty men, four nine-pounders, sixty muskets, thirty-five cutlasses, one thousand pounds of ball and canister shot, one thousand cannon cartridges, one thousand musket cartridges, &c. A vessel had been sent from the Sandwich Islands, with the same quantity of armament, to be at the Lobos, the first day of October.

Provisions, medicines, furniture, &c., to maintain a colony of one hundred and fifty men has been sent.

MARINE DISASTER.

The Sloop Hannah & Clarissa, Capt. Blaisdell, from Franklin, Me., for Boston, with 150,000 laths to Levi Bartlett & Co., and wood and bark to the master, was struck by a squall when off the Isles of Shoals, on Friday afternoon last; and the crew not being able to get the sails down, the vessel filled forward and became unmanageable. She was abandoned on the same afternoon, the crew being taken off by a fishing schooner belonging to Cape Ann.

The vessel was towed into the Shoals the next morning. She is nearly worthless. The deck-load and part of the cargo has been washed out—the wood and bark are all gone. The vessel belonged to the captain, and was not insured. The cargo is supposed to be partially insured.

BUSINESS OF THE COUNTRY.

The New York Journal of Commerce says, "the merchants from the interior who have arrived thus far, all represent the country as in a prosperous condition, and prepared for an active fall trade. This statement is confirmed by the character of the goods which are most in demand, particularly in fabrics adapted for dresses, the most active trade being altogether in the better qualities. Those most familiar with the business here must have noticed that in 'hard times' under a stringent money market, the lower grades of goods both for women's and men's wear are sought after to the comparative neglect of choicer fabrics. At present it is very difficult to sell the cheaper grades of dress goods, and this is sufficiently characteristic of the state of feeling throughout the country."

Somebody, we dare say, will cry out extravagance and ruin—but such a voice will not be heeded, scarcely heard. What any one can afford, is not extravagance;—and buying costly dresses, if it does not ruin the buyer, certainly ruins no one;—but the maker and seller are both benefitted.

POTATO ROT.—It is stated in the Newburyport Herald of Saturday, that a fine potato field, at Byfield, belonging to Daniel Colman, Esq., of about an acre and a half, in which the potatoes had grown to a large size and of excellent quality, has within a few days been struck with the rot, so that there is not a sound potato in the field, and the whole crop is worthless. Those which were dug and brought into the house some days before in a sound state, were struck at the same time with the disease and with equal virulence. They are Chenangos.

The Gloucester Telegraph of Monday, says, "We regret exceedingly to learn that the rot has made its appearance in some of the potato fields on our Cape."

BOUNTY ON SHIP BUILDING. The Boston Post republishes "An Act to Encourage Ship-Building in Louisiana," which offers a bounty "to each and every person, or association of persons, whether resident of this State or otherwise, who shall build and complete, or cause to be built and completed within this State, any ship or ships, vessel or vessels, of a tonnage each of more than one hundred tons burthen, which reward or bonus shall be five dollars per ton, custom house measurement, for each and every ship or vessel and for each and every sea-going steamer so built and completed as aforesaid, and four dollars per ton for each and every river or lake steamer so built and completed as aforesaid."

No state in the Union possesses a greater abundance of ship timber, or timber of superior quality—it is easily procured, and at small cost. Labor there is not higher than it is in New England, and we think that Yankee enterprise would find a substantial reward on the banks of the Mississippi under the encouragement here presented.

PROGRESS.—A Philadelphia corset-maker advertises a new corset that "will reduce the waist about three inches more than the usual corset!"

One turn more of the screws—one inch more of compression—sure to kill.

A marriageable young man at our elbow, volunteers the hope that all ladies who will lace, will adopt this new invention—saying that the sooner all such are out of the way of harming themselves and others, the better.

WAXEN FLOWERS AND FRUIT.—Attention is invited to the advertisement of Misses Dunbar and Harthan, who propose to teach yonng ladies and misses the art of making such Wax Flowers and Fruits as may be seen at Mr. Emery's jewelry store on Market Square.

We think that very few young ladies will examine the specimens to which we have alluded, without a desire of knowing something of the art itself.

INTERRUPTION OF BUSINESS.—We chronicled in Saturday's paper the seizure of a quantity of liquor at Portland, from a schooner Albany from Portsmouth. We understand now, that she is a small craft, manned by two Irishmen, and that she has carried on the traffic for some time past, generally coming in and going out in the night time.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.—A condensed abstract of their report may be found on our first page to day. Attention is invited to the list of books recommended.

CHEAP.—The very best Porter Apples are selling in Boston market, at 75 cents a barrel. The barrels cost 25 cents, and the expense of bringing them to market, is 20 cents more—leaving as the pay for the apples, only thirty cents.

CARELESSNESS OF RAILROAD PASSENGERS. It is undoubted fact that a majority of the accidents to passengers on the well regulated railroads running out of Boston, are the result of the carelessness of the persons injured. The other day, upon the stoppage of a train at a depot in the vicinity of Boston, so great was the rush—although unnecessary—to get into the cars, that a small child was forced off the platform, and fell between the cars. Fortunately he was immediately caught up by a passenger, or serious injury might have ensued. A day or two since a passenger upon the Worcester train, who wished to stop at Newtonville, finding that the train was going by, jumped off and received serious injury.—Traveller.

ACCIDENT IN NEWBURYPORT.—A bad accident happened at the Gas house. at the lower part of this city, yesterday afternoon; about 3 o'clock. One of the workmen had been directed to cut away an unnecessary brace, but cut the wrong one and the Gasometer fell, cutting the leg of Mr. Hiram B. Haskell, who was at work upon it, above the ancle, so that amputation was necessary. Mr. Haskell is an industrious and worthy young man, and much sympathy is felt for his calamity. —Newburyport Herald.

PARDONED.—Charles I. Williams, who was sentenced in June 1851 to three years in State Prison for taking property from S. L. Carleton's Daguerreotype Rooms in this city, has through the influence of Mr. Carleton with the Governor and Council, been pardoned on account of ill health. This will be cheering news to the convict, and also to his parents who were doubly afflicted while they saw their son wasting under disease and had not the opportunity of administering to his wants.—Portland Adv.

THE NEW YORK STATE FAIR.—The New York State Fair opened at Utica, Sept. 8.—The crowd was immense, and thousands hourly arriving. The number of entries of every description is very large, the display extremely fine, and the whole one of the greatest affair of the kind ever held in this country.

Among the visitors are Gov. Hunt and Ex-President Van Buren.

DISHONEST BEGGARS.—At Newton, on Thursday, a man with two children, who were engaged in collecting rags, stole a valuable gold watch. The watch was left in an exposed situation, and when missed the man was pursued, and the missing article was found hid among rags.

FROM HAVANA.—Sept. 2.—Yellow fever and cholera continued to rage with great violence, both on shipboard and in Havana. Arrests were still being made, of parties supposed to be connected with the revolutionary journal, the Voice of the People, and the Captain of the Lucas was offered 90 doubloons to bring off a suspected individual, but he declined.

EFFECT OF CARELESSNESS.—The Traveller states that a gentleman in passing through Turnpike street, South Boston, on Thursday afternoon, had three of his teeth knocked out by a defective apple, which was thrown from a neighboring store.

On Thursday afternoon, at Old Cambridge, a horse ran away with a wagon containing a man, two women and a child. The wagon was dashed to pieces, and one of the women received a severe gash on the head, and the other was supposed to be injured internally.

WOOL.—The importation of foreign wool in the United States, (only coarse wool is imported as all) for the year ending Aug. 31, has been 13,183 bales against 67,782 bales last year.

U. S. CIVIL ENGINEER.—We understand that Benj. F. Chandler, Esq., of Augusta, Me., has been appointed by the Secretary of the Navy, U. S. Civil Engineer, to supply the place of late Alexander Parris, Esq., deceased. He will be located at this naval station.

CHOLERA.—By statistics published in the Buffalo Republic of Saturday, the total number of deaths in that city by cholera, during the month of August, was 368—an average of about eleven a day.

NEW YORK STATE FAIR.—Utica, Sept. 10. About 100,000 persons visited the State Fair yesterday. Hon. Horatio Seymour, the Democratic nominee for Covernor, will deliver the annual address to-day.

The amount of gold coin and bullion in the issue department of the Bank of England is stated at £21,406,113.

NARROW ESCAPE.—The accident on the New Haven road on Wednesday afternoon was the result of negligence on the part of the switch tender to adjust his switch. Very fortunately the connection between the baggage and passenger cars either broke or was loosed by some one, otherwise all the passenger cars would probably have been dragged into the river and resulted in a sad loss of life.

The New Haven Journal states that while the switchman was absent for his dinner, an extra train over the Naugatuck road had passed, the conductor of which had a key to the switch, and unlocking, altered it for his own accommodation, and having passed over, either thought it unnecessary or forgot to replace it as at first.

DANCING.—Mr. Lamprey, who has taught in our city for several months past, commences another term on Wednesday next. His mode of conducting his school has fully satisfied those who have confided themselves or their children to his care. This is the pleasantest and best season of the year for children to dance—the Hall is unsurpassed—Mr. L. appears to be a thorough gentleman—and we wish him a full class. See advertisement.

☞ Hon. Horace Mann, in a letter to the Dedham Democrat, declines a re-election to Congress.

NOTICE TO GROCERS.

ON Account of the unexpected demand for Mrs. SMITH'S KILN-DRIED YEAST. I have been unable to offer it to the trade to any extent, but now having made arrangements for a constant supply, I am prepared to supply Grocers and others with any quantity, by the dozen or otherwise.

THIS YEAST has been thoroughly tested by housekeepers most experienced in such matters, who, without exception, pronounce it the BEST, MOST CONVENIENT, and RELIABLE ARTICLE ever introduced for raising bread;—far surpassing even the best hop yeast.

GROCERS in this town, Manchester, and many other places, are now selling large quantities every week.

D. D. GARLAND,
General Agent, Concord, N. H.

☞ ORDERS solicited from Grocers and others, which will be promptly attended to on very favorable terms.

FURTHER CUBAN RUMORS.—Charleston, August 10.—An arrival from Havana reports various rumors current there that bodies of armed men were already collecting and organizing in Florida and below New Orleans, for the invasion of the island, and an additional force of 2000 troops were shortly expected from Spain, and a more rigid police would be established throughout the whole island.

THE BURNING OF THE REINDEER.—Saugerties, August 11.—The excitement at the scene of the Reindeer conflagration was intense. The persons who were on board barely escaped with their lives; in fact, had the watchman been asleep none would have been saved. The captain clung to the burning wreck till satisfied no life was lost. An attempt was made to scuttle the boat, but it proved abortive; she was cut away from the dock and towed over on the middle ground, where she now lies a charred mass. The fire communicated to the storehouse of E. & B. Bigelow & Co., but it was saved with slight damage. The fire is supposed to have originated from some bedding that had been saturated with oil, producing spontaneous combustion. The boat was thoroughly examined without a light between 9 and 10 o'clock, and the watch set.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.

VESSEL SUNK.—The packet ship Baltimore was sunk at Pier 39 East River, yesterday.

Letters from Havana to the 23d, report the fate of the prisoners on trial before the military commission as undecided.

IMPORTANT FROM BUENOS AYRES.—We learn from passengers by the barque Hazard, arrived this morning from Buenos Ayres, with dates to July 27th, three weeks later, that a revolution broke out the previous day, and that the Provincial Governor had resigned. The vessel brought no papers, and we have, consequently, no further particulars. Mr. Schenck, the American Minister, was received by the Governor on the 27th.

EXPLOSION OF A LOCOMOTIVE BOILER, AND FATAL RESULT.—Lynchburg, Va., Sept. 9.—The boiler of the locomotive attached to the mail train on the Virginia and Tennessee Railroad, burst this morning, killing Luther Wood, the engineer, and the fireman, named Long. No damage was done to the cars or passengers.

SHIPPING, HEAVY GALE, &c.—New York, Sept. 10.—During the past week but few vessels have arrived at this port. Those coming from the Southward have experienced a very severe gale from the Northeast, from abreast of Charlestown to within 100 miles of Sandy Hook.

Hon. Abbott Lawrence and family are at present staying with the Duke of Rutland, at Longshaw Lodge, Derbyshire.

RICHES FOR CHILDREN.

The late Postmaster General of U. S., remarks the Gambier Observer, was once a very poor boy—so poor that he could scarcely afford a pair of shoes, without which the master would not allow him to come to school. Our boyhood was passed in the village in which he was spent his early professional years. We remember being in his company after he was elevated to the Supreme Bench in his native State, and hearing him make in substance the following remarks:—

"I remember," said he, "the first time I visited Barlington, as Judge of the Supreme Court. I had left it many years before, a very poor boy. At the time I left, there were two families of special note for their standing and wealth. Each having a boy who would be very rich. During the long years of hard toil which passed before my return I had almost forgotten them. They had long ago forgotten me. Approaching the court house for the first time, in company with several gentlemen of the bench and bar, I noticed in the court house yard, a large pile of old furniture to be sold at vendue. The scene of early boyhood with which I was now surrounded, prompted me to ask whose it was? I was told it belonged to Mr. A. "Mr. A—!" I remember a family of that name, very wealthy; there was a son too, can it be he?" I was told it was even so. He was the son of one of the families alluded to. He had inherited more than I had ever earned, and spent it all! and now his own family was reduced to want, and his very furniture was that day to be sold for debt.

I went into the court room suddenly, yet almost glad that I was born poor. I was soon absorbed in business before me. One of the first called was that of B. vs. C., that had come up on appeal, which originated in a low, drunken quarrel. "Mr. B." thought I, "that is a familiar name; can it be?" In short, I found that this was one of the wealthy families referred to! I was overwhelmed, alike with thanksgiving and astonishment—astonishment at the change in relative standings, and thanksgiving that I was not born to inherit wealth without toil. Indeed, all experience has taught me that those fathers provide best for their children who leave them with the highest education, the purest morals, and the least money."

MINISTER TO CHINA.—Louisville, Sept. 4.—Hon. Humphrey Marshal, the appointed Commissioner to China, is now in this city, and will start for China with his wife and daughter on Monday next. He intends to go to Liverpool, and by the overland route to the Red Sea, if he shall ascertain by inquiry in New York that he can take a steamer at Calcutta for Canton.

THE WHALE FISHERY.

[From a Speech of Wm. H. Seward, in the United States Senate.]

The American whale fishery began to revive, and in 1787, 1788, and 1789, it employed an average of 122 vessels. But it still labored under the pressure of competition, stimulated by bounties both in England and in France.

The enterprise had not yet languished into life, when the French Revolution of 1789 occurred, which involved Europe, and ultimately the United States, in wars that swept the latter, as well as the French and Dutch, from all the fisheries, and left them in the exclusive enjoyment of Britain, on those wars. At their close, the British had 146 vessels in the Northern whaling ground, which captured no less than 133 whales, and thus obtained 13,590 tons of oil, and 438 tons of whalebone; and fifty-six ships in the South'rn whale fishery equally successful. The Americans now reentered the game, and the tables were speedily—and, as we think permanently—turned in their favor. In 1824, the British became discouraged, and withdrew their bounties; and in 1842 they had no more than 18 vessels in the North fishery, which captured only 24 Whales. The Southern fishery declined still more rapidly; so that, in 1845 not one British whaler appeared in the South Seas. Since that time all nations have virtually abandoned this "hardy form of perilous enterprise" in favor of the Americans. The entire whaling fleet of the world, in 1847, consisted of about 900 vessels, 40 of which belonged to France, 20 to Bremen and other ports in Northern Europe, 20 to New Holland and other British Polynesian Colonies, and all others, more than 800 in number, with a tonnage of 240,000 tons, belonged to the United States.—The capital thus employed exceeded twenty millions of dollars, and the annual productions of the fishery amounted to thirteen millions of dollars. With the decline of this enterprise in Great Britain, her commercial writers began to discountenance whale fishing altogether; and while they now represent it as a mere gambling adventure, they endeavor to stimulate the people of Continental Europe to substitute vegetable oils for those procured in the seas.

Consider the cost, time dangers, and hazard of the whale fishery. Each vessel with its outfit is worth $30,000, and carries thirty able-bodied seamen, and is afloat on a single voyage one or two, perhaps three years. It finds the whale nowhere below the sixtieth degree of latitude, and can remain there only during the brief Polar Summer of three months. The whole time may elapse without a whale being seen. When discovered, every stage of his capture is toilsome, and attended with multiplied dangers to the assailants, increased by the shoals, the ice, the storms, and the fogs, which protect the animal against his pursuers. The statistics are absolutely frightful to a landsman or a common seaman. In 1819, of sixty three British ships sent to Davis's Straits, ten were lost. In 1821, out of sixty-nine, eleven were lost. Of eighty-seven ships that sailed for Davis's Straits in 1820, no less than eighteen were lost, twenty-four returned clean, while not one of the remainder had a full cargo, and only one or two half-fished.

Consider now, that the great triumph of the American fishermen was achieved, and is still sustained, not only without aid from the Government, but practically also without aid from the capital or enterprise of general commerce, and indeed, to quote the language of Jefferson, "with no auxiliaries but poverty and rigorous economy." The whaling fleet of the United States, in 1846, consisted of seven hundred and thirty-seven vessels. Of the thirty States, only five, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts, and New York, were represented; and all of them except New York, are the States least blessed in fertility and climate. New Hampshire having only a single port, sent out only one vessel. Rhode Island, one of the three most diminutive States, equipped fifty-two. Connecticut, a small State, sent out one hundred and twenty-four. New York, with her extended territory, vast wealth, and stupendous commercial establishments, sent only eighty-five; and all the rest proceeded from that State, inferior to many others in extent, wealth, and commerce, but superior to them all in intellectual and social developement—Masschusetts.

Look at the whale fishery as a source of national wealth and an element of national force and strength! The number of those who are actively afloat in the pursuit ranges from 15,000 to 20,000, while twenty times that greatest number of persons are indirectly engaged in the culture of hemp and the manufacture of cordage, the building of ships furnishing their supplies, manufacturing and preparing the oil and whalebone, in sending them to market, and on the various other occupations incidentally connected with the trade.—The wealth thus acquired leaves all the resources of the country untouched.—Dr. Franklin deemed the fisherman of his day with the apothegm that whosoever took a fish out of the sea always found a piece of silver in his mouth, and our experience has confirmed its truth, although it is now rejected by the commercial writers of England.

We are the second in rank among commercial nations. Our superiority over so many results from our greater skill in ship-building, and our greater dexterity in navigation, and our greater frugality at sea. These elements were developed in the fisheries, and especially in the Northern fishery. We think that we are inferior to no nation in naval warfare.—The seamen who have won our brilliant victories on the ocean and on the lakes were trained and disciplined in this the severest of all marine service; and our naval historians agree that it constituted the elementary school of all our nautical science. What, then, would compensate us for the loss or for the decline of the whale fishery?

PORTSMOUTH:
TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1852.

EARTHQUAKE.

An earthquake, or rather succession of earthquakes, occurred at St. Jago de Cuba on the 20th, 21st, and 22d August, more violent than have been known in the almost three centuries and a half of its municipal existence.

On the 20th, there were in all five distinct shocks, and many of the churches were so injured, that it was found necessary to close them. Temporary altars were erected in the streets, before which the affrighted populace continually prostrated themselves. The severest shock occurred about half past three in the morning, — and the intense darkness which prevailed added to the horrors of the event. The crowd of women and children who ran frantic through the streets was heart-rending to behold. It is estimated that at least 20 lives were lost, and property to the amount of nearly $2,000,000 sacrificed.

The entire city exhibits a most heart-rending picture. In every street were seen crumbling walls, cornices of buildings and tumbling structures. Every house felt its influence.—Many were uninhabitable.

The shipping anchored in the harbor are occupied by families who took shelter in them.

The greater part of the population were living encamped in tents and huts, erected on the squares, the Alameda, under the sheds on the mole, and in other clear open spaces.

A friar commenced preaching a sermon in the church of Carmen on the 20th, but a smart shock sent both priest and audience into the open air.

Wooden images of Saints were being carried round the streets in processions, which it was thought would put a stop to the mischief.

Slight shocks and oscillations continued to be felt at intervals, up to August 22d.

Persons on board the shipping at anchor several miles from the city, say, that immediately upon the first shock being felt, the whole city was covered with a dense cloud of dust. One of the officers on board a steamer of war lying in the harbor, describes the sensation of the earthquake, as accompanied by a vibration as if she was moving under a full head of steam. The earthquake was felt at Saltadero, where it occasioned damage; and it was presumed it extended to Baracoa, as the steamer due on the 21st at St. Jago had not arrived on the 22d.

PERU—LOBOS.

By advices, per steamer Illinois, it appears that the President of Peru has been authorized by the Counsel of State to levy an army of 10,000 men, and equip a navy of not less than six war steamers, and the same number of sailing vessels, to protect the Peruvian flag and the commercial interests of the country from any indignity or encroachment which may be offered to them.

This looks as if Capt. Jewett's Lobos fleet might not be able to get guano from Lobos, without complying with the Peruvian terms.

By the latest news from England, per the Europa, it is seen that the papers make a great outcry against the order of our government for the protection of American vessels engaged in the guano business at the Lobos Islands. They will perhaps be satisfied when they get the instructions countermanding that order.

BAD NEWS.

Every body who likes plum puddings, minced pies and plum cake, will be sorry to hear that the raisin and currant crops, in the countries bordering on the Mediterranean Sea, are falling very far short of the general average. Bad news this for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The general blight of Grapes throughout Europe, has been already noticed.

Of Currants, a Zante paragraph of Aug. 19, says the crops were estimated before the malady began on the first, as follows:—Greece from 60 to 80,000,000 pounds; Cephalonia 25,000,000; Zante 15,000,000, total about 120,000,000; and now since August 2, we doubt if we shall have in Greece 15,000,000; Cephalonia 8,000,000; Zante 3,000,000; in all 25,000,000 pounds.

The small quantity of currants produced will be of inferior quality and held for excessively high prices, the growers refusing to listen to anything below $70 or $80 per 1000 pounds.

FLAX COTTON.—The London correspondent of the National Intelligencer says Chevalier Claussen's flax company is progressing very favorably; all the shares have been subscribed for, and an adequate amount of capital for carrying on business paid up. Extensive works at Bromley, in Middlesex, have been taken, and will be soon in operation.

A SAD TALE OF THE SEA.

From a letter from the owners of the brig Fawn, of Boston, we gather the following account of the death of Mr. JOSHUA W. KENNEY, of this city. He was the son of Capt. Joshua Kenney, of this port, who after one successful sealing voyage in the South Sea, sailed many years ago on a second, but was doubtless lost with vessel and all hands.

The letter above mentioned states that Mr. Kenney [shipped as first mate of the brig FAWN, Capt. Smith, bound from Boston for Navy Bay, near Chagres, in May last. At that place he was taken sick, but so far recovered as to be able to go ashore. On Saturday last, the owners in Boston received a letter from a merchant in Havana, stating that the brig was brought into that port on the 25th of August, by the crew of the Hamburg bark Emily, which vessel fell in with the Fawn near Cape St. Antonio, in a sinking condition. She left Navy Bay about July 22d. When a few days out, most of the crew were taken sick with fever; the mate and two sailors died; another, in the delirium of fever, jumped overboard and was drowned; and Capt. Smith was sick below.

They steered for Cienfugos, but finally run on the rocks near the Isle of Pines, and came off leaking badly, and with but two men able to move about. In this condition she was met by the Emily, who supplied her with four men, provisions, &c., who carried her into Havana, where she now is. The Capt. was removed to the hospital, and there are some doubts about his recovery.

It is supposed from the Havana letter, that Mr. Kenney died about the first week in August. Capt. Smith, and the owners and all connected with the vessel, speak in the highest terms of the deceased. His age was about twenty-seven.

A KEEN SWINDLE.—A few months ago, the Boston agent of a New York Company was applied to, for insurance of $3000 on a new house in Sandwich, with its furniture, piano, pictures, &c. It was made. A month ago, the man who procured it, called and said everything was burnt while he and his family were in the country on a visit. The agent requested proof to send to his office; and in a day or two, a bundle of documents came apparently from the principal people of Sandwich, attested by a respectable justice of the peace. Half the money, $1500, has been paid. The same parties got an insurance of $5000 on the life of a young man named Barron; and soon announced that he was drowned in Lake Erie—but the Insurance Co. made enquiries, and found Barron alive and well Of course they did not pay the claim, but this cheat led to inquiries into the Sandwich fire; and it turns out that there was no such fire, nor any such house, or piano, or any thing else' as were described. The proof documents were a bundle of forgeries.

The alleged cheats, Sanford C. Gardner and David W. Belyea have been indicted, and are now in Boston jail, charged with conspiring, together with another person unknown, to cheat and defraud certain Insurance offices out of $8000.

They are to be arraigned there before the Municipal Court, to-morrow.

PICNIC AT GREENLAND.—The Ladies of the Congregational Society in Greenland intend giving a Picnic in the woods near the Academy, belonging to Enoch Clark, Esq., on Wednesday, the 15th inst., at 2 o'clock., P. M., to aid them in the purchase of an Organ for their house of worship.

Tickets 25 cents, to be had at the store of Mr. Preston, and on the ground. Children of families who attend, half price.

If the day is unpleasant it will be held the first pleasant day after.

The House of Representatives, stands about relatively the same as last year. The Senate will probably stand twenty-five Whigs to five others.

THE LIQUOR LAW IN MASSACHUSETTS, is strongly opposed by many persons. Porter, Knights and Wentworth, inn-keepers of Cambridge, were called up last Saturday. The two latter were discharged on technical grounds; Porter's case will come up again on the 25th. The court room was full of excitement.

WHALE FISHERY.—The brief account of the Whale Fishery, on our first page to-day, will interest all who wish to be fully posted up in such things. It is only a fair specimen of the matters in a very able speech.

LOCOMOTIVES BURSTING.—These events are becoming too common. Near Lynchburg, Va., 9th inst., the locomotive attached to the mail train on the Virginia and Tennessee railroad, burst its boiler, killing Luther Wood, engineer, and the fireman, named Long. No damage done to cars or passengers.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA
ARRIVAL OF THE ILLINOIS.

The steamship Illinois arrived at New York, Sept. 12, at 9 o'clock from Aspinwall, with 155 passengers, and one million three hundred seventy thousand dollars in gold. She left Aspinwall at 6 o'clock on the evening of the 3d.

Wm. J. Peck of New York, store-keeper of the El Dorado, died at Aspinwall on the first. It is stated that Capt. Jos. S. B. Knox, of Charlestown, Mass., died suddenly on board the Illinois on the 9th, of a rupture of a blood vessel.

The health of the Isthmus has greatly improved during the past month, and the deaths were few.

The market closed dull on Saturday. Flour $23. Stock market also dull with a downward tendency.

Three recent decisions of the U. S. Land Commissioners are supposed to involve all, or nearly all the principles contained in the rest of the grants in California, and will greatly tend to allay the feverish apprehensions of claimants as to the validity or confirmation of their claims, and the rule of decision adopted in the claim of Maj. Pearson B. Reading will apply to every claim in the valley of the Sacramento.

The mining news from the Mariposa is very favorable. The miners were averaging from 25 to $30 per day.

The dates from Panama are to August 31st. The English steamer Lima arrived at Panama on the 18th, from the south coast, with a large amount of treasure and a number of passengers. The Lima also transported 500 Peruvian troops from Calao to Payta.

BREAD CAST ON THE WATERS.—The exports of Breadstuffs from the United States to Great Britain and Ireland, for the year ending Sept. 1, 1852, were 1,427,442 barrels Flour, 1680 barrels Corn Meal, 2,738,422 bu. Wheat, and 1,486,798 bushels Corn.

For the year ending Sept. 1, 1851, the exports to the same ports were 1,559,584 barrels Flour, 5620 barrels Corn Meal, 1,496,355 bu. Wheat, and 2,215,601 bushels Corn.

From	Bbls. Flour.	Bu. Wheat.	Bu. Corn.
New Orleans	115,021	3,992	412,657
Philadelphia	158,127	522,722	62,560
Baltimore	199,242	206,999	125,080

KIDNAPPING.—According to the Cincinnati Gazette, the practice of kidnapping free negroes is becoming quite common in that city. An attempt was made on Friday by two fellows from Kentucky to kidnap a free colored boy, the son of Rev. Mr. Williams, a worthy Baptist clergymen of that city. The boy was seized and without the aid of any papers, legal or illegal, committed to the watch house. A clerk who saw the outrage, informed a lawyer who obtained a writ of habeas corpus, which so alarmed the kidnappers that they abandoned their prey. The Gazette has been informed of a dozen attempts at kidnapping in that city within three months. In one house an offer of $250 in gold was made to a policeman, to aid in capturing a stout negro man, against whom they acknowledged they had no papers.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.—A man named Thomas Rector, committed a murderous assault upon Thomas Webb last night, in a house of ill fame in the southern part of this city, by beating him severely with a huge club. Webb's scull was dreadfully fractured, and his life is despaired of. Rector is the person who killed a young man named Shepherd a few years since. On that occasion he was tried and convicted for murder, but a new trial having been obtained, he was convicted of manslaughter, and served his time in the Sing Sing prison. Rector was arrested by the police last night, and committed to prison. —Albany, Sept. 1.

WATCHMAN MURDERED.—A watchman was murdered in the streets of Cincinnati, at three o'clock Friday morning. Two men have been arrested on suspicion.

RIVAL BOATS.—It is a curious circumstance, that the Reindeer was the very boat that the Henry Clay was built to race against, and that she was driven by the ill fated vessel from the river, under the apprehension of collision; and it is a melancholy reflection that, on resuming her place on the Hudson, her managers were not deterred, by the fate of the Henry Clay, and the fate of the passengers, from imitating the example of the owners and officers of that boat.—N. Y. Herald.

MUTINY.—A mutiny took place on board the bark E. A. Parsons in Panama Bay on the 25th of August, the crew having armed themselves and threatened violence to the officers. The mutineers, eight in number, were overpowered and put in irons. A few days previously, as the vessel was entering the harbor, she got on the rocks, owing to the mutinous conduct of the crew, but got off through the aid rendered by the U. S. sloop of war Portsmouth. She received considerable damage.

AMERICAN COAL GOING TO EUROPE.—As a new feature in the Cumberland semi-bituminous coal trade, the Alexandria Gazette states that there is now at New York a vessel from Genoa, waiting for a cargo of this coal, for the use of the Sardinian government.

FROM CHINA.—Dates from China to June 24, have been received at San Francisco.—The U. S. steam frigate Susquehanna was at Whampoa, the Saratoga at Amoy, and the Plymouth was on the east coast. The Court Martial ordered by Com. Aulick, for the investigation of the Robert Bowne difficulty, after a three days inquiry recommended the discharge of eighty, and detention of eight or ten men, against whom the proof seemed clear. They would probably be handed over to the Chinese authorities at Canton.

Heavy rains had done immense damage to the rice crop, and thousands of lives had been lost by drowning.

FROM THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—Dates from the Sandwich Islands to the 17th July have been received. The whaling business of the Islands was exceedingly low.

Simeon W. Albee of Walpole, N. H., for improvement in apparatus for feeding chickens; Aurin Bugbee of Charlton, Mass., for improvement in railroad signals; Israel P. Magoon of St. Johnsbury, Vt., for improvement in apparatus for heating feed-water of locomotives, &c.; Julius Thompson of North Bridgwater, Mass., for improvement in a blowpipe for dentists, &c.; Hiram Tucker of Cambridgeport, Mass., for improvement in preparing stone in imitation of marble.

Designs.—Peter Stephenson of Boston, Mass., for design for medallions of Gen. Scott and Franklin Pierce.

ARRIVAL OF THE SIERRA NEVADA.—New York, Sept. 12.—The steamship Sierra Nevada, Captain Wilson, arrived at this port at one o'clock to-day from Aspinwall via Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 6, with 160 passengers and $150,000 in gold dust. Among the passengers are Don J. J. de Osma, Peruvian Minister to the United States, lady and suite; S. D. Crane, of Boston, bearer of despatches from Chili; Captain Lane and Lieut. Maynard, U. S. N.

THE JAPAN EXPEDITION.—It is rumored that the proposed expedition to Japan, under Commodore Perry, will be abandoned, at least for the present—the Government not being able to spare a sufficient number of vessels, to justify the undertaking.

THIS YEAST has been thoroughly tested by housekeepers most experienced in such matters, who, without exception, pronounce it the BEST, MOST CONVENIENT, and RELIABLE ARTICLE ever introduced for raising bread;—far surpassing even the best hop yeast.
GROCERS in this town, Manchester, and many other places, are now selling large quantities every week.

LATER FOREIGN NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER HUMBOLDT.

The steamship Humboldt arrived at New York yesterday, about 11 o'clock, with four days later news. She made a fine run, having left Cowes at 9 P. M. Sept. 1st. She brings 140 passengers, $40,000 in specie, and 400 tons valuable freight in French goods.

In the Liverpool market, cotton closed firm, at rates current per Europa. Sales Monday and Tuesday 13,000 bales. Flour unchanged. Corn dull.

The weather throughout the kingdom was fine, and the prospects for the harvest encouraging.

Three weeks later news had been received from Australia. The rains had set in, and the yield of gold is reported as increasing.

A loon for two million pounds for the Bank at Constantinople had been brought into the London Stock Exchange, and was likely to find takers.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A fatal accident occurred on the Lowell Railroad Thursday night, by a collision of trains. Both the trains were late; the freight train, on its arrival at East Cambridge, was switched off, and the switch left unadjusted, when the passenger train ran into it, throwing off the brakeman and fireman of the latter. The brakeman, Sidney W. Brigham, of Wells River, Vt., 18 years old, died about three hours after the accident. Richard Fletcher, the fireman, was severely bruised, but supposed not dangerously so. An inquest was held, attributing negligence to the switchman.

MEETING OF THE AMERICAN BOARD OF MISSIONS AT TROY, N. Y.—On Wednesday evening meetings were held in four different churches, all of which were densely crowded. Dr. Anderson apprised the Board that the Prudential Committee are compelled to cut down the demands every year. It is impossible to do this another time without an injury to the Board. The estimates of expenses for the coming year are not less than $500,000.—The Committee will have to contract another debt unless friends come forward.

SINGULAR INCIDENT.—A few days ago, Mr. Crombie of Auburn, had his leg cut off about half way between the foot and knee.—It is but two years since he had one of his legs cut off; he was then 87 years old, and now he has parted with the other in his 89th year.—He bore it patiently and was anxious to have it off. They both began to mortify in the great toe. He is now quite comfortable.—Manchester Mirror.

A vessel has been put up at Panama for Australia, and was fast filling with passengers.

WANTED,

A BOY as an APPRENTICE the TAILORING BUSINESS. One having some knowledge of the business would be preferred.

Also a VEST MAKER Wanted. None but a first-rate hand need apply. J. E. HAM, Sept. 6th. tf No. 4 Congress Block.

TERRIBLE AFFAIR AT SMYRNA.—Letters from Smyrna of the 26th ult., give an account of a terrible disaster which occurred at Adalia some days before. A furious wolf suddenly appeared in the midst of the market place and bitse veral persons most severely, but taking fright at the cries which arose on all sides, he jumped over a wall, and got into a large garden where several hundred persons who had come to the town on account of the silk crop, were sleeping in the open air. Here he wounded one hundred and twenty-eight persons, but being frightened away by the cries of the people, he got into a sheepfold, where he killed eighty-five sheep and wounded seventy-five. Unfortunately the governor had caused the whole population to be disarmed a few days before, so that the unfortunate people were without means of defence; but on the following day arms were distributed and the wolf killed. According to the report of the physician of the place, the wounds inflicted by the animal are hideous, but the most horrible circumstance in this disaster is, that several of the wounded have already died of hydrophobia, so that the whole population is in the utmost consternation.

We find this in a very respectable paper, the Concord Reporter,—but the story is utterly incredible, as to the numbers injured, and as to the disarming; for axes, pitchforks, spits and cudgels would tell on the carcass of a wolf.

The Bangor (Me.) Mercury says the custom of gentlemen taking the head of the pew in church, came in vogue in the early settlement of this country, when it was necessary to carry muskets to the place of worship, as a defence against Indian depredations.

In those days pews were square; so that there was not such a head to a pew, as we now have to a slip. And as a general thing, only a few pews were built near the wall of each meeting-house, while the body or principal floor was furnished with long benches, whereon most of the people were seated, the men one side of the aisle and the women on the other. Guns were carried to meeting sometimes,—but they could have had nothing to do with forming this habit. It was the custom in the English Churches for the head of a family to lead them in, and sit at their head, long before we had either guns or churches on this side the water.

NOTICE TO BUILDERS AND JOINERS.

THE attention of JOINERS and all engaged or interested in building is solicited to the fact that many of our finest buildings are defaced and their general appearance materially altered from the original design of the Architect by the miserably constructed, ill contrived, and narrow contracted, leaden goose-necks, or what is still worse a skewangle continuation of the upright conductor with which the cornice is adorned—all of which may be remedied by application to

J. E. CHAPMAN,

PRACTICAL TIN PLATE WORKER,

GEN. PIERCE'S APPEARANCE AND HABITS.—The Concord Daily Patriot informs us, that Rev. Mr. Drummond, an orthodox minister of Lewiston, Me., in an account of the commencement exercises at Bowdoin, in the Lewiston Falls Journal, thus speaks of Gen. Pierce:

"Among the speakers was Gen. Pierce, the candidate for the Presidency. He is a man of good countenance and pleasant address, and made a brief and very acceptable speech. He, as a matter of course, was the observed of all observers, and bore the scrutiny quite unconsciously. On one point we feel quite sure—it is this, that he is not a man of intemperate habits, as he is reported to be. If he is, his countenance betrays no signs of it. We should take him to be a kind and amiable man, of very good powers. We dare say he will make a very respectable President. We hope so, both for his own, his country's, and old Bowdoin's sake.

CHARACTER OF AMERICAN FLOUR IN ENGLAND.—In a commercial circular of Messrs. Richardson Brothers & Co., of Liverpool, received by the Europa, we observe it is stated—

"The low quality of most of the American Flour that has been received here for some years past has caused the difference of prices between it and wheat to be much greater than the relative portions of seventy pounds of the former to the barrel of the latter."

The comparison here made shows that the defect in quality arises from the manufacture and not from the quality of the wheat It is further stated in proof of the inferior quality of the American Flour, that

"Whilst 21s per bbl. has been the outside value of the best American on sale, French the same day has freely made 37s per olbs, or about 25s 10d per bbl, and Irish 34s to 35s per 28 olbs. or 24s to 24s 6d per bbl."

It appears from this statement that there is a loss of three shillings to four and ten pence sterling, per barrel, for want of care or skill in the manufacture.—Boston Daily Adv.

THE REV. HENRY GILES.—We are glad to be able to state to the public that this eloquent and popular lecturer and essayist has entirely recovered from the physical prostration under which he labored during the last year. His return to the lecture-room with renewed strength, will be hailed with pleasure by all who have ever listened to the magic tones of his voice, or who have pored with delight over his moving pages.—Boston Journal.

THACKERAY.—The New York papers announce that this gentleman, who is expected soon to arrive in this country in company with Hon. Abott Lawrence, has been engaged to deliver a course of lectures before the New York Mercantile Library Association, to begin in December.

WASHINGTON CITY.—During the last six months there have been 562 new buildings erected in Washington. The population is now about 46,000, and rapidly increasing.

SPILLING A BABY.—Yesterday afternoon, as a party of Irish living on East Merrimack st., were attempting to turn a carriage in the street, the carriage came near overturning, when the woman who held a child eight or ten months of age, became frightened, and acting on the rule that "self-preservation is the first law of nature," dropped the infant, head foremost, on the stone pavement. It was taken up senseless and for a time it was thought it could not survive; but last evening, we learn it had nearly or quite recovered from its unceremonious ejectment, proving emphatically that a race whose greantest pleasure is a "scrimmage" with a shillaleh, are not to be cracked by a paving.—Lowell News.

DAMAGED BAGGAGE.—Last evening while one of our expressmen was removing a black looking trunk from the cars at the last train up, by some means or other it was thrown off its equilibrium, when to the amusement of the bystanders, about four gallons of brandy leaked on the floor. Soon after a couple of Irish boys called for the trunk, saying it was for their mother. The expressman told them to go and tell their mother to come for it herself, but whether she did or not, we did not learn.—Lowell News.

A search was made in the house of James Jones of Greenfield, Mass., on Tuesday, but most of the liquor therein was spilled by the inmates before the officers got hold of it.—Empty jugs and wet floors were all the traces of the "critter" found, save a small jug full, and that Jones smashed with a brick before it was carried out of the house.

EVET IN THE STOMACH.—MRS. Herschell C. Benson, of Palmer, ejected from her stomach, on Friday evening, the 27th ult., a live red Evet, nearly three inches in length. It is supposed that she had carried the animal in her stomach about three years, she having during that time suffered much distress in the stomach, with occasional spasms and a peculiar appetite.

THE ENDICOTT PEAR TREE.—Mr. S. P. Fowler states that this tree, now probably more than 220 years old, when visited on the 7th of August, had made a growth of three or four inches, this season, on some of its branches, although it bears the marks of extreme decrepid old age.—Salem Gaz.

Nathan Crist, who was executed at Mobile on the 3d instant, for the murder of Theodore Nye, made a confession, in which he fully acknowledged his guilt.

DAILY
Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1852.

MAINE ELECTION.

Governor.—In 80 towns Hubbard (Dem.) loses over 2600 votes. He is defeated, as his majority last year was only 1600. There is also a serious falling off of the Whigs on the Governor's vote, in consequence of the division on the Liquor Law question. Chandler and scattering have drawn heavily on both the great parties.

House.—This is yet in doubt, but will probably be Democratic. So far the Whigs gain five members in the House. The Democratic majority last year was 30.

Senate.—Two Whig and two Democrati Senators are probably elected in Cumberland being those on the Temperance ticket. I Penobscot two Whigs are probably chosen.

Congress.—Three Whig Members of Congress are surely elected, viz :—Washburn, Farley and Benson. McDonald (Dem.) is certainly elected, and Fuller (Dem.) probably. From the second district we have no returns.

To show how completely parties are mixed up, we give the vote of Portland for member of Congress, as follows :—Appleton, Whig, 1389; McDonald, Democrat, 1527; and at the same time the city gives 400 majority for Whigs to the Legislature.

Coalitions of all sorts were formed; and the party complexion of the two houses, so far, does not decide the liquor question.

The editor says :

"The Free Soil party seems to have gone over in a body to Hubbard, who is undoubtedly re-elected by an increased vote.

We have the returns of vote for Senators, in every town in York County, save Wells and York—but have not time to put them in type. The Anti Maine Law nomination is elected by three or four hundred majority, probable. Also all their County nominations.

The returns also indicate the popularity of the Maine Law (outside of York County,) with the majority of the people of the State."

The Portland Advertiser states, "Hubbard's loss in 75 towns, 2,316; and adds, this would seem to indicate very clearly that there has been no choice of Governor by the people.

Maine has seven representatives in the present Congress—five democrats and two whigs; but the new apportionment reduces the number to six.

VERMONT ELECTION.—Returns have been received from 218 towns. Fairbanks, Whig, falls 965 votes short of a majority. The Senate and House strongly Whig, insure the election of Fairbanks.

FROM THE BAY OF ST. LAWRENCE.—The Newburyport Herald says that the schooner Seaflower, Ames, arrived at that port, from the Bay, on Monday evening, with one-sixth of a fare. She reports schooners Reindeer, Tyro, Grampus, Far West, Elvira, Leader, and a fleet of other vessels, equally unsuccessful. There were no fish in the Bay, except within the indicted three miles, which were closely watched by the provincial cruisers.

The serenade to Madame Sontag, at New York, on Monday evening, was interrupted and finally broken up by rowdies.

BEANS.—The Mayor and Aldermen of Boston, on Sunday morning last, were presented with a pot of baked pork and beans each, at their several residences. The generous donor is unknown.

PERSONAL.—President Fillmore has returned to Washington, from his visit to Berkley Springs.

Gen. Scott's visit to West Point having been noticed, it is proper to state that he also has returned to the seat of government.

The Executive Officers now in the city, besides the Chief Magistrate, are Mr. Secretary Corwin, Mr. Secretary Conrad, and Mr. Attorney General Crittenden.

WEBSTER MEETING AT BOSTON.—This day at 12 o'clock, noon, a mass Convention of the citizens is notified to meet in Faneuil Hall, Boston, to nominate Daniel Webster for President.

The Courier of yesterday says not one word about it :—the Daily Advertiser has a long and able communication against it.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—We learn that a fatal accident occurred at the Berwick Junction yesterday forenoon. A man from Portland, a fancy painter, named Warren Cloudman, in endeavoring to get into a car, in motion, fell between that and another, and was killed instantly.

REV. DR. KING.

Many of our readers may be aware of the facts, that Rev. Jonas King, D. D., an American Missionary, formerly well known here, but for years past a resident in Greece, has been restrained, imprisoned, and as he thinks, imposed upon by the Greek Courts, instigated probably by priests of the Greek Church.

A paragraph has lately gone the rounds of the papers, stating on the authority of the London Standard, "that the American ambassador who was sent to Athens to inquire into the case of Dr. King, having found that Mr. King had been tried by the laws of Greece, appeared quite satisfied, and had sailed for Trieste."

This appeared strange, still we were about to copy it, when we saw in the papers a letter dated August 23d, which says :

"The controversy at Athens concerning the treatment of Dr. King, appears to have been adjusted without difficulty, by Mr. Marsh, U. S. Minister at Constantinople. The U. S. steam frigate San Jacinto, was sent for him while the Cumberland remained at the Pirens. On reaching Athens, he sought an interview with the Queen, and it is understood that Dr. King's claims were conceded. Mr. Marsh, soon after the negotiation, left in the San Jacinto for Trieste, and will visit Venice and Italy on his return to Constantinople."

This settles the case, to be sure, as easily as the London Standard says,—but it places the boot on the other leg, as regards its merits.

THOMAS GILMAN.

In yesterday's paper we recorded the death of Mr. Thomas Gilman, aged 77, antiquarian, of Exeter. The News Letter of this week mentions his extraordinary memory, and his fondness for treasuring and telling old stories of Exeter; and says,—

"Nine of the early years of Mr. Gilman's life were passed in Ohio, then a wilderness.—During his sojourn there, he was much in the company and service of Gen. Cass. Upon one occasion, he was passing from one station to another, with Gen. Cass, and others, when the party fell in with the Duke of Orleans, more recently known as Louis Philippe, King of the French, and his company, and together they travelled in the wilds, and upon the Ohio river, for eighteen days. One day, while the party was crossing a rapid stream, upon a fallen tree, the uncrowned king lost his foothold and fell into the water. Young Gilman plunged in and rescued him from his dangerous position. When Gen. Cass returned from France, he related to Mr. Gilman, that the King had more than once mentioned the adventure, but supposed his deliverer long before must have been "among the things that were."

"FULLY UNDERSTOOD."

In the foreign news which came by the Humboldt, there was one paragraph which we omitted, as deserving no credence and demanding no attention, viz : that which stated it to be "well understood" in England, that the Fishery trouble was settled to the satisfaction of both governments. The Boston Daily Advertiser publishes the paragraph; and adds to it the following remarks, which are probably correct.

"It is said to be "fully understood" in England, that the Fishery question is arranged, satisfactorily to both governments. We doubt not it would be acceptable news to both governments if it were so, but we are of the impression that the idea of any arrangement having been made beyond mutual explanations of a conciliatory character, with a disavowal on the part of the British government of the intention of advancing any new claim, and probably with instructions to the officers on the coast to avoid proceedings unless in cases of clear violation of the convention, is not sustained on any satisfactory authority.

GREENLAND PICNIC, THIS DAY.—An Extra Train of Cars will be run on the Concord road, from this place, at 2 o'clock. P. M. There will doubtless be a good attendance.

RIOTOUS.—At a trial in Watertown, Mass., on Saturday, Mr. C. C. Richardson, one of the witnesses in a liquor case, was attacked by several persons, on suspicion of being an informer, and drew a loaded pistol in his defence.

ORIGIN OF THE STAFFORDSHIRE REPORT. We have received some Valparaiso papers. The Mercantile Reporter of July 15th has this brief announcement :—

The next number of the same paper issued on the 30th has the following :—

Staffordshire—We are happy to find this was not the vessel wrecked near Colcurra, as stated in our last number; but the Jesus Guimaraens, a Chilian bark

The resemblance of the names is certainly not very striking. These short paragraphs are all we find about the matter.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

MOUNT ÆTNA IN CONVULSIONS.—Mount Ætna, in the island of Sicily, became suddenly convulsed on the night of the 20th of August, and a magnificent eruption took place, which has not been surpassed by any within the past forty years. It was feared several villages would be destroyed by the streams of lava.

SAD SEQUEL.—One day last week, three brothers—all boys, and living in Buffalo—went into an orchard and ate freely of unripe apples. The next morning they all lay dead in a room together, having been attacked with cholera in its most virulent form.

A BOOK-NOTICE AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.

In the Chronicle of the 28th August, we gave a brief notice of "Japan and the Japanese," after reading the book carefully through; pronouncing the matter valuable, but criticising the performance, and plainly pointing out its faults. We were sorry to cut up, in any wise, the first book sent to us for notice; but we do not consider our paper a universal puffing machine for which the editor merely furnishes the wind. Therefore we gave the book precisely the notice which we deemed fair, as we closed its covers and laid it on the shelf; and as in duty bound, forwarded a copy to the author, that he might see that his bookseller had done his duty, and we had done ours.—We had no idea of hearing from it again, in any form. But a day or two since, we received, per Harnden's and Jackson & Co.'s Express, a nice package, with freight paid, containing—we could not tell what. We opened the outer covering, and found the following billet.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11, 1852.

To the Editors of the Daily Morning Chronicle:

DEAR SIRS :—There is such truth and candor in the notice (Aug. 28) upon "Japan and the Japanese," that I have taken the liberty of sending you three bottles of the "Nervous Antidote" for you to test upon any persons in diseases, that you may know, and write your experience of its deserts as honestly as you have upon the "bundle of tracts." I should not have presumed so much, but the above named notice convinces me I cannot offend you by the liberty I have taken.

I am, Dear Sirs, truly and
TALBOT WATTS.

424 Greenwich street.

Now our brother editors may guess what they have lost, by noticing a book they have not read, or by praising what they did not like. We have received the author's acknowledgements, and with them three bottles of what purports to be an efficacious and valuable medicine. Having no excuse for taking medicine ourselves, we merely tasted one of them; and have given two of the three bottles to friends, who will try their quality and report in their own time. We shall no more be offended by presents of any books, wares or manufactures, which come with freight paid, than afraid to speak our mind plainly about them when received.

Dr. Talbot has also sent us several numbers of his medical paper, the Investigator, from which, did we not know him to be an Englishman, we should take him to be a live Yankee, determined to cure the nervous patients, and make money by the operation.

A DESCRIPTION.—The Charlestown, Mass., Advertiser, is a prime paper for domestic items. Vide the following notice of a new school-house.

"In speaking of the new location of the School House on Soley street, last week, we were guilty of gross neglect in setting forth its advantages. We should have added, that the front door is on the back of the house, that the back of the house fronts on the street, and that it has neither front or back door; that it fronts nowhere, and backs nowhere; but sits contra cornered, fronting upon the backside of a lot of land. This definition of its location we have obtained, at some trouble, from an eminent engineer."

SINGULAR DISCOVERY.—It is stated in one of our English papers that the work of draining the Lake of Haarlem has led to the discovery of an immense mass of human remains, deeply imbedded in the mud, and placed precisely on the spot where, according to a topographic chart, laid down in 1511, and which has always been considered as perfectly accurate, the unfortunate village of Nierewenkirk was situated, and which in 1539 was swallowed up by one of those irruptions of the North Sea which formed the immense Lake of Haarlem.

STEAMER ATLANTIC.—Buffalo, Sept. 13.—Two bodies from the wreck of the Atlantic have been washed ashore at Ashtabula,—one of which is that of Miss Eliza Van Hovenburg of Santiago county—the other was not recognised.

Capt. Ward has commenced legal proceedings against the owners of the Propeller Ogdensburg, for sinking the Atlantic.

An Irish woman in West Troy, N. Y., ate two quarts of peaches the other day, and died in six hours thereafter.

In Philadelphia, Sept. 10, a lad named Riley, twelve years of age, was accidentally run over and killed on the Market street railroad.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Albany, Sept. 13.—This afternoon, a man named Barnard Cristman, the owner of a steam mill, was caught by the belt of a large grindstone, and instantly killed, his neck being broken. He leaves a wife and family.

Cincinnati, 13th.—Cassius M. Clay is stumping it in Kentucky in favor of John P. Hale.

Hon. Ben. Harding, formerly member of Congress from Kentucky, is lying at the point of death.

COURTS IN SEPTEMBER.

21st—Common Pleas, Portsmouth;
21st—U. S. District, "

☞ Mr. Lamprey's Dancing School commences to-day.

EQUES.—A Horse belonging to the Circus, yesterday performed something not set down in the bills. He was a large beast, harnessed with chain traces, &c.—and getting frightened near the Franklin House, he took the sidewalk for a race-course, but soon fell—and rising again, he pursued his way with increased speed, clearing the walks through Congress and Market to Bow-street, where falling once more, he was captured and led back, rather the worse for the performance, lame, &c.

CONVICTED.—Major Howes, who made the murderous assault on Miss Buck, a schoolmistress at Milford, Conn., some months since because she would not marry him, has been convicted of an intent to commit murder.—The penalty for the offence is imprisonment for ten years or upwards, at the discretion of the court.

SECRETARY CORWIN.—Washington, Aug. 13.—Mr. Corwin, Secretary of the Treasury, returned home yesterday.

HAVANA NEWS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—We have details of the news from Havana to the 3d inst. An editorial in the Diary accuses Wm. Smith, the purser of the Crescent City, of having spread false reports as to the state of feeling in Havana, and the number of arrests at the time that steamer left on her last trip to New York.

A letter dated the 2d, says it appears now to be beyond all doubt that the Creoles of this Island did intend to make a strike for independence, and that it was to have commenced at San Cristoval, in the Vuelta del Abajo, sometime in the month of August. They expected to rise and hold out through the Island until succored from the United States.

In all 400 arrests have been made, including 14 females. Day before yesterday about 30 prisoners were seen to stop at the Commissary's office. Among them was a young officer of the rank of captain, dressed in full uniform, with several orders in his breast, but with his arms tied behind his back with strong cords.

RIOT IN NEW YORK.—A disgraceful fight occurred in New York on Sunday afternoon, which originated in a religious controversy.—The police quelled it with great difficulty.—Several of the rioters were arrested.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A young man, a brakeman on the Eastern Railroad, named Nathan K. Holland, had his arm broken just above his wrist, while in discharge of his duty on the cars. This accident occurred on the Portland train this morning at North Beverly. He was carried to Ipswich, where his arm was attended to by Dr. Bowman, and he is now comfortable. He had a leg broken last winter, and for a young man of 18 has had his share of misfortune.—Boston Chronicle.

FROM AUSTRALIA.—Capt. Handy, of whaling barque Belle, of Fairhaven, just returned from New South Wales, says that the gold excitement in Australia has been kept alive in a great measure by grossly exaggerated statements of the success of the miners, and that the sufferings experienced by the adventurers to Australia, are severe beyond anything that has yet been experienced in California.

FROM NOVA SCOTIA.—The Halifax Sun in an article on the Fishery question, says:

"It may not be worth while that England go to war with "her best customer," on this question of "protection." But may conceal the fact that from the day and date of a virtual surrender of the "claim," so unquestionable, set up by the colonies, the days of sovereignty in England's America are numbered."

NOTICE TO GROCERS.

ON Account of the unexpected demand for Mrs. SMITH'S KILN-DRIED YEAST. I have been unable to offer it to the trade to any extent, but now having made arrangements for a constant supply, I am prepared to supply Grocers and others with any quantity, by the dozen or otherwise.

THIS YEAST has been thoroughly tested by housekeepers most experienced in such matters, who, without exception, pronounce it the BEST, MOST CONVENIENT, AND RELIABLE ARTICLE ever introduced for raising bread;—far surpassing even the best hop yeast.

GROCERS in this town, Manchester, and many other places, are now selling large quantities every week.

SUMMER'S FAREWELL.

To Summer's sweets I bid farewell!
To thee O warbling Philomel!
To all the lovely winged tribe
Which in thy regions now reside,
I bid adieu! adieu ye flow'rs,
Farewell ye trills of birds, adieu! adieu!

To lovely meads, to cloud-capt hills,
To gentle brooks, to purling rills,
To gentle streams, to rural bow'rs,
To groves with their attractive pow'rs,
I bid adieu! adieu, adieu ye vales,
Ye woods, ye fields, adieu! adieu.

To scaly tribes, to spangled scenes,
To cool retreats, to sylvan themes,
To lowing kine, or bleating flocks,
To mountains of romantic rocks,
I bid adieu, adieu ye plains,
Ye woodland nymphs, ye rural swains;
Farewell, ye drops of pearly dew,
Ye pleasing shades adieu! adieu.

To spreading tents, to humble cots,
To pebbling brooks, to shelly grots,
To soothing strains, to dying lays,
To nature's mild and gentle rays,
I bid adieu! adieu ye lawns,
Ye tender kids, ye sportive fawns;
Farewell ye tints which gild the view,
Ye orient beams adieu! adieu!

An ITEM.—That must be a very dry paper that does not give us one. The last Union Democrat of Salem, contains nothing but long political articles inside, except this, which is worthy of being copied:

"Our readers will please excuse the absence of news matter to-day, as politics rage, and the country looks to us for salvation."

The Union Democrat is anti-coalition; it publishes the proceedings of the National Democratic (or Seceding) Convention, and says there were about 400 delegates. It recommends a separate organization.

The Quebec Morning Chronicle says the recent weather at that place may be thus summarily described—lovely days and thundering nights.

The editor of the New York Mirror having received a ticket of invitation to the dinner of the American Vegetation Society, requests the officers of the Society to furnish him with the bill of fare, before he accepts the invitation.

"Have you ever broken a horse?" inquired a horse jockey. "No not exactly," replied Simon, "but I have broken three or four wagons."

POISONOUS CHLOROFORM.

Dr. Jackson of Boston and Dr. Perkins of Newburyport, have been investigating and experimenting on Chloroform.

They ascertained these facts?

1st. When chloroform, and the alcoholic solution of it called chloric ether, was made from pure alcohol diluted with water, no fatal accidents occurred from its judicious administration.

2d. When chloroform was made, as it now frequently is, from common corn, rye and potato whiskey, deaths began to occur, even when the utmost care was taken in its administration.

3d. In the Chelsea case, where this kind of chloroform was probably contained in the alcoholic solution incorrectly called chloric ether, death took place in a very sudden manner, and the post mortem appearances on the subject indicated the usual effects of poisoning by chloroform.

From these data it might justly be inferred that some poisonous matter exists in the cheap chloroform of commerce, and Dr. J. suspected that it arose from the fusel oil which exists in whiskey. A variety of experiments proved his suspicions true. It follows:

1st. That all chloroform intended for inhalation as an anæsthetic agent, should be prepared from pure rectified alcohol, to be diluted with water when used for distillation from hyperchlorite of lime.

2d. That no druggist should sell for anæsthetic uses, any chloroform which is not known to have been properly prepared as above suggested.

3d. That the mixture of chloroform and alcohol, commercially known under the name of strong chloric ether, must be made with the same precautions as chloroform.

There is more danger of the existence of sulphuric acid in this liquid, and that is a dangerous poison, and it is one readily detected; and persons will object to inhaling ether containing it, on account of its well known disagreeable odor of burning sulphur.

BABIES.—An editor who has been married about a year, speaking of babies, says:

"The delight of the days, the torment of the nights—elegant in full dress, but horrible in dishabille—beautful on the smile, but maddenning in the yell—exquisitely in place in the nursery, but awfully de trop in the parlor, stage or railroad car—the fountains of all joy, and something else—the well-springs of delight, and the recipients of unlimited spankings—the glory of 'pa,' and the happiness of 'ma,'—who wouldn't have 'em?"

PUBLIC DINNER.—The citizens of Philadelphia, without distinction of party, have tendered Hon. J. R. Ingersoll a public dinner previous to his departure for England, which the latter declined.

IMPORTANT RAILWAYS IN EUROPE.

Capitalists of England and France, under sanction of the governments of France, Spain and Portugal, have projected Railroads from Paris to Lisbon through Madrid, which are to be completed in three or four years from this time.

The Courier des Etats Unis says on this great work "the railway enterprises become political enterprises of the first order. Spain and Portugal being Latin and Catholic nations, as more recently Italy itself, cannot raise themselves from their present abasement except by contact and impulsion from France whose natural appendages they are.

At present, the establishment of a line of railway from Paris to Lisbon, by Madrid, is an immense event for the Peninsula; it is the regeneration of its agriculture and its industry; it is, in a given time the renewal of its policy, it is a collecting of ideas, it is a retaliation taken on that odious and stupid regime of the inquisition, which shutting out from Spain and Portugal the fertilizing spirit of reform, had, as it were, petrified them in the ignorance of monkish imbecility. It is finally for French policy the most durable and the most glorious of all conquests, that of an alliance, founded on the affinities of race, of language, of religion, founded especially on the mutual advantages of the contracting parties."

MAINE ELECTION.

Governor.—In 167 towns, Crosby, Whig, had 16,908; Hubbard, Regular Democrat, 25,312; Chandler, Anti-Liquor Law Democrat, 14,513; scattering, 692. Majority against Gov. Hubbard, 6801. His majority last year was 1600.

House.—The Democratic majority last year was 30. This year so far the Whigs have gained 18 in all, and have lost 11.

Senate.—Whigs 3 in Kennebec, probably 4 in Lincoln, 3 in Penobscot, 2 in Somerset, 1 in Piscataqua, and 1 in Franklin—14. Democrats—3 in York, 3 in Waldo, and 2 in Washington—8. No choice in Cumberland 4; and in Oxford 2, Hancock 2, and Aroostook 1—not heard from. The Whigs seem to have the Senate.

Congress.—Three Democrats are elected, viz: McDonald, Fuller and Mayall—and three Whigs, Washburn, Farley and Benson.

Maine has seven representatives in the present Congress—five democrats and two whigs, but the new apportionment reduces the number to six.

In York County, bordering on New Hampshire, both the Whig party and the liquor law have been defeated with large losses.

THE POSTAGE LAW.

STAMPS AND ENVELOPES.—According to the Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Commercial, the cheap postage system has been much prejudiced, by the difficulty of prepaying postage on letters; one cannot always go in person or send another to prepay his letters. It would be a hundred-fold increase of the postage tax to do this. Stamps were, therefore, prepared and sold by the post offices. But these proved useless, because they were untrustworthy; many have been deterred from using them by the fact that some of them will slip off as fast as put on. Instances have been frequent wherein a messenger, taking a bag of letters to the city post office, finds there, that the stamps have disappeared from the letters.

Congress has at length provided a remedy for this evil. Some one moved an amendment to the post route bill, that meets this case, and in spite of the committee, it prevailed, and is now a law. The Post Office Department is to cause envelopes to be made, with suitable water marks on the paper, identifying them as official, and with a printed stamp, for single or double postage, with a suitable device.—These envelopes are to be sold at all the post offices, at the price of the stamps now sold,—with the very small addition of the actual cost of the envelopes.

We think the public are not generally aware of the above facts. If government is to take into its hands the business of supplying envelopes, it will be a serious blow at the stationery interest, and be a fat job for some favorite of the Post Office Department. If the envelopes are to be sold at the same price as the stamps, however, we suppose the public will not complain.

FACTORY SOLD.—At Baltimore on Tuesday the Phœnix cotton factory in the vicinity of Baltimore was sold at auction for $28,000; it originally cost $100,000.

MARSHAL HAYNAU.

Among the few items of interest received by the Niagara, is one which states that the Austrian Field-Marshal, Haynau, dined on the last Sunday of August in Paris, at a party, where a number of distinguished officers were present—and in an after-dinner speech, he declared on his honor as a soldier that he never ordered a lady to be flogged, and that when he heard that an officer, sixty leagues off, had caused the Countess Blank to be flogged, he (Haynau) expressed disapprobation, and put the officer under arrest. As to his other alleged severities, he admitted them, and contended that they were necessary. Haynau is no favorite of ours; but we gladly give him the benefit of this disclaimer, and are happy to perceive that he has the grace either to be innocent of woman-whipping or to be ashamed of it. It is a hopeful sign in his case, either way.

DEATH OF A MEMBER OF THE SUFFOLK BAR.—We regret to learn that Henry H. Fuller, Esq., of Boston, died in Concord, Mass., at the residence of Rev. B. Frost, yesterday morning, aged 62. Mr. Fuller was one of the oldest and most respected members of his profession in that city, and the suddenness of his decease will be surprising to a large circle of friends and acquaintances.—He was a principal member of the Hollis street church, a sound lawyer, a ripe scholar, and a gentleman of rare personal worth. His wife died only a few weeks since.

ATTEMPTS AT SUICIDE.—Mrs. Hugh Riley, a young married lady of Blackstone, recently, with a hatchet, inflicted five wounds about her neck, and eight wounds upon the top of her head. Though very feeble from loss of blood, she will probably recover.

A young woman by the name of Angeline Dover threw herself on the track of the Railroad, in Woonsocket, just as a train was passing, a few evenings since. Her friends were watching, and managed to get her out of harm's way. She said it was her determination to get out of the world.

A FAUX PAS.—In Boston on Tuesday "an elderly woman in attempting to step upon the sidewalk in Court street, at the corner of Cornhill, stepped upon her dress, and fell upon her hands and knees. She rose, and again met with a similar accident. Her dress was certainly four inches too long, and one inch longer than the "fashion," which is in the opinion of the Boston Courier, bordering on absurdity. The woman must have been somewhat hurt."

The border of absurdity in these cases is a very wide one. On a rainy day a quarter of a yard of muddy calico or delaine is just about a fair pattern.

WEBSTER MASS CONVENTION IN BOSTON. Agreeably to public notice, a Convention of the friends of Daniel Webster, in favor of nominating him as a candidate for the Presidency, assembled in Faneuil Hall at noon yesterday. The Transcript says the Hall was but little more than half full, owing probably to the heavy rain.

Henry Lyman, of Watertown, was chosen Chairman, and James French, S. M. Hobbs, Samuel Kettelle, Jas. G. Baker, Secretaries.

N. H. GENERAL ASSOCIATION.—This body of ministers, which lately met at Pittsfield, with the audience there assembled, unanimously passed the following resolutions:

1. Resolved that the cause of Temperance is intimately connected with the advancement of Christ's kingdom on the earth.

2. That the success of this cause imperatively demands the enactment of a law similar to that now in force in Maine, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, designed to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

3. That with the blessing of God we will never cease to labor and pray, until such a law is placed on the statute books of our State.

BALTIMORE.—A great mass meeting of whigs was held in Monument Square, Baltimore, on Monday evening; when the square was brilliantly illuminated, and the monument hung with lights. The concourse is said to be greater than any other ever seen in Baltimore.

A democratic meeting took place at the same time in Exchange place. This was also a large meeting—but not so large as the other. So says the telegraph to the N. Y. Herald.

A JEW LEGALLY PROTECTED.—In the Police Court, in Boston, Abraham Harris was charged with violating the Sabbath, by working at his trade as a tailor. He proved, however, that he kept Saturday as the Sabbath and attended the Jewish Synagogue, and was discharged by the Court.

NEWFOUNDLAND FISHERY.—A Halifax despatch of Sept. 14, states that the Vigilance, brig of war on the coast of Newfoundland, has damaged the French fisheries very much. Fifty vessels of the fleet in the Straits of Belleisle, will return home having eighty thousand quintals short of last years catch.

SOUTHERN CANDIDATES.—On Monday evening, Sept. 14, at Montgomery, Alabama, in the Southern Rights Convention, last evening, GEORGE M. TROUP of Georgia, was nominated for President, and Gen. QUITMAN for Vice President. The choice was unanimously ratified, electors were appointed, and the Convention adjourned.

SAD CASE OF INSANITY.—The Boston Transcript informs us that a highly respectable lady of Dedham, who took a prominent part in the late Spiritual Convention in that city, has become insane and been taken to a hospital.

KIDNAPPING.—A dispatch from Norfolk, Sept. 14, says, a negro was kidnapped from a British schooner midway in Hampton Roads this morning by Charles Brown, master of sch. Alex, and sold at this port. Brown is in jail.

21st—U. S. District, "

SUICIDE IN RANDOLPH, MASS.—On the 9th inst., Mr. Silloway, an industrious man, a good citizen, a kind husband, father and friend, took his life very suddenly. He had been sick for some days, and being of a melancholy disposition, his thoughts preyed upon him, forcing him to the rash act. He was a native of Berlin, Vt. He has resided in Randolph some time past, engaged with A. P. Welcome, in the tin and stove business. He was worth from $1000 to $1500.

FISHERY TROUBLES.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Times says within a few days, and since the departure of Mr. Webster, the President has become aware of new orders sent to Admiral Seymour, to seize on every vessel found, on any pretence, within three miles of the coast. The orders are to take all, and hear excuses afterwards. Mr. Crampton was endeavoring, it has been said, to smooth all the difficulty over to get time for negociations.

FRENCH MATTERS.—The Minister of Commerce has informed the ship-owners of Havre that the government will not protect them in loading guano at the Lobos Islands.

Paris papers assert that the French troops are not to be withdrawn from Rome or Civiti Vechia.

The latest Parisian gossip is that Louis Napoleon is careless of securing the hand of the Princess Vasa, having transferred his admiration to a daughter of Prince Czartoriski.

Intelligence just received states that the French settlements in India have taken the oath of fidelity to the President. The King of Siam has sent his felicitations to Louis Napoleon:

INTERESTING BAPTISM.—The venerable Dr. Lowell, of Boston, recently baptised at his residence in Cambridge, (he being now in ill-health) a child whose parents and grandparents he married, and whose mother and grand-mother he baptised in their childhood.—Courier.

BREADSTUFF IN EUROPE.—In England harvest is progressing satisfactorily throughout the kingdom. In Holland the potato rot has subsided, if indeed it ever existed to any extent. Reaping of wheat, barley and oats goes on in all the earlier districts without intermission and with favorable weather.

WASHINGTON T. A. SOCIETY.

At the Annual Meeting of the Portsmouth Washington Total Abstinence Society, held on Monday evening, Sept. 13th, at the Temple, the following gentlemen were chosen officers for the ensuing year, viz:

REV. A. B. BRADBURY, President;
F. W. ROGERS, Vice President;
JAMES NOWELL, Sec. and Treas.;
John Christie,
J. D. Pillow,
Oliver Hanscom,
Sterrett Anderson,
William Tuckerman,
} Executive Committee.

The Treasurer's account was presented, showing a balance in the Treasury of $2.97. The report was accepted, and Messrs. John Christie and H. M. Hart were chosen Auditors to examine the accounts and report at the next meeting.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Executive Committee be requested to call a general meeting of the friends of Temperance in this city at an early day for the purpose of taking into consideration the action of the Senate of this State on the Liquor Bill, which passed the House of Representatives at the session of the Legislature in June last.

Voted, That the Secretary present a copy of the doings of this meeting to each of the publishers of our city papers, with the request that they give the same an insertion.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held at the close of the above meeting it was voted that a meeting be held at the Temple on Thursday Evening, Sept. 23d, for the purpose of considering the action of the N. H. Senate on the Liquor Bill which passed the House of Representatives at the last session of the Legislature. JAMES NOWELL, Sec'y.

During a thunder storm in East Bridgewater, a few days since, the lightning entered in a cellar of a barn, passed through a pile of hay some ten or twelve feet in thickness, and escaped through the roof, leaving a hole clear through the hay, 12 inches in circumference, but neither the hay nor the barn was set on fire by the lightning.

The dinner of the Speaker of the House of Assembly of Canada, took place on the evening of the 7th instant. It is said to have been a brilliant affair: his Honor entertaining upwards of sixty persons, including Gov. Seward and several other strangers, besides Col. Bruce and other non-parliamentary guests.

The "Digger Indians," of California, catch cartloads of grasshoppers by drawing them into a pit dug for the purpose, after which they are baked by a fire encircling the pit, and then pulverized into flour from which various delicate viands are prepared for the Indian palate.

A PICKPOCKET KILLED.—A gentleman from the South while viewing the stock at the New York State Fair, at Utica, on Friday last, discovered that some one was cutting open his pocket, in which was the sum of $4000. He waited until his pocket was cut open, and then drew a bowie knife and plunged it into the heart of the robber, killing him instantly, after which he gave himself up to the authorities.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

The New Bedford Standard says a rock has just been discovered in the ship channel off Round Hill—at a depth of 16 feet at low water. This is the same rock, probably, on which the ship Saratoga struck last Spring. It is singular it was never before discovered. There is seven fathoms water at the sides of the rock. A buoy will probably be placed on it at once.

A SINGULAR CASE OF ABANDONMENT.—A few days since Mrs. Anna Thornton appeared before Justice Stuart, in New York, and preferred a complaint against her husband, for neglecting to provide for herself and their five children. She stated that for six months past he has kept them on bread and water, refusing to work for their support, and alleging that she and her family are accursed of the Lord, who is coming shortly in fiery judgment to destroy them and all unbelievers. The husband was arrested and acknowledged the charge to be true, and said that his conscience would not allow him to neglect serving the Lord for the sake of his family. Rather than to be locked up, however, he promised to give bonds in $300 to take care of his family.

THE CHEROKEES.—At Pittsfield, N. H., Aug. 25, the New Hampshire Home Missionary Society held its 52d Anniversary, Rev. Dr. French of North Hampton in the chair.

Rev. Worcester Willey, (a native of this State) Missionary to the Cherokees, gave an account of the state of things in that nation. Population 20,000, a regular government modelled after our own, thirty district schools, two national seminaries, a male and female, well endowed, having an edifice 80 feet long and two stories high, with good New England teachers. There is great enthusiasm among that people for education—a great call for ministers—great sensitiveness about being called savages—they claim the character of a civilized people. They feel the wrongs of our government, but show a willingness to be reconciled to the whites, if they now be let alone.

At a muster in South Deerfield, much interest was excited in regard to a boy, eleven years old, Samuel Pierce, of the Greenfield Brigade Band, who was appointed Drum Major for the regiment. He proved himself to be a remarkable drummer, and during the first day, received in presents upwards of $20.

UNCLE TOM.—Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is having an unprecedented run in England. The Times reviews it in a three column article not at all favorably.

HARD CASE.—The South Boston Gazette is responsible for the following developements of a "Confounded Hard" operation which has come to the knowledge of the editors:—Sometime ago a person called on one of our principal piano-forte manufacturers, who is noted for his kindness of heart, to purchase an instrument, representing that there would be a degree of charity in putting the price low, as the person for whom it was to be procured was a poor widow woman's daughter, or something of that sort, and the purchaser not only succeeded in getting the price low, but also managed to palm off on the piano-forte dealer, in part pay, one share of an Ice Company, which he represented as being "good as wheat." In a short time after this transaction, the said Ice Company burst up, melted into thin air, dissolved to smash, over $100,000 worse than nothing, leaving every stockholder individually liable for all the debts, and it has cost our philanthropic piano-forte dealer $5000 to relieve himself from the liabilities he unconsciously assumed when he took that one share. We call this a freezing operation.

CURIOUS MAIL MATTER.—A couple of live mice were received in a sealed letter, through the Lowell post office, yesterday.—They came from North Billerica. This is the first time that we ever knew of the mail bag being used as a rat trap.—Lowell News.

TRAGEDY AT SEA.

The Swedish bark Sarmiento, from Panama, for San Francisco, with 240 passengers, put into the Sandwich Islands on the 3d of July. The passengers suffered great hardships, and were put on an allowance of both bread and water, when five days out from Panama.

On the 21st of May, a passenger by the name of Woolfork, about 19 years of age, from Kentucky, shot a German, named Johnson, through the heart. The origin of this bloody business was a dispute about a tin cup, of which Woolfork had two, and the German none. In the hasty altercation, the handle was wrenched off, when Woolfork drew his revolver and shot Johnson dead.

A scene of the greatest excitement ensued. The murderer was seized—114 voted that he should be hung, 32 against it, and the remainder neutral. A judge was appointed, a jury of 12 empannelled; the prisoner found guilty of murder, and sentenced to be hung within one hour. After allowing the condemned man a quarter of an hour over his time, he was run up to the yard arm, where life soon became extinct. He was then cut adrift, fell upon his face into the sea, and continued to float until left out of sight by the vessel.

On the 25th of May, water was sold for $1 per bottle by those of the passengers who required less than some of their fellows. From the 19th of June to the 3d of July the passengers had no bread. There were eleven women and two children on board, one of each of whom died before reaching San Blas. Six others died on board besides the murderer and murdered.

RAZORS.—Barbers often tell us that razors get tired of shaving, but if laid by for twenty days they will then shave well. By microscopic examination it is found that the tired razor, from long stropping by the same hand and in the same direction, has the ultimate particles or fibres of its surface or edge all arranged in one direction, like the edge of a piece of cut velvet; but after a month's rest, these fibres re-arrange themselves heterogeneously, crossing each other and presenting a saw-like edge, each fibre supporting its fellow, and hence cutting the beard, instead of being forced down flat without cutting, as when laid by. These and many other instances are offered to prove that the ultimate particles of matter are always in motion, and they say that in the process of welding, the absolute momentum of the hammer causes an entanglement of the orbits of motion and hence a re-arrangement, as in one piece; in the cold state a leaf of gold laid on a polished surface of steel, and stricken smartly with a hammer, will have its particles forced into the steel so as to permanently gild it at the point of contact.—Scientific American.

[We have observed this fact about the razors, in our own experience.]

A jury in Shenandoah County, Va., has rendered a verdict of $9000 against a stage company, in favor of a passenger whose leg was broken so as to make him a cripple for life, by the upsetting of one of the company's stages. This is said to be the first case of the kind ever tried in Virginia.

A NEW CURE FOR SYNCOPE.—We have heard various methods of restoration in cases of fainting fits, recommended by physicians and others, but the "wax candle case" is a little ahead of other remedies. The Editor of the Sunday Courier is entitled to a diploma for the discovery:

We heard, a day or two since, of a most remarkable recovery of the senses in a very peculiar manner from a very peculiar cause. A lady while sitting in her drawing room, surrounded by her husband and a party of friends, was suddenly attacked with a fit. She was laid upon the floor, and all was bustle and excitement. "Run for the doctor," cried one; "Bring me a basin of water," shrieked another. "Apply ice to her head," urged a third. "Bleed her," cried an Allopathist. "Put her in a bath," advised a Hydropathist, and, amidst the confusion of tongues, the party were startled by the invalid screaming out:

"Take that candle from off the carpet!"

A wax candle had injudiciously been placed upon the floor, and at the first opening of her eyes, she perceived the danger of her beautiful carpet, by which means she was restored to herself at once.

A revolutionary soldier named Ichabod Wood, died in Pelham on the 8th inst., aged 92 years and 8 months. He was a native of Middlebury, and joined the army at the age of fourteen. He served under General Sullivan in Rhode Island, was taken prisoner near New York, and suffered on board of the prison-ship in that harbor, where he had the small pox, and was exchanged. Mr. Wood, with his wife, survived eight children.

AN OPINION ON ROWDYISM FROM A JUDGE.—Mr. Justice William A. White, in whose court at Watertown, during the trial of a liquor case, on Saturday, quite an uproar occurred, gives it as his opinion, that never within his memory "has our village been disgraced with such drunken rowdyism, and the only satisfaction I can feel in the matter is, that none of our citizens of Watertown were concerned in it."

A TINKER'S TOAST.—Recently, at the celebration of an anniversary in England, a poor tinker, who was present, being called upon for a toast, offered the following: "Here is a health to poverty; it sticks to a man when all his friends desert him."

Hops should be picked when they are full grown and begin to be fragrant.

DAILY Morning Chronicle.

PORTSMOUTH:
FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1852.

WEBSTER MEETING IN BOSTON.

The meeting in Faneuil Hall on Wednesday (mentioned in yesterday's Chronicle) was continued in the evening. The nominations were Daniel Webster, of Massachusetts, and Charles C. Jenkins, of Georgia—the candidates of the Union Whigs of Massachusetts for President and Vice-President of the United States.

Of the meeting there in the morning, the Courier says:—

"The weather was most unpropitious, and the number present in the morning—although exceeding one thousand—was not so large as was expected. Many of the country towns were represented; but how many, and to what extent, we are unable to say, no return of credentials having been made by the Examining Committee."

Rev. Hubbard Winslow made a short speech, to show the cause of Mr. Webster's defeat at Baltimore, and also in defence of the present movement. He said Mr. Webster's defeat at Baltimore was caused, first by personal hostility; secondly, ambition for offices; thirdly, sectionalism; and fourthly, Free-Soilism.

The evening meeting began at half-past seven o'clock, at which hour the hall was thronged nearly to its fullest capacity.

Electors and Central Committee were agreed upon.

Addresses were made by Messrs. Winslow, M. H. Smith, A. Wilson, and S. L. Cutter.

Mr. Winslow offered several resolutions which were adopted, and with cheers the convention adjourned.

Speaking of the Address to the People of Massachusetts, put forth by this convention, the Boston Daily Advertiser says:—

"No one supposes that such an appeal will influence a single vote beyond the limits of Massachusetts, and yet it is made the only ground of justification for another call "upon independent Whigs every where," to reject the national Whig nomination.

The appeal, it will be observed, is addressed to the Whigs of Massachusetts. Is it not obvious that all the fruits of it are to fall into the lap of the Democratic party?"

MAINE.—The Portland Advertiser of yesterday, gives returns of votes for Governor in 182 towns, which stand, for Crosby, 19,072; Hubbard 28,697; Chandler, 15,934; Holmes, 803.

Gov. Hubbard was the regular democratic candidate, and signed the "Maine Law."—The Advertiser says:

"Gov. Hubbard has been defeated by his own party. He has received the votes of most of the free soilers and thousands of whigs, and yet he is defeated! The great bulk of the Chandler vote comes from the democratic party. A majority of the democratic representatives and Senators, we have no doubt, will be opposed to Hubbard."

The latter remark is merely matter of opinion, which may or may not prove correct.—The preceding statements are facts that will not be questioned.

Chandler was the Anti-Liquor Law candidate—and Crosby the whig. Holmes was the free soil candidate in Convention,—but the free soil party voted for Hubbard almost in a solid body.

MASSACHUSETTS "UNION DEMOCRATS."—The Salem Union Democrat, their organ, repudiates the action of the State Convention, and nominates DAVID HENSHAW for Governor of Massachusetts.

A new play, entitled "Job and his Children," has been introduced into the Varieties Theatre, St. Louis. The Intelligencer calls it an effort to combine the stage and the pulpit.

Plays founded on Scripture scenes and incidents were acted in the European Theatres centuries ago;—and are much older than any other dramas now extant.

☞ Peter Scammel, a young man 22 years of age, was arraigned last Monday at Lawrence, Mass. for the crime of rape, committed in Methuen on Thursday and Friday,—on Mary Moran, aged 14. He is in jail, for trial. The penalty is imprisonment for life.

TWO VICTIMS MORE.—On the 15th, Mrs. Amy Williamson, one of the persons scalded at the explosion of the Reindeer, died at Sangerties; also Hugh Lowrey, another victim, died near the same time and place.

☞ The Democratic State Convention met in New Jersey, Sept. 15th. 10,000 persons were present.

MACKEREL.—A large school of these fish struck into Nahant Bay, on Tuesday, and seventy-four small boats were at one time counted in their midst.

THE ACCIDENT AT BERWICK.

The Portland Advertiser of yesterday gives the particulars of the accident at North Berwick which was noticed in the Chronicle of Wednesday, and which resulted in the death of Mr. Warren G. Cloudman, of Portland.

The accident took place at the South Berwick junction. Mr. C. was on the lower route train, and got out when the train came to a halt, without any particular object in view. Soon after the train backed down about twenty rods to take on another car, and in coming back, put on considerable speed. Mr. C. supposed they were going on without stopping for him, and ran to jump on the cars. Seeing his intention and knowing his danger, the engineer "broke up," but it was too late. His mangled form was taken into the depot, and two physicians were immediately in attendance, and the officers of the railroad vied with each other in rendering whatever aid they could.

The accident took place between 10 and 11 o'clock, and Mr. C. lived till nearly 2, retaining his senses till within a few minutes of his death. Soon after he was taken up, the Rev. Mr. Allen was sent for, and after some conversation and mutual prayer, at the particular request of Mr. C., he was baptized. He had thought much on religious subjects, and expressed himself ready to depart, and hoped that his parents would be reconciled to his sudden death. He also stated that not the least blame could attach to any one but himself in the matter.

His remains were carried home to Portland, and buried on Wednesday.

FAREWELL TO THE PIC-NICS.

The following fair hit at the pic-nics, in the line of a farewell, is from the New York Evening Times of the 14th. Making due allowance for the difference of latitude, it is exactly in season here just now, especially as the Greenland pic-nic, probably the last for the season about here, has just come to a happy conclusion.

The days of the pic-nics are almost over for this season. For many weeks past, nearly every day, the pleasant groves in the vicinity have been redolent of chowder and roast clams, and resonant of merry voices. We wonder who first invented pic-nics. They must have been adopted soon after folks first moved into their framed houses, as memorials, periodically observed, of the time when they lived in tents or dwelt in shady woods, without a roof. But whoever their inventor may be, the pic-nic has won its way both into the dictionary and into the hearts of citizens.

It is very pleasant to carry one's dinner twenty miles from home that he may eat it in a wilderness, off a table six inches too high—sitting on a bench six inches too low. It sharpens the appetite to find that the bread must be consumed butterless, the radishes without salt, and the beets without vinegar.—The ice-cream is all the better that you have to eat it with your jack-knife from off a pie platter, and the stewed pears, that you take them by the stem, and the quahaugs by the shell, with fingers for forks. It rather helps the flavor of water melons, that you have to break them over your knee, and scoop out the ruddy pulp with a clam shell. It don't make you nervous at all to see a great spider let himself down into your cup of coffee, or a big black ant waddling through the butter, that melts in a pint bowl where the sun strays in between the leaves.

Then it is worth something to see the girls as they take out from their baskets the cake and cheese, and cold mutton and boiled ham, all wrapped and covered in the whitest of napkins. To see whether they seem as much at home among the substantials, as you know that they are among the dainties; whether their fingers move as freely among the crockery and the edibles as along the keys of the piano.

That young poet, who was so helpful at first, has fairly seated himself, while unconsciously his eyes follow every movement of the lithe lass with flaxen hair. He is dreaming how she would grace a smaller table, in a ceiled room, or on the back piazza of a cottage, with one living witness, and none else, but the shadows cast before into the little chairs of possible children.

Many matches are made here. Many bargains are concluded, and properly sealed, and the fees of the clergy are sensibly increased by their aid, when frosty weather sets in, and the coal burns bright in the grate, and thoughts of domestic comforts swell within, and burst the dry hearts of bachelors. We like a pic-nic, as the old negro liked to be sick, because it feels so good to get over it, and have our meals in our own house again, sitting at a comfortable table.

PROF'S WHITNEY AND TAVERNER.—These gentlemen, who advertise a literary feast at the Temple this evening, are of the very highest order in their profession of Rhetoric and Oratory;—and can hardly fail to make a strong and valuable impression on every cultivated mind.

From their large number of notices by the press, we select two only, from papers of high standing.

Mr. Whitney, the orator and impersonater, has succeeded in attracting large audiences to the Metropolitan. He possesses a commanding person, and a voice of unusual power, compass and pliancy. His gestures and attitudes are always graceful, and sometimes very striking and effective.—The Home Journal, May 1, 1852.

On Friday evening, Prof. Taverner read Macbeth with much power, evincing great variety of tone and great subtility of intellectual discrimination. Prof. Taverner is a scholar as well as elocutionist, and his remarks on the tragedy, as well as the originality of his points, indicated a close and penetrating study of the text.—Boston Transcript.

DOING WELL.—A colporteur, in North Carolina, has remarkable success in working off books among those that need them. One poor family sold eggs enough, at five cents a dozen, to buy a Bible, and a good selection of other books. A man who could not read, but was blessed with a good wife who wanted books, was at the trouble of putting up a few cords of wood and burning it to coal, for which he received four cents per bushel, and thus procured the means of supplying her with a library. And now when the labors of the day are ended, he takes care of the baby while his wife reads aloud. Such are some of the results of a good work.

The colporteur was probably a Yankee, who had sold books before, and knew how to find the ways and means.

OHIO CONVENTION OF COLORED PEOPLE. The colored people of Ohio, to the number of 500, held a Convention at Cleveland on the 9th. The subject specially under discussion was the improvement of their condition. The proceedings were marked by great decorum and dignity.

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE on Tuesday did two quite important acts. They resolved to investigate the causes of the decline of scholarship in the schools of Boston; and also chose a committee to see in what manner the city can wipe out the disgrace that has been flung upon it by the conduct of that gentleman of the school committee who introduced Lola Montes into the schools!—Boston Chronicle.

ORIGIN OF THE CHOLERA IN RUSSIAN POLAND.—A private letter from Warsaw, in a German paper, gives the following account of the origin of the scourge which is at present committing such ravages:

"It was thought expedient, some time since, to make some improvements in the small town of Lask, near Kalisch. For that purpose, it was found necessary to make excavations in the cemetery, where the victims of the cholera of 1832 had been interred. Almost immediately afterwards, the operatives employed in the work were attacked with cholera, and every one of them died. Since then it has spread, and is attended with more than ordinary mortality."

NATIONAL UNIVERSALIST CONVENTION.—The Convention of the Universalists of the United States commenced its sessions in Metropolitan Hall, New York, on Wednesday morning. Members of the denomination are present from all parts of the Union. Among the clergymen, are Rev. Messrs. Ballou, Sawyer, Streeter, Chapin and Thayer. A series of resolutions were then proposed for discussion. The first, to the effect that "they deplored the present low standard of high spiritual thought and life, and were determined to pray and work for its revival," was spoken upon by Rev. E. H. Chapin.

Dr. Bacon spoke to the second resolution, which was to the effect "that as a denomination, they needed a more efficient church system."

The third resolution, recommending immediate attention to the cause of education, and that some means should be devised to give proper advantages to young men wishing to enter the ministry, was spoken upon by Rev. Dr. Sawyer.

VESSELS MUST CARRY LIGHTS.

Mr. Justice Grier, of the U. S. Supreme Court, has just decided that all vessels ought to carry lights—by confirming decisions of a court below him against the bark Delaware, in favor of the steamer Ospray. He says,

The case before us is briefly this: a steamboat and a sailing vessel are meeting one another in a very dark night in the Delaware Bay, six or seven miles within the capes.—The bark has the wind free. They are approaching each other at the rate of 15 miles an hour, and therefore approximate in a right line at the rate of a mile in four minutes.—The steamboat has three lights out. The bark has none. The bark sees the steamer approach. Sailing before the wind, she has the power to give the steamer a wide berth, and obviate all possible danger of collision.

The Court cannot establish any rule to bind vessels navigating the high seas after night to carry, signal lights; but where one party does this and the other does not, we can and will treat (in a case ceteris paribus) the dark boat is the wrong doer, and liable to make reparation. In rivers and narrow channels, and in harbors, there are generally local regulations requiring it. But if there be not, it would still be advisable for vessels sailing either in close or open channels, to keep proper signal lights on dark nights, if they expect a remedy in court, in case of collision.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—The Journal of Commerce learns, that M. de Sodre, the Brazilian Minister at Washington has been recalled, and that the American Government has offered him and his family a free passage home in the U. S. frigate Saranac. "This compliment," it adds, "is the first of the kind in the history of our country."

REMARKABLE CIRCUMSTANCE.—At the public commemoration of the death of Henry Clay, by funeral obsequies, in the city of Sacramento, California, on the 12th of August, the pall-bearers, who represented every State in the Union, were severally natives of the States they represented. The Union doubts if, with the single exception of San Francisco, there is any other city in the country which contains within its limits native-born citizens of every State in the Union.

SENTENCED.—New York, Sept. 16.—Archibald G. Hastings, postmaster at Millsboro', Del., charged with robbing the mail, and tried yesterday, on the plea of guilty to one indictment, was this morning sentenced to ten years imprisonment in the penitentiary. Upon seven other indictments against him a nolle prosequi was entered.

FAST—DECIDEDLY.—On Saturday morning there was no trace of a bridge over the one hundred and fifty feet span, on the Housatonic, thrown down on Wednesday.—The Saturday evening express train was delayed ten minutes to spike on the last rails, when the cars with 5000 passengers, passed it in safety. This feat would not have been attempted in any other country.—New Haven Courier.

MELANCHOLY.—On Tuesday, near Reading, Pa., four girls aged about 18, were run over by an engine, and two of them were instantly killed. The others were severely injured. They had just left the cotton mill where they were employed, and were walking upon the track. An engine was coming down on the track on which they were, and they crossed to the other track, not perceiving another engine coming in the opposite direction.

EMBEZZLEMENT.—W. Earl Arnold, President pro tem. of the Suffolk Bank, a new institution in New York, was on Tuesday arrested and committed on a charge of embezzling $17,000 of the funds of the Bank.

INDIA RUBBER BAYONETS.—A letter from Vienna states that the Austrian War Department has authorized experiments to be made to test the use of a bayonet made of india-rubber! It is to be used to instruct the infantry in the bayonet exercise, as the thrusts can be made with it with perfect recklessness and safety. It will be to the musket what the glove is to the hand in sparring.

A cruel murder was recently committed at New Orleans, on a boy nine years of age, named George Wolfday, the son of a poor widow woman. He was playing in the seed store of Ambrose Dartigues, who got angry with the boy and struck him with an iron auger, which stunned the boy, and then, as if fearful of the consequences threw upon the boy a quantity of sacks of bran, which suffocated him; the body was then packed away in a barrel and thrown overboard. The murderer and three others have been arrested, and one of the latter has made confession.

THE LOST CROWN OF HUNGARY.—The Emperor of Austria has promised an immense reward to any person who will recover the crown of Hungary, which disappeared during the revolution. He has promised a million of florins to those magnates who are suspected of being in correspondence with Kossuth if they will assist in the recovery of that crown.

OUTRAGES AT WORCESTER.—Messrs. Edwin Draper and Lewis Thayer were both assaulted at their houses in Worcester, on Saturday evening, by two persons unknown. They attempted to call Mr. Draper out but he had his suspicions aroused and remained inside, when one of them threw a stone at him which cut a bad wound on the right temple. The family raised an alarm and the men escaped. About the same time two men called upon Mr. Thayer and invited him to go with them to Mr. Draper's to consult about a rum case. He refused and one of them knocked him down. The attack probably arose from the fact that both gentlemen had been influential in enforcing the new liquor law.

SERIOUS ASSAULT.—On the 9th inst., in Dartmouth, as a Mr. Allen was returning from Camp Meeting with a Mrs. Russell, wife of Jeremiah Russell, and a young girl, the husband of the lady met the parties on the mill-dam of David G. Wilson, when he clinched the horse, and backed the wagon off the dam about ten feet down. The girl had her arm broken—the other parties in the vehicle were much bruised but not seriously injured. The horse was unhurt, and the wagon slightly damaged. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Russell.—New Bedford Mercury.

The Norfolk Herald states that at this time, the number of free-born and emancipated negroes preparing to emigrate from that port to Liberia in the Fall expeditions of the Colonization Society, is two hundred and twenty-six.

THE DAHLIA.—The Dahlia was discovered in Mexico, by Humboldt, in 1798, and sent by him to the Botanic Garden, at Madrid, where it received its name in honor of the Swoedish naturalist, Dahl.
